Perry Scores Teachers For "Group Pressure" In Drive for Rural Schools

VICTORIA, March 12—Members of the B.C. Teachers' Federation should co-operate a little more with the Department of Education, instead of lobbying, Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education and chairman of the B.C. Post-war Rehabilitation Council, said in the Legislature Friday.

"Some officers of the association are getting the association into a sort of group pressure movement, going about from place to place," Mr. Perry said. "I don't like to see this association going around like this, engendering ill-will toward the department. I think if they sincerely wish to get something more, some betterment for the rural teachers, they should go to the school trustees, who have some responsibility in the matter."

Mr. Perry said: "If I do say it myself I think none will begrudge me the right, I have done what I could to help the teachers and the schools in this province—we have done more for the rural teachers than was ever done in any twelve months before."

Officers of the Teachers' Federation have spent the last two days in the Parliament Buildings handing out briefs and pamphlets to members of the Legislature. Three weeks ago the federation had an interview with the Cabinet.

Product of B.C. schools is held not to be surpassed by the youth in any other part of the British Empire, Mr. Perry said.

"The valor and fighting qualifications of B.C.-trained youth are constantly being made known to us by the records of their heroism published in the daily press," Mr. Perry said.

Mr. Perry said that, in co-operation with the Department of National Defence, cadet training has been well-developed in the secondary schools of the province.

"Commendation is due to patriotically minded teachers who have gone to great pains to qualify as instructors," he said. "Students have shown exceptional zeal. When cadet corps were established for boys, the girls were not content to be left in the background, and they themselves took the initiative in forming unofficial girls' cadet corps."

His department has encouraged agricultural courses, Mr. Perry said, giving the same assistance to such courses as is given to technical education and home economics, by paying on a 50-50 basis up to a total of $500 per school and the usual grant towards salaries of special teachers of agriculture.

Japanese children, evacuated from their regular school districts, were supplied with elementary correspondence courses at cost.

The minister told of progress in the study of Spanish in B.C. schools.

This, he said, "will have value in promoting commercial relations with Latin America, but will have more in promoting understanding of the life and culture of countries, the international importance of which is increasing daily. The province is fortunate in having a fair number of teachers qualified to teach Spanish. Others are taking steps to equip themselves. A three-year course in Spanish for use in high schools of the province has just been completed and will be authorized for the coming school years. The University has agreed to establish a course in Spanish and a special vote of $3,000 to the University is provided in the estimates."

The minister showed that during the year 37 school districts were consolidated—16 small school districts into six. The more important consolidation of 19 districts into one large district was

Red Wings Win Title

DETROIT, March 12 — Detroit Red Wings clinched the National Hockey League championship by defeating Toronto Maple Leafs two to one last night. The win put Detroit five points up on Boston in the standing. The winning goal was made by Johnny Gross of Detroit within four minutes of the end of the game. Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks played a four all draw.

successfully completed around Nanaimo, he said.

"The beneficial results have exceeded our highest expectations," he said. "The objective sought is to improve educational advantages to rural schools; to release teachers; to secure greater efficiency, to effect uniform and generally lower taxation, through consolidation of larger school districts by consolidation of smaller units. Every inspector has been asked to investigate possibilities of consolidations. While the small consolidation aids in relieving the shortage of teachers. Larger consolidations are more important and that we want to accomplish wherever possible."

Dealing with the education taxation, the minister said "obviously new sources of revenue would have to be found by the province if the entire cost of education were to be assumed, or, conversely, reductions in present expenditures of at least $7,000,000 would have to be made. This problem of financing education is not exactly one for the education department, but rather for finance. However, so forcibly and so frequently has the matter been brought to my attention that it is essentially one deserving the consideration of the Minister of Education."

Income tax, the minister said, is the just and proper tax to bear the major costs of education, but during the war the income tax field is limited.

