Prince Rupert Is Fourth City of British Columbia, Population Figures Show

Prince Rupert is now the fourth city in British Columbia and is crowding New Westminster... judging by population estimates... in the annual report of the Department of Municipalities.

During war years, British Columbia's whole population has risen from 577,942 to 661,906, according to the report, as compared with the 1939 report. British Columbia cities have grown from 422,750 to 473,091.

On the North Shore, North Vancouver city has moved from 8,500 to 13,000 since 1939; North Vancouver district from 4,600 to 6,200; West Vancouver from 4,900 to 8,500.

Showing that some farming communities as well as war plant centres have shared the increase, Langley has risen by 400 to 7,169; Maple Ridge by 600 to 6,450, despite the Japanese evacuation; Matsqui 300 to 5,500; Mission 2,300 to 4,500; Surrey 5,500 to 16,000; Fraser Mills 1,400 to 4,000, and Chilliwack 13 to 8,500.

Richmond, whence Japs were evacuated from Steveston, has fallen by 1,950 to 10,370, according to the estimate, while Delta and Coquitlam municipalities are also slightly down from 1939.

Victoria population is reported 5,000 greater, at 44,065; Port Alberni, 1,400 higher at 5,000; Prince George, 900 up at 3,500; Vernon, 2,300 up at 4,068; Penikese, slightly less than 1939; Kaslo, up 1,000 to 1,500, result of Jap settlement; Oak Bay, up 3,400 to 9,700.

Cumberland, coal centre, is reported down to 925 from 2,500 in 1939; Ladysmith and Nanaimo are also reported with slight reductions. Cranbrook is said to present total of 2,560, with Revelstoke decreased 500 to 2,100, and Trail 200 down to 9,392.

The cemetery, covering nearly 1,000 square yards, yielded 320 grave groups, including one with a curse—a leaden tablet pierced with nine holes. In five of the holes iron nails had been inserted. The piercing was stated to indicate the "fixing" power of the curse, which paralyses its victim, depriving him of the strength of life.

ALGIERS, Nov. 25 (CP) — The British Eighth Army has crossed the Sangro River, toughest obstacle yet encountered in the march up the Italian peninsula, and has cracked a piece of the Nazi's winter defence line, Allied headquarters announced yesterday. A bridgehead nine thousand yards wide and two thousand yards deep was firmly established during the last few days. Furious Nazi counter-attacks were repulsed.

On the Anglo-American Fifth Army front opposing lines remained motionless while artillery duels raged.

Ontario Industrial City Also Makes Good Showing in Enlistments

(Following is one of a Canadian Press series outlining the impact of war on Canadian cities. It tells of Windsor, Ont.)

Written for The Canadian Press By NORMAN HILL

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 25 (CP)—Heart of the British Empire's automotive industry in peacetime, this busy city of 114,000 on the Detroit River has replaced its standing in the wartime production of mechanical transportation.

But Windsor does not stand only on her record as a producer of the tools of war. Thousands of her sons have donned the uniforms of their country and are to be found fighting with all services on all fronts.

The first bugle call of the war summoned men of this city's famous Essex Scottish Regiment to active service and the unit was up to strength when the war was only a few days old. The regiment's only action was at Dieppe and more than 1,500 failed to return.

Windsor was a shocked but proud city when the Scottish casualty list was announced. More than 20 of the members of the regiment who returned to England were decorated for their outstanding bravery. They join several other men from the city and district who have gained special recognition in action.

The 30th Reconnaissance Regiment is the other active service unit under the Windsor banner. It set new recruiting records for the district when it mobilized in April 1942; it now is in training in Canada for an important role with the Canadian armored corps.

Population of Windsor has increased by more than 10,000 during the war, creating a serious housing problem. The erection of 2,050 houses by Wartime Housing Ltd. has alleviated the situation, but suitable residences are still at a premium.

Employment figures are at an all-time high and the number of women at work is increasing as war industries seek replacement for men leaving for the fighting forces and to meet increased production schedules. Women are performing many tasks in these factories.

