DAILY EDITION Wednesday, June 30, 1943

Dominion Day . . .

Royal proclamation in July 1, 1867, fixed the official birthday of Canada. The 77th celebration of Confederation tomorrow comes in the year the tide of war has turned. The nation is justified in a sober confidence there will be many more such anniversaries in the history of Canada—anniversaries symbolic of the very freedoms for which the United Nations are fighting today.

This year Canada's national holiday will be celebrated with a certain restraint due to wartime conditions. But the vision of the Fathers of Confederation, the steady development of the Dominion, the spirit of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the inspiration of an ever-increasing war effort combine in this more hopeful year to make July 1, 1943, one of the most important Dominion Days in the history of Canada.

In 1867 Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia entered into a federal union known as the Dominion of Canada. In 1870 Manitoba joined, after the acquisition by the Dominion of the Hudson's Bay Company territories in 1869, to be followed by British Columbia in 1871; Prince Edward Island in 1873 and Alberta and Saskatchewan in 1905. Thirty-eight years after the first Dominion Day Canada assumed the nine province set-up of today.

In the history of the British Empire, 1867, is a most significant date. Canada was the first of Britain's colonies to become self-governing, the first to work for and win responsible government. It was not until 33 years later that a former colony became another self-governing unit within the Empire. In 1900 Australia by an act of the Imperial Parliament was given complete self-government within its own boundaries. Similar status was granted to New Zealand in 1907, South Africa in 1909 and Eire became a "sovereign, independent democratic" state in 1937.

The high hopes for the future which Canada's Confederation raised have been more than realized. Population in 1867 was 3,500,000 with only 100,000 west of the Great Lakes. The 1941 census figures show population as 11,506,655 with 3,255,950 west of the Great Lakes. In 1867 there were nine cities of over 10,000; today there are 77. In the development of natural resources, the growth of agriculture and lumbering, and the expansion of industry the figures are even more impressive than those of population.

On the basis of reports by the Imperial Conferences of 1926 and 1930, the Statute of Westminster was formulated in 1931. To a certain extent the document was merely a formal statement of practices and customs which had existed for a number of years in the conduct of Imperial relations. It has been called the new Magna Charta of British Imperial Unity.

Based on mutual confidence, it attaches the dominions to the spirit of the Empire; it confers upon them equality of status, completely free from subordination one to another in any respect of their domestic or external affairs; they are united by a common allegiance to the Crown and are freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT The Hostess

He's done it again. Jerry Hutchinson, R.C.O.C., has a second son, born last Saturday, June 27, at Enderby. The little chap is to be called Gerald, after Daddy, who tells me they were all set for Geraldine.

The winner at Monday night's ping pong tournament was Sergeant Picard of the R.C.A.F. This is his second win recently. Douglas tells me he would be a top chess player in any tournament.

I had a letter from L-T. Douglas Swan the other day. He tells me he saw Chief Briggs down south, also that he and Lloyd Kerr, who is now on a ship, had a couple of evenings together. Both Lloyd and the Chief were in Rupert all last winter.

Last year, for Mother's Day, Les Page, one of the seamen her at the time, gave me a hydrangea. It had two lovely blue blossoms and this year it has been a mass of blossom, six great blooms on it. I think of Les each time I see it and wonder how it goes with him on his Atlantic patrol.

I said I would remind you girls again to bring your passes to the "Y" dance tonight. Get into the habit of showing them to the "Y" men who are on the door for the night.

The C.W.A.C.'s are busy fixing up their lounge in their barracks and are having a time getting pictures, furniture and so on, so Major Parkes tells me. I mean to take them a lamp that came in recently and which we can spare. And while on the subject of the Service girls they are finding they have no place to go on their 48's. If there are any homes in town who would take two girls for two days, not necessarily a week-end, would you leave your names with me or phone Fortress and ask for the C.W.A.C. exchange. The girls are willing to pay their way but they need a place where they can get into civvies for a brief period and away from barrack life.

AIR FORCE IS WINNER

Qualifies for Final of Dominion Day Cup

In an exceptionally fast and thrill-packed game last night the Air Force defeated the Navy six to one in the second round of the Dominion Day Cup soccer playdowns. The Air Force will meet the winner of the Reserve vs. Midlands game which is scheduled to take place Thursday, in the final which will be held on some future date to be set by the Soccer League.

