Discuss Atomic Energy Control

Bombs Would be Discarded
 As Instrument of Warfare

United States Lays Its Cards on Table With Proposal For International Commission

NEW YORK (CP) — The United States today proposed to the world creation of an international atomic development authority to handle atomic energy and agreed to destroy its own store of atomic bombs and cease manufacturing them if an adequate control system is set up.

The United States made it clear that there must be no veto power in any part of the framework it proposed for the peaceful use of atomic energy. It called for renunciation of atom bombs as an instrument of warfare and for "a world security program not composed merely of pious thoughts but of enforceable sanctions and international law with teeth in it."

Bernard Baruch, 75-year-old financier, laid United States atomic cards on the table at the first meeting of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission on which he is the United States representative.

The commission is made up of eleven countries on a security control council and Canada is a member because of her help in developing the bomb.

Baruch said: "We propose: 'First—Manufacture of the atomic bomb shall stop.

"Second—Existing bombs shall be disposed of pursuant to terms of treaty.

"Third—Authority shall be in possession of full information as to the know-how for production of atomic energy."

Mr. Baruch envisioned control of other weapons of war and perhaps of war itself.

"We are here to make a decision between the quick and the dead—a choice between civilization and destruction."

Unless there was success at the conference in controlling atomic energy "every living man would be damned to a life of fear."

DEFENCE HEARD IN ROSE TRIAL

MONTREAL. — The defence, opening its case today in the conspiracy trial of Fred Rose, sought to show that conversations between Dr. Raymond Boyce and the Labor-Progressive member of Parliament about the RDX explosive were not prejudicial to the interests of Canada.

SOVIET HITS SPAIN POLICY

NEW YORK. — Soviet delegate Andrea Gromyko told the United Nations Security Council Thursday that there is no justification for the council declining to take action to break relations with Franco Spain immediately. He expressed disagreement with the compromise plan under which the council would refer the Spanish question to the General Assembly but did not at that point invoke his veto.

The council adjourned until Monday with the Spanish question still unsettled. Gromyko's opposition made it appear certain that the delegates would have to reach another solution of the question is to be acted upon.

BANK LOOT WAS BURIED IN SAND

WINDSOR, Ont. — Police recovered between $10,000 and $12,000 in cash and some bonds and arrested three men and a woman in a search for bandits who held up the Provincial Bank of Canada branch at Tecumseh yesterday. The money was found in a pillow case buried in the sand of Peche Island in the Detroit River.

MARITIME STRIKE IN U.S. AVERTED

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Union officials indicated tonight that a settlement of the maritime labor dispute was possible before midnight tonight. Satisfactory progress was reported in negotiations yesterday and the strike is expected to be averted at least until October.

TREACHERY ADMITTED

Mihailovic Tells Belgrade Court That he Collaborated With Germans and Italians

BELGRADE. — General Mihailovic today admitted before the military tribunal before which he is on trial for his life that he had joined in action with German and Italian forces against Marshal Tito's partisans. He showed obvious weariness in making the admission.

Mihailovic also testified that he had been instrumental in saving the lives of thousands of Allied airmen who had been forced down.

ANCIENT SHIPS TO DAVY JONES

AUCKLAND. — A 100-year old French frigate, the Eure, and an 80-year old lea clipper, Jubilee, have recently been towed from their moorings in Auckland harbor and broken up.

Both speedy, well-found ships in their day, they had been lying for years in "Rotten Row," where condemned ships are moored while awaiting dismantling. They had been reduced to the lowly states of coal hulks.

100 Years of Peace

Settlement of "Western Boundary 100 Years Ago Recalled By Celebrations At Blaine

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. — One hundred years of peace between Canada and the United States, unmarred by a single untoward incident, will be celebrated on July 15 at Blaine, Washington, 32 miles south of here on the international boundary. Governor-General Viscount Alexander and President Truman will attend.

The ceremonies, the first held since the outbreak of the Second Great War, will be known officially as the Boundary Centennial Celebration.

In the shadow of the International Peace Arch, erected and dedicated September 6, 1921, a granite border-maker will be set up commemorating a century of friendly relations.

On June 15, 1846, the so-called Oregon Treaty (Washington-British Columbia Boundary Settlement) was signed in Washington, D.C., by Richard Pakenham for Great Britain and James Buchanan for the United States. This treaty set the dividing line on the 49th parallel and ended a dispute over the vast Oregon-Washington territory which at times threatened hostilities between the two countries.

A movement started on both sides of the boundary early in 1914 to recognize amicable relations by arranging for suitable celebrations. The International Peace Memorial Association was formed and legislation was passed in both countries authorizing erection of the Peace Arch.

The project was postponed, however, at the request of President Woodrow Wilson since Great Britain was then engaged in the First Great War and the United States was neutral.

How Funds Were Raised
 Meanwhile, the Pacific Highway Association undertook to raise the necessary funds under the direction of its president, the late Samuel Hill, a Seattle lawyer.

The International Peace Arch is situated on a 10-acre park on the western terminus of the boundary. Into the portal was sealed a piece of the pilgrim ship Mayflower, obtained by Hill from Quakers in England, and a number of historical documents outlining various treaties leading up to the final settlement.

These steps were summarized in a memorandum prepared by Judge F. W. Howay of the Supreme Court, New Westminster, an official of the Peace Arch Association as follows:

1873—Treaty of Paris: Boundaries between Canada and the United States were not exactly defined because of the difficulty of drawing a line through unexplored territory.