Although military vehicles comprise the overshadowing volume of Windsor's war production, the Ford Motor Co. here being the largest producer of such equipment in the Empire, scores of other factories are turning out other vital tools of war, shells, naval tugs, medicine, airplane parts, clothing and food are only a few of the other products.

Windsor is particularly proud of its record in the Victory Loan, Red Cross and other patriotic drives. The city has always gone over the top by impressive margins.

Canol Not Justified

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 25 (CP)—The Senate Truman committee yesterday closed its inquiry into the War Department's $130,000,000 Canadian oil venture known as Canol with the declaration by Chairman Harry Truman that the Army failed to justify this expense.

Soldiers Lend Aid

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 25 (CP)—War labor has been so short in Sydney that soldiers have been detailed to assist, bringing the total of busy men to 3,800. One shipowner says another 3,000 could be used. Men work 60 to 70 hours a week.

The Minister for Supply and Shipping declares that the port has never been so busy, and there is no possibility of dispersing with the soldiers. The shortage cannot be made up by civilians because all fit men are already in war service. Volunteer week-end squads help.

Japanese Lose Naval Battle

Four Nippon Cruisers Sunk by Americans in Battle Nearby Rabaul

Conquest of Gilbert Islands Has Been Completed, Providing Springboards For Attacks on Enemy's Outer Islands.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC, Nov. 25 (CP)—United States light naval forces, although outnumbered, sank four Japanese destroyers and damaged a fifth early today in a naval action fought for the first time in waters close to the enemy's naval and air fortress of Rabaul, New Britain.

A sixth destroyer escaped torpedoes and guns of the Americans who emerged from the battle unscathed. Meanwhile it was announced at Pearl Harbor that United States invasion forces had completed the conquest of the mid-Pacific Gilbert Islands with the capture of Betto Island and strategic air field after killing most of four thousand Japanese defenders. Makin, Tarawa and Abemama atolls were already firmly in Allied hands and the Gilberts provide a potential springboard for new amphibious or aerial attacks on Japan's outer island defences.

LARGE FLEET — In the Anglo-American amphibious operations against French North Africa, 850 ships, including 350 warships of all sizes, were engaged.

FIRE HAZARD GREAT IN CITY CHIEF SAYS

LABOR-PROGS TO NOMINATE — Decide to Have Candidate in Field at Next Provincial Election.

The Prince Rupert Labor-Progressive Club is placing a candidate in the field for the Prince Rupert provincial riding. The club executive, meeting last night, acting on the instructions of the membership, carried forward plans that have been discussed for some time and announced that a public nominating convention will be held in Prince Rupert on December 6. This is in line with the policy of the Labor-Progressive Party in holding all conventions, business meetings and nominating conventions entirely open to the public.

Efforts are being made, it is stated, by Labor-Progressives to achieve an agreement with the C.C.F., so that only one Progressive candidate shall run in each constituency. The C.C.F. already has a candidate in the federal field, running for Skeena riding, and Labor-Progressive members express the hope that the C.C.F. will not nominate in the provincial field.

It is felt that the demand on the part of the people of this riding for aggressive provincial policies that can help win the war and assure a people's peace is strong enough to assure a decisive victory for the Labor-Progressive over the old-line candidate and, consequently, although a provincial election is not an immediate prospect, the campaign will commence at once in order to rally the widest possible support and achieve the greatest possible measure of unity.

LONG ROUTE — The British victories of May 1943, in Africa, were achieved 12,000 miles by sea from the main base in the British Isles.

USED CAPE ROUTE — The Royal Navy, during all the time of the African campaigns, constantly convoyed reinforcements to the Middle East round the Cape.

Japs Lose Destroyers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC, Nov. 25—Four Japanese destroyers have been sunk by American naval vessels in a running battle off Bougainville Island of the Solomons, it was announced last night.

