British Attack On Mareth Line

Terrifying Experience

Mrs. C. A. Hinchliffe, Formerly of Terrace, Writes of Dawson Creek Holocaust

"My nerves are only now settling down and, even yet, we jump at every noise," says a letter written by Mrs. C. A. Hinchliffe, formerly of Terrace, describing the recent explosion and fire disaster at Dawson Creek. Mrs. Hinchliffe is the wife of the Anglican missionary formerly at Terrace and now stationed at Dawson Creek. "We were all very lucky to get off without a scratch," writes Mrs. Hinchliffe, "except for a tiny cut which Peter had on the head. Had we been sitting in the front room I am afraid we would have had some bad cuts for there was glass in every corner. It was wedged tight between the piano keys and the books. My new curtains were ruined and our lovely clock was blown off the shelf, glass broken and inside damage done. We had new doors, back and front. We had to put in twenty-one panes of glass. It took us until 1 o'clock in the morning to clean up the glass so the children could go to bed and then we had to board up the windows." Mr. Hinchliffe was at the fire but, when the dynamite exploded, he was driven into a ditch. Evidently, this was the only thing that saved him for men were blown to pieces all around him. "The children were crazy with fear and the screams of women and children on the streets almost unnerved me. It was the worst experience we have ever had and, if an air raid is anything like it, I don't want to see one. "For a time it was thought the whole town would burn up but the soldiers managed to control it after several homes had been destroyed and one hotel besides stores and a garage. "Most people think it was sabotage."

CONVOY IS SENT BACK

Heavy Concentrations of Enemy North of Australia Are Reported
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, March 17 (Canadian Press)—Hammered by Allied planes, a three-ship Japanese convoy, laden with troops, has, apparently, been forced to turn back short of its goal of Dobo in the Aros Islands. Allied headquarters made this announcement in Australia today. The convoy had been sighted in the vicinity of Dobo in an area five hundred miles north of Darwin, Australia, where General MacArthur reported the Japanese are concentrating shipping, planes and men. The United States Navy at Washington reported that a Japanese destroyer and three other ships were sunk by American submarines in recent operations in the Pacific war zone and three more ships were damaged.

SALE OF EXTRACT

Ald Hills Feels That Something Should be Done About Liquor Substitutes
Ald. George Hills, at Monday night's meeting of the city council, expressed the opinion that something should be done to control the sale of lemon extract and other such products which were being resorted to now that the sale of government liquor was being restricted. The alderman told of inebrtaries having been observed in stores, some buying one bottle of extract and others two bottles. "If that goes on," declared Ald. Hills, "we will be filling our hospitals with degenerates. Something should certainly be done to prevent it." Mayor W. M. Watts promised to take the matter up with the police. He suggested that a record might be kept of such purchases.

He graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1941, joined the air force in September 1941 and arrived in England February 1942. Mr. and Mrs. Monckton lived at Terrace for some years and John attended the school there for about three years. The father was here yesterday on his way to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

MISS FAUST IS SPEAKER

Variety of Program at Pt. Association Gathering
Home life, atmosphere and training were the key notes of a very instructive and practical presentation by Miss Mabel Faust R.N., Superintendent of the Prince Rupert General Hospital of the subject of study for the evening at last night's meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association. Good health was the greatest possession of mankind and this is doubly assured when cleanliness, both internal and external, were of concern to parents. Sleep, diet and general health discipline at home were not costly but indifference to each or any one phase might ruin a hopeful career. "Mums were the scientific cry of the age but the stable foods that had been since the world began with a knowledge of proper balanced diet would alleviate worry and eliminate confusion. The care of the boy, particularly for his own welfare in mental alertness was of prime importance and added incentive to learn as well as being a direction for the teacher's use. Many questions were recorded for discussion by those in attendance and will be dealt with at the next meeting. This method appeared to give promise to a very practical and workable type of meeting in which definite school problems could be discussed and situations clarified. By an interested Parent-Teacher group it is evident that much could be accomplished with the satisfaction and help of both parents and teachers. Security Officer Lieut. E. J. Diespecker, army security officer, spoke on the nation wide "Zip Your Lip" campaign. From various angles he stressed the importance of civilians of all ages neither asking anything of military importance of any of the armed forces or of those engaged in government work nor repeating any military information or rumors. Other terms for "Zip Your Lip" were "Keep Mum" and "don't give away information." Dr. R. J. McDonald, public health officer, was scheduled to have spoken on mental health but, owing to pressure of work, was unable to be present. It was the regular monthly meeting and was held in the Borden Street School. The newly elected president, Rev. C. A. Wright, was in the chair. Owing to the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. C. Gilker, Miss A. Snyder acted for her. It was reported that due to the recent membership drive the Association's members now exceed 200 parents and teachers. The meeting appointed Mrs. Stuart R. Carson as convener of the programme committee and hospitality. It was decided to hold the annual Easter Hot Cross Bun Sale at the local schools on the Thursday previous to Good Friday. The following conveners were appointed Booth Memorial High School, Mrs. J. W. Eastwood, King Edward School, Mrs. Brawn, Borden Street School, Mrs. A. L. Haines, Seal Cove School, Miss Gibson. Letters were read from the various school principals thanking the Association for donations to the school funds. Following the meeting refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. A. L. Haines (convener), Mrs. George Hows and Mrs. Claude King.

