

Titanic Struggle In 1944 Foreseen

troops Are storming forward

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP)—The Soviet troops are storming into the Ukraine in the Gomel sector shortly after a German announcement that Nazi forces have abandoned Poltava, gateway to the heart of the Ukraine. Gomel is a rail centre midway between Kiev and Smolensk, about fifteen miles from the Dnieper River and 150 miles from the old Polish border. Poltava is the control centre of a network of railways radiating to Kharkov, Kiev, Kremenchuk and Dnieperpetrovsk. The Red Army, closing in from all directions, is now but 100 miles from Kiev at the present point.

GENERAL DISEASE

General disease control was a subject which was worthy of the attention of parents and citizens generally, said Dr. R. G. Knipe, director of the local public health unit, in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday. He stressed the importance of education of the public in the subject so that its spread might be lessened.

Dr. Knipe's talk was featured by a quiz on various aspects of general disease and was followed by a general discussion in which members of the club asked questions and expressed views of their own views. Commented on prostitution, Dr. Knipe contended, was one of the greatest means of spreading general disease.

Cure of venereal disease was possible—syphilis in two years and gonorrhoea in six months—was stressed by the physician and certified that, once a person had venereal disease, he could ever be positively certified as free of the infection.

President W. J. Scott was in the chair at the luncheon and speakers were Dr. G. W. Fiddes, Port Simpson and Dr. Alvin Large and J. M. Cave of Vancouver. Don Forward was introduced as a new member.

JURY FAILS IN VERDICT

After deliberating for three hours, the jury at size court in the case of Burke, charged with the commission of forgery, reported that it had locked and had no hope of reaching a verdict. Burke was remitted to further custody pending a new trial either at the present Assize session or a later date. Mr. Justice H. I. Bird discharged the jury and thanked it for its services.

The trial of Burke took up an entire two days of the court's time. Accused himself took the stand yesterday afternoon in his own defence, declaring that he had never seen prior to his arrest the check for $400, the endorsement of which he was alleged to have counselled a youth, George F. Robertson, to forge. Nor had he had any dealings with Robertson or his companions in regard to the check.

The case of the crown, in brief, was that Burke had learned that George F. Robertson had come into possession of a canny check for $400 made payable to George James Robinson. He had induced Robertson to endorse the check and to obtain a national registration card which had facilitated identification in cashing same at the bank.

There was no evidence to show that accused had cashed the check, this being emphasized to the jury by defence counsel and the judge.

Witnesses for the crown were J. R. Morrison, postmaster; Marvin D. Boyer and Rodger Bell of the Bank of Montreal staff; Winnifred Park, postal clerk; George James Robinson, the payee of the check; George F. Robertson and his companions, Isadore Guillard and Frederick G. Simmons; Inspector Ernest Gammon, provincial police, and William James Boyd, dry dock foreman.

The jury retired at 6:15 p.m. to consider its verdict, returning to the courtroom at 9 p.m. with its report of disagreement.

W. O. Fulton acted as crown counsel and T. W. Brown appeared for the defence.

Paying his first visit to Prince Rupert since his recent new appointment as commanding officer of the Pacific Coast for the Canadian Navy, Rear Admiral Victor G. Brodeur arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver. Admiral Brodeur is no stranger to this city, having been in command of H.M.C.S. Skeena before the war. His latest appointment before coming back to this coast was as naval attaché to the Canadian legation at Washington D.C. He recently received his promotion to the rank of rear-admiral.

Mosquito! Made 22-Month Mark

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP)—The world's fastest bomber, Britain's Mosquito, has made more than operational records to its credit. In the words of the plane's designer, as quoted by an anonymous BBC announcer, "she flew straight off the drawing-board" into the air in 22 months, a world's record in getting a new plane from the drawing-board stage into the air.

Speaking of the east of manufacturing plywood-bodied Mosquitos, he said: "Now little carpenter shops and great furniture factories, where they scarcely knew an airplane from a bag of peanuts, are making complete airframes, not only in Britain but in Canada and maybe South Africa and India and elsewhere. They tell me that any skilled carpenter can repair a Mosquito."

RAPE CASE IS NOW ON

Trial of Army Sergeant From Terrace Proceeding at Supreme Court Assizes Here.

