Hitler May Meet His Waterloo in 100 Days

Bulgaria Shaken to Its Foundations With Fear of Allied Invasion — Rommel Preparing for Allied Attack From West.

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP)—A peace or war crisis, inspired in part by fear of expected Allied invasion of the Balkans, was shaking Bulgaria to its foundations today amid some indications that the world has little more time to wait for proposed east-west-south knockout blows against Adolf Hitler. "The next one hundred days will be as important in the history of the world as the one hundred days before Waterloo," declared Lord Strobogol, chief Labor whip in the House of Lords, in a speech yesterday. "Then Napoleon met his fate and Hitler will meet his if we act bravely and swiftly."

German reports reaching Stockholm Sunday said that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has been named anti-invasion chief to prepare for Allied attack on western Europe. Rommel, one of Germany's outstanding defence strategists, has been reported inspecting German coastal defences all week and has now gone to Norway.

General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States Air Force, said at the end of the week that the Allies were planning greater air raids in all directions on the Reich, the confident expectation being that thereby Germany would be reduced to a point where she would be most susceptible for effective land attack. He said that "fearful and terrible" would be the round the clock bombing with which every town and village would be hit this winter with the assault doubled in the spring.

SIGN CZECH-RUSS PACT

LONDON, December 13 (Canadian Press)—Russian and Czechoslovak governments took the first step towards erecting a barrier against future German aggression in eastern Europe by binding themselves in a treaty of friendship, mutual assistance and postwar collaboration.

The agreement was signed by Premier Joseph Stalin and the Czech president, Dr. Edouard Benes, who is in Moscow.

The pact is for twenty years' duration. Details will be announced later.

Headache for Housewives . . .

Admitting the need for a reduction in the rates in the lower brackets, there still remains the problem arising from the fact that the income-per-household is, in certain classes, at unprecedented heights. Where perhaps formerly only one member of the household was working, there now may be several, ranging from the young boy or girl to grandpa and, for all we know, grandma. In the last war, such households found an outlet for surplus funds in silk shirts and floor lamps. This time—and at this stage—the night clubs and the race tracks are doing very well.

There is, however, a large and very important group who find existing taxes a severe hardship. This is the group who have no additional earners in the household and who have been held down by wage ceilings to the same rates of pay as prevailed before the 1942 taxes hit the nation. The $50-per-week salary has taken a sad blow. Compared with negligible taxes on such a salary for a married man prior to the war, the total tax now is about 20 per cent. Such a cut in net income presents a real problem to the housewife, especially when prices of necessities are indubitably higher.

This plight of the person of small income should be dealt with at once. And, immediately following the war, there should be revisions to relieve the situation affecting persons of larger income. Otherwise, progress will be impossible. The small business cannot survive under the present rates of taxation of proprietors even without the excess-profits tax.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

Early Saturday morning Anne Borland, who is nine and a half years old, and Diane, Gilchrist, who is ten, came up to the "Y" with their arms full of the loveliest toys and books for our children's corner. There was a doll and an ironing board and blocks for the babies amongst them. It was very kind of the girls and I do appreciate their help. I was telling them about the time my Mother bought me a beautiful new doll with eyes that opened and shut and 'real' hair and she gave my doll, and my favorite away to our wash woman. The old doll was a rag one and could be used for all sorts of purposes. When I wanted it to be "Little Lord Fauntleroy" all I had to do was cut out strips of brown corduroy and pin on its head for curls, or wood shavings done the same way made it "Little Eva". Mother was ashamed of it but I loved it so. I ran after Mrs. Evans begging her to give me back my rag doll and offering the elegant and altogether too-good-to-be-played-with doll to her in exchange. She gave me back my treasure but wouldn't take the new doll. I think the outcome of it was that Mother had to buy another Eaton Beauty for the little Evans girl. So when you are giving us the toys do spare the real treasures. Let the children make their own choice of things to be donated. Tonight, Monday, the Discussion Group is having as its guest speaker Captain Rose of the American Army, who is chaplain to the Jewish personnel. All service men and women who are interested in current topics are cordially invited to these discussion groups which meet each Monday evening in the Quiet Room at the "Y" Hut. All children's names should fairly a week from today if you want to be sure that they get their gifts. Mrs. Strand, secretary of the Y.W.C.A. Service Wives Club, would like the members to come to her place this evening, Monday, to wrap up the parcels. She must have help as there are too many to do alone.

POWER DRIVE THROUGH ITALY!

by PETER STURSBURG

Peter Stursburg, of the CBC, was the first war correspondent to give the world a "sound picture" of the invasion of Europe. His broadcast of celebrations in the Sicilian town of Agira, after the Canadians took it, was heard throughout the British Empire and the United States.

• The main street of a town in Sicily, showing the infantry followed by mechanized equipment. Typical is the country in the background, with its rolling hills and the beautiful church, happily in good condition after the battle.

