Heavy Fighting Going On In Russia

Red Army, Fighting Brilliantly, Holds Up Nazi Offensive

Huns Have Suffered Heavily in Casualties and Tanks and Aircraft Since Big Drive on Kursk Began

MOSCOW, July 8 (CP) — Fresh Nazi reserves were reported pushing through smoke and dust along paths marked by wrecked machines and dead today to bolster the offensive on the Kursk plains which the Red Army, fighting more brilliantly than ever, has limited to small gains in the Belgorod area.

It was announced officially that the Russians had killed thirty thousand Germans, destroyed or damaged 1,589 tanks and shot down 649 planes in the first three days of battle. The objective of the Germans is evidently the encirclement of Kursk with two big drives from opposite directions.

The Germans are estimated to have 450,000 men or thirty divisions engaged in the new offensive in Russia.

The enemy have failed so far to achieve a major breakthrough.

SECURING TEACHERS

Difficulty of Securing Accommodation One of Problems Facing Board

There have been six resignations so far from the staff of Booth Memorial High School here and two from the public school staff and to date one appointment to the High School staff has been made, it was revealed at last night's meeting of the board of school trustees.

The new appointment is Miss Dorothy Kovach of Watrous, Saskatchewan. Some other tentative appointments have been made subject to living accommodation being found for the new teachers.

The teachers who have so far resigned are Miss Alma Snyder, Miss E. Young, Miss Janet Aitken, Miss Elizabeth Springer, Miss Nancy Ramsay and R. G. Thistlethwaite of the High School and Miss Tekla Fulton (year's leave of absence) and Mrs. M. V. Avery of the public school staff.

The urgent problem of securing accommodation for teachers was one of the principal subjects discussed at last night's meeting of the school board, the matter giving the board considerable concern. The possibility of arranging a community residence for teachers had been canvassed but so far nothing had been accomplished. Appeal is being made to any persons who might have accommodation for teachers to come forward and offer it.

There has not been a great abundance of applications for teaching positions here and Dr. M. G. Cameron of the University of British Columbia has advised the board to make its appointments as early as possible in view of shortage of teachers.

The actual making of High School appointments has been delegated by the board to the inspector of school and the principal of the High School.

FINE BAND NOW HERE

Naval Musical Organization Arrives From Toronto to be Stationed in Prince Rupert

A notable acquisition to the local naval establishment is the new band which arrived at the first of the week direct from band school at Toronto. Under the baton of Petty Officer Jeffries, the leader, it is practising assiduously and rounding into splendid co-ordination. It has only been organized as a unit for two weeks but its members are all talented musicians, thus accounting for the splendid progress they are making. Yesterday Commander D. C. Wallace and other local officers heard the band in a brief rehearsal and were much gratified.

Some nine members of the band comprise a dance band which was also heard yesterday afternoon and which will make its debut at a big dance tonight marking the opening of the new drill hall.

Later there will be public appearances by the band.

Accommodation for Teachers . . .

The local school board is having difficulty in obtaining the services of teachers to staff the schools at the opening of the fall term. One trouble is that living accommodation is so hard to obtain and teachers are unwilling to come here unless it is guaranteed. The situation is such that it may be impossible to obtain teachers at all unless the accommodation can be found.

Any persons who might find it possible to give accommodation to teachers would be doing a measure of public service. Meantime the school board is really worried about the matter.

Security of Information . . .

A reader wonders why newspapers should be publishing many facts and figures regarding fighting equipment and its production while, at the same time, security warnings are to be seen everywhere telling people not to talk about anything they may know pertaining thereto.

In the first place it might be explained that much of the information on these matters which appears in the newspapers is issued by the government information authorities themselves for the purpose of publication and that which is not issued by the government itself is censored. Incidentally the newspapers usually know a lot more themselves than they say.

The reason why people are warned against talking about these matters is that they are not in a position to know when it may or may not be safe to talk. The government authorities do not issue statements until it is assured that it is safe to do so. If any of our readers are worried about how the newspapers are observing security, they may be assured that even the things the publication of might seem to be surprising have been officially authorized, thoroughly checked and duly censored when necessary.

Compulsory Employment Order . . .

Another compulsory employment transfer order appeared in the Daily News yesterday and we would recommend it to the careful perusal of our readers. Some of us may not realize that those orders might directly affect some of ourselves. Ignorance of the law is no excuse for not observing it. The advertisements are published as a formal notice and those who neglect to read them and govern themselves accordingly are subject to penalty. The latest order affects men employed in many further lines of work.

It might also be stressed that employers and employees share responsibility to see that due notice and action are taken.

Self-Education . . .

All education is self-education, and it is impossible to become educated unless the individual himself desires it. The school, college and university is of little use unless the person wishes to gain an education for himself—then they can be of great assistance, by providing guidance and teaching.

Life in general and one's occupation in particular, affords one kind—the practical education necessary to earn a living. Working with heart and soul in your chosen profession will make a success and educate one, but there is another kind of education also. This is the general education gained by reading the works of the author, poet and biographer, and by cultivating an appreciation of music, fine pictures and good books. It is necessary to choose the best books because the only way to develop knowledge and character is to read the best works of the world's greatest authors.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
 The Hostess.