Trial of Francis Leslie Trego, bespectacled army sergeant, who is charged with unlawfully assaulting an Indian girl at Terrace on or about August 28, having carnal knowledge and thereby committing rape, is proceeding in camera before Mr. Justice H. I. Bird and jury consisting of A. D. Ritchie, foreman, John Thompson, L. F. Brewerton, J. J. Payne, Edwin John Strom, S. L. Peachy, O. L. Haveroy, S. J. Anderson, Robert Reid, Andrew Martinson, George Rodger and Percy Cameron at the Supreme Court Assizes today. W. O. Fulton is acting as crown prosecutor and T. W. Brown is conducting the defence.

Explaining that there were disagreeable features in evidence and that the principal witnesses for the crown were two young girls, Mr. Fulton asked that the trial be heard in camera. Mr. Brown agreed with the suggestion. Thereupon the courtroom was cleared except for necessary officials and the press. Mr. Fulton, in reviewing the evidence that would be presented by the crown, said it would be shown that accused and a companion had spoken to two native girls and, as a result, they had

Bracken Belays Scaly Creature

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP)—A description of Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, by Brendan Bracken, minister of information:

"That scaly creature, one of the worst types of persons, a hanger-on of the Nazis, utterly untrustworthy whom even the Germans thought was not a good ambassador in London. I remember that creature coming to London with a great deal of money and swarming manners. He is a master of duplicity. He led his master, Hitler, up the garden and said England would not fight. Anybody who will believe anything Ribbentrop says should not be sent to a mental specialist, but to a veterinary surgeon."

Mr. Bracken gave this description in the House of Commons when asked about a speech by Ribbentrop which was circulated in Eire.

gone for a walk. There had been several drinks out of a flask and one of the girls had become completely intoxicated. It would be further shown that overtures had been made and what had transpired. One of the girls, the crown's evidence would show, had been assaulted and left in an unconscious condition. As further evidence clothing alleged to be that of accused would be produced.

Air Punch of Allies Increased

Reich Industrial City of Hanover and Biscay Port of Nantes Objectives Last Night.

LONDON, Sept. 23—Allied air forces threw quadruple punch into enemy-occupied Europe with a mass raid on the Reich city of Hanover last night, an American heavy bomber attack on the Bay of Biscay port of Nantes today and two United States medium bomber assaults deep into France. All were carried out within a period of eighteen hours.

The Air Ministry said that a very strong force of Britain's greatest bomb carriers roared into north central Germany during the night to attack Hanover. Twenty-six bombers were lost, five of them Canadian. The ministry said "preliminary reports show a highly concentrated attack was completed in thirty minutes, leaving very large fires with smoke rising to great heights. There is an important rubber plant at Hanover."

All Women Up to Fifty are Called Upon to Work in Aircraft Factories—Unexcelled Degree of Manpower Mobilization.

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP)—Urging that every provision be made for "a titanic struggle facing us in 1944," Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin said today that the cabinet had given priority to aircraft construction and urged women up to fifty to go to work in airplane factories at once. In a review of Britain's manpower situation, Mr. Bevin told the House of Commons that mobilization had reached a stage unexcelled in any other country with early 23,000,000 persons out of 33,000,000 between fourteen and sixty-four years of age who were available in the armed services, civilian defence or part-time employment.

Nazis Being Steadily Driven Back in Southern Italy Now.

DESTROYING GREAT CITY ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—German dynamite crews were reported to be systematically wrecking the great port of Naples today as Nazi troops fell back deeper on the hills.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 23—Steadily pressing the Germans back, the Fifth Army yesterday stormed and took three more mountain towns beyond Salerno. Today Avellino, 60 miles east of Salerno, is being stormed. Following the key town of Eboli, sixteen miles inland, which had served as a communications centre during the last few weeks of heavy fighting at Salerno, Campagna fell yesterday. Lieut. General Clark's Anglo-American soldiers also battered their way to Montecorvino, nine miles inland in a sustained push. The Allies now control all of Italy south of an arc between Salerno, on the west, and Bari, on the east. The Eighth Army continues to progress on the east.

A military spokesman announced that the Germans are swinging the lower end of the line which formerly enclosed the Salerno bridgehead to the north and east to avoid being trapped by the continued rapid advance of the British Eighth Army which includes units of the Canadian First Division.

The Anglo-American Fifth Army troops have expanded the Salerno bridgehead to a depth of twenty miles and seized the three mountain towns amid reports that the Germans were still burning and pillaging Naples. Italians are being flogged in the streets and many are being lined up and shot on meagre pretexts.

A strong defence line is being established by the Nazis east and south of Naples. An Algiers dispatch said today that thirty ships had been scuttled at Naples and that all useable docks were being wrecked.

