

United States Coal Strike Is Ended

Lewis Orders Miners To Get Back To Jobs Until October Ends

Truce Contingent Upon Government Retaining Control—"Portal to Portal" Dispute Going to Courts

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 23—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America has ordered striking coal miners to go back to work until October 31. The "portal to portal" pay dispute will be taken to the courts and the truce will be continued as long as the miners remain under government control. Response to the order is expected to become general by Monday when some half a million miners, it is expected, will have returned to work.

The United Mine Workers decision to dig coal for the government until October 31 ends the third wartime mine strike but the operators and others protested that the main issue was merely postponed, not settled. The back-to-work order of Lewis is conditional and a prolonged fight is foreshadowed. Lewis told the government in effect that, if it wanted coal, it could not restore the direction of the mines to the owners and hinted that the miners would resort to the courts to obtain pay for underground travel which they failed to get from the Wartime Labor Board.

DETROIT IS CALM

Order Restored After Racial Riots—Twenty-nine Were Killed

DETROIT, June 23 (CP)—Steel-helmeted federal troops, backing their demands with rifles and machine guns, enforced calm yesterday in riot torn sections of Detroit where 29 persons—26 of them negroes—were killed and 700 injured in racial fighting Monday. Complete order appeared to have been restored last night and continued today. Conditions were rapidly returning to normal with martial law restrictions removed except for the continued ban on sale of liquor and the maintaining of a 10 p.m. curfew.

White and negro antagonists who had engaged in bloody battling skulked into hiding as soldiers marched on patrol past shattered stores and residences and rolled through empty streets in jeeps and armored cars.

CONVENTION WORTHWHILE

City Clerk Tells of Municipal Officers' Gathering in Victoria

The recent convention in Victoria of the Municipal Officers' Association was a very useful gathering and one well worth while having attended, City Clerk H. D. Thain declared in reporting to the city council on the convention where he was this city's delegate. Many matters of importance to municipalities, more especially administration, were taken up.

Fifty municipalities were represented at the session of the convention which were very busy and fully occupied. E. H. Bridgeman, deputy minister of municipal affairs for British Columbia, was in attendance throughout and the deputy minister of municipal affairs for Alberta was also present.

An interesting innovation being set up in Alberta was the establishment of a special provincial committee to deal with appeals from municipal assessments instead of the system of municipal courts of revision. Continuing his report, Mr. Thain stated that Premier John Hart had paid a brief visit to the convention. There had also been an address by Norman Baker, superannuation commissioner. The fuel and coal commissioner had been present as well and had stressed the importance of getting in coal as soon as possible. Medical service for pensioners, election ballots, rationing, post-war rehabilitation of war veterans were among other matters which had been taken up.

While in the south, Mr. Thain had also taken up in Vancouver the matter of office equipment.

MORE HELP FOR CITIES

Prince Rupert Resolution is Adopted by Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities

The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, at its recent convention in Ottawa, adopted unanimously a resolution submitted by the city council of Prince Rupert calling for special financial assistance from the government for municipalities which have been placed under undue expense owing to serving the war effort. The resolution states:

"Whereas certain municipalities have experienced a large influx of service and civilian personnel entirely attributable to war effort of the Dominion of Canada

"And whereas this has resulted in adding financial burdens to the municipalities affected,

"(a) Increased cost of maintenance for existing streets and public utilities, due to overloading

"(b) added expense for additions to existing utilities which would otherwise have been capable of caring for normal civilian needs and normal increases in population, and

"(c) loss of revenue from taxation, both land and local improvement, due to properties being leased to the armed forces of Canada and the United States at nominal rentals;

"And whereas the increased revenue to the said municipalities is restricted to higher income from public utilities and from poll tax collections, and does not nearly offset the increased expenditures thus incurred;

"And whereas the net increased cost so incurred must otherwise be borne by the property owners in the municipalities so affected

"Therefore be it resolved that the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities petition the Dominion government to institute surveys of the financial effect of the Dominion's war effort on such municipalities with a view to advancing financial assistance in such cases as it is deemed equitable and necessary."

