Famous Aerial Mascot—

Group Captain's Spaniel,
Air Veteran With 300 Hours'
Time, Is Poisoner's Victim

PRINCE RUPERT — One of Canada's most celebrated dogs is dead in Prince Rupert, the victim of poisoning near his home on Fourth Avenue West.

The dog is "Gyp," six-year-old cocker spaniel belonging to Group Captain Roy H. Foss, officer commanding the Royal Canadian Air Force here.

Group Captain Foss' remark that it "is almost like losing one of the family" can be appreciated when it is learned that "Gyp" was his faithful companion on no less than three hundred hours of flying in Eastern Canada, from Labrador and from Newfoundland and half-way across the Atlantic as well as later on the Pacific Coast.

One of "Gyp's" interesting flying exploits was a mercy flight into Central Labrador when Group Captain Foss went in with a Norseman flying boat to rescue three Americans who had been in a crash.

To meet distinguished people was not unusual for "Gyp." In fact, he was personally acquainted with two kings—Peter of Yugoslavia and George of Greece—to say nothing of such notabilities as Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia, General George C. Marshall, Major General Jimmy Doolittle and many others. With some of them he went fishing. These acquaintances were made on the East Coast.

Possibly no other aerial mascot ever had more flying time to his credit than "Gyp" who was a real enthusiast in his doggy way for air travel. He was better known than many well known fliers.

He was also a faithful family pet and a friend with the neighbors although he seldom strayed from home or master's presence. He was brought up as a pup in Montreal and remained there while his master was overseas.

At present the closing time is 11 p.m. The wicket section will be open as usual from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on week-days.

Are Moving
Upon Rome

Fifth and Eighth Armies Are Continuing Their Advances in Italy.

ALGIERS, Dec. 24—Occupation of the important railway town of Ortona on the Adriatic coast of Italy has been almost, if not fully, completed by the Eighth Army with Canadians playing a leading role, it was indicated today.

To the west the Fifth Army has captured further important heights in its campaign for Cassino and Rome may be reached sooner than some might have expected, it is now suggested.

President Talks
To World Today

WASHINGTON D. C. Dec. 24—President Franklin D. Roosevelt delivered a radio broadcast to the world today. Rebroadcast in thirty languages, it was carried over all North American broadcasting systems including Canada as well as the British, Australian, and New Zealand channels and to North Africa, Italy and India. The address originated at Hyde Park where the president is spending Christmas.

Greetings from Olof Hanson

Under circumstances in the war situation which it must be apparent to us all are far more gratifying and hopeful than they have been at any time since we became engaged in the struggle for maintenance of peace and democracy, it is my pleasure to once again extend my best Christmas and New Year wishes to the good people of Skeena constituency.

The great gift which Providence and Fortune brought us during the past year was the Turning of the Tide which is now flowing so abundantly in our favor. Have we not good reason to anticipate that the year to come will see well on the way if not finally consummated the era of Peace and Goodwill which the present glad season implies and for which we continue to work and fight?

Thus far the citizens of Skeena have done nobly in furthering the great cause. May I once again salute them on the eve of Christmas.

—OLOF HANSON,
M.P. for Skeena.

BREAKTHROUGH
MADE BY REDS

German Counter Offensive Being Held Between White Russia and Ukraine.

LONDON, Dec. 24 — German sources have intimated that the Red Army has made a breakthrough north of Vitebsk, a report that has not yet been confirmed by Moscow. Several towns were taken north of Vitebsk.

Pierce fighting continues West of Kiev but the Russians are holding against the new German counter-offensive from White Russia to the Ukraine.

There is a new Russian assault east of Kersch.

A.R.P. HERE
IN SESSION

Preparations Are Being Made For Visit of Dominion Director.

At a meeting of the district wardens of the Civil Protection Committee (A.R.P.) J. S. Wilson, chief warden, referred to the forthcoming visit of Brigadier-General Alex Ross, C.M.G., K.C., D.S.O., director of civil defence Ottawa.

The appointment of such an outstanding person as General Ross to succeed the late Dr. R. J. Manion was proof that the government recognized the importance of maintaining and even improving civil defence organization. It is well to remember that military or naval changes did not imply that civil defence organizations were no longer needed. There still was a definite risk of air or other attacks on the Pacific coast and, if such happened, the only organization to take care of civilian casualties and property would be the Civilian Defence (A.R.P.).