We're all having a laugh about one of the sailors who was up here for a year but was drafted some time ago "somewhere on the east coast." Big, bluff and hearty he was always known by everyone wherever he was and so, when the sentry called him to halt, he just waved, friendly like. Then the sentry called again. It was getting real chummy and the sailor waved again but kept on going. Next time the sentry didn't call. He just went into some rear guard action with his rifle and our hero's going to have quite a time for the rest of his life explaining away those wounds. Moral: Rifles speak louder than words.

Tonight is the big navy dance at the new drill hall. Junior hostesses are cordially invited to attend.

Tomorrow night one of the army units is holding a dance at their camp. Junior hostesses will meet at the "Y."

Some new thank-yous again today to Mrs. Black for bringing our "Y" mending kit a new supply of those rare and precious commodities, "needles." And to Mrs. Scherk for donating a gate leg table to the C.W.A.C. lounge. And yet again to Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Minns for their steady supply of magazines and Mrs. Winslow for her "ditto" of flowers.

Well, every type of summer has its disadvantages. Back east it's unbearably hot, so letters arriving here say, and on the prairies the mosquitos practically amount to a plague this year. So maybe old Rupert isn't so bad after all.

Happy birthday to Pte. Johnny L. Cuntz of the Port Edward Cuntzes whose birthday is today. Surprised I remembered, eh Johnny?

"Sarge" is nothing but a no good tramp. He's gone again. Well, he'll have to find his own way home this time.

JAPS DIDN'T HAVE MUCH OF A CHANCE

An American gun crew is blazing away with its 105 mm. weapon to blast the Japs out of positions in the Maccre-Chichagof pass during the successful campaign on Attu Island. The photo was made from Massacre Bay beach. This particular piece of artillery poured no less than 2,000 shells into Jap positions in four days.

Briefs From Britain

Archibald Reynolds, Malvern's last horse cab driver, has retired at the age of 77. He never had an accident in his 60 years as a cabbie.

L. Cpl. William Stalley has arrived home on leave after being away for nine years on foreign service. His mother lives at Shoeburyness, England.

Seventy-four-year-old John Thatcher of Ottershaw, Surrey, has knitted at least one garment for the forces each week since the war began.

Passenger traffic on British railways which represented some 20,000,000,000 miles of travel before the war increased beyond that figure by 10,000,000,000 passenger miles in 1942.

HARD ON CHILDREN

Woman Specialist From Puerto Rico Sees Postwar Problems

By ADELAIDE KERR
 (Associated Press Writer)
 NEW YORK, July 8 (CP) —

Doctora Dolores Pinerio, Puerto Rican specialist in child hygiene, says that the world's children have been "abandoned because of the war." As a result she believes they will be our biggest postwar problems.

Doctora Pinerio, who is a mother herself, is the first director of Puerto Rican School Hygiene. She is spending several months in New York, visiting child clinics and health centres in search of ideas adaptable to Puerto Rico.

"We have a big problem in Puerto Rico," said Doctora Pinerio as we chatted in her brother-in-law's uptown apartment. "Lots of children live on rice and bananas. As a result they are anemic and underweight. Our problem is to educate the parents."

"But it's a small problem compared to the one which the world faces in the postwar period. The biggest problem then will be the children themselves. They have been abandoned because of the war—and we are going to reap the results."

Lonesome Kiddies
 Doctora Pinerio leaned forward earnestly.

"Everybody knows of the undernourished little bodies and the stunted growth of the children in Nazi-occupied countries. But too few people realize how much our own children are suffering as a result of the war. Women by the thousands are working outside and leaving their homes and children alone."

"Even those who are adequately cared for in nurseries or elsewhere miss the warmth of a mother's care and companionship. They are lonesome and reach out for anything then can find to make up the loss. Five-year-olds get permanent waves and 12 and 14-year-olds seek movies, dances and other adult pleasures. Mother is not at home enough to discipline them and teach them self control. They become emotionally unstable. Yet they are the next generation that must run the world. How can that instability maintain peace?

"It is indeed a serious problem. The women are needed outside now. But only a small percentage of mothers seem able to handle adequately both jobs and homes."

Where's Solution

Doctora Pinerio said that she saw no solution as long as the war lasts. But her serious meditative look indicated that she was giving the matter considerable thought. Ordinarily Doctora Pinerio does not wear a serious look. Her dark Latin eyes snap, her diamond earrings twinkle, her smile flashes frequently as she talks in fluent English flavored with a slight accent.

Doctora Pinerio was born in Puerto Rico, and schooled in the United States, where her father came to educate his children. She received her M. D. degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Boston in 1913 and returned to Puerto Rico to use it.

May we, through your columns, offer our sincere thanks to the people of this district for their generous response to the appeal for funds in the recent Greek War Relief campaign. An amount of $4001.87 was subscribed altogether and we are informed by the provincial chairman that this ranks very high, if not highest, in the province in response to the quotas asked for. We are deeply grateful for the help extended to our suffering compatriots.

Also, Mr. Editor, we would like to thank you for the space and publicity accorded in your paper to Mr. Boriand of the Capitol Theatre, staff and management, to Sergeant Cleaver Wilson and artists, to Sergeant Ainsley of the broadcasting station, to Mr. MacSween for his untiring efforts in arranging events and to Lt. Comdr. A. S. Mitchell and the members of the Royal Sea Cadets Band, to Mrs. N. E. Arnold, chairman of the campaign and all others who assisted in any way.