A report on the convention has been sent to the local city council.

DAILY EDITION Wednesday, June 23, 1943

A Priceless Canadian Asset . . .

In this war-ridden world, the relations of Canadians and Americans stand out as a hope for the future. Nowhere is this better illustrated than in Prince Rupert.

Closer, better friends and neighbors than any other peoples on earth, we needed no Atlantic charters, no peace conferences or diplomatic red-tape to keep us together. All we ever needed was a free and open border to shuttle back and forth across.

This shuttling across the border, as Brooke Claxton, M.P., says, in a recent Canada-West Indies magazine, "has woven ties of friendship which make our two peoples the best of good neighbors on this shrinking globe."

Two years ago nearly 14 million Americans entered Canada bringing us more United States funds than almost any one of our industries. As Mr. Claxton says, "even at that we still fell far short of our share of the total North American tourist business," which estimates fix at about six billion dollars.

Profit and money is not the measure of value of the United States tourist trade. The good relations between Canada and the United States as nations are based on the good relations between Canadians and Americans as people.

At present the tourist trade is a casualty of war. Travel is necessarily restricted.

Yet there is one thing nearly every Canadian can do and that is to keep in touch with relatives, friends and business acquaintances in the States.

As Mr. Claxton very rightly says—five factors draw American tourists to Canada: "country, people, facilities, special interests, and publicity." Publicity is nobody's monopoly. A letter, a greeting card, a message of good wishes from you to some friend in the States on appropriate occasions is a fine type of Canadian publicity.

You can't go to see your American friends—they cannot easily come to see you. Keep in touch with them by mail. It's no weakness to admit we value a good neighbor. We value them, not for their money, which is of less consequence these days, and which never did mean as much to us as their company—we value them for themselves, because they are, we know, the best neighbors and the best friends that any country has ever had in the history of this world.

Daily News In Eight Columns Instead of Seven; Conservation And Improvement Is Dual Aim

In the interests of improvement of service and at the same time conserving space and materials in these war times, the Daily News now appears as an eight-column instead of a seven-column newspaper.

It is the hope of the Daily News that the change will be acceptable to our steadily increasing number of readers and that, as time goes on, we will be able to increase the measure of our service and interest with possibly some additional features, including pictures.

One of the advantages of the change will also be making it possible for us to give better display to advertising matter.

The imposition of a newsprint ration, making it necessary to conserve use of paper, is one of the actuating factors in the change starting today.

After telling the junior hostesses to be sure and keep Thursday dance night open, haven't they gone and cancelled that dance for this week! Puts me in a spot after giving them all that build up? Oh, well, that's what this job is like—confusion worse confounded.

A friend in England sends me copies of "Woman," one of the nicest women's magazines and, looking through it the other day, I came across a small verse which I think we could all profit by these days when walls have ears. It ran thus: "If your lips would guard from slips, Five things observe with care: Of whom you speak, to whom you speak, And how, and when and where."

And as a rider to this little verse the editor of "Woman" added whimsically: "Don't preach at us now, Don't preach at us, never—We're going to say nothing For ever and ever."

Mr. Glassey came in today and had a look at "Sarge's" leg. He said it was out of joint alright and managed to get it fixed. Now "Sarge" is convalescing in the supervisor's room so that he won't be picked up and fondled too much the next few days and thus effect a cure. Thank you Mr. Glassey!

OPENING UP WAR METALS

Tungsten and Molybdenite Being Developed in Stewart Property

STEWART, June 23—Development work is going steadily ahead on the Molly B. vein of the Stewart Canal Mining Company near the mouth of the Bear River. This is a large vein carrying tungsten and molybdenite on which intermittent work has been done for many years. Latterly the tungsten values have become more pronounced and this metal is now receiving the main consideration.

The lower tunnel on the vein is now in 50 feet and at this point it is being crosscut from wall to wall. The width so far is eight feet with three feet of high grade tungsten and molybdenite ore on the hanging wall. The foot wall has not been reached. The ore throughout is at good commercial value.

The extent of the ore already exposed in surface workings and in the tunnel apparently warrant the assumption that a major source of war metals is now being opened up.

