CONVOY IS WIPED OUT ENTIRELY

Destruction of Japanese Armada Moving Towards New Guinea 100 Percent Complete

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 5 - Allied airmen have completed the destruction of a Japanese convoy of twenty-two ships carrying reinforcements to New Guinea.

The attempt to reinforce troops in New Guinea cost the Japanese eighty-two airplanes, ten warships, twelve troopships and upwards of fifteen thousand men.

All that is now left of the convoy is the occasional barge or lifeboat containing surviving soldiers or airmen.

All twenty-two ships of the convoy totalling 90,000 tons were sunk, Allied headquarters announced Thursday, Australia time.

The astonishingly low cost to the Allies was only one bomber and three fighters lost.

Allied headquarters estimate that fifteen thousand enemy ground troops were aboard the transports and these "have been sunk or killed almost to a man."

The convoy was sighted in the Bismark Sea Monday advancing from New Britain, but at that time foul weather kept the Allied planes from blasting it.

Red Cross Makes Appeal For Help

Communication Read at Meeting Of Local Chamber of Commerce Last Night

A communication from C. A. Cotterell of Vancouver, provincial Red Cross campaign chairman, read at Wednesday night's meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, emphasized the greater need than ever of the Red Cross for funds and bespoke the greatest support possible for the campaign both in the way of individual contributions and active assistance by members of such organizations as Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Cotterell's letter mentioned such functions of the Red Cross as sending of food and clothing to prisoners of war, and soldiers and refugees overseas, as well as to Russia and China.

The organization of disaster relief in the way of assembling medicinal and hospital supplies and clothing was also mentioned.

Arnold Flaten, president of the local Red Cross branch, spoke briefly along the same line.

DIM-OUT IS DISCUSSED

Chamber of Commerce Asks For Raising of Regulation Requiring Shielded Auto Lights

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Wednesday night, decided to make representations to the Civilian Protection Committee organization with a view to having the restrictions on automobile headlights under dim-out regulations discontinued as had been done in Vancouver and Victoria.

The matter was brought up by W. J. Scott who stated that this was the only place in the whole province where it was still necessary to have automobile headlights hooded. The use of the shielded headlights he feared would be the cause of serious accidents.

S. E. Parker thought the whole dimout was absurd, great lights of the dry dock and contracting projects being permitted to blaze on the streets, while other lights were darkened.

J. J. Little, who is district chairman of the A. R. P., remarked that it would probably be necessary to "get tough" with violators of the dimout regulations.

FINANCE IN GOOD SHAPE

Local Hospital Had Good Year in 1942—Military Hospital Contract Settled.

Meeting yesterday afternoon, the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital received the annual financial report for 1942 a satisfactory document showing a substantial excess of revenue over expenditure, which was referred to the annual general meeting, time and place of which have yet to be arranged, probably late this month or early April.

A good deal of time was spent at yesterday's meeting in discussing of the contract with the Department of National Defence in regard to the military hospital and its site. Agreement has now been made for a ground rent lease to the department which will extend for the duration of the war and two years after. Then the military hospital building will be turned over to the general hospital.

The appointment of Douglas C. Stevenson as assistant managing secretary of the hospital was approved by the board. A standard accounting system is being installed.

Present at yesterday's meeting were Frank Dibb, chairman, D. G. Borland, Arnold Flaten, R. E. Benson, W. O. Fulton and J. S. Irvine, directors, and H. W. Birch, managing secretary.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED BY HEARING

Shipyard Wages to be Reclassified—Increase Application Later

As a result of the conference here this week between the commission of Mr. Justice S. E. Richards and the Allied Trades Council, it was agreed, subject to union membership approval, that a joint employer and employee application should be made to the National War Labor Board for a reclassification of rates of wages to bring into uniformity with other shipyards on the coast the wages in the Prince Rupert yard, the application for a fifteen percent all-around increase to be left to a later date.

The conference ended last night after further representations had been heard.