Commenting on Premier Hart's 17th budget, the Minister of Education said "confidence is the budget keynote—it gives confidence to the men and women in the forces that preparations will be made to the utmost capacity of this province to meet their post-war rehabilitation."

"The people of our province can have confidence that their social problems will be taken care of to the utmost capacity of this province, in association with measures we anticipate the Federal Government will undertake," he said. "Confidence is established through the fact that our credit has been and will be maintained by a balanced budget. A balanced budget is essential for any form of government, particularly so for a secondary kind of government, such as is a province, which has no authority over currency, banking and credit, so that if credit must be used, money can be secured at the lowest possible cost for post-war works."

LOCAL MAN IS MISSING

Lindsay Ratchford, Who Lived Here From Early Days, Lost With Fish Boat

Lindsay Ratchford, brother of Joseph Ratchford of this city and himself a well known local pioneer boy, has been missing for over a month out of Cordova, Alaska, according to word which has just been received in the city. He had left Cordova February 4 with his crab fishing boat Jacqueline and neither he nor his boat have been seen since.

The missing man came here as a boy in 1907 and left in 1927 for Seward, later moving to Cordova. Besides his mother, Mrs. Netta Ratchford, now in Ventura, California, and brother here, he has his wife and three children in Cordova.

James Irvine, after spending a leave visiting at his home here, returned by this morning's train to his naval duties on the east coast.

Important Railway Hub In Hands of Red Army; Kharkov is in Bad Way

Two Important Points Occupy Spotlight Today in Fierce Continuing War Between Germany and Russia

MOSCOW, March 12 (CP)—As the Russians officially announced recapture of Vyazma, important railway hub 130 miles west of Moscow, to the south the Red Army was engaged in beating off furious attacks against Kharkov, capital of the Ukraine, which appeared to be in greater peril every hour. The Nazis appeared to have thrown into gear against Kharkov an offensive on a scale equalling that which was hurled against Stalingrad last summer. The Germans said there was already fighting in the streets of Kharkov but the Russians said the enemy had not yet crossed the Donets River.

Jap Prince Being Held

LONDON, March 12 (CP)—The Daily Express reports in an Istanbul dispatch that Prince Chichibu, brother of Emperor Hirohito, has been held under house arrest for fifteen months. The Express said that Chichibu had been held since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, despite protests of the Emperor, on charges of being sympathetic to enemy powers.

In announcing the evacuation of Vyazma, the German radio said that military installations there had first been demolished. The last of the famous corners of the railway triangle, it was the strongest outpost for the great German base at Smolensk, 230 miles from the capital, and its fall means that the Soviet offensive is advancing upon Smolensk from the east as well as northwest.

SUNRISE RAID ON LONDON

LONDON — Only a few hours after British bombers streamed back across the Channel from raids on industrial Germany, German raiders, in a sunrise attack, soared over London suburbs today, dropping bombs in at least one area and machinegunning trains and other targets. RUSSIANS TAKE VYAZMA

EDITORIAL

DAILY EDITION Friday, March 12, 1943

Liquor Line-up . . .

The morning liquor line-up across the street from our office and outside our window continues. It seems to grow little shorter—whether the weather be good or whether the weather be bad. The thirsty ones turn out as early as eight o'clock to start waiting with the hope of being in front when the store opens two hours later. By then the line is so long that the doors are closed for the day again before many of them have been able to get in. All of which, we still feel whether everyone agrees with it or not, is very wasteful of time if not of self-respect.

Since people will go to this length to obtain their liquor, it would seem that the authorities must do something to prevent this daily spectacle and waste of time. The only answer appears to be the cutting down of the ration further to less, considerably less, than the forty ounces of liquor and two dozen beer which are now allowed together with a readjustment of the hours of sale.

Of course, we do not anticipate that anything which tends to curtail the supply of spirits and beer will be acceptable to the thirsty ones who offer various reasons in the name of good old democracy and true blue patriotism, not forgetting the old chestnut that drinking is the only recreation here for a lot of people and is truly British, why they should not be cut down on their liquor.