A donation of $25 has been made by the Prince Rupert Rotary Club to the Ambulance Trust Fund.

GERMANS ADVANCE

Loss of Brusilov and Charnyakov is Admitted by Russians.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (CP)—The Germans battered again today against the stiffening Russian line forty-five miles west of Kiev. A Russian communiqué indicated that the Nazi drive to recapture Kiev had been halted.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (CP)—The German radio claimed Wednesday night that Brusilov, 40 miles west of Kiev, and Chernyakov, 20 miles north of Zhitomir, were recaptured in a Nazi counter-attack against the Ukrainian bulge.

Although the Russians are putting up what is described as "stonewall" resistance to the great new Nazi tank and infantry counter-offensive west of Kiev and the Dnieper Bend, three withdrawals west of Kiev were admitted in Moscow last night. Russian artillery is, however, inflicting heavy loss on enemy men and machines.

Final Tribute to William Smeeton

Final respects to the late William Smeeton were paid this afternoon by a large number of his friends who gathered at St. Andrew's Cathedral to attend his funeral. Officiating at the service was the Rev. J. B. Gibson, dean of the cathedral.

Former Canadian Legion comrades of Mr. Smeeton assembled at the Canadian Legion Hall, and marched in a body to attend the service. The hymns "Abide With Me" and "Unto The Hills" were sung. Peter Lein, cathedral organist, at the organ.

Interment was in Fairview cemetery, where at the graveside Bugler W. J. Rance sounded the "Last Post."

As well as his wife and one brother, Mr. Smeeton is survived by four sisters in England. Pallbearers were Harry Burch, Steve King, Dennis Allen, Fred Barber, Stanley Calder, and E. A. Evans.

Honorary pallbearers were W. A. McLean, Fred Olsen, Percy Tinker, P. H. Linzey, Col. Charles Evtitt, W. D. Vance, Harold Hampton and Harold Ponder.

NIGHT RAID ON BERLIN

Mosquito Bombers Visited Capital of Reich Last Night for Confusion Purposes.

LONDON, Nov. 25 (CP)—Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers set Berlin air raid sirens howling for the third successive night by stabbing at the city Wednesday night as the capital city of the Reich remained a sea of fire from bombings by British and Canadian heavy bomber fleets. Only one Mosquito was lost.

The attack was made to confuse the battered Berlin defences. No heavy bombers took part in the latest stab.

Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair, commenting on the bombing of Berlin this week, said today that "real power of the bomber command is now operating normally. They will keep it up." Sinclair said in an interview that "attacks on the heart of Germany will continue as heavy as at any time this year, indeed heavier like those of last Thursday night when Berlin and Ludwigschafen were bombed simultaneously and very heavily."

De We Need Immigrants? . . .

Our political and social thinking is in danger of setting in certain definite molds. Sometimes it may be a good thing to have it shaken up a bit by unfamiliar patterns of thought and suggestions.

Commander Stephen King-Hall, Independent National Government member of the British House of Commons, has just returned home from an extended visit to this country which took him to many quarters of the land. He is a noted student of public affairs and conducts a News-Letter which is supposed to provide specialized information on national and international relations. Accordingly his views are worth studying.

Many of his impressions, as presented in The London Sunday Observer, fit into the familiar picture of resources, industry, U.S.-British relations and aviation. But he makes one observation which may appear commonplace in Britain, but which is full of political dynamite here. He points out that without a rapid increase of our population our rich resources "cannot be exploited for the benefit of mankind, and the Canadian people in particular." Furthermore he declares that Canada will have to look to Central Europe for increased manpower, because, he hopes, Britain will be such a good place to live in after the war that few Britons will want to migrate.

Now this runs counter to our accepted ideas. Many Canadians recognize the need of increased population. There is no agreement on how many people Canada can support—just as in Australia estimates of the possible population run all the way from the present 7,000,000 to figures like 20,000,000 or 40,000,000 or even 60,000,000. Several groups of Canadians are decidedly opposed to large increases in population. Labor organizations feel that wages might be forced down, and French Canadians feel that the racial balance of the country might be disturbed by floods of immigrants.