The memorandum of the Allied Trades Council, of which George McKnight is chairman, was as follows:

The Memorandum

"The proposed scale of wages, which is recommended by the members of the B.C. Shipbuilders' Federation, and which give the same rates of pay to shipyard employees, whether at Vancouver or Prince Rupert, does not allow for the considerable difference between the two cities in the living conditions, the working conditions and the higher cost of living at the latter city.

"Prince Rupert is 580 miles north of Vancouver and is a colder, wetter climate. Its distance from agricultural and industrial enterprises causes prices of commodities to be appreciably higher. Men who come here realize that the end of the war will see the cessation of shipbuilding, as well as the finish of many other lines of work, and Prince Rupert will return to its pre-war status.

"No large industries are established here and nearly all the newcomers will have to go elsewhere for employment and to establish a home. They feel they are sacrificing considerably more than those who go to Vancouver and the more favored parts of the coast where there is a better chance to establish themselves later.

"Coming here, they find the higher cost of commodities—food, rents, light, water, etc., are unrelieved by prospects of establishing vegetable gardens, chickens, as they can do in Vancouver and the south. There they are making a specialty of home grown food. Here it is impossible to do so as there is only muskeg and rock underfoot.

"All vegetables, fruit, and other commodities must be brought in from outside, much of it from Vancouver, even fresh milk being brought in from Vancouver and the interior. A quart of fresh milk which costs eleven cents in Vancouver sells for fifteen cents here.

"This is an indication of many other commodities and prices. "While we list prices in our special submission on same from the Labor Gazette, we find the local prices and those in Vancouver are appreciably higher than those given in the Labor Gazette.

Costs Compared

"As evidence of our claims, a comparison was tabulated by the Allied Trades Council and the following figures are the result.

"Taking our figures from the Labor Gazette, we find that, comparing the prices in Prince Rupert from December, 1941, to December, 1942, there was an increase of 2.95 over the 1941 prices.

"Comparing December, 1942, prices in Vancouver, with the prevailing prices in Prince Rupert at that time, we see that Prince Rupert (Continued on Page Two)

CURLING IS UNDER WAY

Hanson Cup is Won by Kenney Rink—Another Trophy Still Undecided

SMITHERS, March 5—With favorable conditions during the last two weeks, the game of curling has been resumed by the Smithers Curling Club. The ice came through the mild spell in good shape and required only a little surfacing to put it in excellent condition again.

As play for the Hanson Cup and the E. T. Kenney Cup had not been completed, these games were continued and the fate of the Hanson Cup was decided on Tuesday evening when the rink skippered by L. H. Kenney won over the rink skippered by Wiggs O'Neill in the finals. Four rinks lined up on Tuesday evening in the semi-finals, these being O'Neill vs. Newbery, which was won by O'Neill with a score of 10 to 4, and Simpson vs. Kenney which was won by Kenney with a score of 9 to 8. The winning rinks then went right into the finals the same evening with the result that the Kenney rink won with the last rock thrown and a score of 10 to 8. One coincidence in the finals was that coming home for the last end the score was tied at 8 to 8 in both games played by the Kenney rink. The members of the winning rink were Don Fullerton, Tony West, Smithy Arnold (vice skip) and L. H. Kenney, skip.

It is hoped that the weather will continue fairly cold so that play for the E. T. Kenney cup can be continued and completed.

As the ice in the hockey rink was destroyed by the hot rays of the sun during the mild spell no effort was made to restore it at this late date and hockey for the season has been completed with probably the shortest and most unsatisfactory season it has ever had in Smithers.

Banker Discusses Beveridge Plan

Head of Bank of Montreal, in Letter to Chamber of Commerce, Questions Efficacy

A communication from Huntley R. Drummond, chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of Montreal discussing the Beveridge Plan for taking care of social security after the war, was read at Wednesday evening's meeting of Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Drummond expressed doubts as to the effectiveness of the plan. Personal effort and enterprise, he felt, would always be needed if there was to be progress. It was a fatal fallacy for any person to think that he was going to get something for nothing. As a matter of fact most people were capitalists. People who owned homes, insurance policies or bonds—all were capitalists. Mr. Drummond contended that there would have to be removal of many restrictions after the war and reduction of income tax.

