PRINCE RUPERT IS NAMED AS ONE OF SPYING OFFICERS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA COAST

Inquiry On Espionage Is Moving West

Ring Known to Have Existed—Interested in Queen Charlottes
OTTAWA—The espionage investigation may now go to British Columbia full scale, it was foreseen today by British Press.
The province will be combed as it is suspected a spy ring is known to have existed both on British Columbia and Marine coasts.
Special objectives for espionage activities are named as an agent on the Queen Charlotte Islands, supply depots at Prince Rupert, the Alaska Highway and movements.

NATION-WIDE STRIKE VOTE

C.I.O. Director Says They Will Have to Be Resorted to in Canada
SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. — A nation-wide strike vote is being held in all major unions affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.
A prophecy was made in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Tuesday night by the national director of the C.I.O. United Steelworkers in Canada—C. H. Millard. He told his labor audience that all locals of the United Steelworkers will be asked to vote on a strike vote to support the demand for wage increases and a forty-hour work week.
Mr. Millard declared that the unions can no longer deal with employers by proxy. He said: "I will ask the steel employer for wage increases direct."

Working For World Peace

French See Four Powers Influence As Solution—Main Not So Sure
PARIS — French officials expressed confidence that a stalemate among Russia, Britain and the United States in writing the European peace treaty can be broken by a four-power meeting of foreign ministers. The French appear to be banking on such a meeting to permit the scheduled opening of peace talks in Paris on April 4.
Authoritative British and American sources in London, however, see little hope of a compromise on the issues unless Russia modifies her peace settlement demands.

WOULD AID MIHALOVIC

WASHINGTON — The United States state department has requested Yugoslavia to permit United States Army personnel to study if the famous guerrilla leader, General Mihailovich, is brought to trial for treason. The United States note to Yugoslavia states that Mihailovich helped the Allied cause during the war and was instrumental in the liberation of many United States prisoners.

Bulletins

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS
TORONTO—Daylight saving will go into effect in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal April 28 at the same time as it starts in a number of states. Daylight saving is a matter for local decision. The Canadian government has made no statement as to reinstating it generally in the Dominion.

KILLED IN VANCOUVER
VANCOUVER—An unidentified man was killed when struck by a shunting train at the foot of Campbell Ave. this morning.

MOLOTOV "UNDERSTANDS"
TEHRAN—At a recent cocktail party in Moscow, Foreign Commissar Molotov slapped the Iranian foreign minister on the back and assured him that he (Molotov) knew more about world and Iranian problems than Mackenzie King of Canada who had come to the aid of Bevin of Great Britain. The incident was disclosed here.

DELAYED AT SKAGWAY
SKAGWAY—C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, on a voyage to Alaska, has been delayed here by a longshoremen's strike.

BLAME IS ADMITTED

NURNBERG — Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel testified today at the international war crimes tribunal that many orders issued under his name "represented deviations from existing international law" and that it was his duty "to take the responsibility for what I have done even if it has been done wrong."
The former chief of German high command, one of 22 leading Germans on trial as war criminals, told the tribunal: "I am grateful to have the opportunity here and before the German people to give an account of these things. For all officers subordinate to me I assume responsibility insofar as it is based on moral and legal principles."

PEACE RIVER MUST ASSURE BIG TRAFFIC

OTTAWA—Minister of Transport Chevrier told the House of Commons yesterday that building of a Pacific Coast railway outlet for the Peace River district would not be practicable until a million tons of traffic annually was assured.

TOOK PART IN NETWORK

OTTAWA — Edward Mazerall, "admitted" his part in what has been called the Russian network of agents in testimony before the Royal Commission on espionage, crown counsel disclosed today at Mazerall's preliminary hearing on charges of communicating secret information to Russia. The hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday.
Mazerall, aged 30, is a former National Research Council engineer. He faces charges under the Official Secrets Act.

City's Water Is Still Chlorinated

Chlorination of Prince Rupert's water supply is still continuing in spite of announcement by Ottawa two weeks ago that it would be discontinued by the army on March 31. No word was available here today as to when the wartime health safeguard would be stopped.

WAVE VICTIMS NOW NUMBER 93

Millions of Dollars Damage Involved in Submarine Disturbances

HILO, Hawaii — The death toll in the eastern Pacific's worst seismic wave disaster reached 165 today and a United States naval officer estimated that the loss of life in Hilo, chief target of the boiling seas, might total 300. At least 130 are dead or injured in the Hawaiian Islands. Damage from the tidal wave ran into millions of dollars. Ten thousand people are without shelter. A state of emergency has been declared and the army is patrolling.
The submarine earthquake sent giant swells fanning out from the North Pacific at 400 to 500 miles an hour early Monday. Reaches on Hawaii, the Aleutians and California were lashed by waves from 10 to 100 feet high. The waves apparently did not hit the British Columbia or Washington State coasts. For away Chile in South America felt the seismic waves.
The death toll is made up of 82 on the Hawaiian Islands, 10 at the Scotch Cape lighthouse at Unimak in the Aleutians and one in California. Many are missing in Hawaii.