When Generals Served in Navy

One English Lady Recalls Her Soldier-Father Fought With Nelson

WELLS, Somerset, June 23 — It is hard to realize in these days of 400-miles-an-hour aircraft that there is a living link with the days of Lord Nelson. But there is—Mrs. Margaret Martin-Atkins.

A dignified old lady, she sat straight in her chair and told interviewers, "yes, my father served with Nelson and fought in the Peninsular War with Wellington, too." She was speaking of Gen. W. A. Johnson, of the 32nd Cornwall Infantry who was born in 1777. In Nelson's day army officers often served with the navy.

After cards the tables were cleared and dancing followed. There was a big crowd down from the mine.

LONDON, June 23 — Jolly, grey-haired Sir Patrick Hanon, Conservative M.P. for Mosley, thinks Britain is one of the best fed countries in the world. Said he to the Commons, during a debate on food: "Look around the House and see the condition of the members. What a testimony we ourselves offer to the administration of the Ministry of Food—always cheerful, bright and happy. "And if you make an occasional visit to their lordships in the House of Lords you see in them an abiding reflection of prosperity in the matter of nutrition."

PASTOR IS FAREWELLED

Rev. and Mrs. Adam Crisp Honored at Burns Lake

BURNS LAKE, June 23 — A farewell meeting was held at the United Church at Burns Lake on Saturday to honor the Rev. Adam Crisp and his wife who are leaving for new fields of endeavour. Fred Stanyer, who has been prominent in all United Church and Community efforts, briefly addressed the gathering which was composed of settlers from all over the Central Lakes district. He presented Mr. and Mrs. Crisp with a purse from their many friends through the district.

Mr. Stanyer eulogized the work of the true missionary couple and traced their good deeds throughout the most remote parts of the great Central Lakes district. Not a road or trail that led to the home of a settler had proven to be too rough for his visits. Always accompanied by his wife, who is an accomplished musician, he had officiated at many weddings and christenings. Possessed of a divine faith Mrs. Crisp carried the gift of consolation and many a bereaved home was comforted by her presence. Mr. Stanyer wishes that the popular United Church workers may be as successful wherever they may go as they have been at Burns Lake and its many environs was endorsed by a congregation which has grown from a mere handful to overflowing chapels at all scattered services.

Among the young people the success of their efforts had been most evident and when Mr. Stanyer assured them of a hearty welcome should they ever return to Burns Lake, the children in the audience were enthusiastic in their applause. Mr. Adam Crisp will be succeeded by Rev. Robert Henderson.

ENTHUSIASM IN BOWLING

Not Dampened Through Lack of Green—Roy Nichols Elected President

Although there is no play this year owing to the fact that the organization is without a green, enthusiasm continues among the members of the Canadian National Railways Recreation Association Lawn Bowling League as indicated by a large attendance at the annual meeting which was held last night. Much interest is being taken in the preparation of the new green in the railway park alongside the fountain, work on which is now well under way with a view to being ready for use next year.

The club will sponsor a rink in the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association tournament in Vancouver, choice of the players having yet to be made. Means will also be devised for raising funds to send to the assistance of bombed out British children.

President, A. R. Nichols.
Vice-president, G. P. Tinker.
Secretary, J. S. Irvine.
Treasurer, Frank Vickers.
Executive, J. A. Frew, R. E. James, Dr. R. C. Bamford and Stephen King.
Chairman of Match Committee, D. A. MacPhee.

AFRICA VOTING

Arrangements for Soldier and Hinterland Ballots Demand Wide Transport Variety

CAPE TOWN, June 23 — Nomination Day for the South African general election of July 7 left Prime Minister Smuts coalition government candidates unopposed in 16 of 150 seats in the Assembly. The Johannesburg Star had predicted 25 seats would go to the government without contest.

General Smuts himself has a three-cornered fight in his Transvaal rural constituency of Standerton. Two anti-war candidates, Mrs. H. J. Hansen, Independent, and J. E. Ludorf, Nationalist, have been nominated there. Unopposed candidates include Dr. D. F. Malan, Nationalist (Opposition) party leader and Hon. S. F. Waterson, Minister of commerce and industries.

