Reserve Unit Must Be Prepared To Assist In Manning Anti Aircraft

Two Hundred Recruits Required Immediately to Man Defences of This District

Orders have just been received by the local reserve unit to be prepared to assist in the anti-aircraft defences of the district in addition to their other duties. This is carrying into effect plans formulated by National Defence headquarters that reserve force units must be organized to take a more active part in the defence of the country.

Terms of enlistment for the Reserve Army remain as before but the growing importance of the role which the Reserve Army is now called upon to perform makes it necessary that additional men be recruited immediately so that training can commence without further loss of time. Equipment and instructors are now available to carry out this training and it is necessary that this equipment be put to immediate use.

Two hundred men are required to assist in manning these defences in Prince Rupert.

Recruits can be attested on Monday to Friday evenings at the Armoury.

Uniform, clothing and equipment is available for issue immediately.

WARNS OF BOMBINGS

"Hell" of Incendiaries and Explosives in Europe Soon, Says Dutch Premier

LONDON, May 20 (CP) — Pieters Gerbandy, premier of the Netherlands government in exile, last night broadcast a warning to his people to stay away from Germany which, he said, would be made a "hell" of incendiary and explosive bombs in coming days. He urged the Dutch to hamper German efforts to exhaust the strength of the occupied countries until the Allies were ready to invade the continent.

CADETS ARE COMMENDED

Made Fine Show in Annual Inspection Last Night Before Lieut. Commander Glasco

The Prince Rupert Sea Cadet Corps, under Lieut. Commander Alex Mitchell, was on parade at the Court House grounds last evening for annual inspection by Lieut. Commander C. S. Glasco of Vancouver, commanding officer of Sea Cadets for the British Columbia area, and received hearty congratulations from that officer for their smart appearance and high degree of efficiency. Commander Glasco was unstinting in his commendations and remarked especially on the corps' fine band.

It was full inspection through opened ranks on the parade ground followed by a "March Past" when the inspecting officer took the salute and later of drill and instruction at St. Andrew's Cathedral Hall.

There was a turn-out of no less than 120 of all ranks.

Others present at the inspection included David H. Gibson of Toronto, Dominion president of the Navy League of Canada, and R. M. Winslow, the local president.

After the inspection the Cadets were entertained at the Y.M.C.A. where coffee and refreshments were served.

Batteries for use in deaf aid appliances are to be free from purchase tax in Britain.

MILL AT TERRACE IS GONE

Big Conflagration at Interior Town Yesterday Afternoon—Old Little Plant

(Special to Daily News)
TERRACE, May 20—The Little, Haugland and Kerr sawmill here was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, the loss being estimated at $100,000. It was the second sawmill in this district to be destroyed by fire within a few days, the other having been the plant of P. L. Bethurem at Usk.

The fire in the Terrace mill, the well known old Little plant almost in the centre of the town, began on top of the boiler room about 2:30 p.m. The entire mill was one sheet of flames in a very few minutes. The local water supply was dry but an auxiliary system was effected by Forest Ranger S. G. Cooper of the British Columbia forestry service with forestry equipment which brought the fire under control on the west side. Then the fire fighters worked around to encircle the blaze.

In addition, army personnel turned out en masse and rendered valuable assistance, running a power hose from barracks to the scene of the fire. This helped considerably.

In addition to this, a large bucket brigade was formed by civilians and soldiers.

The mill was rated at 35,000 feet output daily.

A southeast wind carried the fire away from the town and no other buildings were damaged.

LAUNCHING IS SMOOTH

Not A Hitch As New Ten-Thousand Ton Freighter Nemiskam Park Takes To Water

AT A WEST CANADIAN PORT, May 20—There was not a hitch yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock as the launching took place of the new ten-thousand ton freighter Nemiskam Park from a local shipyard. The event took place with a minimum of formality. There were only a few officials on the launching platform. Yard workers paused briefly from their duties to watch the fine big steel hull slide smoothly down the stocks into her natural element, being quickly picked up by tugs and moved to a pier for completion work.

As the Nemiskam started to move down the ways, Mrs. A. G. Parent, wife of a welder, broke a tricolor ribbon-bedecked bottle of British Columbia wine against the bow. There was the usual blessing of the ship.