ROAD LINK ADVOCATED

Missing Portion Sought by Big Peace River Meeting
BERWYN, March 17—At a meeting of the Berwyn Men's Club delegates attended from all districts north of the Peace River, representing an estimated population of 25,000 people in the Peace River, Grimshaw, Berwyn, Brownvale and Fairview, and passed a resolution asking the Alberta and British Columbia governments to complete the link of road between Worsley in Alberta and Rose Prairie in British Columbia. A copy of the resolution was sent to the ministers of public works of both provinces. It was pointed out that the two large road projects of the United States government—the Alaska Highway and the Canol project from Peace River—were absolutely isolated and should be joined by the completion of this eighty miles of road on which no bridges have to be built and where the construction is easy and cheap. Hon. Mr. Fallow of the Alberta government has stated on numerous occasions that his government is willing and anxious to build the Alberta end so it would appear that it is up to British Columbia to do its share and consummate the long promised and awaited road connection which will ultimately connect the vast Peace River country with its 85,000 people, with the coast. A copy of the resolution was sent to the various Board of Trades in British Columbia. The resolution was as follows: "Whereas the link in the road connection between Worsley in Alberta and Rose Prairie in British Columbia is still not completed, "And whereas this connection could be completed at comparatively small cost, thus linking the two vast road projects of the United States government—the Alaska Highway and the Canol project—from Peace River to Fort Norman, "And whereas the present road development east and west of this connecting link make it desirable that communication be established, and also as a precaution in case the proposed bridge which will cross the Peace River at Fort St. John be destroyed, thus isolating the Alaska Highway, "And whereas the residents of the Peace River block north of the Peace River have been requesting for the past number of years that a road connection with British Columbia be completed, "And whereas this road would serve as the first link in a road that would ultimately give the Peace River country an outlet to the Pacific coast which will enormously benefit British Columbia in general and aid in the development of the Peace River area. "Be it resolved therefore that this meeting go on record as advocating that this road be constructed

Zip Your Lip . . .

That wild story you heard last night—keep it to yourself. It won't help you to repeat it and it might send some soldier or sailor to his death. Don't gossip, it's better to be silent than sorry.

Gossip is a bad habit, but it's a criminal habit when that gossip may endanger the lives of young men who are fighting for your country.

Hitler wants us to tell all we know about our war effort. It makes things a lot easier for him when we tell all we know. It makes it a lot easier for him to have a submarine at the right place at the right time. So take it easy; a lot of ships have been sunk by thoughtless blabbermouths.

Hitler and Hirohito are pretty smart. They can put a lot of little innocent items together and get a true picture of what's happening. Make certain that you keep quiet and don't supply the missing items of information in their picture.

If you Johnny is wearing the uniform and you know where Johnny is, just keep it quiet. Hitler may be looking for your Johnny and the thousands of other Johnnies with him.

Wars are won with men, boats and guns. Wars can be lost when the enemy knows all about our men, boats and guns. Keep that information to yourself.

It's bad manners to speak loudly in a public place. It's criminal negligence when speaking about things that Hitler wants to know. Don't help Hitler.

Before you open your mouth, stop and think: "Will what I am about to say make it harder for us to win this war?" Think before you speak; Don't help Hitler.—ZIP YOUR LIP.

The Marsh Plan . . .