Even those who support immigration usually would restrict it, rightly or wrongly, to British peoples possibly with the addition of Scandinavians and Dutch. But Commander King-Hall bluntly states that we have to have more people and the only people we are likely to get will be Central Europeans. Does this mean that we will have to revise our thinking about immigration? Is it possible that the question may be taken out of our hands by some of the international organizations being set up to deal with the post-war world?

The Experts Say - - -

Hot soups are always welcome in the lunch box now that colder days are here. Laura Pepper, chief of the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture, gave us this recipe for an easy-to-make, easy-to-eat cream soup that is a sure-fire lunch box hit. It tastes just as good at home too.

Golden Soup—melt one tablespoon fat in a saucepan, stir in two tablespoons farina and cook one minute. Gradually add two cups water or vegetable stock, add 1/2 teaspoon salt and cook slowly until thickened. Stirring frequently. Grate two cups raw carrot, add and cook until carrot is tender. Rub the mixture through a sieve and add 1/2 cups hot milk. Season with a dash each of pepper and nutmeg and two teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Heat to boiling point before putting in the thermos. This makes four servings.

Towel Saving—With announcement by J. H. F. Turner, administrator of cottons and cotton products for the Prices Board, that towel and sheet sizes are now being curtailed, every Canadian housewife can profit by these hints on towel conservation from England, where you carry your own towel to office and hairdresser:

Darn the smallest hole as soon as it appears; reinforce thin places with machine stitching; cut very large bath towels in half to make two smaller ones; make one usable towel out of two badly worn ones by quilting them together with diagonal lines of machine stitching; make new wash cloths out of the best parts of worn bath towels.

Important Ingredient in the traditional Christmas puddings, cakes and mincepie, suet has been brought under definite ceiling prices in each of the 15 zones in Canada. The Consumer Branch of the Prices Board urges housewives to familiarize themselves with the maximum prices in their zone before starting on their Christmas cooking.

Vitamin C—the vanishing vitamin—is the trickiest of all the vitamin family when it comes to keeping him where he belongs—in the food until it reaches the table.

Until the end of the month when the new orange crop will begin reaching us with quantities of vitamin C, Marion Harlow of Nutrition Services gives these tips on keeping the elusive vitamin in vegetables:

Forgetting to put the lid on the vegetables lets vitamin C disappear in a cloud of steam.

Peeling the vegetables and letting them soak lets vitamin C dissolve away.

Cutting up the salad greens ahead of time lets the vitamin disappear into thin air. Overcook or keep the vegetables hot and the same thing happens.

Sweet Sentiment was charming in times past when mothers laid away little shoes and garments in lavender, but in these days it is essential that every stage of baby's clothes be kept in circulation. Passing along a layette is just one more way to meet clothing demands.

PRODUCTION UP

British vegetable production was raised from 2,500,000 tons in 1938 to nearly 4,000,000 tons in 1941.

CAMPAIGN FOR NAVY IN RUPERT

Navy Week in Prince Rupert

This is Navy Week in Canada generally, British Columbia particularly and quite enthusiastically so in Prince Rupert as it marks the opening of the drive for new members and the opportunity to win some handsome prizes under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Division of the Navy League of Canada under authority of the War Charities Act.

Prince Rupert has been represented in the Navy League of Canada almost since its inception. Local efforts have been mainly concerned with the organization and maintenance of a Sea Cadet Corps which has been financed and directed through the good offices of a very few but ever willing citizens. Some years have been very lean and discouraging. Notwithstanding many difficulties the Corps has been kept intact by unselfish officership and a certain doggedness among the boys themselves which has been and continues to be admirable. Since 1941 the Cadets have been until the last month or so, very much handicapped by lack of suitable training quarters. In spite of hardships the Corps has steadily increased in strength from around fifty to one hundred and thirty.