Later the presentation was made to Mrs. Parent, on behalf of the yard management, of an inscribed silver tray and a beautiful bouquet.

WORK OF NAVY LEAGUE

The tremendous growth of The Navy League of Canada in the past five years, and especially since the outbreak of war, is evidenced by the 20 buildings which it now operates on behalf of merchant seamen, naval officers and ratings and also for soldiers and airmen and the women of the three services. Four buildings are shown in the above picture. From left to right they are (upper) the new Navy League Seaman's Club at Vancouver, the Forum skating rink at Halifax and (lower) the League's Merchant Officers' Club and Naval Officers' Club, also at Halifax. The fulfillment of heavy responsibilities of the navy have taken place under the guidance of David H. Gibson, President of the Navy League of Canada, now a visitor in Prince Rupert.

BERLIN ATTACKED AGAIN

LONDON—Speedy Royal Air Force mosquito bombers attacked Berlin again last night for the third time since May 13, the Air Ministry announced. All bombers returned safely. Apparently it was the same type of raid that the German air force has been making on London—there having been one last night—a swift brief stab by fast-flying planes.

MIGHTY SMASH AT AXIS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—Allied fighters and bombers, in mighty smashes at Axis air power, destroyed 73 planes yesterday in the greatest aerial blow they have inflicted since the collapse of the German ground forces in North Africa. Twenty-nine planes were downed off Sicily and Sardinia in an area where the Germans and Italians have concentrated hundreds of aircraft in an attempt to stem the Allied onslaught. At least 44 others were destroyed on the ground.

Remnant of Japanese Troops Encircled By United States Force

Enemy Were Fighting With Backs to Sea Which Was Commanded by American Navy

WASHINGTON, May 20 (CP) — American troops have completed the encirclement of the remnant of Japanese forces on Attu Island after capturing the partially completed enemy air field there. The Japanese were caught in the Chagoff Harbor area at the northeastern extremity of Attu after the United States forces had captured Savarana Pass flanking the enemy's positions from the southeast, the Navy said. The Japanese were fighting with their backs to the sea and the sea was commanded by American warships which assisted in smashing the Japanese resistance.

SUPPORT OF SEA CADETS

Naval Department Rallying to Aid Local Boys to go to Comox Camp

Speaking before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday, Lieutenant Commander C. S. Glasco, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Discovery at Vancouver and also commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets for British Columbia area, told of greatly increased support that is to be given by the Navy League of Canada and the naval department to the Prince Rupert Sea Cadet Corps. This summer there was being established at Comox a camp where local Cadets could go for two weeks' training with everything free including transportation. It was hoped there would be a large representation from Prince Rupert at this camp which would be held the latter part of June and early part of July. The camp would be entirely naval staffed and would be conducted along naval lines. The boys would receive useful training and would also be assured of a good time. Lieut. Commander Glasco also announced that hereafter Sea Cadet uniforms, costing about $15 each, would cost only half that figure locally and this half would be payable over a period of the years. There would also be paid $1 for each member of the Corps on annual inspection as well as $1.25 uniform allowance which would further lighten the cost. In addition to this much more equipment for the corps would be provided including signal flags, signal lamps, ammunition for shooting and other gear.

"Prince Rupert," Lieut. Commander Glasco said, "is considered a natural spot for a Sea Cadet Corps and it has been agreed by the other services that it should be left exclusively a Sea Cadet town."

The speaker admitted that the Sea Cadet Corps were considered a potential source of choice manpower for the Navy and stated that Sea Cadets went to the top of the waiting list in naval recruiting. There was, however, no obligation for Sea Cadets to join the Navy when they became of age and were at liberty to join the Army or the Air Force if they wished.

Carrying on of Sea Cadets work was considered a peacetime as well as a wartime job and the naval service would support it permanently.

Lieut. Glasco pointed to Sea Cadets Corps as a definite asset to any community and he appealed for community support.

The speaker, whose subject was (Continued on Page Four)

IS KILLED OVERSEAS

Pilot Officer Jackie McDonnell Loses Life With Air Force

SMITHERS, May 20—This community was saddened Tuesday morning when it became known that word had been received by A. Roy McDonnell that his son, Jackie McDonnell, had been killed overseas.

Jackie was one of the most popular young men of Smithers.