Mr. Wilson urged the district wardens to revive interest in the organization. They had built up a very creditable and effective organization in the past. It would be very unfortunate and even tragic if the organization were allowed to fall away.

With the approaching visit of General Ross there was a real and definite incentive for all to get together again and be able to show the Dominion director that the Civil Defence (A.R.P.) in Prince Rupert had built up in the past was fully warranted.

Aged Pensioner
Passes Away

The death occurred in the Eventide Home this morning of Cleson Hawley, a pensioner, at the age of 91 years.

The late Mr. Hawley was born in Quebec, and came to Prince Rupert about 20 years ago from Golden where he had been a policeman. He was a pensioner during his residence here.

The deceased leaves no known survivors. A twin brother who lived at Calgary is believed to be no longer living.

BERLIN GETS BOMBS FOR XMAS

FOR WAR AND PEACE TO FOLLOW
GREAT PROJECTS OPEN NORTHWEST

Gigantic Undertakings Following Openings of Great Road at or Near Completion as Year Ends.

By JACK SULLIVAN

EDMONTON, Dec. 24 (CP) — It took a war to tame Canada's much-storied northland, but this great territory enters 1944 sprinkled with the sweat of its conquerors—a huge invasion force that broke it down through sheer inventive genius and fortitude.

Dictates of the war made necessary the opening of the northwest, linking the arsenals of the United States and Canada with outlying defence posts. Today it bristles with a chain of strategically-situated airports, and planes, both Canadian and American, range far out into the Pacific along the great sword of the Aleutians pointing at the heart of Japan.

The path-finding for this hitherto comparatively unexplored region was blazed by a band of daring Canadian bush pilots and the pioneer work proved to be of inestimable value when the time came for building the 1,830-mile Alaska Highway to the Yukon, and allied projects, including the $130,000,000 Canol oil project at Fort Norman, N.W.T., the longest open-wire telephone line in the world, stepping-stone stop-offs for Russia-bound planes and the world's longest overland mail route.

The highway snakes its way from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Whitehorse, Y.T., through wild timberlands, over treacherous muskegs and up along the lofty glacier regions of the Yukon and Alaska. An American undertaking, the $115,000,000 road was started in March, 1942, and was officially opened as a pioneer road nine months later.

A Co-operative Effort

Although built with American funds it will become Canadian property after the war, with the stipulation that no discrimination be made against traffic originating in the United States.

Thousands of United States army engineer troops, bolstered by American and Canadian civilian crews, fought and hacked their way through hitherto-untrammelled land. These men worked with heart-breaking speed in weather that silted from above-zero temperature to 40 and 50 degrees below zero.

Bridges were built over treacherous rivers as the workers went along. Some, including the $1,750,000 suspension bridge over the swift-flowing Peace River, compare favorably with any in the cities of Canada and the United States.

Canol, developed to provide much-needed fuel for the United States army in Alaska and Canada, is about 1,500 miles of pipeline with the Norman Wells oilfields on the Mackenzie River as its course. Completion of this project is scheduled for Jan. 15.

Farthest North Oilfield

Canol, which stands for Canadian Oil Lines, is the farthest north oil field in the world, approximately 1,000 miles north of Calgary by air.

The U.S. army signal corps also entered the picture for development of the north, completing in November, 1943, the final link in the 2,026-mile telephone system from Edmonton to Fairbanks, Alaska. It marked the first time in history overland telephone communication between the United States and its largest territorial possession was possible.

The system extends from Ed-

MESSAGE OF RAIL CHIEF

Seasonal Greetings of President R. C. Vaughan to His Staff.

MONTREAL, Dec. 24 — R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president Canadian National Railways, yesterday issued a special seasonal message addressed to all members of the system staff and affiliated companies as follows:

"In the closing days of another eventful year, I wish to express to all members of the Canadian National family my thanks for the services they have rendered in 1943. The loyalty and co-operation of all in the employ of this great organization has been freely extended and is something of which we may be proud as we take stock of what has been accomplished under conditions which in this another year of war have demanded the utmost of all of us. We entered upon 1943 with courage and determination we can all take satisfaction from what has been achieved and, as the outlook becomes brighter for our nation, we may go forth into the New Year confident that, whatever our tasks may be, we shall devote ourselves to them without any relaxation of our efforts and with the zeal and enthusiasm which is the hall-mark of Canadian National service. To all in the service throughout the system and to their families I couple with this expression of thanks my cordial greetings for Christmas time and my best wishes for the New Year.

