Set Back To Nazis

Soviet Armies Are Crunching Steadily Ahead Against Germans

LONDON, Aug. 30 (CP) — Germany admitted another setback today in the abandonment of Taganrog, anchor of the German southern defences in Russia, while Red Army pinners endangered perhaps 800,000 Nazis in the Donets Basin sector.

The evacuation of Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov on the Sea of Azov, was announced by the Berlin radio "in order to shorten the front."

Soviet Army groups crunching forward south and west of Kharkov, and resuming the offensive in the Voroshilovgrad sector in the south were imperilling the German Donets holdings. These drives apparently forced the German pull-back of its right flank at Taganrog. The Russians reported that the Germans were destroying military stores in the Donets area in preparation for retreat.

Booze Prices Jumped, So Fines Up Too

The fact that a man will pay $20 for a micky of whiskey when the usual black market price is in the neighborhood of $10 enhances his nuisance value when he becomes publicly intoxicated, was the opinion of Magistrate Vance this morning when he hiked the fine level from the usual $25 or seven days to $30 or thirty days.

Three natives and a white man, charged with public drunkenness partook of this increase in nuisance value when they were found guilty in police court. They were Sylvester Moors, John Louth, and Isaac Pierre, natives, and Robert Loyd Leighton.

Lia Kim Loon, a Chinese, appeared before the magistrate charged with being in possession of unsealed liquor, and with supplying liquor. He was represented by W. O. Fulton and his case was adjourned for eight days.

Thief Steals Prize Flowers

The week's record in vandalism was set on Saturday night when a thief, in a rude grab at beauty, despoiled the flower garden of Mrs. W. V. Tattersal, 137 Fifth Avenue East, by stealing ten prize gladiolus blooms from it. The blooms were of outstanding size and color and were the pride of Mrs. Tattersal and her neighbors.

Mrs. Tattersal, an esteemed pioneer, devoted the whole summer to the development of her fine flowers and felt rewarded by their magnificent blooming. They caught the eye of every street passer and yesterday Mrs. Tattersal intended to have them photographed. But yesterday they were not in her garden to be photographed. They were more likely in a vase in some thoughtless person's home, already drooping.

Dane Navy Scuttled

Germany Clamps Down Dictatorship in Face of Growing Patriotic Revolt

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 30 (CP) — Germany clamped a military dictatorship over Denmark yesterday, but their effort to crush the Danes met violent resistance as Danish naval forces scuttled most of their fleet in a battle with Nazi troops.

Forty-five ships were scuttled as the battle raged in the Copenhagen naval yard, with the Nazis storming vainly in an effort to prevent their destruction, said one Danish witness who escaped to Sweden. Nine Danish ships fled to Sweden.

Fighting was also reported in the Copenhagen barracks between the Germans and the Royal Guard.

Amateur Light Wiring . . .

The case of a fire in the attic of a house, caused by an amateur job of light wiring, is only a mild suggestion of what might have resulted from this particular type of false economy.

Happily the damage in that particular case was negligible but the fact that the result was unimportant does not detract from the seriousness of its cause.

Installing light wires in buildings is a trade and is a job for a tradesman and, only when a house owner has had the job done by a competent electrician, has he reason to believe that the job has been done right.

According to Fire Chief Lock there are a number of houses in the city whose wiring was done by amateurs. Those houses constitute a fire menace, which, unlike the one Saturday, may not result only in a few charred rafters, but in the charred bodies of their inmates.

It is the duty of every householder to make certain that his house is free of this source of danger.

Food and Cost of Living . . .

When family living costs are mentioned, the mistress of the household thinks immediately of food prices. This is natural because foods are the largest single item in the wage earner's family budget. During the past year or two the lady of the household has found a growing strain on her purse strings caused by the higher prices of foods. However, goods are only one of the items really involved in the cost of living.

In calculating cost of living one must consider not only foods, but fuel and lighting, rent, clothing, home furnishings, and a miscellaneous group of items, including health costs, items of personal care, recreation, transportation and life insurance. Every day of the year, money is being spent on these things and the cost of living picture would be incomplete if they were omitted from it.