He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force about a year ago and progressed rapidly. He soon became a pilot officer. He went overseas a few months ago and had been stationed in Scotland. Recent word from him said that he expected to be flying a very fast plane on reconnaissance and photographic work.

Jackie grew up in Smithers and attended the schools here where he was very clever in all his studies. He entered the Royal Bank and resigned his office as teller when he joined the Air Force.

He had always been active in local sports playing on the baseball and hockey and basketball teams of this town and was extremely popular with the young people and with all of those with whom he came in contact.

His death is a severe blow to his father and his aunt, Miss Margaret McDonnell of Smithers, and to the community in general. The sympathy of all is extended to the family in their bereavement.

EDITORIAL

DAILY EDITION Thursday, May 20, 1943

For Protection of Homes . . .

The intensification of global warfare as it affects Prince Rupert is seen in statements today dealing with the need for more men in both the local reserve unit and the civilian protection (A.R.P.) organization.

The reserve unit has been called upon to assume a larger responsibility in the local defence scheme. This is in line with announcements made during the past few days by both Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain and Defence Minister J. L. Ralston of Canada that more of the active or first line army forces are to be sent abroad to carry the fight to the enemy, leaving home defence more to the care of the civilian reserves.

The A.R.P. suggests that its ranks are not up to strength because the reserve has taken some of its men and also through apathy on the part of the public and failure to realize the importance of the civilian protection function.

We have advised so often on the essentiality of the reserve and civilian protection organizations that it almost seems unduly laboring the point to repeat it. Meantime, it is almost getting to the point of dereliction of duty and responsibility if any man who is at all able to do so continues to fail.

Retrospect on Victory Loan . . .

The result of the Fourth Victory Loan throughout Canada shows that in spite of the large sums received through corporation investments, the bulk of the money was subscribed by the little people. Prince Rupert, with its three quarter million dollar quota, and its larger subscription, is proof of the response of the wage earner, the small business owner, and the professional man to the financial need of Canada.

This mass purchase of Victory bonds has none of the characteristics of a fad or hysteria encouraged by easy, war-made wealth. While most people today are in better circumstances than they were a few years ago, the government, through its taxation program, has seen to it that there will be very few excess profits—the common term is gravy—enjoyed through war expenditure. In many cases the purchase of Victory bonds entailed sacrifice and so had more virtue than that of mere prudence. This outpouring of wealth was really an outpouring of a people's confidence in their own future.

However, in buying Victory bonds and helping to sustain our cause, we are not purchasing our future nor ensuring it. The future, when it arrives, will be the present and freedom then will be no more a commodity than it is today. It will still be a privilege and not a right. And even then it will still be the duty of the common man to make sure that, not only on election days and on coupon-clipping days but every day, that he is considered and respected by his government.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT
 The Hostess

It's nice to see the white navy hats around again. It all helps to make us think the summer is here. There's no harm in thinking, is there?

If there are any pianists in the forces who are willing to help the King's Men, the Prince Rupert area orchestra which plays for us each Wednesday dance night, we'd be only too glad to hear from them. It would only be for a few nights until Cliff Macaree, the regular pianist, returns. As good as the P.A. system may be, it's still "canned music" and doesn't give that human atmosphere to a dance that a dance band does. So come on chums, help us out! You aren't doing it for us but for your colleagues in the services and you know what they say — the Lord helps those who help themselves.

Yesterday afternoon we had a very pleasant visit from Lieutenant Colonel Madden, who is senior Roman Catholic chaplain in the Pacific Command, and Captain Serrout, who has taken Father Monet's place as Roman Catholic area chaplain here. It helps and inspires all of us in our work to find such kindly interest and co-operation on the part of any of the chaplain and auxiliary branches of the services.

Well my latest formidable opponent in cribbage is Bill (I hope it's Bill) Frankham of the navy shore patrol. Someday I'll learn not to challenge the navy. They are simply wizard at the game. So far I'm down about five cokes. No, he doesn't play when on duty, so you were wrong that time.

People simply amaze me. I've seen it happen so often and yet each time it fills me with wonderment. Someone will walk up to the radio, turn it on full blast and then calmly walk away not bothering to listen at all to the program. It must be noise for noise's sake.