1818 Convention—The border was fixed from the most north-western point of the Lake of the Woods (Ontario-Manitoba) to and along the 49th parallel of north latitudes to the Stony Mountains.

1819—Florida Treaty — Spain ceded rights, claims and pretensions on lands north of 42 degrees to the United States.

1846, June 15—Treaty of Oregon. It was agreed to continue the line on the 49th parallel from the Rocky Mountains to the middle of the channel which separated the continent from Vancouver Island, thence southerly through the middle of the channel and Juan de Fuca Straits to the Pacific Ocean.

STRIKERS, POLICE CLASH—Seamen attempted to attack strike-breakers who boarded the Noronic at Thorold wharf. Here one striker is nabbed by a policeman after he managed to break through the police cordon set up to protect the strike-breakers.

FAMOUS MULBERRY HARBOR IS BEING BROKEN UP AND SOLD

LONDON (CP)—Mulberry Harbor, artificial port which saved countless lives and endless delays by providing anchorage for ships off the coast during the invasion of Normandy, is being broken up for sale.

The Netherlands has bought some of the port's huge concrete casings to repair damaged dykes.

Pierhead sections have been sold to Iceland and South American engineers are interested in other parts of the structure, possibly for Venezuela harbors.

French Indians May Join Proposed Union

NEW DELHI. — The people of French India will themselves decide whether or not to join the Indian union envisaged in the recent declaration by the British cabinet mission, according to an announcement made by C. F. Baron, governor of French India, in Pondicherry.

French possessions in India comprise five settlements—Pondicherry, Chandernagore, Karikal, Mahe and Yanam, having a total area of 203 square miles and a population of 323,295.

Pondicherry, the chief French settlement, is headquarters of the French governor, who is in charge of the civil administration of French India and in whom is vested the military command. He is assisted by a chief justice and several "chefs de service." There is a council-general and local councils based on popular franchise. The Indian rupee is legal tender in French India. By an agreement with British India since 1941 the same duties are levied at French ports as at other Indian ports.

Irish Monks Set Up New Order in London

LONDON. — Medieval England came to life again when two monks walked into an empty house in north London with no possessions save their robes. They belong to an Irish community of monks started by Saint Camillus in the 16th century and theirs is the first house of the order to be opened in England.

Although they have no money, the monks will be at the beck and call of sick people and will accept no fees for their services. One of them, Father James Kelly, said: "God is good. We have a roof over our heads—the furniture will come later, please God."

1819—Florida Treaty — Spain ceded rights, claims and pretensions on lands north of 42 degrees to the United States.

1846, June 15—Treaty of Oregon. It was agreed to continue the line on the 49th parallel from the Rocky Mountains to the middle of the channel which separated the continent from Vancouver Island, thence southerly through the middle of the channel and Juan de Fuca Straits to the Pacific Ocean.

Mrs. James Stewart sailed last night on the Prince Rupert to visit with her son and daughter-in-law in Vancouver.

Negotiation Reopening On Sloan Report Basis Is Pritchett Proposal

VICTORIA (CP)—Proposal to the operators that both parties to the lumber strike dispute reopen negotiations immediately was made last night by Harold Pritchett of the International Woodworkers' Association. He suggested that renewed negotiations be under the chairmanship of Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, using the June 1 Sloan recommendations as a basis. The operators countered with the demand that the I.W.A. immediately call off the strike.

R. V. Stuart, representative of the operators, said: "We are prepared to sign a contract on this basis" and told Pritchett: "Public interest demands you waste no more time in further stalling and accept the Sloan award."

Meantime the mass march on Victoria of strikers who assembled at Nanaimo last night was moving along the highway in motor cars to the capital where the union case was to be put before the Hart cabinet this afternoon. A check indicated that those on the lobby march numbered considerably less than the seven thousand figure estimated earlier by Union leaders. Probably it was around three thousand. Camp Macaulay, wartime Victoria military centre, has been placed at the disposal of the marchers. It was unknown yet how long they would stay in the city.

At Toronto Alex McAuslane, vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, told a rally that striking woodworkers in British Columbia were "standing by," ready to open box factories there in a three-weeks truce agreement in order to save the fruit crop.

MAJOR BOWES PASSES AWAY

RUMSON, New Jersey. — Major Edward Bowes, 72, figure in the entertainment world for many years and famous for his radio amateur hour, died here last night.

Reform Class Distinction Is Government Plan

BOURNEMOUTH. — Education Minister Edith Wilkinson proclaimed at the Labor Party conference today that the government's intention was to reform Britain's educational system and "remove class distinctions which handicap democracy."

HEAVY RAINFALL

OLYMPIA—This capital city of Washington had a torrential rainfall last night of nearly an inch. Street drains were unable to carry away the rain and the water was up to the running boards of cars and completely flooded several blocks.

"MARCHERS ARRIVE"

VICTORIA—The main body of the loggers' "March On Victoria" arrived at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Earlier there had been a conference by Harold Pritchett of the I.W.A. with Premier John Hart and Hon. G. S. Pearson and it was announced a meeting of the I.W.A. executive would be held in Vancouver Monday.

EXPECTED TO LIVE

BELFAST—David Fleming, Irish Republican Army hunger striker, who recently gave up his fast after 81 days, is expected to live. He is now being fed on brandy, milk and glucose.