Last years inspection placed them second in the province which indicates a considerable increase in efficiency along with the additional numbers. Prince Rupert has a grand lot of boys keeping their chins up under trying circumstances and are worthy every support possible. The Sea Cadets in Canada have grown during the last four years from 1200 to 1500. Some 4000 former Cadets are now serving in the Navy not to mention the Mercantile Marine. Thirty former Prince Rupert Cadets are known to have joined the Navy some of whom are quite capable officers.

The present drive for membership in the Navy League anticipates a very great increase in Pacific coast requirements for all branches of marine services. It is so much better to be prepared. The Navy League of Canada came into being some twenty-odd years ago with the objects of education in matters pertaining to the Navy and Mercantile Marine the relief of distressed seamen and their families, the support of sailors' homes and institutes and the training of Sea Cadets for service in the Navy and Mercantile Marine as well as for good citizenship.

The League was founded in Toronto and from there spread to the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts taking in all the larger centres inland. The entire organization was carried on by voluntary donations until the present war needs increased their activities to such magnitude that general public support was required to meet present calls and finance on a definite budget basis ever increasing activities. The expenditure of Navy League last year ran to the million dollar mark in maintaining and operating some twenty hostels and clubs where healthy meals, clean beds, attractive recreation and other comforts were made available to our Merchant Marine.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Navy League has done a tremendous amount of work for the men of the sea. Thousands of ditty bags, socks, mufflers, libraries and many items which only women can capably supply have been donated. The value of these donations have run well into six figures in a year. A particular highlight of the value of the women's work was the for-

Ambulance Hospital Responsibility

Shortages of Clothing Safety Patrols at Schools Discussed by Housewives

Responsibility for operating ambulance should rest on the central executive of the Housewives League, extended at their regular meeting last night. In full accord with the campaign to purchase ambulances, the decision on the size of their donation to the Ambulance Fund was held over until the next meeting of the general membership early in December.

The difficulty of obtaining selections in children's clothing and shoes also came under discussion. Since there is great variety in size and style in women's clothing on the market, it was thought that the same condition should prevail for children's garments and shoes, and a letter was despatched to the shoe controller of Canada in regard to the matter.

The idea of instituting schoolboy patrols near schools to safeguard smaller children from traffic during rush periods was recommended. It was said that this system is used in some larger cities and is found effective.

been very marked in recent years. It was disclosed by Dr. Neal M. Carter, director of the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station, who gave an interesting address before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club yesterday on mountaineering. His description of an ascent of 8975 foot Mount Garibaldi off the Pacific Great Eastern Railway not far from Squamish was made the more graphic by striking moving picture and still films of rugged landscapes and flora.

Dr. Carter had made his first ascent of Mount Garibaldi back in 1919 and climbed the lofty peak again last year in company with his two sons, David and Bruce. It was interesting to re-read documents which had been left in the cairn on the summit nearly a quarter of a century ago as well as those which had been deposited by subsequent Alpinists.

Dr. Carter, among other things, described the changes in the flora of the mountain crags as glaciers receded.

In addition to Mount Garibaldi, Dr. Carter told of the ascent of the more accessible Crown Mountain across Burrard Inlet from Vancouver.

President W. J. Scott was in the chair and there was a full attendance of members with guests in the persons of Baden Marr of Vancouver and Bill Hunter of Prince Rupert.

The winner of the weekly war savings certificate raffle was G. A. Hunter.

December 8 was set as the date for a mixed installation of officers function.

HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, Minister

LETTERBOX

LABOR PROGS. vs C.C.F.

Editor, Daily News:
John Worsley has attacked our Party at some length and requires a full answer. I would appreciate your publishing this answer from me to Mr. Worsley.

The greatest crusader against Communism is Adolf Hitler who came to power and overcame a country after country by splitting his enemies with the spectre of a false enemy, "the red bogey."