Having beaten the Signals on Saturday, the Navy earned the right to meet the R.C.A.F. in the second round for the cup but the R.C.A.F. fielded a powerful aggregation and, although the first half ended in a one-all deadlock, the Airmen turned on the pressure and pounded home five more goals.

After ten minutes of the first half had gone, MacDonald of the Navy opened the scoring with a wicked drive that gave Watson in the Airmen's nets no chance. Coming right back the Air Force evened the count when Greer scored the first of his three goals on a beautiful combination play with Navack and Melville. The first half ended that way with lots of good fast soccer but no more scoring.

In the second half, the Air Force, aided by a strong wind, kept the ball in the Navy end of the field for the greater part of the time. Greer took advantage of a fast break and shot home his second goal of the night to put the Air Force in the lead they never relinquished. A few minutes later Greer again fired another goal on a lovely solo effort. As the defence of the Navy fell apart, Manson scored the fourth Air Force goal and Baldwin added two more in rapid succession. The final count was Air Force 6, Navy 1.

Line-ups:

Navy—Wilcox, Murray, Cummings, Bussanich, Irving, Morris, Sommerville, Lyons, Hanson, Hilder, MacDonald.

Air Force—Watson, Lindsay, Laurie, Manson, Novack, Bore, Cousins, Melville, Baldwin, Greer, Fowler.

Referee, Sid Woodside.

"Old fogey? I was just that..."

"Your letter from camp set me thinking, daughter . . . and it's given me some chuckles, too. Remember when you called me an old 'fogey'? I was, wasn't I? You wanting to join up, and me talking about 'woman's place being in the home.' I'm not really as old-fashioned as that, though.

"But did you let me get away with it? Not a chance — and I'm glad.

"You're getting your teeth into the job, and now we both begin to realize that your work does release a man for actual fighting. This is a different war from the last one. We've all got to serve in some way. So I can say only one thing . . . Stick to it, Barbara, and do the best you know how.

"Your mother was glad to hear the girls you're with are such a swell bunch. Ted tells us the same thing about his outfit overseas. Another thing that tickles us is the way the life agrees with you, that you . . . 'never felt better.'

"I'll be writing you tomorrow, Babs. Right now I'm quite satisfied to sit here feeling happy and a bit lonely — and pretty proud."

LETTERBOX

BEER, FOR INSTANCE

Editor, Daily News:
Notwithstanding the commandment: "Thou shalt have no other God before me," it seems Canada is cursed with its show of little tin gods and embryonic dictators. Some of them get a "brain wave" every little while, some of which are positively nauseating. I shall mention only one, as an example. In some provinces the liquor quota is at least three times that of British Columbia I am told—Ontario and Quebec for instance.

In Prince Rupert the beer parlors open at 2:00 p.m. Naturally only women whose husbands may be at work or overseas, some idle rich, some idle laboring men and some with uniforms on liberty visit the parlors. The doors are then locked. Those inside devote themselves to getting properly cooked. They have to get it when the getting is good and so overdo themselves. However, it would be just too bad if someone who was working seven days a week got more than his 24 bottles of beer or 13 ounces of booze a month. It is much better to lay off work, go into the parlors and make a hog of one's self than to get a dozen bottles and take it home and use it decently. Quite so? Therefore we take off our hats to the little tin gods and fall down and worship them.

A farmer's daughter made history at Ascot, the home of pomp and high society in the pre-war turf era. The history-making came when 24-year old Eileen Eddolls took charge of Missy Suntan after the filly won the Winkfield Stakes. Eileen led the filly into the unsaddling enclosure and that made her the first woman "stable boy" to be responsible for a winner at Ascot. Eileen hooked up with Reg Hobbs' stable when the labor problem, as regards male stable help, became acute this spring and Missy Suntan was Hobbs' first winner at flat racing. Until this season Hobbs was a steeplechase trainer and one of his 'chasers, Battleship, won a sensational Grand National shortly before the war.

PUT YOUR
ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR
IN TRAINING
FOR THE DURATION!