MINING COMING BACK

THE MINING INDUSTRY is on the comeback throughout northern and central British Columbia. During recent weeks the Daily News has been telling about the resumption of activities on many properties in the Portland Canal area. There are important operations on the make at Anyox. Yesterday we had the interesting announcement of plans to reopen the famous Duthie mine on Hudson's Bay Mountain near Smithers which has not seen operation in sixteen years. The program on the Duthie mine is, doubtless, but the forerunner of other widespread resumed mining activity in the interior.

Seemingly mining is making the quickest postwar comeback in this area of all the lines of basic industry. It is very encouraging, particularly to Prince Rupert, the centre of it all.

MORALE BUILDERS

OVERWORKED as the word "morale" has been during the war it is not amiss to use it again in view of the disturbed state which has developed in all phases of society in this period of post-war adjustment, says the Salvation Army's Red Shield Report.

During the war great efforts were made to maintain the morale of the armed forces. Psychiatrists, psychologists, auxiliary services, entertainment and theatrical parties, sports and games organizations served in morale building.

Peace has its morale problems as pressing as those of war. The high hopes of the people for a new era of peace have suffered a collapse and instead they face industrial strife, greed and avarice; instead of international tolerance, there is quarreling, distressingly exhibited in the open, to create fear of another war and next time, one of atomic destruction.

In this day the public needs the services of morale builders extraordinary. Not the empty, shallow, so-called morale building used so much in the war—the mere thought-changing, forgetfulness-inducing escape-giving amusements or vices so often recommended—but something that faces facts and yet establishes the mind and spirit in hope and confident assurance that all these disturbances and threats will pass, and that the future shines bright with the first rays of a New Day for the world.

SPIRITUAL VALUES

"WE NEED a new enlightenment to reassert the spiritual life of man and to re-interpret it once more in spiritual terms. Such a movement will release the great moral forces of our time, which are led astray by the false and degrading theories of man's nature. It should redeem all the patriotic devotion corrupted today into Fascism, and it should, above all, set free the great craving for brotherhood and social justice which is harnessed today to the engines of class war. If only we could persuade good men to believe again in goodness, and generous men to trust once more in the force of generous sentiments, a peaceful world would arise even today." —Professor Michael Polanyi.

Urges Patience, Tolerance for World Security

An appeal for "patience, tolerance and discipline" in world and national levels was sounded by H. G. Perry before the Rotary Club Thursday afternoon in a speech which assessed the background and the value of the United Nations Organization as a factor for future world security.

Mr. Perry saw it as the "beginning of a great epoch and a great achievement in the history of the world when 49 nations signed that charter." He warned, however, against disintegrating forces which threaten the pathway of the United Nations.

"We have in this charter the image of the future but already we know that there are doubts, discords and fears even among the members who signed that historic document," he declared. "A great disintegration appears to be settling in and is reflected in our international situation and in the great economic paralysis that has beset even this nation."

He compared the present picture with the attitude of the democratic world when the incipient United Nations first met a year ago at Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco to create the form and document the objectives of the world organization. "Even at that time, although victory was not yet achieved, we could look forward with great hope and feel that we would tread the fine pathway to a peaceful earth. In spite of the disappointments of the past year, the United Nations still has a chance to achieve its lofty purposes."

Mr. Perry read the preamble to the United Nations' charter, describing it as the produce of the best political thinkers of the world who have grasped the image and set out to achieve the purpose of world security.

During the last year, he said, in which the United Nations have been beset by disputes, the "patience and restraint of Great Britain and the United States have saved the situation and retained for us the hope that this charter shall be made effective and preserved.

"We must cultivate that patience and tolerance, and attempt to understand our opponents in these disputes. Otherwise there might be another war which would lead to the destruction of mankind," Mr. Perry asserted.

He warned of the disintegrating forces at work within nations, as well as between nations, and urged understanding of the basic changes which are taking place in the world order.

"Let us realize that changes are here in the social and economic order. Let us understand and accept these changes so that our world does not disintegrate, then re-integrate again in totalitarian form," he suggested.

He appealed for a spirit of universalism and discipline, both in business and labor organizations, so that small, militant groups cannot get control for their own purposes.