Re-baiting is lying about Communists. For example, it is accusing Communists of organizing to seize power by force and violence. Do the Communists deny this? Then say they are deceiving liars. Do the Communists give their all in struggle for democracy? Then say it is just an ingenious manoeuvre to fool the public. Have the Communists formed a new party, better fitted to serve our changing nation? Then say it is "just the same old Communist party."

Do the Labor Progressives propose a united labor movement to cripple the plans of reactionary monopolies? Say they are striving for big business support by splitting the CCF vote.

Mr. Worsley has every right to disagree with us but he has no right to lie about us, and this is the precise technique he has employed in letters to the Editor. He has unwittingly played the Hitlerites' game. I cannot say his help to Canadian reaction is also unwitting—for to be trying to warn business men not to have any illusions as to whether Labor-Progressives stand for Socialism or not (and without compensation to big business horror of horrors!).

He distorts the meaning of passages from the program of the Communist International by lifting them from the contents and by his own comments. Didn't he know the C.I. was dissolved this year and the "old" Canadian Communist Party disaffiliated early in the war? He insists on confusing the legal use of force by the people's state, after the majority of the population have taken power and against a self-seeking minority, with a mythical use of "force and violence" by a Communist minority to seize power.

Mr. Worsley is very wrong when he specifically refers to the proletariat as a minority. The working people of Canada make up the vast majority of the population. A statement to the contrary assists those who do not wish to see the workers exercise their majority rights.

Two great members of the British Labor Party, Sidney and Beatrice Webb, after years of study of the Soviet Union, wrote, "if by the proletariat is meant the mass of the population dependent on their daily earnings, or as Marx frequently meant, the whole of the workers engaged in industrial production for wages, the dictatorship of the proletariat would, in highly developed capitalist societies like Great Britain where three-quarters of all men of working age are wage-earners, mean no more than the rule of an immense majority over a minority rather than dictatorship."

The Labor-Progressives have not given up scientific socialism. If Mr. Worsley wishes to warn business interests of our beliefs, then go direct to our program, as adopted this summer at the Toronto convention, where the dictatorship of the proletariat is described as follows: "The sovereign will of the people, led by the most advanced class, the working class, will, under Socialist society, prevail in the realm of economic and political democracy. And precisely because the establishment and consolidation of Socialism demands it, the Canadian people will be called up by historical necessity to form their Socialist government which will be a workers' and farmers government of, by, and for the people. Such a government, which has the fundamental task of transforming the basic economic forces of the country into public Socialist property will, of necessity, be compelled to adopt measures to protect the people against the danger of attempts by monopolist interests or their political henchmen to restore the old order of things. Such has been the experience in every case in history when a new social order was established by a class which was formerly exploited and oppressed. Until such time as the sovereign rule of majority, security of public Socialist accepted by the displaced minority, security of public Socialist property and democracy is inseparable from measures to prevent any action by which the minority might be restored to power over the nation.

Article 8, section six of our constitution says: "Should any Party member be found guilty of advocating any form of violence or terrorism for any purpose whatsoever, he or she shall be summarily expelled from the Party."

As to Mr. Worsley not being asked to get in to their own show. He asked his question and it was answered in full. Nobody is trying to shut up Mr. Worsley. He has every opportunity of expounding his views in public, which he frequently does. Would he expect the local C.C.F. to break an agreement with the theatre by inviting Mr. Winch's opponents to the stage for a debate after the scheduled meeting time is over?

Mr. Worsley falsely states Tim Buck accused the CCF of being reformist because CCFers believe small business will exist during the change-over to a new social order. What Tim Buck did was to quote the CCF publication "Make this your Canada", to the effect that what the CCF actually proposes is government purchase of monopolies. Our Party rejects the idea that government purchase or nationalization of certain monopolies would constitute Socialism.

Unable to back up his claims in any other way, Mr. Worsley has resorted to peddling cheap malicious lies. He states that on June 22, 1941, "Mr. Buck issued a four page manifesto calling for an immediate Communist revolution in Canada, the overthrow of British institutions and the setting up of a Canadian Soviet Republic". This is a complete falsehood and I call on him to publicly repudiate this statement.