No action was taken in connection with the communication.

Suggestions For Post-war Work

A communication from the Financial Post stating that it was to run a series of articles suggesting undertakings which might take up unemployment slack after the war was received at the meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night. Suggestions for such articles being asked, Arnold Flaten brought up the matter of the local shipbuilding plant and its possible conversion to some other use than

ANTICIPATE TREK NORTH AFTER WAR

Optimists Talk of Buenos Aires To Moscow Highway—Inquiries About Coming Settlement

By HERB JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
EDMONTON, March 5 — The vast and storied Canadian Northwest and Alaska will attract thousands of tourists and potential settlers when the peace throws open the great Alaska road lifeline to the north.

That is the opinion of government and publicity officials and tourist bureaus here as they watch a daily-mounting pile of enquiries about the northern snow-clad "wonderland," abounding richly in furs, oil and precious metals. Letters come from all parts of the North and South America and even from other continents. They seek information regarding possible settlement, development and just travel through the country storied in tales of gold rush days of '98. All such enquiries are answered. But officials are quick to point out that it will be at least a year after the war, perhaps two, before facilities will be available to handle tourist traffic in the north. Any settler hardy enough to take a chance will have to "rough it."

In its present wartime state, the Alaska Highway is a tough and treacherous thread winding through Alberta, northern British Columbia, the Yukon and on to Alaska. Big truck convoys with experienced drivers are rolling supplies northward now, but the road will have to be improved to be safe for the ordinary motorist. Hotels, restaurants, tourist camps and fuel facilities will have to be established. Undoubtedly settlements will spring up, but not overnight.

Peace Prospects
But despite this, Dan Campbell, publicity director for the Alberta government to whom many of the letters have come, predicts "a big influx both of tourist and settler after the war."

Already people are anxious to go north. In the hundreds of letters received since completion of the Alaska road centred attention on the northwest, not a few reveal a desire to come immediately at least as far as Edmonton, and some further. One American wanted to know the best place to establish a hardware store. A man in Texas wrote asking the possibilities of establishing a dude ranch on the Alaska Highway. Another in Ceylon sought tourist information about "the great northwest" while a writer in far-off Elisabethville, Belgian Congo, revealed a life-long desire to visit Alberta and the north country.

Officials are asked to supply information about government, land, settlement, churches, climate, taxes. Wives of army men and civilian workers seek information about the country where their husbands are located. Many want to settle here after the war.

Part of Great Road
Looking farther ahead, others have pictured the Alaska Highway itself as part of a great Pan-American road system. At the formal opening of the pioneer road last November 20 in a ceremony at Kluska Lake, Y. T., Vice-President Henry Wallace of the United States in a message described the Alaska road as "part of an eventual highway serving the new world from South America to Siberia."

"In the not too distant future I believe it will be possible to drive from Buenos Aires to Moscow." The Trail of '98 may become the international highway of tomorrow.

shipbuilding after the war. The matter was referred to the civic committee with the name of Mr. Flaten being added. Theo Collart suggested that every member of the Chamber might well submit an idea.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
The Hostess