TALK ABOUT CONVENTIONS

Junior Chamber of Commerce Taking Part in Various Gatherings

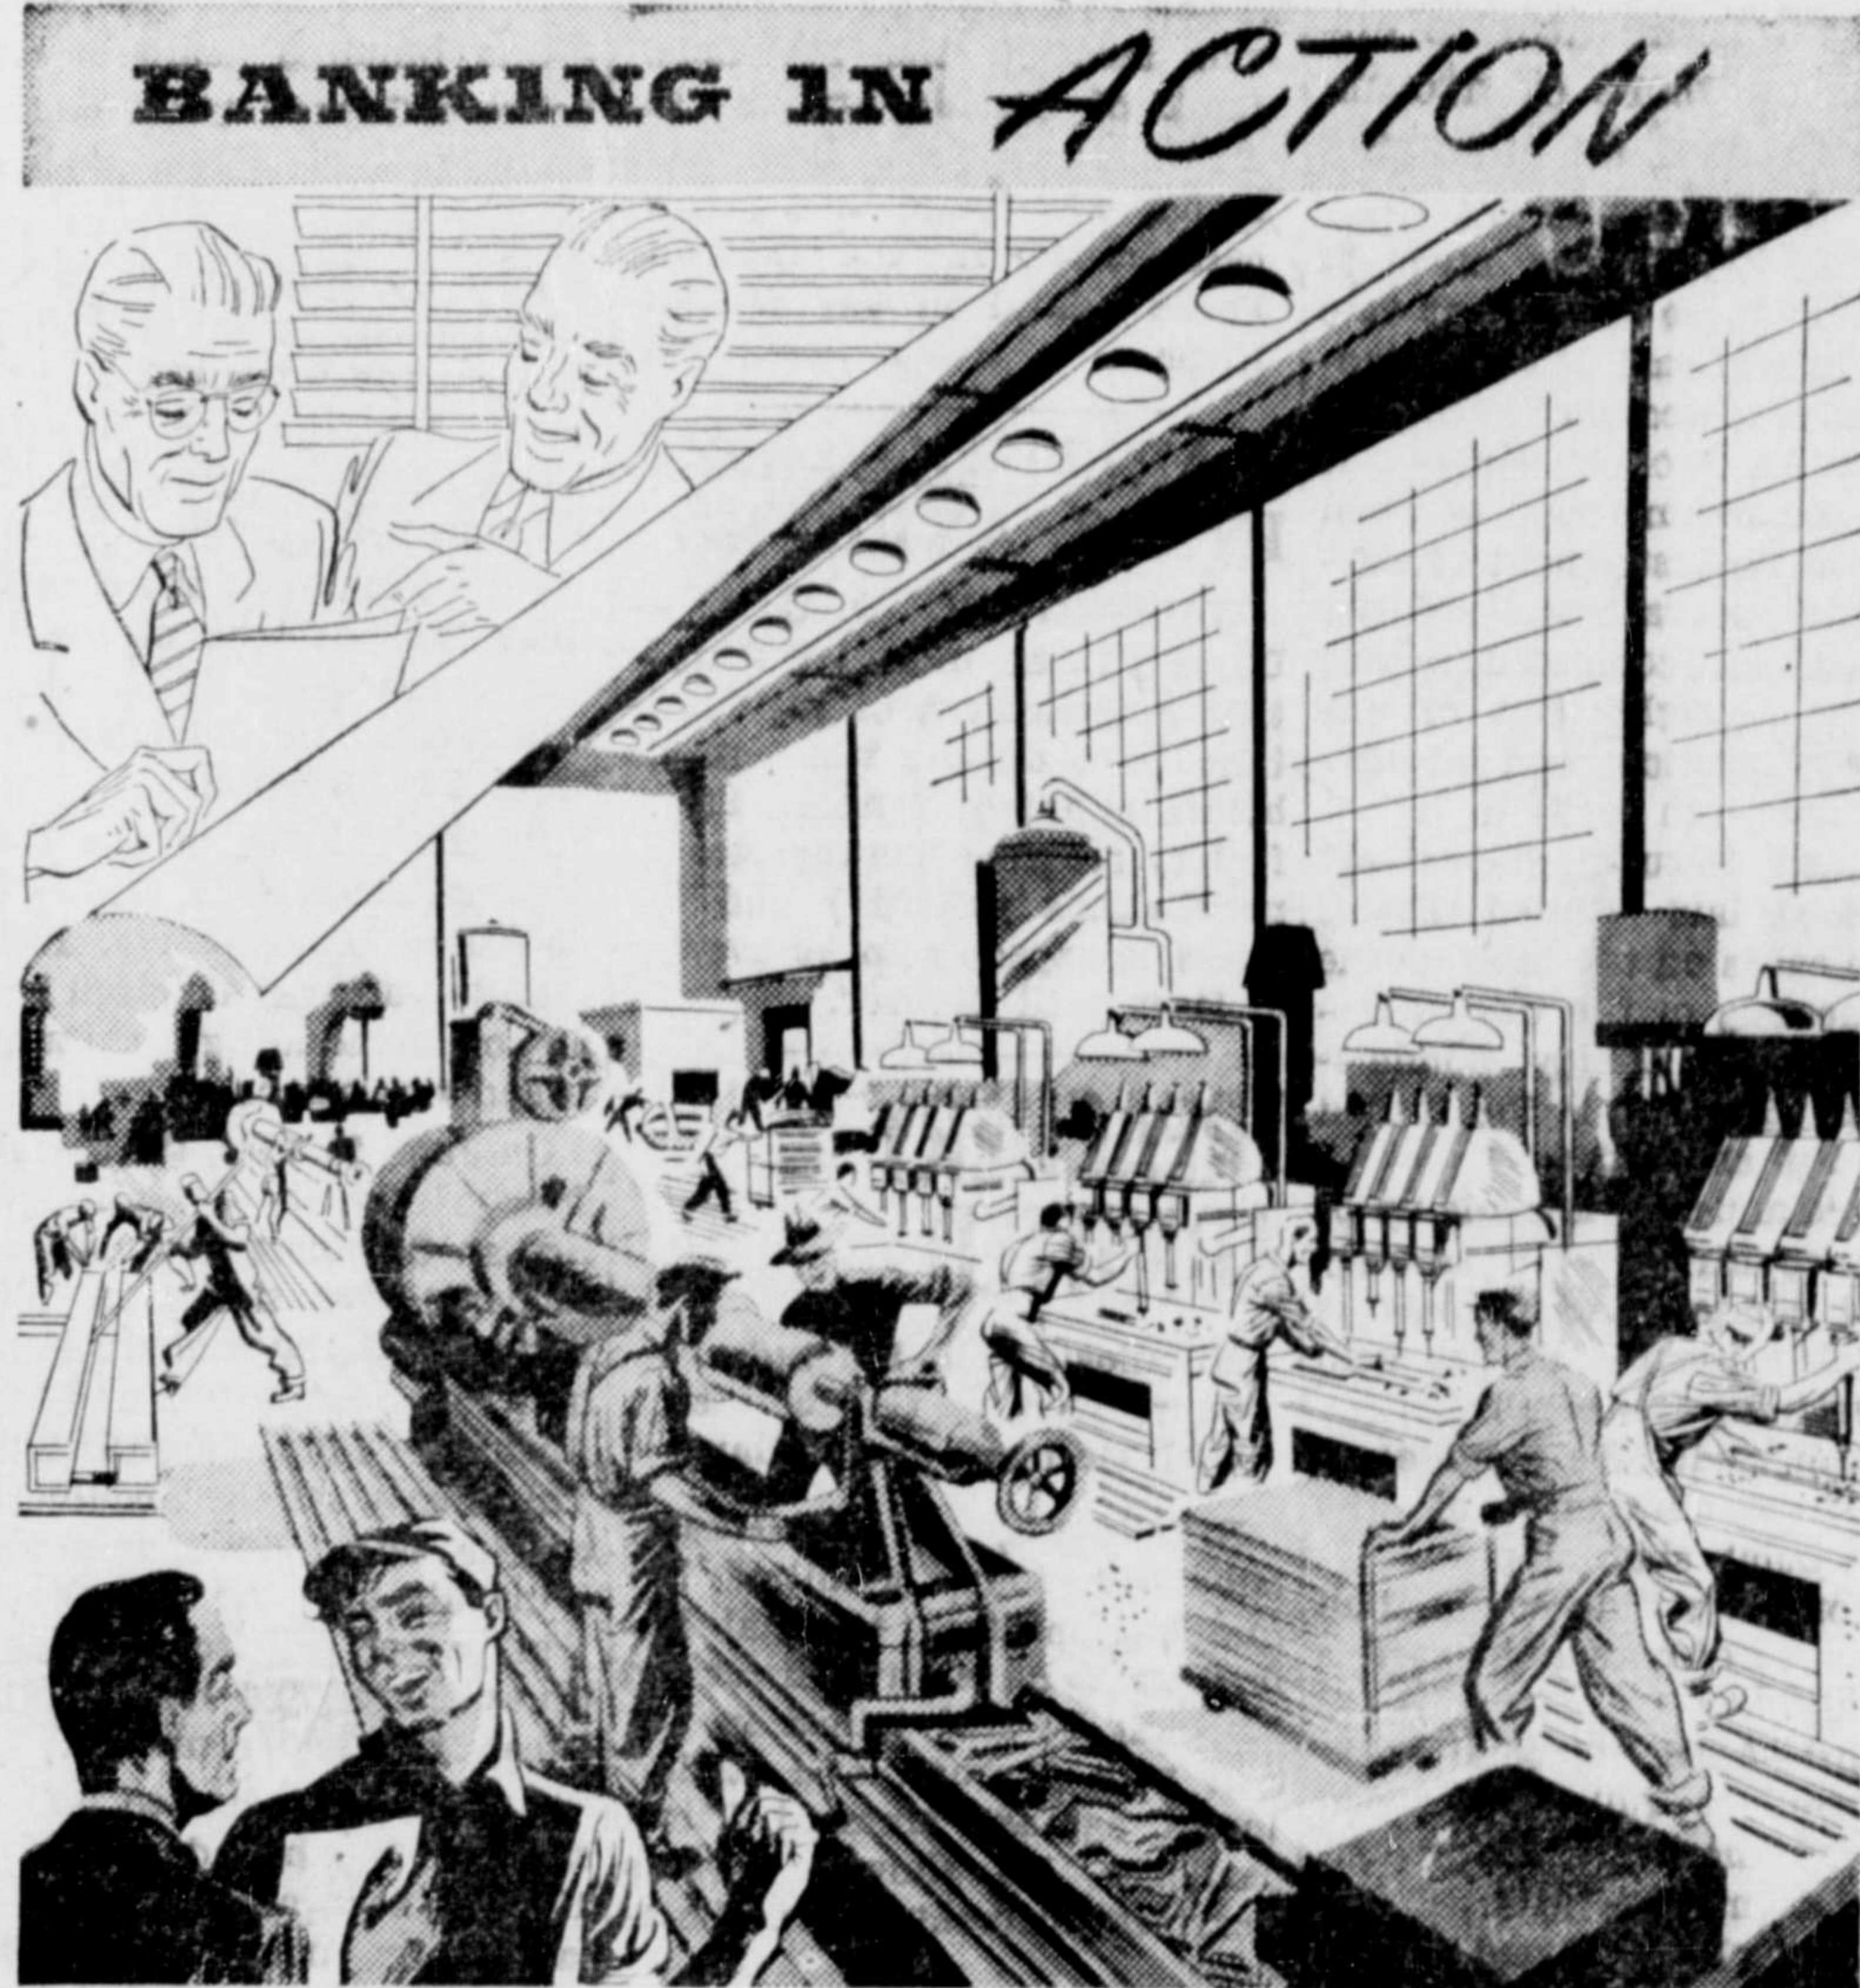

Business in connection with forthcoming conventions occupied considerable of the time of the Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at its regular monthly dinner meeting last night. One of these conventions is the regional conference of Junior Chambers of Commerce, currently in session at Prince George with Alf Rivett as delegate, which it was decided to invite to meet next year in Prince Rupert. While some exception was taken to the fact that the Junior Chamber had not been assigned an official delegate at the annual convention of the Association Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia to be held in Terrace August 2 and 3, it was decided to be represented on a preliminary resolutions committee by Earl Gordon. Another convention in which the local Junior Chamber is to take a particularly active part is the annual convention of the Junior Chambers of Commerce of Canada where President C. G. Ham will be the delegate and at which a special fish dinner of salmon and halibut is to be put on by the local Junior Chamber with the co-operation of the Prince Rupert Public Relations Council.