MEND AND SAVE—The prices Board suggests that housewives keep needles and thread at hand these days, when conservation of clothes and furnishings is so important. If so far you haven't discovered needle and thread, the board suggests you look for some mending tape, which can be pressed on with a hot iron and will save time, in addition to prolonging the life of clothes and household articles.

"Mend it and save it," says the board, is today's conservation slogan.

SERVE VEGETABLES—For the next few weeks, suggests Marlon Harlow of Nutrition Services, housewives would do well to go one better than Canada's official food rules by using more than the two servings of vegetables the rules recommend for each day.

The freshest vegetables now being gathered from victory gardens and abundant on Canadian markets now are at the very peak of their goodness in nutritional and flavor values. Consequently, the recent order "freezing" stocks of canned vegetables is working no hardship on the average housewife, says Miss Harlow.

VERSATILE CHEESE—Delicious cottage cheese—so good with salads and a grand base for lunch box sandwiches—can easily be made at home from freshly-soured milk.

Laura C. Pepper of the Agriculture Department's consumer section tells how it's done.

Only freshly-soured, clean-flavored milk should be used. The milk is placed in the top of a double boiler and heated until it separates into curds and whey. It should be stirred occasionally while heating.

The milk will separate when it reaches a temperature between 100 and 110 degrees Fahrenheit—a drop of milk placed on the wrist will feel lukewarm at this temperature. When the milk has separated, place a double layer of cheesecloth in a strainer and strain off the whey.

Wash the cheese under running cold water and squeeze dry. Put the curd in a bowl mix well with a fork, season with salt and pepper and moisten with a little top milk or cream.

The whey, says Miss pepper, contains valuable food elements and can be combined with fruit

Planning Ahead For Good Times When War Is Over

Experts Agree Much Spade Work is Needed and Committees are Busy With Preliminary Talks on the Problem

(This is one of a series of Canadian Press articles on post-war reconstruction)

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP)—Scores of groups and agencies in Canada are busy planning for the post-war world in the midst of a considerable degree of uncertainty as to what that world is likely to be. The planners include departments of governments, committees specially created by governments, associations of employers, experts in the employ of large firms and labor organizations. While there are varying approaches to the problem of restoring Canadian economy to a peacetime basis, representations to parliamentary committees indicated a good deal of agreement that planning ahead is necessary if stable conditions are to obtain.

So far as the federal government is concerned the view is taken that international political and economic conditions will have much to do with the shape of things to come in Canada, that while plans should and can be made for the adjustment of internal matters the effectiveness and the nature of these plans will be affected by whatever arrangements are made between the nations.

Three Objectives

Planning in the domestic sphere is proceeding in connection with three specific objectives:

1. Re-establishment of members of the armed forces in civilian life.
2. Provision of employment on a permanent basis for members of the forces and war industrial workers.
3. Establishment of an improved system of social security.

The over-all influence of world conditions on conditions in Canada, however, leads to an enhanced Canadian interest in international affairs. As one of the large trading nations of the world Canada is interested in a stable system of international trade.

The Canadian government is a participant with the United States in an agreement to work out arrangements for the freest possible exchange of goods between the nations. With United States, British and other experts Canadian government advisers are studying plans for establishing an international exchange union which would avoid fluctuations in the value of money such as have interfered with trade in the past.

Open Markets

Following submission of unofficial proposals for such a union by British and United States experts the Canadian experts drew up a Canadian proposal which has been interpreted as an attempt to speed an agreement by harmonizing certain differences between the British and United States proposals.

Joint economic committees representing Canada and the United States, set up primarily for war purposes are also giving study to post-war problems.

Canadian interest in international planning stems largely from the fact that if world markets are open to Canadian surplus farm, mineral and manufactured products one set of plans may be suitable on the domestic front but it markets are restricted different plans will be necessary.