The Marsh Plan, Canadian counterpart of the much discussed Beveridge Plan of Great Britain, has made its appearance, being placed before a special committee of the House of Commons at Ottawa. The committee is charged with studying the subject of social security in post-war reconstruction.

The Daily News yesterday brought its readers a concise summary of the main points of the Marsh Plan. More detailed information will be available and we would commend the whole thing to study. People will henceforth be discussing the Marsh Plan in Canada as generally as are the people of Britain the Beveridge Plan.

We can assume that the Marsh Plan will have wide approval from those who recognize the need after the war is over of a greater measure of social security than we ever had before. It is to be expected that there will be widespread opposition towards the plan in certain powerful quarters.

Every one realizes that the termination of the war will soon be followed with serious economic problems. It is no use deluding ourselves with any Micawber-like soothing that everything will turn out all right. Things just do not turn out that way unless we do some planning.

The matter of social security will figure large in the post-war problems. As a matter of fact social security or lack of it is probably the root element of the most of national and international troubles.

The Marsh Plan may not be the best plan. It may not be the plan that will be accepted. However, we do know that its provisions are along advanced lines, even if these lines might be anathema in some quarters. It is an interesting and useful contribution to research and development in the field of social legislation. No doubt, we shall be having a great deal more discussion about it.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
The Hostess

Monday night's dance at the Empress Hall was voted by everyone present as one of the best regimental dances this year. It was more or less of a wind-up to a season of weekly dances this same unit has been holding. To Hec MacKenzie, the Y.M.C.A. supervisor, the canteen committee and the orchestra goes the credit for the smooth organization and co-operation necessary for such an outstanding success. The hall was beautifully decorated in the St. Patrick manner with green streamers, shamrocks around the walls and on each of the cabaret tables and all along the canteen counter were most attractive and unique bouquets of green and white tissue flowers made very cleverly by Pte. Barnes. These tables were arranged all around the outer edge of the room and lunch was served at them. A most entertaining floor show was put on immediately following refreshments, the performers being Pat Love and Sergeant Jim MacKay in an adagio dance number, Eileen Hamblin looking like Juliet, Melisande and Beatrice in one person sang "Johnny Doughboy" and "There Are Such Things," followed by Pat Love and Marie Boulter, two pert colleens, in a saucy little Irish jig. Colonel Gamey was then called upon to say a few words and was received enthusiastically by everyone singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." During the evening two couples won prizes in spot dances — Lance Corporal Chisher and Miss Betty Miller, and Lieutenant Niles and partner. Yes, indeed, it was a very nice dance.

Mrs. Hill-Tout, our indefatigable hospital visitor reports three more service babies on this week's list. First of all to Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Walker of the British Merchant Navy was born a baby girl on March 8. The baby's name is Wilma and she tipped the scales at seven pounds fourteen ounces when she was born. Then came another March 8 baby and another little girl with an R.C.A.F. daddy and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Desautels. This young lady weighed six pounds ten ounces at birth and is to be named Mary Helen Elizabeth Lucette, thus placating her grandmothers on both the maternal and paternal sides. Not to let it be an all girl week we have one small boy on the list—Master Roger Allan Hanna, born to Sergeant and Mrs. Hanna on March 12 and weighing nine pounds. Once more, congratulations all.

THE TEACHERS' CASE

Editor, Daily News:
Complaints of the Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education for British Columbia that the B.C. Teachers' Federation should cooperate a little more with the Department of Education instead of lobbying and bringing group pressure to bear on the government will ring hollow in the ears of the teachers of this province. No group could possibly have given more "co-operation" to the Department than the British Columbia Teachers' Federation during the last twenty-five years. Year after year the teachers have waited patiently, believing the promises of educational reform. Year after year teachers' delegations have been before the government, presenting well-reasoned briefs and statistics substantiating their case in the belief that, if we could show the government the justice and reasonable basis of our case, they would not fail to act. If the teachers have erred at all, it has been on the side of over-modesty in their demands, arising out of a desire to give every possible consideration to the government's position. During the depression the teachers loyally accepted drastic slashes in salary, thus helping Mr. Hart to balance his budgets and hundreds of school boards to solve their financial problems at the expense of the teachers. Hundreds of teachers taught for years at an annual salary of $780.

Mr. Hart, in his budget speech in 1940, announced that it was the definite intention of the government to survey during the coming year the whole question of educational finance and to relieve the municipalities of a further portion of educational costs in order that the taxes on land and property might be lowered.

