Doubling the Liquor Ration . . .

There are, of course, mixed feelings over the announcement that the liquor ration in British Columbia is to be increased from thirteen to twenty-six ounces monthly. One caustic remark to be heard was that, while the ration of liquor is being increased, the supply of milk and certain lines of useful foods should become less and less.

There can be no argument as to the essentiality of one compared with that of the other. It is ironical enough, however, that there should be so much more vociferous comment in regard to the liquor than in regard to the foods.

Interesting it is to note how vitally interested so many people appear to be in the liquor supply issue. One would think it was a commodity that was essential to their health and well-being.

The Mayor Retires . . .

Mayor William M. Watts, who has given a year of earnest and splendid service despite difficulties as great as ever before faced an incumbent, announces that it is his final and considered decision not to seek re-election to the chief magistracy at the civic election in December. There will be no reconsideration, he says, so we will have to be thinking about getting a new mayor. The election is less than two months off. It is, therefore, timely to discuss the situation.

In considering the mayoralty, it might as well be accepted that the city has reached a position and has a multiplicity of problems that demand practically full time service. The job is no sinecure and there is a good deal more to it than merely upholding the formal honors. Therefore, any person who embarks upon it should carefully consider his or her ability to give it the time and attention it requires so a satisfactory job may be done. The salary is, of course, not adequate and the holder of the office cannot depend entirely on it. That involves a sacrifice to start with to say nothing of the many inconveniences that must arise and personal considerations that must be foregone to function properly. There may, indeed, be a difficulty in finding some conscientious person whose personal affairs are such that make it possible to take on the work on the present terms of engagement.

At least one group, call it political or not, is actively preparing for the civic election contest. It might be well for the city if others were busying themselves too. Nothing will be gained by sitting back and talking about what others are not doing.

War effort or no war effort, municipal affairs constitute a matter of much importance and it would be healthy if a greater active interest were shown in them by all sections and interests of the community. Now is the time to start.

YANKS BEAT AIRMEN IN HOOP PLAY

Boasting a pair of running and deadly shooting guards in the persons of Laciua and Garzelloni, American Acropolis downed the Air Force Flyers 56 to 39 in another pre-schedule basketball contest at Seal Cove last night.

During the time that these quick-breaking defencemen were on the floor the Flyers could hardly penetrate their own front court. Lindsay, the only airman who saw daylight, obtained most of his 23 points via the long hoist.

Accounting for most of the Yank scoring was Laciua, with 12, Garzelloni, with 10, Kiener, a good play-making centre, with an even dozen and d'Autremont tall forward, with 11.

Flyers opened the scoring with a basket but could only count one other while the Yanks ran up 12 points at the five minute mark. From there the Airmer picked up a little and the quarter ended 19 to 13 for the Americans.

In the second frame all the Air Force could gather were three singles. The Americans were good for ten more before Laciua, Garzelloni and Kiener were given a breather. Lindsay then broke out in a rash in the third. This was the only quarter when the Flyers weren't outscored.

Lindsay accounted for the Flyers' 11 out of 17 points on five baskets and a single.

The last quarter opened with the Yank regulars back on the floor and the count thirty-eight to thirty-three for the Americans. The men on the hill slithered through for six more baskets and six singles while the rest the Flyers could do was to reply with three baskets, all by Lindsay.

Line-ups:
American Acropolis—Laciua 2, Wallingford 3, Keiner 12, Garzelloni 10, Hansen 2, d'Autremont 11, Page 6, McTaggart, Doyle.

Air Force Flyers—Lindsay 23, Ask 5, Smithers 3, Blore 6, McMorran, Bennes 2, Honeyman, Gerasiomoff, Maxwell, Anderson.

RIZZUTO STILL STARS

NORFOLK, Va. — Baseball fans around the Norfolk Naval Training Station know why the New York Yankees have always been labelled 'the Bombers'. Many Big League stars played for the training station this year, but still the most potent bat of all was that of little Phil Rizzuto, former Yank shortstop, who led the Sailors' batting parade with an average of .317.

Sport Chat

A London bookmaker who holds a staunch belief that more long-distance races should be promoted after the war presented six gold cups to the Jockey Club as challenge trophies. The trophies, won by the late Sir Charles Hyde and purchased by bookmaker Tom Goldby, include an Ascot Gold Vase presented by King George V. It is probable they will be awarded to winners of races of a minimum distance of two miles with a plate or sweepstakes added. The cups, to be held by winning owners for a year, likely will be known as the "Stetson Challenge Cups" in honor of Lord Stetson, chief steward of the Jockey Club.