INCREASED ONSLAUGHT

LONDON, May 20 (P)—Air observers here say that Prime Minister Churchill's reference to aerial experimental warfare in Europe undoubtedly means a greatly increase air onslaught against Germany and Italy this summer. The Prime Minister suggested it might be well to try this means of breaking down the enemy.

LOCAL PEOPLE URGED TO SELF-PROTECTION

May 19th, 1943
 Editor, Daily News:

From time to time in your editorials reference is drawn to the possibility and probability of attack by enemy forces on the City of Prince Rupert and area adjacent thereto.

The question has been discussed by the executive of the Civilian Protection Committee of the A.R.P. and it was agreed that nothing could be done until we had received the views of the military authorities and, if possible request a statement from them regarding the possibility of evacuation of the civil population in case of emergency or hostile action in this area. The following is an excerpt from a statement under the signature of the officer commanding Prince Rupert Defences:

"If the enemy decides to attack this area it is extremely unlikely that prior warning will be had. Therefore, no time will be available for the evacuation of the civilian population before the attack occurs."

"Evacuation during an enemy attack will, of course, be impossible. Therefore evacuation can only be considered as occurring after a hostile attack."

"The rapid move of the German armies through France in 1940 was aided to a very considerable degree by the civilian population blocking the roads, thereby preventing the rapid movement of our own troops and equipment."

"Successful modern warfare demands rapid movement of troops and equipment and, therefore, all roads and streets must be kept clear of traffic for this purpose and also for the movement of police, fire-fighting equipment, ambulances, A.R.P. equipment, etc."

"The citizens of this community are expected to stay put during any emergency and to provide for their own protection at their own homes. No uncontrolled movement will be permitted during an emergency."

"Members of the A.R.P. organization are trained to act in an emergency and all citizens must depend on their A.R.P. warden for guidance and instructions during an emergency."

From the above it can be briefly stated no warning may be had and on the first attack no means of evacuation will be made available. Time may permit after an attack to evacuate some or all of the civil population, particularly women and children.

No uncontrolled movement will be permitted during this emergency and the citizens are expected to provide their own protection in their own homes.

The A. R. P. have been somewhat dormant due to three causes—first, the apathy of the people; second, the lack of volunteers for A. R. P. and, thirdly, to the depletion of our organization by our wardens and firefighters leaving to take up training in the home guard units.

We who have joined the A.R.P. have, over the war period, given of our time and energy in perfecting an organization so that, if the time ever did arise, we would have available trained personnel to avoid the panic and confusion which would normally result when an emergency did occur and to care for some of the casualties, personal and material, with the aid of the first aid personnel, fire auxiliary, special police, wardens, etc.

The people, individually and collectively, will require to shed this apathetic attitude, not towards A.R.P. work but for the protection of yourself and families first. After you have organized your own home, perhaps you will then have some further time available to volunteer for A.R.P. work best suited to your inclination and ability.

What we are trying to do is to sell yourself insurance for your children and homes. If you want cheap self insurance—do nothing. The cost eventually may be extremely high. If you want self-insurance the cost is low, the amount of coverage depends on you alone and may come cheap in the final analysis, depending upon the time and thought you give to your own protection.

We who have given some study to the question cannot state definitely what will or will not occur but we feel it is our duty to place before you our view on the questions above outlined and hope that your good common sense will force you to act.

Every family, home, business or other establishment should be trained to know what to do and how to do it with the least amount of fuss or flurry when and if an emergency or hostile action does occur. If you protect yourself, you protect your neighbor. If your neighbor protects himself, he protects you. If we all do this together we have done all that is possible under the present known factors and, when trouble comes along, we will all be in a better position to take it. So be a good neighbor and protect yourself.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, on behalf of the C.P.C. (A.R.P.) for the privilege of making use of your valuable space, thus permitting us to place before the public the situation as we see it now and in the near future.

BRILLIANT WAR FILM IS SHOWN

"Desert Victory" Is By All Means Finest Fighting Picture Yet Shown

"Brilliant" is the word for the great war film "Desert Victory," recounted with remarkably fine photography and smashing dramatic factualistic delineation, which had a preview showing at the Capitol Theatre last night before a military audience and which is the feature offering for this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "Desert Victory" has been heralded as the greatest war picture yet to be projected on the screen and to see it is to agree that there is no exaggeration about this statement. It made a deep impression on all who saw it last night.