In 1938 the department replied to federation representations as follows: "This resolution which deals with a change in the incidence of school taxation will be forwarded to the Department of Finance for its consideration and will continue to receive the careful attention of the Department of Education."

Last year the government, in early spring, promised to make a study of the matter of readjustment of the system of educational finance before the next session of the House.

In June we learned in the press that "bold and sweeping changes in the financial set-up of education in British Columbia are being studied by the Hon. H. G. T. Perry," including reform of the present unjust and onerous taxes on real property, vigorous steps for the relief of grossly underpaid teachers, and remedying the disastrous teacher shortage, and for administrative reforms. All these proposals were "receiving the closest study, and suitable proposals were to be laid before the Executive Council by the minister before the next session."

What has been the result? The government has made a grant of $180,000 to unorganized rural school districts conditional upon the latter paying the following salaries to their teachers: first year, $840; second year, $900; third year, $960. This amounts to $16.16, $17.31 and $18.46 a week, out of which the teacher has to pay taxes, superannuation, transportation and, usually, considerable amounts on teaching aids. As a matter of fact, most teachers are already receiving at least $900, so that only $30,000 of the $180,000 grant goes to the actual betterment of teaching salaries. And this grant applies only to unorganized school districts. The municipalities receive not a cent. Nor are provisions made for any junior or senior high school teachers.

Nevertheless, it was a start, and the federation expressed their appreciation of it while at the same time suggesting the following very modest proposals:

1. A higher scale for elementary teachers in unorganized districts.
2. A scale with two increments for teachers of Junior and Senior High Schools, and for principals of superior schools in the unorganized rural school districts.
3. The extension of these scales to teachers in district municipalities and cities.
4. The setting up of a governmental or departmental committee to study the whole question of educational finance with a view to making definite recommendations to the next session.

The government not being willing to consider any of these proposals, they were laid before the members of the Legislature, along with an analysis of the present situation. Meanwhile steps were taken to have other groups throughout the province make similar representations. And for this, officers of the deferation have been "rebuked" and told to take up the matter with local school boards instead of trying to embarrass the government.

If the government is embarrassed, it is due to a failure to meet educational needs and not because of any action taken by the federation.

Section 93 of the B.N.A. Act assigned the responsibility for education to the provincial government. The government has created school districts and assigned many educational responsibilities to them without in any way guaranteeing that the districts would have the financial means necessary to meet these responsibilities. Since there are frequently poor districts with many pupils, and, conversely, rich districts with few pupils, gross inequities of opportunity, both for pupil and teacher, have arisen. Faced with a breakdown of the present system, the government must act.

The ability of the state to finance public schools involves two factors: first, the resources which it possesses as a basis for the support of public enterprises of which education is one; and, second, the size of its educational task, load, or need as indicated by the number of children that have to be educated.

Of all the provinces in Canada British Columbia is in by far the best position to finance education with a national income per pupil of $3,178, 2.27 times as great as Saskatchewan's, $1,396.

As regards the number of children of school age per 1,000 adults, British Columbia has less than all other provinces, 357 as compared with New Brunswick's 606.

It is evident that of all the provinces British Columbia has the lightest educational load to bear. Yet in terms of effort per cent of total provincial and municipal expenditures going to education, British Columbia is surpassed by all provinces except Quebec and Saskatchewan, devoting 18.4% to education, as compared with Alberta's 27.2%.

What do the teachers want? They want, first, a provincial salary scale that will remove them from the position of being the lowest paid occupation in the province. Secondly, as the basis for the scale, a reorganization of educational finance on a provincial basis. All parties include the latter in their platforms, all responsible public bodies support it.

Mr. McNarama, Selective Service director, attributes the present teacher shortage to inadequate salaries. All over the province, schools are closing in increasing numbers, and unqualified persons are being placed in charge of classes. Who suffers? The pupils, the future citizenry, the greatest resource of this province. This is a penny-wise, pound-foolish policy for which we shall pay dearly in the future, pay, if present trends are unchecked, with a semi-literate peasant population in our rural areas.

Apart from that is the evident fact that education is of vital importance in the winning of the war.

What the teachers want is not a "hand-out" but a democratic educational system in B.C.

