Mayor Urges Prince Rupert People Plan For Future of City

Advocates That They Put Stake in Development of Natural Resources—Municipal Affairs Are Reviewed

"We are in the midst of war—a long, difficult struggle lies ahead before victory is ours—and yet, in the midst of conditions geared to war production and in spite of the quickened tempo and the distractions of life here today, we must give some thought to the future of our town," declared Mayor W. M. Watts in addressing the Prince Rupert GYRO Club yesterday. Positive and constructive thinking should be translated into action as opportunity arises.

"We must use every effort to maintain our strategic position in regard to the fisheries. We have been going down-hill in this respect during the past several years and I feel it is the individual responsibility of every one of us as citizens of this community to do his part in whatever action is called for to re-establish this port as the fishing centre of the province. "Every thinking man realizes that when this conflict is over we shall again be dependent on our natural resources to maintain this city as would have it. Many of these have not been developed. Perhaps the one with the greatest potential value is pulp timber which is here in immense quantities.

"It is of little use sitting back to await government development or outside exploitation of this natural wealth. It is up to us—members of this community—to promote our own welfare by putting up our own money to establish an industry that could be of immense benefit to every resident of our city. I would suggest that this idea, far from being premature, is one that is timely and should have the serious consideration of all of us. I should like to see plans made now for a survey of the possibilities, so that when the war ends we should be able to proceed without delay. Benefits would be twofold—from the point of increasing the community income and of the rehabilitation of many of our demobilized servicemen.

Speaking on the present civic situation, Mayor Watts said there were many angles which might be interesting but, perhaps, it would be well to consider the financial aspect of the city's affairs. The mayor delved back into civic history, telling how the early councils had set about to build streets and provide for water supply, schools and the usual services. Due to the physical nature of the townsite vast sums of money were required for the public works projects which were undertaken and each succeeding council borrowed as required. The city's future appeared bright and, with practically every parcel of land on the tax rolls and meeting the levy, the debt load was not too heavy. However, the picture changed. Gradually more and more property reverted to the city at tax sale. Assessments on land were reduced as property values declined and, eventually, instead of 7,000 or 8,000 owners paying a levy of $267,000 in the year 1922, there were only some 3,000 paying $135,000 in 1942. In the meantime during the period of receivership under administration of a commissioner, the debt had been refunded on a twenty-year basis. This meant that the present and future civic administrations must find $130,000 annually for interest and sinking fund requirements.

His Worship proceeded to explain how the civic budget was drawn up, how the departments prepared their estimated expenditures and how the treasurer computed as closely as possible the amount of revenue the city might expect to derive from all sources with the exception of the current tax levy. Eventually, the council determined the sum of money to be raised necessary to raise by levy this year was $177,000 and to do this a mill rate of 50 was required, the rate being on one hundred per cent of the land and 50 per cent of improvements. Last year the amount raised by taxation had been $135,000 and the mill rate was 47.75. Some criticism might have been heard of the council's action in raising taxes but it had been absolutely necessary. He was not being critical of the former administration, Mayor Watts said, but he merely stated facts when he said that the city had had a deficit of $43,000 in operating in 1941 and $48,000 in 1942. Two years ago there had been a cash surplus of $80,000 but, when this council came into office, there was only $12,000. Also there had been certain commitments made last year in regard to the purchase of equipment amounting to $13,000 for which there was no provision in last year's estimates. Also $4,500 had to be provided for reservoir repairs. These obligations must be met. An honest endeavour was being made to meet all bills without recourse to borrowing and to keep expenditures within the limits of anticipated revenues.

There were many pressing problems facing the municipal administration, the mayor said. Bearing the large sum required annually for debt service, it would be difficult for this and succeeding councils to obtain the finances required to reconstruct and maintain streets, sewers and other utilities that were even now showing signs of excessive deterioration under the load they were carrying and for which they were never designed.

"Consideration of these problems indicates the need for a realistic and sympathetic attitude on the part of our government," Mr. Watts declared. "It is not necessary for me to labor the point as to who or what is responsible for the present state of the city services. I can assure you that the city council is fully alive to the necessity of having our case thoroughly and properly presented to the appropriate authorities. Our interests must not and will not be prejudiced by premature or ill-considered action. Every effort is being made to obtain relief in the near future."