No Time to Slacken Up...

There has been an unfortunate reaction in Prince Rupert as well as elsewhere to the announcement of ten days ago whereby it was said that military units were being "disbanded", the suggestion being that the coasts of Canada were much more secure today from a defence standpoint.

Despite the wording of the announcement in regard to new military policy, there is probably just as much likelihood today as there ever was of some sort of an attack by the enemy on this coast. There is no justification, it would appear, for any lessening up of local vigilance and preparation.

This is no time for slackening off. The necessity of a reserve army and an A.R.P. organization is just as great as ever and the members of those organizations would do well to keep up their enthusiasm.

Question of Tag Days...

There is some virtue in the protest of Ald. Elliott at this week's council against the continuous Saturday tag days that are being held here even though the alderman failed to receive the support even of a seconder.

Never before have we had such an era of not only tag days but of subscription lists of one kind and another. True they may be more of a nuisance than a hardship for the moment when cash with a good many people, although not all, is freer than it was before.

However, precedents are being established and some day steps will have to be taken to control, possibly by centralization, the multiplicity of canvasses for funds for worthy causes.

The Poor Italians...

The Italians are now tasting the bitter fruits of their association with the Nazis. The horror of Naples is the latest example of Hitlerism in full blossom. By the time they are through, unless the Allies can rescue them very speedily, the Italians may have suffered more tragically at the hands of the former allies than did the countries which at the outset resisted the evil forces of the Hun dictator.

The present plight of the Italians might well be a lesson to us all and a warning as to what may happen even to us if the war should be ended before the peace is won.

The first undecided race of the season came at famed As-

MUST END WAR SOON

South African Premier Says Longer War Endangers Foundations of World Civilization

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 23.—The war must be forced to a conclusion this year by the concentration of all the means in the power of the United Nations if it is not to drag on until the world is completely exhausted and the foundations of civilization endangered, Field Marshal J. C. Smuts said in an address at Pretoria surveying four years of war. This will be a year of most intense effort and perhaps of very heavy losses, he predicted.

Air attack is already laying in ruins one after another of the great German industrial and munition centres, the South African Prime Minister continued. With the increasing tempo of bombing most German centres would in another 12 months be in ruins if not non-existent. If German internal morale broke in 1918 when Germany was intact and had escaped all the ravages of war which she inflicted on her neighbors, today it was a question of how long she would endure devastation worse than the Thirty Years' War.

Destroy Country and Morale

"The fortress of Europe will disappear physically before this onslaught by night and day," the Prime Minister declared. The effects on civilian morale would be even more devastating than the physical effects of the blitz. Already a nation-wide wail was going up from Germany that the attacks were more than human nature could bear. Anarchy, disillusion and despair were beginning to grip the people who saw victory and its conquests going, who had seen Mussolini go and who now watched immense forces of the east and west marching towards the fortress of Europe. Faith in the Fuehrer and belief in promises of a new order were going fast.

"But there is something more, something deeper still," Field Marshal Smuts went on. "The Germans are not all Nazi monsters, moral perverts or evil worshippers infected with the satanic virus of Hitler. Deep revolt is brewing inside Germany which must be in the end more catastrophic for Hitler and Nazidom than even the horror of air raids by night. Of all the vast forces gathering for Hitler's doom not the least will be the fifth column inside Germany, representing revolt in the German soul."

Attacking Europe
Commenting on Italy's surrender Field Marshal Smuts in an interview later said it had altered the whole war situation and more important results were sure to follow. The victories of the Russians in the east and of Britain and the United States in Italy in the south meant the last phase of the war was coming and the United Nations were getting to grips with the real enemy in the fortress of Europe. It only remained now to make the best of the opportunity. Concentration on this final phase might see a great change in the war situation this year. It might mean the end but it carried a long distance toward the end.

Sir Jas. Morton, discoverer of fast colors, died at his home near Cumberland, aged 76. He was one of Britain's leading industrialists.

The ban on the holding of processions in northern Ireland, imposed for security reasons after the outbreak of war, has been revoked.

Since war started, the International Red Cross Committee at Geneva has dealt with more than 50,000,000 letters, all concerning prisoners of war, missing persons from their next-of-kin.

P. J. Noel Baker, parliamentary secretary to War Transport Ministry, said in a London address that "the war is won, or will be won very soon."

One hundred and fifty employees on London's underground railway are working as part-timers in a plant making aircraft parts which has been built in a disused underground railway tunnel.