Opening with a photographic survey of the British 8th Army in the field, the film first demonstrates clearly why Gen. Auchinleck fell back last August to the narrow Egyptian corridor between the Quattara Depression and the sea. The manoeuvre was a military expedient and as such it is properly explained. But dramatically it fits a classic pattern—which is fully realized in this film.

On a 40-mile front thick with mine fields and bristling strong points a stand was made, and the film shows the rugged 8th Army set to strike back. Then Mr. Churchill is shown visiting the army with vital and cheering news: New equipment is on the way and also two new generals—Alexander and Montgomery. The order of Mr. Churchill to Montgomery is explicit and soldierly: "Your prime and main duty will be to destroy the enemy at your earliest opportunity."

The film then recounts the ways in which the army was re-equipped and strengthened, with glimpses of home-front industry and United States tank production. Captured German films are cut in to show how Gen. Rommel was also building up his forces at the same time.

Final Preparations
 The most effective section of the film is that which shows the final preparations and the assault on the El Alamein line in the darkness of October 23. As the evening light falls the huge, dark outlines of guns and tanks move against the cloudless sky. Then the whole screen is in darkness. Only the low, steady voice of the narrator comes through:

Then comes the zero hour. The screen is filled with explosive din. The sappers move forward in the flickering, eerie light, questing with their "pie-plates" for the mine fields; stretching white tapes where the infantry may pass. At the appointed moment the infantry moves up with bayonets fixed. In their midst marches a kilted bagpiper, skirling "The Highland Lass." For the rest, "Desert Victory" shows the battle as it moved along that line for nine grim days—the blasted tanks, the infantry charges, the sweeping combats in the sky. It indicates the final break-through and the long trek across Africa to Tobruk, Bengazi, El Aghella and finally Tripoli, with thousands of Axis fighters captured, material wrecked and men killed. It shows the captured Nazi Gen. von Thoma, the battering of the fleeing Axis troops. It concludes with the final victory parade, reviewed by Mr. Churchill and Gen. Montgomery, in Tripoli.

"The Navy League and Sea Cadets," told of the work which the Navy League was now specializing on of looking after the interests of men of the Merchant Navy. The main bulk of this at the present time was in Halifax where a huge hostel had been established providing 2,000 meals per day. This was a great boon to the Merchant Navy men in a centre which, like Prince Rupert, was overrun by men of the three services. In addition at Halifax there was a beer tavern which was considered a good policy as it eliminated to large extent indiscriminate drinking of hard liquor and trouble arising therefrom. Also a large skating rink and athletic field were operated by the Navy League, these being available for the other services. Across Canada the Navy League had been instrumental in the establishment of 20 hostels for the men of the Merchant Navy including Vancouver and Victoria.

Head of Navy League
 Also speaking briefly at the Gyro luncheon was David H. Gibson, prominent retired Toronto business man and Dominion chairman of the Navy League of Canada, who paid tribute to the Canadian Navy, the expansion of which since the start of this war had been unmatched in the annals of history. It was 32 times larger today than it was when war commenced and only recently, Mr. Gibson said, he had been told by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that, by the end of this year, the Canadian Navy would match in strength the Royal Navy in 1939.

As for the Sea Cadets, Mr. Gibson said the naval department had asked for an increase in strength from 4,000 to 15,000.

On behalf of the Dominion council, Mr. Gibson paid tribute to R. M. Winslow, chairman, the executive of the local Navy League, the parents and the lads themselves. Already there had been a marvelous record of the bravery of former Sea Cadets in naval service. Inspiring reference was made by Mr. Gibson to the great Merchant Navy which in the grim early days of the war when Britain single-handed had stood "between western civilization and the damnable kulture of Nazism, had maintained the supply line between Great Britain and Canada, failure of which, to say the least less comfortable than we are here of it, would have "left us much today."

President J. W. Scott was in the chair at the Gyro luncheon and expressed thanks of the club to Lieut. Commander Glasco and Mr. Gibson for their addresses. There was a large attendance of members at the luncheon as well as guests including, besides the speakers, R. M. Winslow, Lieut. Hooper, Private T. J. Williams and J. M. Cave.