A FEW HELPFUL HINTS ON THE CARE OF YOUR REFRIGERATOR

DEFROST frequently. Excess frost causes refrigerator to operate longer than necessary. Empty drip water immediately.

CLEAN interior with mild solution of soda and water. Wipe dry before you return control to normal.

OIL all moving parts every six months if refrigerator has open-type mechanism. Keep hinges and door latch well lubricated. Use light oil.

CLEAN condenser regularly with stiff brush or hand vacuum. Dust and dirt act as insulation and overwork mechanism.

DON'T pry out ice trays with sharp instrument; or open door longer or more often than necessary; or place hot foods or dishes in refrigerator.

Your electric refrigerator is an important safeguard to your family's health and a valuable ally in the war against waste.

Day and night, it stands guard protecting food from spoilage — preserving vitamins and minerals.

With wartime restrictions on new appliances, your electric refrigerator must be kept in "fighting" condition on the "home front". Give it the best of care. Use it efficiently. Buy food carefully and store it properly. Make effective use of left-overs.

five months of 1943 was down 16.2 per cent compared with that of the same months in 1942, and exports were down 13.7 per cent. Production in May, however, was in slightly higher figures than in May last year. The drop in timber production in British Columbia is estimated at 35 per cent for the first quarter of this year.

Big Figures

The national income continues to grow and on it the merchandising trade has thrived immensely, considered solely from the standpoint of turnover. Profits are something else. The national income is now aggregating better than $700,000,000 monthly. In the first four months of this year the total was about $2,850,000,000 against $2,298,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1942, a gain of 24 per cent. Retail sales for April, the latest month for which figures are available, are up 80 per cent over April of last year, and country store sales show a gain of 13 per cent.

Shipments of war materials have boosted Canada's export figures sky high. Exports in the first four months of this year totalled $777,900,000, a gain of $177,000,000 over those for the

Bonita Granville in "Hitler's Children."
July 25 (Sunday midnight)—Henry Aldrich in "Henry Aldrich, Editor" and Carol Landis and Cesar Romero in "A Gentleman at Heart."
July 26 and 27—Annabella and John Sutton in "Tonight We Raid Calais."
July 28—MacDonald Carey and Betty Rhodes in "Salute for Three."
July 29, 30 and 31—Noel Coward in "In Which We Serve."

comparable period of 1942. The total for 1942 was $2,385,000,000 compared with $1,179,000,000 in 1940 and $927,000,000 in 1939. Imports in the first four months of this year aggregated $538,500,000, a decline of $10,000,000 from the corresponding 1942 period.

Canadian railways have thrived on the heavy war traffic. C.P.R. gross earnings to the end of May were up 11.8 per cent and the C.N.R. gross in four months was up 24.6 per cent. Carloadings show a one per cent decline of five months compared with 1942.

The sea fish catch was down 40 per cent in the first four months, due to the shortage of help but the landed value of the catch was up 10.7 per cent. Coal production dropped nine per cent for the first three months, steel production was down 4.3 per cent for four months and pig iron production declined 10.9 per cent.

The shoe factories were operated at top speed and the output to the end of April was higher by seven per cent than in the previous year.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

FOUND! STRATEGIC MINERALS

Molybdenum, Manganese, Tungsten, Mercury, Magnesium

● Vitally needed as materials of war, these strategic minerals have not only been discovered in Canada, but production of them is steadily increasing... helping to tip the war production balance in favour of the United Nations.

Contributing to the finding of these strategic minerals are many factors: the courage and initiative of our geologists and prospectors, the enterprise and "know-how" of Canadian mining men, and the active encouragement of the Canadian government. To all of these Canada is indebted for her new mineral strength.

It was not enough to find these minerals. There had to be a force that would tear them out of the rock where they have been locked for many ages. Fortunately, that force was available in modern explosives.

Canada's war production will not want for supplies of strategic minerals. From coast to coast come reports of expanding production. Highlighting the list of developments which are helping to win the war are: tungsten on the Emerald Property in British Columbia... molybdenum in Preissac Township, Quebec... magnesium at Renfrew, Ontario... mercury at Pinchi Lake, British Columbia. Other developments are producing manganese, tin, chromite and more tungsten.

Explosives to speed the production of strategic minerals is another example of a product of Industrial Chemistry which helps Canada's war effort.