Mr. Worsley's authority for the statement is one Prof. Watson Kirkconnell, who has been publicly challenged by Leslie Morris as a liar and a dealer in forged evidence and who is the honorary president of a Ukrainian Nationalist organization whose Hetman (leader) has his headquarters in Berlin.

Mr. Worsley further falsely states that Communists in Canada "demand a negotiated peace with butcher Hitler" and by "underground agitation aided the enemy". Has he forgotten that it was the Munichmen, the appeasers, who held power until the time of Dunkirk that strained might and main for peace with Hitler, for a war against the Soviet Union in aid of poor little Finland, Hitler's satellite. Has he forgotten that the Communist Party was the only party which consistently fought this treacherous policy?

Has he forgotten that the Soviet Union in the spring of '39 proposed a three-power alliance against aggression to Britain and France and that Chamberlain termed such talk "midsummer madness". Has he forgotten that Communists have been consistent anti-Fascists for a generation, that they are in the very front ranks of our war effort today? Where has he stood during all these years.

Mr. Worsley's anti-Communist phobia drives him onto the same ideological ground as the Quislings he quotes: The partitionist White Guard groups have every reason to hate the dictatorship of the proletariat in the Soviet Union which smashed the Nazi armies to which their hopes were pinned.

But it is a fortunate thing for Mr. Worsley that the working people of the USSR, led by Communists, instituted the dictatorship of the proletariat and made Stalingrad possible. Had the Nazis broken through and were Mr. Worsley today sitting in a Nazi concentration camp would he be warning his fellow prisoners of the menace of Communism?

The Moscow Conference shows that Communist and non-Communist states have sunk their differences and risen to the noble task of jointly winning the war and the peace. This smashes the Red bogey for all time and I would appeal to Mr. Worsley to play his part in building the united labor movement which Canada desperately needs if we are to win the war and the peace. We appreciate honest differences with us but feel Mr. Worsley helped seal back the Prince Rupert labor movement by stooping to reckless Red-baiting. Such policies could have brought disaster to the United Nations and can likewise wreck the home front. Bruce Mickleburgh, Chairman, Prince Rupert Labor Progressive Club.

(This definitely ends letters of such great length on this subject—Ed.)

MONTREAL'S YEAR

Editor, Daily News:
Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League are running away with victory after victory. How long will it continue and who is going to stop them? Boston came close. Will Detroit do it? Certainly not Rangers.

Montreal should be the team for the old mug this year if they don't suffer any serious military call-up. Any call-up would be serious.

But I must add that this is Montreal's big year against Toronto. Toronto fans are worried. Let's hope they stay so.

A FAN.

Christmas Cards May be Old Ones

LONDON, Nov. 25.—If you get a Christmas card from somebody in Britain, look at it closely—most likely it's a second-hand greeting.

Back in 1940 some enterprisers that there wouldn't be so many people about when Christmas cards rolled around in 1943 so they advertised in the personal columns of newspapers for cards which usually lie around for months before being tossed into the waste bin. Now they've hit the market, fifth the centre leaf removed and a verse printed on the inside of the back cover.

Somebody, they say, is making a small fortune.

Britain's Football Association, for the first time in its 80-year old history, will make a testimonial to a player. The fellow to be honored is handsome Eddie Hapgood, Arsenal full-back who has worn an international cap for England 43 times—a record—and captained English teams on 34 occasions—another record. Part of the testimonial, which has a value of $450, will consist of a photograph album depicting outstanding incidents in the career of the great player. The remainder will buy war bonds Hapgood, now a pilot officer in the Royal Air Force, has led England successfully against every home county and practically every European side. A highlight of his career came at Wembley Stadium last February when the King stepped out on the field to shake his hand and congratulate him before an international against Wales. Commenting on the testimonial, L. V. Manning in the London Daily Sketch suggested it be presented to Hapgood in the centre of the field at the next Wembley Cup final. "There were no cash acknowledgements for the old masters on retirement," he wrote. "This, the club of post-war planners hope to remedy that the Hapgood testimonial is the first sign of the F. A. awakening to their very real obligations to box-office internationalists."