Somehow in Italy (by Cable) — War stories at best are hard to get. When a fast mechanized army is on the move, it is a job in itself to keep up with it. Fighting men must have priority, for theirs is the all-important job. Nevertheless, the newsmen, radio and press, have just got to make the grade somehow. Believe me it is no parade. It's an impressive sight to see hundreds of vehicles literally plowing their way to the front. Speeding through dust, rough country, bad roads, heat, noise and excitement. It is really a power drive that we're putting on. You almost have to wait till it's over to know what you've seen. I can tell you it was a great matter of pride to us, in our General Motors Oshawa-built utility truck, to be able to hold our own against all-comers. It was in a "Chevy" that we brought back the world's first sound picture of fighting in Sicily. If the fellows back home who sweated to turn out these countless cars moving forward into tough engagements could only see the splendid product of their toil and skill fighting against rough conditions, they'd be just as proud as the lads who are in this scrap. We travelled for hundreds of miles over the rough, rocky roads of Sicily to the steep "Devil's Gap" of Italy. It is interesting to note that the song hit "Lily Marlene" was first recorded in our "Chevy". But we nearly lost the truck and all when first we tried to record a close-up of "noise of battle". Our guns were going to pump forty thousand shells on a feature the Germans held, so we drove up steep brown hills where our batteries were parked in a dried-out stream. In the end the enemy was routed by our Infantry without a shell being fired and we were terribly disappointed with the loss of a fine recording. We weren't disappointed, however, with the breath-taking never-to-be-forgotten trip through Sicily and the toe of Italy in our trusty old "Chevy".

• Bulldozers come ashore right behind the landing parties and started levelling to form roads for the heavy trucks. Coming up behind the bulldozers from the beach is a long line of motor vehicles and in the distance can be seen the naval equipment and other boats.

• From Italy and Sicily, Peter Stursburg sends his eye-witness account of battle. Here, as in the other theatres of war, Canadian-built vehicles are doing their part in the fight for freedom. Men and women in the plants of General Motors of Canada feel a glow of pride as they hear of and see the results of their labour. From thousands of work benches here at General Motors comes assurance that they will be kept rolling—till Victory comes.

THE PLAN OR THE PEOPLE

Editor, Daily News:
What did Harold Winch say? Did he or did he not say that the C.C.F. government would use the police and the military to enforce compliance with whatever laws the C.C.F. party sees fit to put on the statute books?

Whether or not Mr. Winch made such a statement is of secondary importance. What is of first importance is that any government that undertakes to carry out C.C.F. policies will have to do that very thing, or else abandon its policy.

Let us take an example: Suppose the planning authorities set up by the C.C.F. government decide that the country requires the work of 10,000 men in a certain industry and that the proper wage for such men is $4 a day; and suppose the men refuse to work for $4 a day and demand $6, what will the government do? It will have to choose between the plan and the people. Either it will have to abandon its plan and yield to the demands of the men, or it will have to force the men to obey the orders of the planning board. If it decides to enforce compliance, how can that be done except by the use of the police or the military?

Take another example: Suppose the planning authorities instruct the farmers of a certain district to reduce their wheat acreage, and to devote their efforts to the production of hogs and cattle; and suppose the farmers ignore the orders and persist in growing wheat. What will the government do? Again it will have to choose between the plan and the people. It can abandon the plan and allow the farmers to use their own judgment as to what they will produce; or it can put those farmers off their farms and give the land to meeker and more pliable men. This could not be done without the use of force, for farmers with sufficient independence to insist on farming their own land in their own way will not tamely submit to being dispossessed of their farms by any planning board.

The C.C.F. might find it an easy matter to subdue wealthy capitalists and make them "obey the bit" for the wealthy always believe that "the meek shall inherit the earth." But when it comes to forcing the working man and the farmer to obey the whims and the vagar-ies of a planning board, the government will find that it requires force and plenty of it.

If the C.C.F. have any way of forcing compliance with their proposed plans, other by the use of the police and the military the people would be glad to know what it is.

There has been a run of herring during the past week in Kwakwaka Pass between Cavert and Hectate Island in the Fitzhugh Sound area below Namu where seiners have been in operation. The most of the fish have been going to the B. C. Packers reduction and canning plant at Namu while one carload came north to the Port Edward reduction plant. It will not be until after the holiday season, it is expected, before the search for herring in this particular area gets fully underway.

Corned Beef and Cabbage

Jiggs' favourite meal is tops from a nutritional point of view

If there's one dish all men go for, it's Corned Beef and Cabbage. And it's a fine nourishing meal into the bargain!