An investigation by the Industrial Health Research Board showed that married women under 25 were the worst group of absentees from two munition factories where working habits of employees were investigated.

Cabbages grown in the cemeteries of Bolton prompted Food Minister Lord Woolton to say in a speech in that Lancashire city that "I hope your cemeteries may long continue to have this excess space for happier use."

Men working 60 hours a week or more in factories engaged in vital work will not be directed into the Home Guard unless local circumstances make it imperative, the Labor Ministry and the Trade Union Congress agreed.

London's Hyde Park is minus railings (fences) but that does not stop the big iron gates being closed each night when one of the officials shouts an "all out" to people in the park. The reason is to keep motor traffic, mostly taxis, out of the park at night. There's nothing officials can do about pedestrians.

IF YOUR CHILD IS THIN and NERVOUS

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, cease to be discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in his diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B, and D, and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins—all for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, why not start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get Ovaltine at your drug or food store.

Londoners Queue Up for Everything from Dog Meat to Theatre Tickets

By FOSTER BARCLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 23 (C)—"Queue Town No. 1" is what they are calling this Empire capital as United Nations' forces march forward. Britain is celebrating and there aren't enough places for people to spend their money. You have to get in line for everything from a 25-cent theatre ticket to a hunk of dog's meat, but nobody seems to care about that nowadays.

It's a new sign of the times. The fact that there are queues is nothing new in a country which has been at war four years. It's where you find them.

In Berlin and Rome the inhabitants queue for the bare necessities of life. In London they are queuing for the fun they can find, whether it's to go rowing on the Thames or to get a glass of beer in a jam-packed pub.

Stay-at-home holidayers whose who came to London and servicemen on leave have helped to bring London the "Queue Town" title. A businessman, just back from the United States, stood in Piccadilly Circus, amazed at the crowds moving around the boarded statue of Eros and spilling over the roadway.

"Well," he gasped, "the last time I was here you could almost have thrown a stone across the circus without hitting anybody."

(Note: That was during the days when raids on London were the rule rather than the exception).

"I haven't seen bigger crowds in Times Square in New York." London has become Britain's playground. Cafes and amusement houses are in the midst of a golden era. Hours before the theatres open queues coil around corners and about alleys. Buses perform acrobatics and play fiddles to keep them amused, hoping to garner a few shillings and pence. Costermongers do a roaring trade.

Fun fairs are bedlams of tinkling pin-table bells as the revellers try their luck. There are queues, too, for every cafe and restaurant. Dozens of "holes in the wall" eating places have sprung up in lanes and alleys selling tea and buns.

August is usually the worst month of the year for the show business, but this year it blossomed into the biggest boom in 30 years. During one week, for instance, it was estimated that in London and outlying districts about $1,250,000 tinkled into cash registers of theatres and music halls. Thousands of customers were turned away.

Musical revival Too

Side by side with the boom in theatres, movies and variety was a revival of classical music which echoed throughout the country. Six leading orchestras are playing in London and provincial cities to 75,000 people weekly.

The music has risen from the ashes of bombed town and city. Harold Fielding, 25-year old impresario who formed the National Philharmonic Orchestra said:

"People shaken up by raids turned to good music to soothe their nerves. Once they discovered it they flocked by thousands to listen to it.

The most popular composer is Tchaikowsky, followed by Beethoven, Rachmaninoff and Grieg. This isn't just music while you work. It's a new movement among people working and playing.

Family picnic parties have brought an old-fashioned holiday spirit to the parks. In Hyde Park, Regent Park and Kew Gardens, botanic show-place family gatherings can be found almost every day with baskets of sandwiches and hot tea.

Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, Buckingham Palace and the Tower of London have become meccas for tourists and soldiers. London Zoo, the National Gallery and various war exhibitions are thronged from dawn to dusk.

Hotels have been inundated with requests for accommodation from all over the country. Hotels are booked weeks in advance but the holiday-makers come anyway.

Atonement to Be Observed

Arrangements Being Made for Special Services for Jews in Services

Jewish men in the services in this district are having careful preparations made for their observance of the Jewish New Year and the Day of Atonement on September 30 and October 1 and October 9. Captain Rose, newly appointed Jewish chaplain with the Canadian Army, will conduct the services at Prince George while Pte. S. Zukor of the United States Army will lead the services at Prince Rupert. Fit-Lieut. Jacob Eisen, Jewish chaplain with the R.C.A.F., is proceeding to the Pacific Coast to supervise arrangements for the observance of the solemn holidays by the Jewish men. Special books, prayer shawls, rams' horns, and other necessities for the full observance of the holidays are being sent.