(Standing in the last Assembly was as follows: Government, 27; Opposition, 12. There was one vacancy in the Assembly and the president of the Senate was not included in the foregoing. In addition, native representatives elected by the negroes have three seats in the Assembly and four in the Senate but have no votes on matters other than legislation affecting the negro natives.)

The campaign as it approaches election day indicates the issue is largely the government's war policy and whether South Africa should be in the war or out of it. Anti-war groups of the Opposition have not, however, reached any measure of agreement on an election pact in regard to contesting seats against the government.

The Soldiers' Vote
A great variety of transport—ranging from bombers, armored cars, ships and jeeps to camels—will be organized to carry the ballots from overseas and across Africa to the Union's electoral centres at the end of June.

After the soldiers in battle areas have marked their votes, their ballot papers will be rushed in militia vehicles to a depot, then stowed on aircraft bound for South Africa.

In remote desert districts of Kalahari and Namaqualand, camels are the only means to carry the farmers' vote across the wasteland.

Grain Bin of Union
One of the Union's biggest post-war schemes will provide 10,000 new grain farms in north-eastern Cape Province which is naturally a bad drought area. From Bethulle Barrage along the canal would irrigate 30,000 "morgen" in the Sak River Valley with the waters of the Orange River. Bethulle, Petrusville, Carnarvon and Williston would then be the grain bin of the Union, according to Minister of Lands and Conroy.

South Africa now has over 7,000 men serving at sea. About 4,000 are with the Union's naval forces, the rest being in the Royal Navy. About 500 are officers in the Merchant Navy.

To provide training facilities for prospective inland sailors, the admiralty has presented a whaler to the East Rand branch of the South African Navy League for boating exercises on the Cinderella Dam at Boksburg.

Every employee of the South African Railways who earns less than £735 ($2,307.50) yearly will have five per cent added to his salary from last April as a wartime allowance to cover the high cost of living. Railwaymen on fighting services will have their railway allowances increased on the same basis.

Summer Hospital At North Pacific

Branch of Port Simpson Institution Being Operated as Usual

The summer branch of the Port Simpson Hospital on the Skeena River has been established at North Pacific for the salmon fishing season. Miss Alice Heron has moved from Port Simpson to North Pacific to take charge and Mrs. Meredith has arrived from Duncan, Vancouver Island, to assist her.

HAPPY WARRIORS

After General Bernard L. Montgomery smashed through the Mareh Line and took El Hamma, he was personally congratulated by General Dwight Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies in North Africa. Both men seem very happy at the way the campaign was going when this photo was made at "Monty's" headquarters. General Eisenhower is at RIGHT. It was probably at this meeting that final plans were laid for the drive that effected the juncture of forces.

Hospital Gets New Equipment

Twenty Beds Arrive and More Ordered—$500 Worth of Surgical Instruments

Twenty new beds have recently been installed at the Prince Rupert General Hospital to replace old equipment and ten more have been ordered as well as ten for the Nurses' Home.

Further new equipment being obtained for the hospital includes $500 worth of surgical instruments as well as a new table for the case room.

The need of reshingling the roof of the Nurses' Home was taken up at the recent monthly meeting of the board and was referred to the house committee with power to act.

A waiting room for visitors on the second floor of the hospital is being arranged.

Army Pictures Seen at School

School Children See Interesting Pictures of Army Life—Public Showing to be Held

Sergeant J. C. Mackenzie, who is in Prince Rupert in the interests of the Department of National Defence, held two showings of moving pictures in the King Edward School today for entertainment of the school children of Prince Rupert. The pictures dealt with army life, showing the interesting features of army training and their application in combat conditions. The shows were held at 10 o'clock and 1:30. Arrangements are being made to hold public showings of these pictures sometime this week.