Edmonton to Fairbanks along the route of the Alaska Highway, then stretches from Fairbanks to Anchorage paralleling the Alaska Railroad.

Another by-product of the highway is the daily overland mail route from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks. Mail for both Canadians and American along the various posts and stations on the highway is sorted at Edmonton, shipped by Northern Alberta Railway to Dawson Creek and then taken over by U.S. army postal trucks.

The 1,600-mile run from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks takes a total elapsed time of three days, 19 hours.

BULLETINS

JAPS DRIVEN OUT CHUNGKING — The Japanese have been driven out of four-fifths of the Chinese Rice Bowl, it is declared here.

POPE SAYS WAR WORSE VATICAN CITY — In a Christmas Eve broadcast today, Pope Pius deplored the fact that the war was "degenerating." The spirit of the Christmas season was deteriorating throughout the world. It was terrible that mankind should be losing its way to the manger.

NEW GERMAN BOMB LONDON—Berlin claims to have used its new and deadly rocket gun in a cross-channel duel last night. However, there were no indications in British reports that the duel was of any difference than previous ones.

TRIAL AS CRIMINALS BERLIN — Captured British and American fliers will be tried as war criminals, it has been announced. They will be given opportunity in open court to tell of their orders and how they were carried out. It is presumed this applies to Canadians as well.

GLOUCESTER BOMBED AGAIN ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC—Another United Nations bombing attack has been made on Cape Gloucester, New Britain. One hundred and fifty-two tons of bombs were dropped. Fourteen Japanese planes were shot down over New Guinea yesterday.

Germans Try To Stop Submarines

LONDON, Dec. 24—A fifty-mile submarine net has been spread from the Gulf of Finland to the Baltic Sea in order to block off Russian submarines.

Evacuating Yugo-
Slavs From Coast

LONDON, Dec. 24—The Germans are carrying out a mass evacuation of Yugo-Slavs from a 230-mile strip of Dalmatian and Croatian coast. The reason is fear that the Yugo-Slavs might co-operate with an Allied invasion.

PARTY FOR OLD TIMERS

An innovation as interesting and enjoyable as it was novel to the some forty-five or fifty real old timers in attendance was the Christmas party for pioneers held yesterday afternoon in the social parlor of First United Church (U.S.O.) under the auspices of the local Women's Council.

The guests, all of them septuagenarians or better, were received by Canon W. F. Rushbrook and Ex-Mayor M. M. Stephens and warmly welcomed. Mr. Stephens acted as master of ceremonies and made suitable opening remarks. Grace was pronounced by the venerable missionary, Rev. W. H. Pierce, and then full justice was done

Royal Air Force In Large Formation On Attack Early Today

Seventeen British Planes Failed to Return — Clear, Frosty Weather Facilitates Assault.

LONDON, Dec. 24—The Christmas season is not halting the bombing of Berlin. Indeed, advantage is being taken of clear, frosty weather to intensify the assault. Last night Royal Air Force heavy bombers in large formations, visited the German capita shortly after midnight instead of early in the evening as has been their custom.

They travelled by the North Sea route instead of further south. Early reports indicated heavy destruction. Seventeen of the bombers failed to return. It was the seventh heavy bombing of Berlin in five weeks.

The destruction of Berlin has now reached the three-quarter point, it is declared.

United States heavy bombers and Royal Air Force fighter escorts went out again today to Northern France or Germany.

Railways May Be Taken Over

WASHINGTON D. C. Dec. 24 —Clearing the way for seizure, President Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday ordered the Attorney General's department to draw up the papers necessary for governmental taking over of the railways of the nations failing negotiations to settle the dispute which has led to a general strike being called for December 30. Two hundred and twenty-five thousand of 350,000 operating workers have voted in favor of President Roosevelt's offer of arbitration but 1,500,000 non-operating workers have not yet expressed themselves. The President has intimated that the railways would be seized 24 hours before a strike deadline.

Heavier Xmas
Mail Handled

But Due to Public Co-operation It Was Handled With Much Greater Dispatch.