Tony Crawley reported on preparations for the Port Day celebration to be staged the latter part of July in connection with the annual Civic Centre Carnival. Mr. Crawley reported gratifying support in connection with this event from the public as a whole.

Regular meetings of the Junior Chamber are to be suspended during the months of July and August.

The victory of freedom over despotism was a long, drawn-out fight, for even with the demise of Charles I of England in 1689, the press was still suppressed through licensing.

VANCOUVER FIGHTERS TAKE TOP HONORS IN LEGION FIGHT CARD

Billy McDonald Takes Decision Over Len Hitchens in Main Event, While Lyle Colling T.K.O.'s Terry McCarthy

Two Vancouver fighters dictated the peace treaty last night after they walked off with headline honors at the Legion's fight card before six hundred fans in the Civic Centre gym. Feature bout invader Billy McDonald outpointed Len Hitchens in the five-round main event while, in the semi-windup, Vancouver's Lyle Colling laid light-heavyweight Terry McCarthy low by a technical knockout in the second minute of the third round.

Highly satisfied with his two fighters, trainer Tommy Gann of Vancouver's Western Sports Club expressed a desire to bring more of his boys to Prince Rupert. Mr. Gann was highly impressed both with the calibre of the local fighters and the Civic Centre sports set-up.

"That was a fight you could see anywhere and be proud of," Mr. Gann said of the McDonald-Hitchens encounter. "I hope you invite us to bring some more fighters up here. You have really got a fine recreation centre at Prince Rupert—worthy of a city many times the size."

Although there was six or seven years difference in their ages, McDonald being the younger, the two main event contenders were as evenly matched a pair as could be placed in the same ring. Both weighed in at 147 pounds and both obviously had experience.

However, after the first round, the two boys showed a marked difference in style, McDonald favoring in-fighting, at which he was proficient, and Hitchens, apparently, preferring to make use of his jabbing left as a preparatory measure to landing a decidedly efficient right.

Only on one occasion did Hitchens take full advantage of the openings which his left mitt made available. He followed through with a tidy piece of footwork, in the fourth round, lashing out lefts and rights effectively. Had he followed up several such advantages there is little doubt that the decision would have gone in his favor. His attitude was essentially defensive throughout the fight although he did carry the fight on occasion during the five-round battle.

In the semi-wind-up, a right to Terry McCarthy's jaw after two minutes of the third round achieved a technical knockout for Lyle Colling. Both light-heavyweights set a fast pace with McCarthy, apparently, out for a quick knockout in the first round. A hard hitter, McCarthy lost control of his arms after the first round and began unloading indiscriminate haymakers which sounded good when they landed but did little damage.

Colling, an efficient in-fighter, capitalized on McCarthy's lack of control by getting inside his wild swings and hitting hard.

Gamest Fighter of Preliminaries

One of the finest moments of the evening was the awarding of a prize to the gamest fighter on the preliminary card. The moment, awarded by Tommy Gann, went to 80-pound Billy Toderas, loser of a fight with Billy McChesney in one of the early bouts. In spite of punishment doled out lavishly by McChesney, Toderas kept coming in for more and wound up with considerable bruises, including a black eye.

In a light-heavyweight preliminary between Bud Collins, 185, and Glen Carlson, 179, the latter won by a technical knockout during the first minute of the fight. Collins was knocked down two seconds after the first bell sounded, then returned to the canvass under the onslaught of a long right to the body that doubled him up.

Jimmy Macdougall, 135, took a decision over Alex Gomez, 139, in a close fight. Gomez, who had a whipping left and a well-directed right preferred open-type fighting, but Macdougall, realizing the disadvantage of his shorter arms and lack of height, kept coming in with body blows.

Gomez did not appear to take full advantage of his long reach and was unable to get clear of Macdougall's body drives.

Welterweight Leo Adolph was obviously out on a search for blood in his exhibition bout with 153-pound Jack Richards. On the other hand, Richards was not letting any opportunities pass by. Both fighters wound up bleeding. If any decision had been given it would have gone to Adolph who despite lack of recent training, has a good background of experience to draw from. He knocked Richards down three times in the third round.

A technical knockout in the first round was handed out by Vic Johnson to Walter Carlson in the 115-pound class. Carlson folded after a body blow in the final seconds of the round.

In the same weight class, Dick Smith was awarded the decision by Referee Doug Frizzell over Sandy Hamilton in a fast bout. Smith, considerably longer in the reach than Hamilton, held off the latter's rushes, and landed several counters, particularly in the second round.

In a no-decision opener to the preliminaries 70-pound Jordan Smith and Carl Markie put on a pleasing display. Smith's style was good, showing the experience of his Golden Gloves expedition to Vancouver last year.