Restroom Is Not Essential

Alderman McKay Thinks Needs Other Things

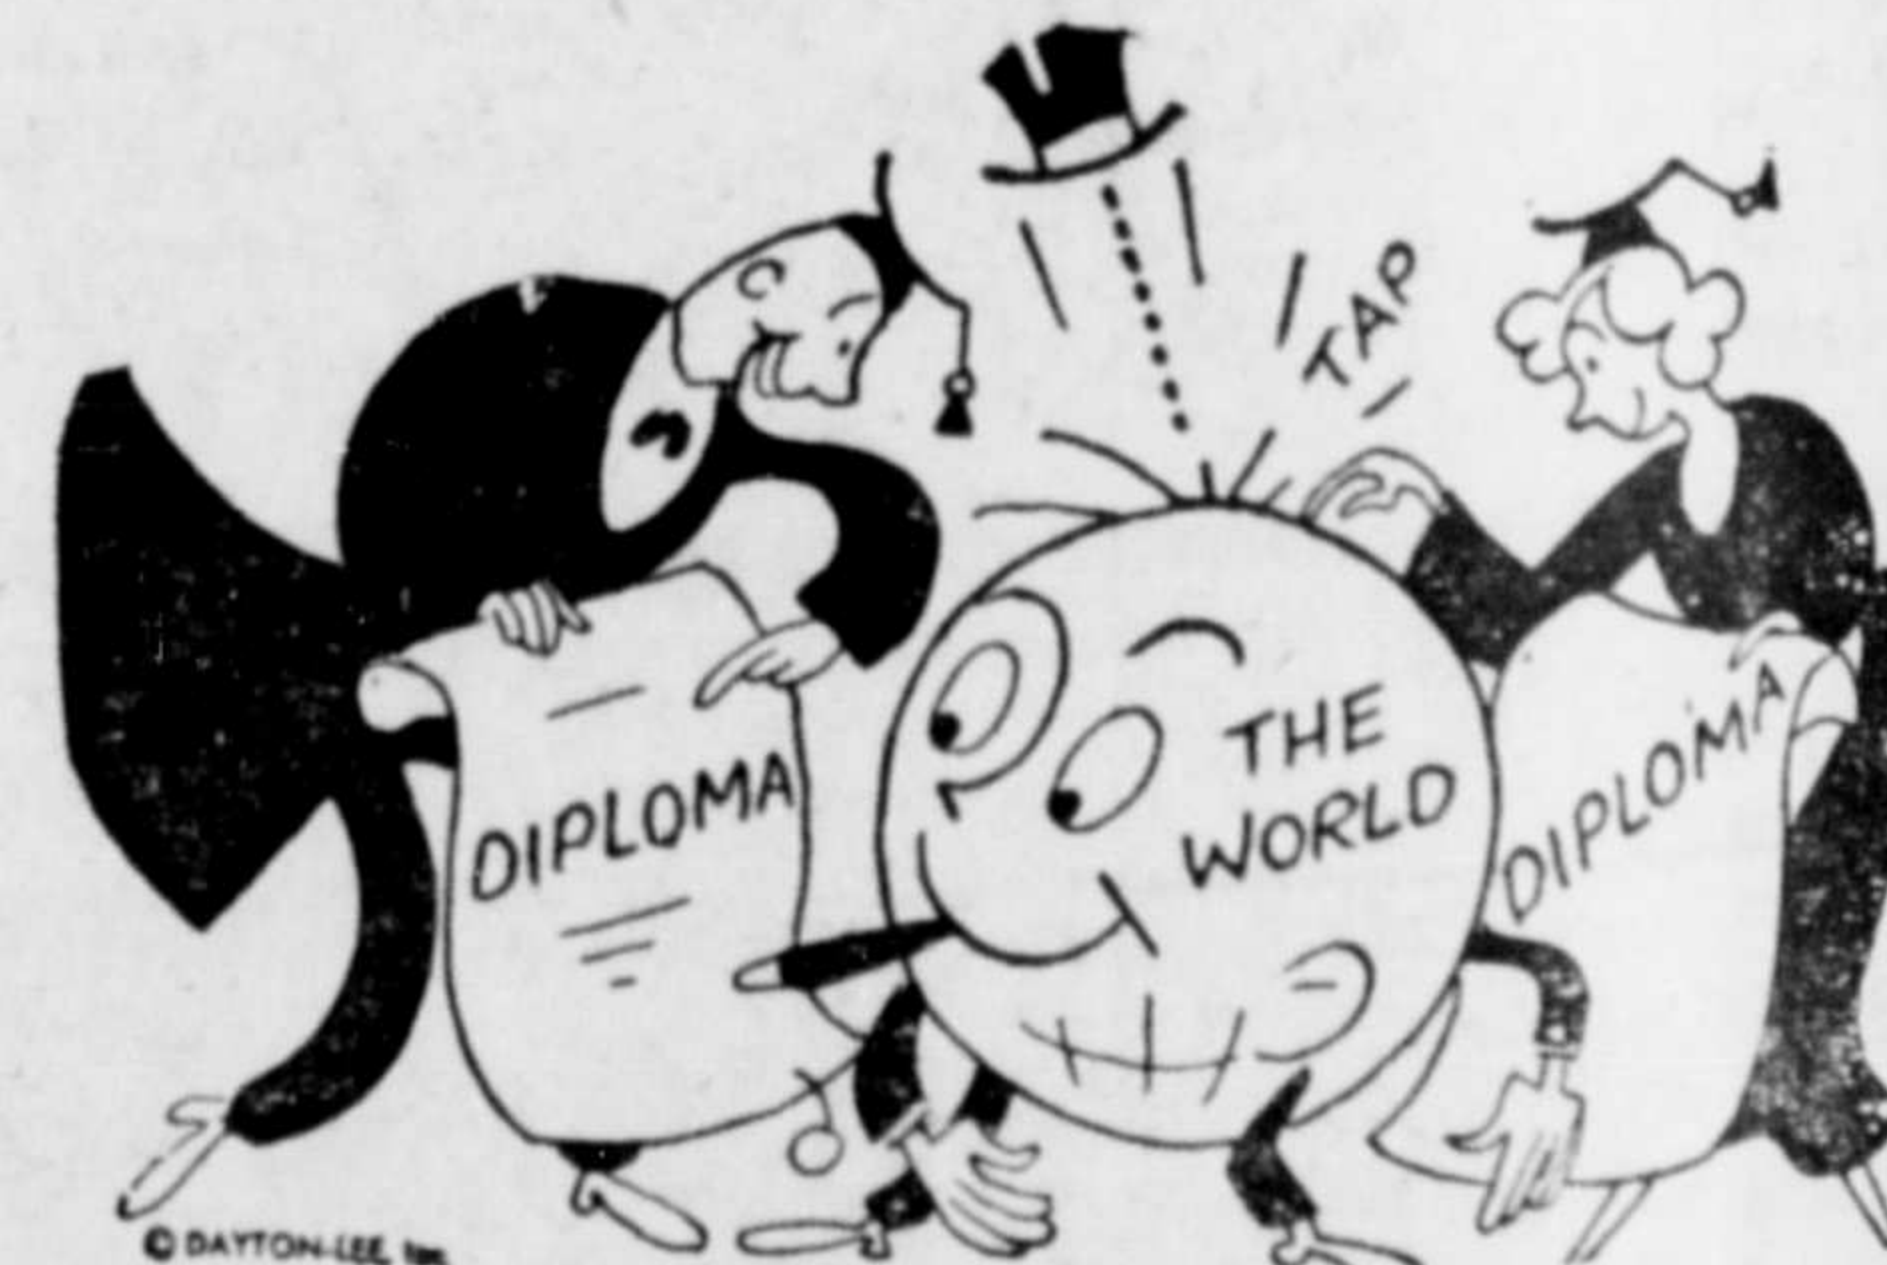

Ald. Robert McKay expressed the opinion at Monday night meeting of the city council that there were other essentials on the part of the city essential than the putting of a restroom in the old reading room building. A more pressing need, for instance, was new foundry work at the Fire Hall. Ald. McKay did not see where the proposed restroom would be much benefit to the ratepayers and property owners and was opposed to a recommendation that called for the preparation of plans and calling tenders for the work.