To Cook Corned Beef and Cabbage

Ask your butcher for a suitable piece from the brisket, rump or plate. Cover with boiling water and simmer (do not boil) until tender—for a 5 lb. piece allow 3 1/2 hours. Add cabbage cut in sections 20 minutes before cooking is complete. Serve dumplings as extender. Cook enough to serve once hot, once cold and once as sizzling, savoury corned beef hash.

Got your copy of "Meat Complete" yet? No? Then send 10¢ for Martha Logan's hand book of meat cookery to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept. NE 48 New Westminster.

Corn your own Beef

If your butcher doesn't have corned beef, you may like to pickle a piece from the round, or brisket yourself. Here is an easy way.

The Pickle

2 quarts cold water
1/2 lb. salt
1/2 cup (packed) brown sugar
3/4 oz. salt peter

Glorify God In Body as Well As In Spirit

"Before we can glorify God in the spirit we must first glorify him in our bodies asserted Pastor Balmer last evening in the Oddfellow's Hall. The scripturally revealed fact was that man is one complete whole. He is not a soul imprisoned in a bodily shell but a complex being whose physical, mental and spiritual aspects act and react upon one another, and are all required to make that being called man. Therefore, said the speaker, what affects the body may also very virtually affect the spiritual nature. Swine's flesh was forbidden to God's people because it was pronounced unclean and should not be touched. The mere fact that Gentiles ate it today did not make it clean. Much of it was infested with the parasite trichine which produces the incurable Malady trichinosis.

Tea, coffee cocoa as well as tobacco weed, according to eminent authorities, contained certain poisons and therefore were harmful if not destructive to the human body said Mr. Balmer quoting Cor 3:17 (Margin) "If any man destroy the temple of God, him shall God destroy." In closing the speaker urged upon his congregation to eat and drink that which was good and thus glorify our creator in our bodies."

MOVIES FOR NAVAL MEN

Profits From Pictures Shown In City Provide Films For Men At Sea.

Few of the many service men who attend the moving picture shows in the Naval Drill Hall are aware of the fact that the profits enable the Royal Canadian Naval Film Society to carry on their work of providing films and projectors for men serving in ships at sea.

The Society has devised a plan whereby each of His Majesty's Canadian ships are supplied with a 16 MM projector and the latest films. The charge for these projectors and films is regulated according to the complement of the ship and in most cases the Society would operate at a loss if it were not for the profits from their theatres in shore establishments.

For that reason every sailor who buys a ticket to the theatre in his shore establishment is insuring himself for entertainment when he is drafted to sea. The majority of operators in the shore theatres are trained projectionists in civilian life, many of whom own their own theatre "back home."

In the naval Drill Hall in Prince Rupert are to be found two experienced operators. Photographer William Cole is one of them.

When war broke out, Cole, who comes from a Welsh seafaring family, decided he could do more for his country as a sailor than he could on land. He handed his wife the reins he had held operating his two theatres in Bellevue, Alberta and joined the Navy as a stoker.

It wasn't long, however, before the naval authorities found out about his experience in the theatre business and he soon found himself back at his old job. This time his audience is different to one he had in Alberta. About 6000 service men and women is the clientele he now serves, carrying them away by the magic wand of Hollywood phantasy.

Able assisted by Photographer McRae of Glencoe, Ontario, also an experienced projectionist, Cole may feel assured that even though he is not serving at sea he is earning his share of the honor due every man and woman in the Canadian Fighting Forces.

TED LEWIS' LIFE STORY

"Is Everybody Happy?" Is Current Feature on Capitol Theatre Screen Here.

Based on the life story of Ted Lewis, famous American dance band leader of over 30 years' popular standing, "Is Everybody Happy?" is the feature picture on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here today and tomorrow.

The picture shows the forming of Lewis' band, the trials and tribulations which beset his path to stardom, his first love, how he won the high hat with which he has been identified for so many years.

The music score of the happy romance included 18 of the songs which Lewis has made famous including "Chinatown, My Chinatown," "St. Louis Blues," "Sunny Side of the Street," "Pretty Baby," "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," "Baby Face," "It Had to Be You" and "Am I Blue?"

The supporting cast includes Michael Duane, Nan Wynn, Larry Parks, Lynn Merrick and Bob Haymes.

Fine Winter in Bulkley Valley

SMITHERS, Dec. 13.—The winter to date in the Bulkley Valley has been of the kind that has been greatly appreciated by all insofar as enjoyable weather is concerned and the fact that a great saving of winter fuel has been effected thus far. At no time yet has the thermometer even flirted with the zero mark and practically no snow has yet fallen in this area.

Those organizations looking forward to the winter sports, however, are not so well pleased with the weather man and so far no attempt has been made to make the ice required for curling or skating. The ski enthusiasts also would appreciate a little more snow.

No doubt conditions will soon arrive which will be more satisfactory in these respects but, in the meantime, the average householder is congratulating himself on the saving he has been able to make in the cost of his winter fuel.