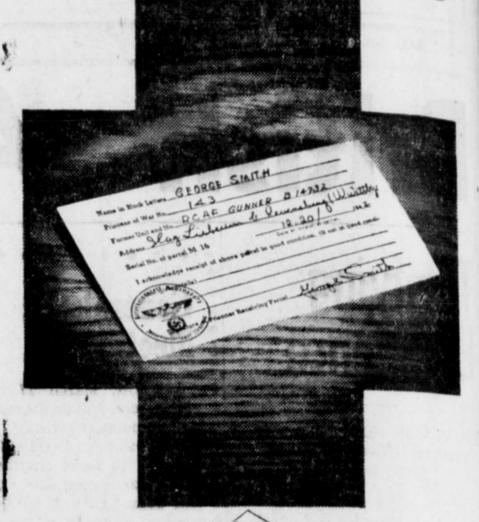

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, track. Then he saw something falling. He sent a man to investigate. Witness was on the railway track about 10 feet from the truck.

John W. Sanderson, superintendent of the hospital division of the B. C. Bridge and Dredging Co., told of safety regulations. There was a responsibility to see that trucks were spotted in a proper manner. Spotters were essential to safety.

William James, safety superintendent, also spoke of the spotter requirements. Whenever he had visited the job in the daytime there had been a spotter. If deceased had been doing his proper work as a spotter or oiler he would not have been hit.

Dr. L. W. Kergin told of the injuries to deceased whose body he saw in the first aid station. A heavy mass had passed over the body across chest, abdomen and pelvis. The body was burst open from the weight and death would have been instantaneous.

Corp. O. L. Hall gave evidence to establish identity of deceased.

The jury retired at 10:25 p.m. and had completed its verdict at 11 p.m.

SMITHERS CURLING

Air Port Lost by Narrow Margin In Challenge Event

SMITHERS, March 17—Accepting a challenge issued by the curling fraternity of the Smithers airport the local curlers got together nine rinks and went to the ice with the airport enthusiasts on Sunday in a sudden death competition. The total score was to decide the winning aggregation. Smithers won 76 to 73.

With ice in perfect condition owing to the succession of cold nights when the temperature got down around the zero mark, the first rinks took the ice at eight o'clock Sunday morning and play continued throughout the day with the last game of the series starting at five p.m.

When the two opposing rinks went on the ice at five o'clock the Smithers men held a lead of one lone point and interest was high in what the final score of the last game would be.

The last game was scheduled to be fought out between Art Simpson for Smithers and Mr. Jacobs for the airport but Smithers' doughty skip had become a victim of the flu and was not able to play so Frank Newbery took charge of the rink and skipped the game.

The airport team took an early lead of 3 to 0 but soon the Smithers rink hit their stride and with a lot of vocal support for both rinks the game was a tight one all the way through. The Newbery rink won by a final score of 7 to 5 thereby putting the town players three points ahead of the Airport on the whole series.

The score by rinks was as follows:
 Mr. Latimer (Airport) 12, vs. P. Eby (Smithers) 8.
 John Bovill 7, vs. L. H. Kenney 8.
 H. Scott 9, vs. W. J. O'Neill 10.
 G. Holliston 12, vs. J. P. Downey 7.
 V. Steen 4, vs. V. McDonald 10.
 K. Latimer 13, vs. Mr. Triplett 6.
 J. Bovill 9, vs. L. Evans 12.
 E. Hann 2, vs. R. C. Davidson 13.
 Mr. Jacobs 5, vs. A. Simpson 7.

"B" COMPANY HAS DANCE

First Social Affair of Local Reserve Unit is Delightful Event

The first social affair of the new local reserve unit was held last night in the Armory when "B" Company gave a delightful St. Patrick's dancing party. Upwards of one hundred couples were present, consisting largely of members of the company and their ladies with some others as guests, the whole affair being, of course, military in character.

The decorations of the hall, featuring green and white streamers across the ceiling and down the sides of the walls together with St. Patrick's emblems and in one corner an attractive fireplace.

Dancing was in progress from 9:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. and at midnight delicious refreshments were served. Sergeant H. A. Ponder was master of ceremonies and music was by the area orchestra.

During the early part of the evening, Lieut. A. Deildal, company commander, welcomed the guests and introduced Lieut. Col. G. C. Oswell, the commanding officer, who spoke of the progress that had been made by the unit during the brief period since its organization and complimented "B" Company particularly.

Lieut. D. G. Borland was chairman of the dance committee which also included Corp. W. G. Sheardown, Corp. A. C. Small, Sergeant Major Pocock and Pte. Kieley.