But we might as well accept the fact that there has been too much consumption of liquor in Canada — also that manufacturing facilities and some materials which have gone into the making of liquor are required for the prosecution of the war. The authorities have accepted these facts and, awkward as the process of regulating the sale of liquor with a view to curtailment of its use is concerned, cannot be expected to turn back. There is reason to believe that we will be getting less liquor before we get more even if the process of getting the less may by some method be made somewhat simpler.

Meanwhile, the most of us will find out that we can get along nicely with less liquor and possibly, if needs be, without any at all. We may even have to change our views about the utter essentiality of the good old British pint of beer per day and still go on fighting and working.

It has been suggested that instead of spirits and beer we might give a little thought to more essential things such as the shortages of important foods, rationing of several of which we have accepted with a good deal less complaint than we have the curtailment of our liquor.

A Baron Speaks . . .

Sometimes out of the realms of the elder statesmen—the British House of Lords and the Canadian Senate—come some sound and progressive ideas. For instance, there were implications in the lecture of Baron Keyes, former Admiral of the Fleet, in criticizing the "pernicious system of interservice committees which is frustrating British initiative and daring in the war." In short, what Baron Keyes probably refers to is the paralyzing system of red tape, the maintaining of unwieldy customs which take a lot of time and effort and at the same time hamper the real job of getting things done.

Some of the old routines were infamous and ineffectual enough in peacetime but we accepted them and let them go just because we had become accustomed to such things and could continue to muddle along in spite of their stultifying effects. There is reason to believe that not only in Britain but right here in Canada there are a lot of such things which, if lopped off, would give great impetus to the war effort, both militarily and industrially. Just because certain things have been done so long is no reason for keeping them going ad infinitum, come what may.

The Service Wives Club held their weekly meeting in the ladies' lounge on Thursday afternoon. The sale for the raffle tickets on the "Margaret Bishop" quilt is going along nicely with Mrs. Strand and Mrs. Abraham in the lead with fifteen apiece. The raffle was donated by Mrs. Girardet and won by Mrs. Cooper. The refreshments were donated by Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Huff and served by Mrs. Kimmel and Mrs. Huff. Attendance fell slightly this week with only ten ladies and six babies present.

Since giving you the news about the concert on Sunday I have learned that Sunday afternoon is to be reserved for the Navy until three o'clock when it will then be opened to the other services. The evening show is by ticket until nine o'clock when it will then be thrown open to those who do not have tickets.

I hear that our Junior Hostess Eileen Hamblin is now singing with the Aristocrats. Chalk one up to their smart talent scout!

Just to satisfy all those boys who have been bombarding me with questions as to who the cute little C.W.A.A.C. in town is, she's the daughter of Sergeant "Pop" Robieson, R.C.A.M.C. and she's here on furlough. The little lady is Pte. Gladys Robieson of the Motor Mechanic Section, so don't anybody get the idea about taking her out for a car ride and having the w.k. breakdown because, before you could say Jack Robinson or whatever it was you had on your mind to say, she'd be out of that car and have it fixed.

I clean forgot to welcome home the Tony Hamiltons from their extended trip East. They went all the way to New York, flying most of the way. Audrey had the smartest new little hat which she bought in Winnipeg and NOT in New York.

Fine to Grow on

CARNATION is a fine milk for formula-fed babies—so safe, nourishing and digestible. And it's fine for children after bottle days. All the essential nutritive elements of good whole milk are supplied by Carnation. And there's extra "sunshine" vitamin D.

Carnation is fine, whole, cows' milk with part of the natural water removed. It is double-rich and creamy smooth, safe, and easily digested. Write for free book "Growing Up With Milk". Carnation Co. Limited, Abbott St., Van.

We hope that the change will not inconvenience you. We wish to continue serving you to the best of our ability and to continue our delivery service as long as possible.