The Canadian Army has its own factory of statistical machines which sort out men and materials, tabulating returns on virtually every phase of Army supply in a few minutes.

Men in the Canadian Army who require glasses receive them as a free issue.

WEEKLY WARTIME NUTRITION HINTS

Meat en Brochettes

Many intriguing combinations exist of meats and vegetables on skewers

Have you tried cooking 1-inch cubes of lamb shoulder this way? Push the pieces of lamb on to wood or metal skewers till skewer is filled—season—brush with melted fat. Broil or pan-broil under a hot broiler or on a hot pan for 10 minutes; turn and cook for 5 minutes more. Serve on a bed of rice with barbecue sauce. That is the standard "en brochette" procedure. But the same cooking method can be used both to introduce the nutritionally-so-desirable variety meats into the diet—try slices of parboiled beef kidney or liver between the cubes of lamb—and to give interest to meat leftovers. Almost any previously cooked meat can be used to "extend" fresh meat on skewers. Or, in fact, can be used alone with suitable vegetables... mushrooms, parboiled tender young carrots, small, firm tomatoes, pieces of peppers, or with variety meats as suggested above. This is another dodge—so useful in wartime— for dressing up quite ordinary materials to give a festive feeling.

PAN BROILING

Lightly grease a heavy pan. Heat well. Cook chops, steaks, veal fillets, brochettes this way, turning when well browned on the side in contact with the pan.

"Meat Complete" is the handiest book on meat-cookery we have ever had," so say hundreds of Canadian housewives. Send 10¢ for your copy to Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Dept. NE33, New Westminster.

Crowning of Queen

Coronation Ceremonies Saturday Night Over Largest Carnival Crowd Ever Here

The crowning of Olga Sather as queen of the largest and most successful carnival Prince Rupert has ever had took place Saturday night on the Seventh Street grounds in the presence of a crowd of enthusiastic citizens which numbered several thousand and which all evening milled through the various attractions of the carnival lending their support to the civic centre fund.

Full regal formalities marked the coronation which was carried out with due ceremony from the main platform of the carnival. There was a guard of honor provided by a Saskatchewan regiment in charge of Capt. A. G. Anderson and the queen was preceded to the crowning dais by the page boys who carried the crown and the sceptre and the dainty little flower girls. The charming queen was escorted by Lieut. Glen Turner of Moose Jaw and followed by the little girls who carried the train. The beautiful maids of honor and the two other candidates in the carnival next ascended to the court, their escorts being Lieut. Al Collingwood of Regina, Lieut. Stirling King of Cleau, Sask., Lieut. Robert Duff of Moose Jaw and Lieut. Andrew Waruk of Moose Jaw.

T. N. Youngs, chairman of the carnival committee, spoke briefly, referring to the success of the carnival and thanking the queen, her attendants and all those who had supported the contest. He then called upon Mayor W. M. Watts who also alluded to the success of the carnival, the substantial proceeds of which would further assure the fruition of the civic centre project. His Worship duly crowned the queen and presented the sceptre after which he introduced personally each of the maids of honor and candidates.

The first act of the queen, after brief remarks of acknowledgement, was to bestow her favor by presenting badges to Mr. Youngs, general chairman of the carnival, and to each of the committee chairmen—A. B. Armstrong, finance; Len Griffiths, house and construction; Amerigo Dominato, concessions; Douglas Stevenson, publicity; Stan Saville, carnival queen contest; Gordon Bryant, person-

NATIVES PROVE FRIENDLY TO CANUCKS IN SICILY

Native Sicilians who met Canadian troops engaged in the fighting soon discovered that the newcomers were friendly liberators, not conquerors, and they reciprocated. At top Gunner A. E. Berg of Toronto personally takes some of the responsibility of feeding the Sicilians by handing out service biscuits to children in Assoro. In the lower pictures some of the Sicilians with a little time to relax find the water hole near a Sicilian home an excellent place for a bath, while the housekeeper goes on washing clothes unconcernedly.—Canadian Army Overseas Photo.)