One of the most interesting meetings to be held by the Service Wives' Club took place yesterday afternoon in the ladies' lounge of the "Y." The attendance was most heartening seventeen members and eleven babies being present. The ladies decided to make a contribution to the Red Cross drive from the club and all the members took books of raffle tickets to be sold for the "Margaret Bishop Quilt." The story behind this quilt is of great interest. Mrs. Bishop, who belongs to the Royal Canadian Air Force Officers' Wives' Auxiliary in Ottawa, conceived the idea. Embroidered all over the quilt are autographs of famous people, over two thousand in all. In the centre is a large R. C. A. F. embroidered crest. It took a year and a half to make. Among the autographs are those of Eleanor Roosevelt, Walt Disney, Quentin Reynolds, Gertrude Lawrence, Carole Lombard, Ernest Lapointe, Princess Juliana and the Dionne Quintuplets. The quilt itself is to be displayed throughout Canada. The funds from this raffle are to be divided. The local auxiliary selling tickets for the quilt gets 25 percent of the proceeds to help with its own work and the remainder is to be used to aid R.C.A.F. service men throughout Canada. Mrs. Kimmell is in charge of ticket sales here. It is a generous double bed size quilt so you are getting your money's worth.

The raffle was donated by Mrs. Valen, a pyrex pie plate, and was won again by Mrs. Wilfred Garbutt and Marilyn, R.C.A.F. Mrs. Strand brought the lunch which was served by Mrs. Valen and Mrs. Long.

Don't forget, an army company dance at the Empress tonight. W. M. C. A. chaperones are Mrs. Love and Mrs. Keays of the Queen Mary Chapter I. O. D. E. Junior hostesses are cordially invited.

per was 8.68 higher. Taking December, 1942, prices in Prince Rupert from the Labor Gazette in relation to current prices in Prince Rupert, we find a difference of one cent higher at this time. These figures are the average amounts taken from 28 items and, as your copy will show, they are the essential commodities which bears out our argument that our dollar buys less in Prince Rupert.

"Another unsatisfactory matter that has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction, is the amount of rent charged for our houses—much more than in Vancouver. Four-roomed houses in Vancouver rent for $22, large four-roomed houses for $24, and six-roomed houses for $29. This includes water and garbage removal. In Prince Rupert, we pay $25, as against $22 in Vancouver. We have to pay $2 for water and 35c for garbage removal. In proportion we pay $5.35 each month more per house than in Vancouver. Our houses have no lawns. They are built over muskeg and water. During January and February this year some homes were 28 days without water and many homes suffered from frozen pipes because the mains were laid on the surface.

"This is brought to your attention to prove our point that our rents are entirely out of line with the service rendered.

"To offset the inequalities between the two districts a higher scale of pay should be paid in Prince Rupert.

"That a higher scale of pay is essential to hold men on account of the additional cost of living can be confirmed by the local contractors in Prince Rupert who pay higher wages than prevail in the shipyard here. When comparing the rate of pay, we find that steam and operating engineers can get 18c per hour more, working for contractors, pipefitters can get 15c more, welders and burners are paid $1.22½ per hour as against 90c plus bonus in the shipyard; and electricians get 12c more per hour with free board provided. It can readily be seen that it means less money for these employees in the shipyard as against their more fortunate fellow workers employed outside the yard.

"The turnover of workmen in the dry dock is enormous and, besides having a bad effect on men still employed there, it leaves a worse impression among prospective employees. This undoubtedly is one of the biggest factors impeding the building of ships in Prince Rupert and conditions as they now exist will not offer a remedy for this ill.

Reasons for Quitting
"For various reasons men quit work, and we endeavor to get an explanation from our members when they transfer from our local bodies elsewhere. The following are the reasons mostly given:

"Cost of living as against Vancouver.
"Lack of recreational facilities.
"Food served in the dining hall and poor service rendered.
"Illness developing because of climatic conditions.

"There are the usual cases of dismissal for failure to abide by the company rules but this is to be expected and we can say here that we find the company very reasonable and just in cases of dismissal.

"We are prepared to present witnesses from the various crafts—men appointed by their units to present their demands and will call these people to meet you here when you deem it advisable.

"Comparing our cost of living and the circumstances under which we are living, we ask you to recommend to the National Labor Board a flat increase to all employees of fifteen cents per hour as fair compensation for our labor."

Immunization of pupils against scarlet fever and diphtheria has been going on.