Judges for the card were George Howe and Jack Judge. Timekeepers were Bob Cameron and Wally Landon. Doug Frizzell was referee and Art Murray was announcer. Proceeds of the card are being turned over to the Rup-Rec.

Hazelton went scoreless to the fourth inning when they scored one, Smithers scoring two runs in the seventh and two more in their half of the ninth. SHORT SPORT

Like baseball players in the United States, boxers, wrestlers and trainers in New South Wales are listening to union talk. With the backing of the New South Wales Trades and Labor Council, the Boxers' and Wrestlers' Association is seeking registration as a trade union. A joint deputation from the council and the association is urging the New South Wales government to put the sports under state control.

Association members G. Storey and A. Blatch raised the following points in support of their requests:

Domination of the sports in New South Wales by promoters. Favored position of a handful of trainers who, it is alleged, are able to get fights for their "boys" and so get a monopoly of good fighters.

Inadequate medical inspectors and inefficient inspection of gloves, bandages, rings, etc. Anomalies over championships. Mr. Blatch former lightweight champion, said medical inspections before some fights were "less than cursory." "In America, it is vastly different," he said. "Before I fought Henry Armstrong at Madison Square Garden, I had to have a thorough medical examination. They gave me every possible test for everything from ingrown toenails to high altitude flying."

In tennis, major interest will be the Davis Cup matches to be played in Melbourne in December, and seating capacity at the courts is being enlarged to permit of record crowds. America and Australia are expected to fight out the final. Experts such

MISS MERCER HONORED

Sincere Tribute Paid at Parent-Teachers' Association Gathering

At an informal dinner gathering last evening in the Bosc Cafe members of the executive of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association paid tribute to the sterling worth and great contribution to the organization and the community of the original members of the local association, Miss E. A. Mercer, who is retiring from the teaching profession.

On behalf of the association, Mrs. President C. H. Insulander, in the absence of the president, expressed the great regret of the members in the loss they would sustain by Miss Mercer's leaving the city.

Mrs. George A. Hill spoke of the high regard and affection which the parents and the children held the guest of honor for many years of service had been a great contribution to the community.

Mrs. E. M. Roper told how it was with the greatest regret that she had received Miss Mercer's resignation. The fact truly realized what a loss to the teaching staff of the city her departure would be.

J. S. Wilson spoke of the long years of association as a teacher and as a member of the Parent-Teachers' Association he had had with Miss Mercer, her high standards of service and leadership had been a great inspiration to all teachers no less than the parents and children.

In reply Miss Mercer said that she was with very sincere regret that she was leaving the city. She had made very many, very happy friendships while here. She would miss the children more than anyone else however. They were fine youngsters, even if they were somewhat troublesome at times. She would always treasure the memories of her happy times here. The presentation of a corsage was a delightful thought on the part of the association while the nugget given in honor of Miss Mercer would always stir up happy recollections of the people of the city.

Welsh place-cards for the occasion, made by Mrs. G. A. Hill, were a notable souvenir of the evening.

The meeting broke up with the singing of "She's a jolly good fellow" and evidently the singing meant it.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Insulander, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. C. O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beck, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rothwell, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cheeseman, Mrs. R. G. Large, Mrs. T. N. Youngs, Mrs. E. M. Roper, Mrs. J. C. Gilker, Miss Moxley, Miss Collins, Miss E. Gibson and J. S. Wilson.

A Sunday treat for a onesome is a steak, succulent and juicy and done just to your liking. The less tempting end piece is marked for Monday's use. Minced and mixed with chopped chives for flavour and colour, it can be combined with seasoned mashed potato for a croquette of goodly portions. Baking it is a means of conserving your fat supplies. And your favourite sauce or relish will give it a fillip. A cheese rarebit is a tasty protein provider for meatless Tuesday. It can go atop toast made from the stale bread which none must waste. Fresh asparagus would be a timely co-partner. Sausages answer the call for a quickly prepared meal on Wednesday. Thursday's lamb chop can be accompanied by a tomato slice, unrationed kidney, and a sausage saved from Wednesday's purchase for a mixed grill par excellence. A fish loaf is billed hot for Friday and cold for Saturday when it can be served with a generous toss of spring salad greens. The remaining three tokens represent the portion of your week's ration which you can spare to share with the hungry overseas.

ORANGE LADIES OBSERVE 24TH ANNIVERSARY

Prince Rupert Lodge, Orange Benevolence Association, will celebrate its twenty-fourth birthday tonight with a banquet in the Commodore Cafe. Announcement of the banquet was made at a meeting of the lodge in the Oddfellows' Hall last night. The meeting held its regular session after the members had visited a meeting of the Orange Juveniles held prior to the ladies' lodge session.

Mrs. George Howe, who has been newly elected Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Mistress for British Columbia, was received by Worshipful Mistress Mrs. Frank Ellison, and congratulated by the members. Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. M. Harron and Mrs. E. C. Grey, both past mistresses of Derry Lodge, Vancouver, and Mrs. F. Middleton, a member of Britannia Lodge, Victoria.

Business of the session included the reading of the Grand Lodge report by Mrs. Ellison. Mrs. J. R. Carr was congratulated on her ability as a pianist.