The British Football Association, incidentally, just passed its 80th birthday but there was no official celebration as on the 75th anniversary when England played the Rest of Europe at Highbury. Eleven clubs were represented at the inaugural meeting in October 1863 at the Freemason's Tavern, Great Queen St., London. Now more than 6,500 are affiliated. The F. A. drew up its first rules in 1863 and legalized professional soccer 22 years later.

This business of hitting obstacles hard was nothing new to Lieut. R. M. Marshall of the R. N. V. R., who commanded a torpedo boat that sliced through a Nazi E-boat off the East Coast of Britain. He learned it as an Oxford rugby blue and an England international forward. Fast and brilliant, Marshall was captain of the Dark Blues for the season in which war's sirens screamed. He was capped for England twice in 1938 and three times the following year.

One-eyed Dunc McIntyre, 35-year old Fort William butcher, displaced the record holder by winning a 14-mile marathon from Fort William to the 4,406-foot summit of Ben Nevis, Britain's highest mountain, and return. McIntyre covered the "round" in two hours, 4 1/2 minutes, followed more than three minutes, Danny Mulholland.

 AND Y.W.C.A.
 By DOROTHY GARBUTT

I heard of Prince Rupert's own CWAC, Phyllis Hamblin, the other day. She is now attached to the R.C.O.C. in Victoria and is in the motor transport section doing practically the same work that she did up here with the B.C. Bridge and Dredging Co. She says her nickname down there is "The Grem-lin." She is living out on subsistence and likes it. She is still entertaining the troops and goes out with the Y concert parties in the evenings. While doing this she has met Jean Melvin's sister who also does concert work. So our Phyllis is getting around and spreading sweetness and light in her own way.

I also had an airgraph from Claude Wilkins, stationed for two years in Prince Rupert. On October 12 I wrote him a letter overseas by ordinary post and he replied on November 3, his letter reaching here November 20. The remarkable thing is that my letter took seventeen days by ordinary post to reach him and his took seventeen days to reach me by air-graph. He seems well and happy and says that he expects to be in "a much warmer climate" by the time it reaches me, so I guess he's over in Italy by now.
 He went up to London on leave and visited a neighbor of mine in Harrow. He promised to be on his best behaviour.

This is not the week for the Highway dance so all the girls will have to rest up and be in good form for the Navy dance on Friday. The dance orchestra really promises to go to town, though they also said they would put in one or two "sweet" numbers, mainly I think because a certain WD said she would like to hear more of them.

We now have an amazingly large B.C. Directory on our desk. It has all the principal towns of British Columbia listed. Oh sure, Prince Rupert's there, big as life. And like all persons I immediately looked up my own name and found it in there not only once but twice! My, my, and again, my!

FILM IS TOPICAL

Stirring romance and believable drama have been deftly blended and brought to the screen in "Hers to Hold" which comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this Friday and Saturday with Deanna Durbin and Joseph Cotten co-starred with Charles Winninger, Evelyn Ankers and Gus Schilling in principal supporting roles.

In a logically timely story Deanna appears as a debutante who goes to work in a war industry and finds romance as well as the satisfaction of serving her country. Cotten portrays an Army flyer whose loyalty to the service very nearly thwarts his devotion to the girl he must leave behind. Climatic sequences, it is said, have more serious dramatic depth than any picture in which Miss Durbin has previously appeared.

Particularly interesting are realistic scenes photographed inside a great California aircraft manufacturing plant, showing sections of the great enterprise in action.

Songs which Deanna sings include "Begin the Beguine," "Kashmiri Song," "Say a Prayer for the Boys Over There" and "Seguidilla."