EFFECT OF WAR MORE FELT NOW

Work of Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Fighting Inflation Is Subject of Address to Rotary Club

"The intensity of war is affecting our standard of living and every day brings more restrictions and shortages," said J. V. Scrivener, local representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in addressing the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday. "Some of the shortages are no longer news but habits. New ones are appearing every day and will continue to appear. It does no good to complain about these inevitabilities. Recently some one said to me: 'If you want to know what is going to happen here look to Germany, because we are adopting German methods.' Perhaps that is true in a sense. We have no recourse but to fight fire with fire, to match a total war effort against a total war effort. But we try to enforce our regulations by explanation and persuasion. The Germans use machine guns and concentration camps. And, after all, we are not suffering a great deal. We should count our blessings.

"Our experience has taken us through the full cycle of the seasons. We have met every type of problem and have devised ways and means to make every type of necessary adjustment. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has, I think, demonstrated that under conditions in Canada, a price ceiling control can be made to work and that inflation need not be permitted to get out of hand provided there is sufficient determination on the part of the administration, sufficient understanding on the part of the public and a common sense desire on the part of all concerned to find the solution of specific difficulties.

"In carrying out its job, the board has always acted on the basis of hewing resolutely to the line, disregarding extraneous considerations. That is not to say, however, that the board has a closed mind and refuses to recognize the realities of given situations. On the contrary, the record shows that we have adopted or recommended many special devices and methods to meet special situations.

For example the government has authorized us to pay subsidies under certain conditions to maintain ceiling prices.

If the domestic production of an essential supply is threatened because cost factors are out of relationship to established price ceilings there is a case for subsidy. If we want the ceiling to hold and the supply to be adequate.

"The payment of subsidies is a deliberate policy of the government. The burden is distributed equitably over the whole population.

"The struggle to maintain price ceilings is a hard one. There are endless forces operating to defeat the price ceiling but we must see this policy through. To do so means that there can be no let-up. Do not be deceived into thinking that weakening at any point can do other than endanger the whole price structure. There are many pressure groups operating and there is a growing tendency to ask for some relief from the severity of the present program. There are suggestions that a little compromise here and a little there cannot do much harm and will provide much needed relief to hard-pressed groups or individuals. There is danger in these proposals. There can be no compromise with inflation. Every inch given is lost beyond recovery and every move upward on the inflationary spiral feeds upon itself to engender still further pressure. The very groups who may appear to be obtaining an immediate advantage would be the first to feel the results of inflation.

"I believe that we can look upon the results we have achieved as satisfactory but, if there are any who do not think so, may I be permitted a comparison with the cost of living index of our great neighbor to the south. I have not the exact figures, but I do know that from November 1, 1941 to August

DIES AT SMITHERS

Hugh B. Campbell, government agent at Smithers, died suddenly last night in the Smithers Hospital after a brief illness, according to word received in the city this morning. Mr. Campbell had occupied the position of government agent at Smithers for several years since the departure of Stephen H. Hoskins. He was widely known throughout the district, including Prince Rupert, and his passing will be generally regretted. He was a conscientious, efficient and popular official.

Mr. Campbell is survived by his widow and stepson, George Durham, who is serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The community of Smithers was particularly shocked this morning to hear of the passing of Mr. Campbell. Mr. Campbell had been ill with influenza which had been very prevalent there for less than a week. During the last two days he had developed a severe attack of asthma. He was placed in an oxygen tent and rushed to hospital on Thursday afternoon and passed away at one o'clock this morning.

Mr. Campbell came to Smithers as government agent some years ago and proved to be a very capable and efficient officer. He took an active interest in all affairs pertaining to the welfare of the town and district and his passing is a distinct loss to the whole district.

Mr. Campbell was forty-six years of age. To the widow, residing at Smithers, the sympathy of the whole community is being extended in her bereavement.

1942, the cost of living actually rose 6½ percent in the United States, and was only checked by the adoption of a price control policy which now greatly resembles our own."