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

Substantial Salads Are In Order These Fine Days

SUBSTANTIAL SALADS—The word salad is said to come from the Latin word "sal" meaning salt, and so means something salted. During the early times the poor people dipped their cochorium or chickory, their lactuca or lettuce in salt and ate it. The poor people of all countries were first to use greens in salads, the rich disdaining them because of their low cost and common use. Doctors admonished those who ate salads "to be mindful of the duty of mastication." Greens were believed to be indigestible and harmful if not prescribed by the doctor or if their evils were not lessened by cooking.

Since these early times ideas have changed a great deal regarding salads. They are welcome addition to meals all the year round but in summer they are, if possible, even more appreciated. A lover of salads does not need recipes to prepare them and there are probably a great number of combinations that have not yet been tried. Some vegetables, if their colors clash together may still be used in a salad by an ingenious arrangement of greens and other vegetables. Everyone should take advantage of the plentiful supply of greens and other vegetables at this time of year and serve these good foods just as often as possible.

The main course for lunch or supper may well be a substantial salad made of raw or cooked vegetables or even both, with a little fish, cooked meat or hard-cooked eggs. In summer the refrigerator usually contains all the raw ingredients needed for such salads but tucked away in it may also be small amounts of cooked vegetables. These, combined with the raw vegetables will not only contribute to make a very good salad but also will prevent wasting even a very little bit of precious food.

Plastic Furniture For Luxury Planes

LONDON. (AP)—Nylon, used for the first time in aircraft furnishing, is to cover the convertible seat-bunks of Britain's new Short Solent flying boats, 12 of which are being built for British Overseas Airways' Far East routes.

The Solent will be the last word in "Flying Hotel" luxury. Its passengers will be able to sleep in comfortable bunks, look out at the scene below from a promenade and have drinks at a bar while flying at nearly 200 miles an hour. There are electric razor plug-ins in the men's dressing room.

The women's dressing tables are to be made of plastoply, an immensely strong but light plastic used in aircraft for the first time.

POULTRY FOR ENGLAND AND BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Two shipments to England of 99 tons of dressed poultry, representing 78,000 live birds, have been made by the Queensland Poultry Farmers' Co-operative Society. This is equal to the average annual export from the whole of Australia over the past ten years and to two-thirds of the peak year's export in 1939-40.

DROUGHT IS ALLEVIATED

Light Showers to Heavy Rains Have Occurred on Canadian Prairies

WINNIPEG—Precipitation ranging from light showers to heavy rains have occurred over the prairie provinces during the past week, thereby alleviating at many points the serious crop condition due to previous drought, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Seeding in all sections is practically finished and seasonal rainfall and warm weather are now required to hasten crop growth. There are still several points in Manitoba and the open prairie region where a good steady rain is required immediately to ensure a normal crop.

Apart from isolated reports of outworn damage and weed growth no serious setbacks have been occasioned by other than weather conditions.

Cool weather prevailed in the Okanagan Valley with several heavy rains and strong winds. Some hail damage over a 40-mile square around Penticton is reported. The cherry crop is now estimated to be 35 per cent below last year, while apricots, peaches and pears promise one of the heaviest movements from the Okanagan territory. Apples should run around seven million boxes. Vegetable crops are only fair.

STRIKES CUT PRODUCTION

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Strikes in the coal, steel and car battery industries in New South Wales this year have caused a production loss of nearly $2,000,000, said Latham Withall, director of the Associated Chamber of Manufacturers, in a review of Australian production for the first quarter of the year.

A survey by the Advertising Research Foundation, that found 89% of the women and 81% of the men had read a local story in one newspaper, is ample proof of the drawing power of daily newspapers.

NAVAL CUSTOMS AND TRADITIONS No. 4

NIGHT ROUNDS: Although the great Nelson officially died at the battle of Trafalgar, many customs of today's Navy teach Jack Tar that Nelson's spirit lives on. "Night Rounds" are still being made with a huge brass candle lantern containing a single lone-some candle. For practical purposes, a powerful electric torch is also carried — but the Navy continues to cherish the glow of tradition which radiates from this 18th-Century lantern!

MAYOR PLAYS HOUSEBREAKER

PALMERSTON NORTH, N.Z. (AP)—Mayor A. E. Mansford of Palmerston North has turned housebreaker. Acting without permission he seized a government owned house and installed a homeless family in it, after personally breaking in.

The house, a 14-room building, had been vacated by the army over 12 months ago. Some time ago the mayor asked the government to turn it into four flats to relieve the acute housing shortage in the city, but got no satisfaction.

Then the police brought to him a family which had come to them in desperation as they could not get accommodation and faced the prospect of spending the night in the open.

The mayor sent an urgent telegram to Prime Minister Peter Fraser asking that the house be made available immediately. He waited until evening but got no reply. Going to the house, Mr. Mansford forced a window and admitted the homeless family which was waiting outside.

"The housing crisis in this city has reached a state where a

Find Centenarians Of Transvaal Farm

JOHANNESBURG, (AP)—The Bechuana natives—one man and one woman—living in the western Transvaal are both more than 100 years old according to a South African census office. The census officers calculate that the man is at least 125 years old, and his wife 108. The man is blind, but otherwise quite fit and his wife leads him about. They live with their youngest son, who is nearly 80 and a pensioner, on a farm near Potchefstroom. They saw the first white man and his wagons come into the South African interior.

As they have never applied for an old age pension, they recently had their first automobile ride when they were taken to town to get a pension of 10 shillings ($2.25) a month each.

In co-operation with the British Army the Oxford Times printed "The Advance Post," daily for British soldiers' manoeuvres, in addition to its own local daily paper.
