Accurate War News...

DAILY EDITION

Editors of this country, more self-critical than into the clang and clatter of expected to pick a "nick" name every happiness indeed. they ever were before, are thinking deeply. They are several coast shipyards every for themselves wondering if they are presenting an accurate account morning. of the war. Some suspect that, despite the competence and heroism of war correspondents, they are not permitted to tell enough of the facts.

It is recognized, of course, that military and Nearly 600 women between 23 naval officers have many reasons for not divulging and 69 punch in daily and walk much information which if known would profoundly past the observing eye of Grace Grace Greatly Enjoyed much information which, if known, would profoundly alter some opinions of the public. But some secrecy orders, it is said, are not military but political.

It is said, for instance, that the best sources for information about the war are not public relations officials, or war correspondents, or military "experts," but the girl friends of returning soldiers and sailors! And it is suggested that the concept of the war gained by parents and friends of returned ser- shoes with medium or flat heels. of the local United States comvicemen is not radically different from the concept women on the job, too, checks was splendid in a half-hour they gain from the newspapers? If so, where does that leave public confidence in newspapers?

News sources can be cut off not only by suppress any criticism the men have of l'Amour," "Swing Low Sweet sion, but by pollution. And today there are myriad agents standing, or trying to stand, between the news-gatherer and his sources. Some of these agents are needful and helpful. Military and naval units obviously require public relations officers. there is a feeling that the thing has been overdone, and that a great deal of time, energy, and taxpayers' money is now being wasted in promotion and publicization instead of simple canalization of news.

Doc Anklam and His Clocks . . .

Old Doc Anklam was a collector of clocks. There was one or more in every room in his home, and in his big living room there were a dozen by actual count.

In the fall of the year Doc enjoyed nothing better than to sit before an open, glowing fire and listen to a machine affectionately known the ticking of his clocks. He was specially fond of as Minnie. the old clock that hung over the mantel.

To Doc, a clock was much more than a mere time jumble of whirring belts, creakpiece. It was something to be loved, and understood. Mrs. Dorothy Agelish, formerly And Doc understood clocks, understood them so well of Toronto, was operating a he could seemingly interpret messages in their ticking, steel machine. She pulled

One night Doc had his old pipe in his hands, and couple of levers, adjusted a wheel his feet were stretched toward his fire. He reflected: and tossed over her shoulder: "A clock is a wonderful thing. It hangs up there and got to get it even." It sounded ticks off the seconds. It may be right or it may be like double talk coming from wrong, but it goes on ticking just the same!"

He paused, took a draw from his pipe, looked up greased-up brunette. at his favorite clock and said "Watch those hands, wife team in the same plant, is my boy. ILLS OF CAPITALISM

Editor, Daily News:

Most of the ills of the present day are laid at the door of Capitalism. There seems to be a lot of justification for this belief. We not only supplied the Japs with our scrap to turn into bullets for our sons and daughters but we still allow the merchants to sell Jap produced goods to the people here at home.

I think the people of Prince Rupert should boycott goods that are stained with the blood

OUR TURN NOW

A year ago we were wondering what HITLER was going to do. Today he is wondering what WE are going to do next. Yes, the tide is turning but the war is far from won. This is no time to let down, it is time to accelerate our efforts. Young physically fit men and women should be in the Army. Those who are not fit for active duty should, if possible, be in the Reserve — the Rangers — the A.R.P. — Red Cross — Salvage Corps, or the like. Everybody should be in this war, young and old, men and women, in order to assure victory.