CHANGED MEANING

Specious, which now means false, once signified fair or beautiful.

Woman Devises 400 Inventions

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (C)—Mrs. Grace Price, who before 1937 never invented anything more elaborate than a new hairdo, today has patents and copyrights pending on rolling pins, window shades, cooking pots, ironing boards and methods of learning shorthand and typewriting—all because she feared invalidism.

When she became seriously ill in 1937, physicians said she never again would be able to indulge in physical exertion. During the two years she lay in bed, she began to get ideas for inventions, mainly to improve household efficiency.

Her husband bought her a drawing board and set, and she learned mechanical drawing. Today Mrs. Price has devised almost 400 inventions.

FLAK TONGUE TWISTER

The work flak is an abbreviation of the German term, Flugabwehrkanone meaning literally "flying-machine-warding-off-guns."

Richards Signed After 20 Years

Best "Rookie" of Year in Major League 35 Years Old

DETROIT, Sept. 23 (C)—Twenty years ago Jack Zeller, a scout for the Detroit Tigers, didn't give Paul Richards a second look as a third baseman.

Their paths never crossed again until last winter when General Manager Zeller looked around for a catching replacement for George (Birdie) Tebbets. He signed Richards, catcher-manager of Atlanta of the Southern Association, and that proved to be a highly important transaction.

In some quarters Richards is labeled as the best rookie catcher of 1943, but the term "rookie" is loosely applied, in his case. Richards is nearing his 35th birthday and is "up" for the sixth time. He previously had two trials with Brooklyn and others with the Athletics, Browns and Giants.

Richards has been in organized baseball since 1926. He sprang from the crack Waxahachie, Tex., prep team that

ATTENTION TO EDUCATION

Between trips to the majors, Richards played on at least a dozen minor league clubs. His last seven years were spent at Atlanta, five of them as manager. His teams won two pennants.

NAIROBI, Kenya, Sept. 23 (C)—A program of African education is occupying the attention of the Advisory Council on African education here.

Pest destruction in Huntingdonshire during May, June and July yielded 11,000 rats, nearly 900 sparrows, more than 2,000 sparrow eggs, 18,000 butterflies, 2,500 jackdaws and 4,000 eggs, 1,265 magpies and nearly 6,000 eggs.

SCENE OF INVASION

Sicily, 9,926 miles square, is the largest island in the Mediterranean.

FOR FLAYMATE

LAUREL, Va., Sept. 23 (C)—A cat, belonging to Taylor, caught a small mouse and brought it home to eat for lunch. The mouse must have missed the hole instead of dining on bunions played with it all afternoon. Tabby relaxed himself in the sport.

AWARDED FOR BRAVERY

NAIROBI, Kenya, Sept. 23 (C)—Kenya Africans who were awarded with the rescue of a burning R.A.F. plane have been awarded the Medal.

WOMEN OF CANADA:

The toughest battles are yet to come ... and you've got to help win them

There's reason to cheer! The first chink has appeared in the Axis armor.

Now there is something more than hope. We can have a new confidence born of the knowledge that the enemy has been put on the defensive.

But let us do more than cheer! The time has not come when we may hail Victory. The enemy is strong. Let's not fool ourselves. There's a tremendous job to be done.

The more men we put into the front lines—the sooner Victory will be won.

You Women of Canada owe it to your Country—to your men folk—to yourselves—to play your part.

Women are Urgently needed in the Navy, Army and Air Force. You don't require special qualifications to enlist. You must be between the ages of 18 and 45, in good health, with Grade VIII schooling or the equivalent; and be single, or married without dependent children. Go to any recruiting office.

OUR TURN NOW

A year ago we were wondering what HITLER was going to do. Today he is wondering what WE are going to do next. Yes, the tide is turning but the war is far from won. This is no time to let down, it is time to accelerate our efforts. Young physically fit men and women should be in the Army. Those who are not fit for active duty should, if possible, be in the Reserve — the Rangers — the A.R.P. — Red Cross — Salvage Corps, or the like. Everybody should be in this war, young and old, men and women, in order to assure victory.

Girls' Jingle Gets Her Man

LONDON, Sept. 23 ©—Three years ago, 16-year-old Rose Wood, war worker at a clothing factory, dropped a jingle into a pocket in the soldier's battle dress she was making. The jingle went:—
"If you are single, drop me a line.
If you are married, never mind.
If you are single, and lonely, too,
Write to me and I'll write to you."
Pte. Percy Lambert, 20, got the battledress and the note. He wrote. They met. They were married recently.