There was a much greater postal traffic at Prince Rupert this Christmas but, thanks largely to the fine co-operation of the public which responded most satisfactorily to the advertised appeal for early mailing, much more orderly and effective handling was possible. The situation was completely under control at all times and nothing outgoing was missed.

Postmaster J. R. Morison, speaking this morning, expressed his appreciation for public co-operation.

The postmaster promised to give out some figures as soon as possible as to the volume of Christmas postal traffic this year as compared with previous years.

Another War Christmas

This is our fifth Christmas at war—a war in which Prince Rupert has become one of the focal points. So far we have been spared the direct impact of conflict although we have felt the effects in many ways—some materially beneficial and some poignant in more ways than one.

Many of us have empty chairs at our tables and we cannot but grieve—all of us—over those chairs that will be permanently vacated by those of our sons who have given their all in settlement of the issue of freedom.

Yet, if we realize the true meaning of Christmas, we may find cause for real gladness and happiness and appreciation of the fact that there is abundant promise of the ultimate realization of peace on earth and goodwill toward men.

Since last Christmas we have come well along the way towards the Victory which will make possible the full indulgence of those principles for which Christmas stands. Before another we might be excused for anticipation that complete success will have satisfied our aims.

In that spirit The Daily News joins with the others whose expressions of seasonal goodwill are herewith conveyed.

May We Sprinkle Some Good Cheer on Your Christmas Tree?

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

No more shopping days until Christmas which of course means that Christmas is upon us and it is time for Don Forward of the Y.M.C.A. and myself—of the Y.W.C.A. to send our greetings to all the people in Prince Rupert who during the past year have helped to make our work amongst you so agreeable. And so our very best wishes go out to our kindred organizations the Salvation Army, The Knights of Columbus and the American Services Recreation Hut and the American Red Cross, to the women's organizations who have taken over the work of chaperones at our dances each month, to the junior hostesses and the affiliated hostess groups who have served so faithfully in the matter of dances, to the personnel of the Navy, Army and Air Force in the Prince Rupert Defence Area with and for whom we have the privilege of working, and to all the citizens of Rupert who have helped us whenever an SOS has gone out through these columns, whether it be for donations, a very happy Christmas, thank volunteer service or, most of all, rooms registries.

And from myself, personally, a warm greeting to all my loyal readers who have suffered in silence my daily out-pourings and if they have broken the silence have done so with words of commendation only. And to our two newspapers for bearing with my scribbles and their alarming alterations day after day through out the year.

It is a delightful Christmas up at the 'Y'. Everyone is working well together, all on the staff are congenial and happy in each other's company, the decorations are unusually beautiful due to the efforts of Breen Melvin and Chester LeMaistre. Altogether by us it's

Oh, dear! I nearly forgot "Salty and Peppy," the 'Y' kittens, wish to be remembered to all their wellwishers and say they are looking forward to any catnip mice that may come their way.

To Those Who Ride on the Buses

May we humbly and sincerely say "Thanks a Million" for your patience and goodwill during the past year. The service has not been the best. If it could have been better we would have done so. So trying have been conditions at times that it was only your co-operation that kept the buses rolling.

May the Christmastide be happier than the last and may the New Year bring to each of you fulfillment of the age old prophecy:

"Peace on Earth, toward men of Goodwill."

—LEN AND THE BOYS.

On Christmas Day and New Year's Day the buses will operate on the Holiday Schedule.

Many Attend
 His Funeral

Final Rites For Late W. H. Goodsell Held Yesterday Afternoon.

With many old friends attending to pay their final tributes of sympathy and respect, the funeral of the late William Henry Goodsell, who died in Vancouver last week after a lengthy illness, took place yesterday afternoon from the Greenville Court Chapel of the B.C. Undertakers to the soldiers' plot in Fairview Cemetery. Among those in attendance were veterans of the last war in which deceased served, the funeral being under the auspices of the Canadian Legion.

Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dean of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, officiated and Mrs. J. C. Gilker presided at the organ to accompany the hymns which were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me."

At the graveside Lance Corporal McMurtter sounded "The Last Post."

There were numerous beautiful floral offerings.

The honorary pallbearers were Lieut. Col. C. V. Ewitt, S. A. Cheeseman, R. B. Morgan, A. Guyan, Jack Munro and W. Holmes and the active pallbearers were Oscar Smith, R. R. Dunroan, Ben Johnson, C. Currie, C. Morgan and M. F. Nickerson.