More Milk Asked

The GYRO Club endorsed a resolution from the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association requesting the federal government to use its good offices in assuring that there was a more adequate supply of canned milk here. President W. J. Scott, who was in the chair, asked Gyros who had not already done so to join in the new local reserve unit in which it was proposed to open up a new company of recruits. There was a large attendance of members at the luncheon and several guests in the persons of Capt. Bowen, Norman Boyd, Norman Carter, Capt. Hall, Elmer Green, Gerald McBain and Capt. Andrew Johnstone. Len Griffiths, the latest new member, was welcomed.

Invasion of Europe...

Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King suggests the possibility of an early invasion of Europe by the Allies but, with customary reservation, speaks of the possibility of unpredictably sudden developments in the global war picture causing the deferment of such invasion.

It has been a war of propaganda and surprises and there has been a good deal of bandying of portent and rumor of late. There is not the impossibility of sensational new developments in any sphere which might alter the whole pattern of the conflict. Possibly there is a little too much assumption as to where the next important developments might be. It is not to be assumed that all the eggs are in any one basket.

RATION NEWS

Meat Rationing

Meat rationing will start during May. Details of the plan, including charts showing the coupon values of each cut of meat, will be available shortly. The meat ration of approximately two pounds per week per person will include a certain percentage of bone. All cuts to be rationed will be classified according to bone content and different amounts of each class may therefore be purchased.

Illegal Sales

It is illegal for any dealer to tie the sale of any goods to the sale of a rationed commodity. For instance, your dealer cannot force you to buy rhubarb in his store if you wish to purchase the extra pound of sugar allowed for cooking rhubarb for table use. No. 1 Spare "B" (blue) Coupon, good for the extra pound of sugar, for rhubarb, is now valid. It expires May 31.

Butter Coupons

Butter Coupons Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 are now good. The first five expire on April 30; Coupon No. 6 expires May 31. Coupon No. 7 becomes good on April 24. Coupon No. 8 on May 1 and Coupon No. 9 on May 8. These Coupons also expire May 31.

Local Ration Boards

525 Local Ration Boards have been opened across Canada for the convenience of the public. Applications for Temporary Ration Cards for members of the Armed Forces, for visitors to Canada, and for replacements of lost or stolen books, are available at these offices. Notification of change of name or address may also be filed there. Find out where your Local Ration Board is located and refer to it when you have ration problems.

Visitors to Canada

On application to a Local Ration Board or Branch of the Ration Administration, visitors to Canada for five days, or longer, may secure Ration Cards on completion of a visitor's application form.

This column will appear in this newspaper every week to keep you up-to-date on Ration News. Clip and keep for reference.

IF YOUR CHILD IS THIN and NERVOUS

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in his diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B, and D, and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins—all for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, why not start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get a tin at drug or food store.

NEW, IMPROVED OVALTINE

Whifflets From The Waterfront

Ernest Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Meadows of this city and formerly of the Post Office staff here, is second officer of the former Canadian National Steamships steamer Lady Nelson which is now being operated as a hospital ship between Canada and Great Britain.

COHAN LIFE IS FILMED

One of the year's most spectacular films, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," shows at the Capitol Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. It tells the life story of America's great showman—George M. Cohan. It tells that story through the songs and plays that he wrote—his vaudeville and legitimate stage career and through the inspiration he gave to others. It is the life story of a man, but it is also the life story of show business from the 1880's until today.

James Cagney plays the role of George M. Cohan. The cast is made up of Joan Leslie, a naive girl who wants to get on the stage. She meets George M. Cohan and he gives her a chance to do a song and dance act. However, he decides she'd make a better wife than a vaudeville act, and she becomes Mrs. George M. Cohan. The Four Cohans are made up of Walter Huston; Rosemary DeCamp, Jeanne Cagney and George himself. Sam Harris, the theatrical producer who played an important part in Cohan's life, portrayed by Richard Whorf. Fay Templeton, who was the country's heart-throb at the turn of the century, is played by Irene Manning.

All George M. Cohan's unforgettable melodies are played, including "The Yankee Doodle Boy," "Give My Regards to Broadway," and "Over There."