Cavaleade, Kentucky Derby winner in 1934, died after contracting "shipping fever" at Lexington, Ky., three years ago. Owned by Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan, the one-time three-year old king had won $127,165 in four years of racing.

Harry Greb, former middleweight and lightweight world boxing champion, died at Atlantic City 11 years ago following a minor nose operation. Known as the "Pittsburg Windmill," he whipped almost every man he ever met in a career of more than 300 battles in 13 years. He was the only fighter to beat Gene Tunney.

Cousin Succeeds Cousin as Near East Navy Head

LONDON, Oct. 22 — Admiral Sir John H. W. Cunningham has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Allied Mediterranean fleet of the Royal Navy in succession to his distant cousin, Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, Admiral of the Fleet, who becomes First Sea Lord in succession to the late Admiral Sir Dudley Pound.

THIS war is far from over. Our leaders do not think it is won yet, though we are winning. But it takes blood, and sweat, and tears over the last mile, too, and you should be thankful that you can do your part by LENDING your money, at good interest and do the double job of backing our troops and your own future in Canada with the same transaction.

So... buy Victory Bonds now. Buy all you can from savings, then buy more on the instalment plan, out of income. The money you LEND for Victory Bonds will earn good interest, and will provide our troops with the extra power they require to speed the victory.

More people must buy more Bonds in this Victory Loan! Think now of what the men on the firing line face. Ponder a moment on the youngster who is daring the blinding flak over enemy targets. Dream about the lad who is sticking it out in cold lashing spray to keep it our ocean.

Then dig deep for those Bonds that are needed to put this loan over the top.

HOW TO BUY

Give your order to the Victory Loan salesman who calls on you or place it with any branch bank or trust company. You can also buy Bonds through your employer for cash or on the Payroll Savings Plan. Or send your order to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Any one of these agencies will be glad to give you every assistance in completing your application. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and larger.

Mr. King—July 25, 1943

"Our men are certain to continue in action on many fronts until the enemy has surrendered. No one can say for how long that may be... they must command a singleness of purpose in our hearts and minds and the utmost that our country can give in their support."

Mr. Churchill—July 27, 1943

"Nevertheless, let us not allow this favourable inclination of our fortunes to blind us to the immensity of the task before us or of the exertions still to be made, and privations and tribulations still to be endured and overcome."

Mr. Roosevelt—July 29, 1943

"We still have to defeat Hitler and Tojo on their own home grounds. No one pretends that it will be an easy matter. We shall not settle for less than total victory."

Recalling Gold Rush

Supplies for Alaska Highway And Northwest Go Over White Pass and Yukon Road

By STUART UNDERHILL Canadian Press Staff Writer

SKAGWAY, Oct. 22 (P)—The R.C.A.F. pilot exhaled a long breath and vowed: "Believe me, if I ever take a trip like this again I'll sure have my parachute along."

He wasn't in a sky-climbing aircraft but seated solidly on the plush seat of a passenger coach of the White Pass and Yukon Railway as it crept along the dizzy cliffs of the White Pass behind this Alaskan seaport.

Hundreds of feet below a foaming torrent was like a thread in the V of the valley. As far as the eye could peer upward were cloud-swathed peaks. And the three-foot gauge of the railway seemed to take up every inch of the ledge along which it wound.

Yet up this valley 45 years ago men toiled on foot to reach the fabled gold of the Yukon. The railway construction crew was not far behind, blasting much of the right-of-way out of solid rock. Now the United States Army has taken it over, and sturdy little engines puff over the 111-mile line to Whitehorse night and day with supplies for the Alaska Highway or the Northwest Staging air route.

The White Pass and Yukon is one of the few railways that paid for itself as it was built. As it crept up the Pass in 1898 and '99 it packed light to whatever point happened to be the end of the line and saved gold-seekers that much weary footslogging with back-breaking loads.

Traces of '98

From the train today one can see faint traces of the famous Trail of '98, looking more like a goat-track (for agile goats only) than a footpath over which men clambered into the Yukon.

Thirty-five thousand men were employed in building the railroad, which cost $100,000 a foot in some sections. The labor turnover was high. In one day in 1899, 1,500 employees quit en masse to join a gold stampede to Atlin.

The old landmarks are still there. The train still stops at Lake Bennett, where the gold-rushers paused to build boats and rafts to carry them down the lake. It's a very important stop, for the railway carries no diner and the station restaurant at Bennett is the traveller's only opportunity to break his fast on a 10 or 12-hour trip.