Irreplaceable treasures from London's Lincoln Cathedral have been buried for the duration in a chamber hewn out of solid rock 60 feet underground.

SOVIET NURSES GLAMOUR GIRLS

British Surgeons Admire Women Doctors, Nurses Who Do Most of Soviet Medical Work.

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 23 ©—That No. 1 glamor girl of the war, the Russian woman has won herself a new admirer—the British surgeon.

Britain sent some of her best surgical brains on a three-weeks visit that showed them Russia at war medically from Vyazma, on the front, to Moscow with her research institutes, in the rear.

With them were Prof. Wilder Penfield of Montreal, famous Canadian brain specialist, and two American doctors. Prof. Penfield proceeded to China from Russia.

The major impressions of the Britons, disclosed at a press conference on their return were:

1. 90 per cent of the Russian doctors in training are women.
2. The general principles of Russian medical work resemble those of Britain and America.
3. Russian medicine in the past 20 years has made "amazing" strides.
4. Blood transfusion is handled on a "colossal" scale.
5. The Russian ability to get the wounded into the care of specialists with a minimum of delay. Seven of 10 Red Army wounded later returned to action.

Allowed to go anywhere they wished, the surgeons saw nurses behind the front lines cutting timber in their spare time to help build a hospital. That evening, the same nurses put on a cabaret show for the visitors.

The women doctors, they said, were highly qualified. They met one wearing five wounded stripes. The chief of the army medical

Service Men Like Letters from Home

Writing Letters an Art But Must Be Done in War-Time.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 ©—Keeping in touch with friends scattered all over the globe is doubly important today, but the fast tempo of war-time life frequently causes correspondence to fall into the limbo of forgotten things.

And men in the services don't appreciate hastily-penned illegible notes either. The ideal correspondent in war-time—or any time—writes entertaining regular epistles of a satisfying length.

If writing seems to be one of the things you can't find time for in war-time, you might take a tip from a New York war wife with two small children and a job. She fits a special pad of notepaper and a fountain pen in her bag and writes a few lines whenever she has a spare moment. In this way she averages three letters a week.

Ninety per cent of the blood donors are women and most of them return the money they receive for their blood to the state for war purposes. Russia has never lacked in any crisis for blood.

The purpose of the mission was exchange of information and preparation for fuller collaboration between Britain and Russia in the medical field. A Russian mission may visit Britain in the future.

COMEDY IS ROMANTIC

"The More The Merrier," With Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn at Capitol Theatre

Co-starring Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn. The romantic comedy, "The More the Merrier" comes as the feature picture to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end.

The story is about a beautiful secretary in crowded Washington D.C. who decides to do her share towards relieving the housing shortage by sharing her apartment. She is determined to take in only a woman but is induced against her better judgment to take in Charles Coburn for a week. The latter sub-lets half of the room to young Joel McCrea, an engineer in Washington on business. Then follow five days of tense excitement including the storming of the apartment by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents investigating a rumor of Japanese spies. The investigation results in a deluge of publicity and Jean is misunderstood all around. Finally, matters are satisfactorily straightened out for all concerned.

The picture is said to be complete with delicate charming tender amusing love scenes rollicking laughter and complete timeliness.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

Sky Trains use Nylon Tow-lines

Early in July a Douglas C-47 transport plane took off from Dorval Airport, near Montreal, and crossed the Atlantic—towing a freight-loaded glider. Thus the first trans-Atlantic sky train became a fact!

This achievement highlights the increasing importance of glider operations in modern warfare. Today, winged armies—airborne soldiers—are flying into action in big troop-carrying gliders towed by aeroplanes.

Naturally, the tow-line that links the glider and its towing plane is a vitally important length of rope. Only an exceptional rope would possess the tremendous strength and elasticity necessary to withstand the pull and strain of high speed, long distance air transport. That's why the nylon tow-line was developed . . . because nylon excels all other yarns in the combination of lightness, tensile strength and elasticity.

Nylon tow-lines—less than an inch thick and exceptionally light—are being widely used in glider operations . . . once again demonstrating, by wartime use, the outstanding qualities of this yarn that originated in the chemists' test tube. At its plant in Kingston, Ontario, C-I-L is now producing nylon exclusively for military use. When the war is won, nylon will once again be available for general consumer production.

The use of nylon for sky train tow-lines is another example of a product of Industrial Chemistry that is aiding the war effort.