A former Toronto girl, Pearl Swartz, runs the restaurant with a crew of U.S. Army cooks,

DON'T LIKE WAR BOOKS

Classics and Novels Best Sellers As British Book-Buying Boom Continues

By SYDNEY GRUSON Canadian Press Staff Writer London, Oct. 22 (P)—Britons are buying more books than ever before and from the comment of booksellers and publishers, they don't care much what the books are about as long as they provide some escape from the war.

The boom has been on for some time. But there's no sign of it diminishing and the supply can't keep anywhere abreast of the demand. James Agate, London publisher, cites an example of what's happening all through the industry.

"I published a book on a recent Monday," Agate said collecting $1 from each passenger as they file in to sit at long tables and eat as much as they can tuck away.

Modern U. S. engines have been brought in to supplement the railway's rolling stock. Irrepressible American soldiers, all former railwaymen, have named them from the sedate "Sally" and "Molly" to "Goochie Gertie, the Vulgar Virgin."

In the old days they named them too—something like "The Duchess."

"There were three reasons why it shouldn't sell. It was a book of reprinted articles. The articles consisted of dramatic criticism. And the drama criticized was Shakespeare.

"Yet in two days the book sold out. The sales were four times bigger than any previous book of mine.

"Has the public taken to caring more about Shakespeare the theatre or me? No! Has the taste for reading increased? No! To what is the increase due? Simply the inability of people to get about. And that twiddling a book between the thumbs is less boring than just twiddling them."

Apart From War

One publisher advancing the theory that people are looking for escapism, said that probably explained a recent falling off in the sales of Tolstoy's "War and Peace." But other Russian novelists are selling as fast as the books can be printed. Escapism, too, accounts for the comparatively slow market for political pamphlets and political books.

The publishers have been cut to 37 1/2 percent of their peacetime paper supply, but by conforming to the wartime economy book standard, which results in narrower margins and little waste of paper anywhere in the book, they've managed to keep up their output.

Their output, however, does not meet the demand so the boom market has spread to second-hand books and their price has risen with the demand.

"Books we would have thrown away four years ago now fetch two shillings each," said one dealer.

The classics of Dickens and Anthony Trollope are among best sellers.

"Trollope, especially," said a dealer, "is very soothing to minds troubled by the war."

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

We're glad to see Pat Trant back from his vacation. Pat is a bear for work and actually came back from leave two weeks ahead of time! He looks very fit indeed and the holiday seems to have benefited him.

Not to be outdone by the WD's, the CWAC forces had their own wedding last Friday when Pte. Gwen Ducker was married to Sergeant Prior of the Royal Canadian Engineers. The wedding took place at St. Andrew's Cathedral which was beautifully decorated with home garden flowers.

And talking about the service girls F-O Graham tells me that, by noon of the first day of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, the WD's had oversubscribed their second quota and Barrack Block No. 27 WD proudly waves the Victory Loan pennant specially made for the winners by L.A.W. Scharff. The pennant has the Fifth Victory Loan design on it and is very cleverly made. The CWAC girls went over the top on the second day of the Victory Loan. Well done girls! By the way, didn't all the service girls look smart in the Sunday parade?

When out at the RCAF Group Headquarters the other day I saw the smartest and most ingenious gadget on the wall of one of the NCO's (WD) rooms. She had tacked up two outside frames or shells of large packets of cigarettes against the wall in line and her freshly ironed collars slipped in place as neat and tidy as you please. The boys out at Montreal Circle need an electric iron, any sort. They can repair a broken one and have asked me to ask you.

Also the RCAMC nursing sisters are now in their new home which is furnished with the necessities but very few comforts. They could do with canteens, chairs and lamps. These girls work long, hard and the time they have off should be spent in comfort.

Memorial For Dr. Grant to Be Held Sunday

First Presbyterian Church, the building of which was carried out under his inspiration and leadership, will be the scene of a memorial service on Sunday morning in honor of the memory of the late Rev. Dr. Hugh R. Grant who died recently in Fort William, Ontario. Members of the congregation to which he ministered for so many years and by whom he was so dearly beloved will assemble in token of obsequial tribute. The memorial service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. F. MacSween, and an interdenominational aspect will be given the proceedings through the presence as brief speakers of Rt. Rev. G. A. Rix, Bishop of Caledonia; P. H. Linzey, one of the leaders of First Baptist Church, and W. W. C. O'Neill, one of whom were old and personal friends of the late Dr. Grant.

In munitions industries in Britain, including shipbuilding and heavy engineering, one worker in three is a woman.

able home-like surroundings. If anyone has such articles—in a reasonable state of repair—would they get in direct touch with the RCAMC Nurses Home or Mrs. Garbutt at the 'Y'?