LUNAN IS TO BE COMMITTED

Alleged Head of Russian Spy Ring in Canada Going to Higher Court

OTTAWA — The alleged head of one part of the Russian spy ring in the Dominion is due to be committed for trial this afternoon. He is Capt. David Lunan whose preliminary hearing will end today. Yesterday, Magistrate Strike told Capt. Lunan, one time member of the Canadian Information Service, that he is satisfied that a prima facie case for committal has been established.

DEFERS DECISION IN BOYER CASE

MONTREAL — Judge Rene Theberge yesterday postponed until next Monday his decision on whether or not he will order Dr. Raymond Boyer to make voluntary statements before his court. Boyer, former McGill university professor and member of the National Research Council staff, is charged under the Official Secrets Act with conspiracy and with communicating information to Russia.

NEW GLIDER FEAT MADE

Launched and Successfully Picked Up North of Arctic Circle

NORMAN WELLS, Northwest Territories—Royal Canadian Air Force officials believe they made aviation history over the weekend. That was when a glider was launched with supplies for the Muskox Expedition north of the Arctic Circle and then picked up successfully. Air Force officials believe this is the first time such a feat has been accomplished north of the Arctic Circle. The glider drop and pick-up was made to carry a complete engine and transmission to repair a snowmobile of the Muskox ground force during a stop-over at Coppermine.

CAMERON BILL SECOND READING

VICTORIA — A bill to amend the Public Schools Act along lines suggested by the Cameron educational report passed its second reading in the provincial legislature after a brief debate. Opposition Leader Harold Winch said that the bill was so confused as to call for rewriting of the whole act. He said that the present act contains 185 sections and that the bill to amend the act has 20 sections. Education Minister Weir said that the bill is one of the most important pieces of legislation ever presented before the provincial legislature.

Iran Agrees To Shelve Her Case With Russia If Soviet Withdraws Unconditionally By Sixth of May

ESCAPED GERMAN WAR PRISONERS HEAD BACK TO MONTEITH, ONT. — Nine escaped German prisoners of war had their apparent free-and-easy way of life ended when they were put on board a train for the civilian internment camp at Monteith, Ont., under heavy guard from the Canadian Provost Corps. Four of the prisoners were apprehended in a bootlegger's house in Cooksville, Ont., and five others arrested in Toronto, Ont., while heading for a dance. Photo shows some of the prisoners on the train. All of the prisoners were merchant seamen and in Canada for four years. R.C.M.P. are conducting a probe into their social activities. Some of the prisoners are reported to have taken trips without being detected.

May Prove Solution of Crisis

Security Council Adjourns Until Tomorrow—Room For Optimism

NEW YORK (CP)—Iran offered today to let the United Nations security council shelve the Iran case temporarily providing Russia will give assurances that Russian troops will be withdrawn from Iran unconditionally by May 6. The council, having received last-minute replies from both Russia and Iran to its inquiries of last Friday on the state of negotiations between them, then adjourned until tomorrow.

Russia said her troops withdrawals from Iran were not conditional on other negotiations with Iran over such matters as oil and the like. Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko told the council that Red Army troops will be out of Iran within a month and a half.

Gromyko continued his boycott of the Iranian discussion by not actually attending the meeting.

Iran advised the council that negotiations had failed, that Russian interference in Iranian affairs had continued, that Russia had made demands parallel with her troops withdrawals but that, above all, Iran wanted a peaceful, friendly settlement of the situation.

Iran's offer to shelve the case temporarily was possibly the break that everybody had been working for.

There were no immediate optimistic predictions but, as the session broke up, the atmosphere seemed to be distinctly hopeful. There is room for optimism in dispatches from Iran saying that Red Army troops are speeding their departure from that country.

In a last-minute conference, American Secretary of State James F. Byrnes met last night in New York with Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the security council.

HOMMA IS EXECUTED

Japanese General Falls Before American Firing Squad

MANILA—Lieut. Gen. Homma, the Japanese military commander who ordered the death march of Bataan and condoned atrocities, was executed by an American firing squad yesterday.

CANADIAN COAL ORDERS LIFTED

OTTAWA—It was announced this week in Ottawa that 18 coal orders have been lifted. The most important orders to be cancelled, as far as the household is concerned, are those requiring residents of Ontario, Quebec and the maritime provinces, to take part of their deliveries in substitute coal. Dealers may now guarantee future delivery of coal or coke at the prevailing price.

WHAT NATIONAL HARBORS SPEND

"When the federal government, and don't forget it is we the taxpayers, who are footing the bill, has such a stake in other harbors, is it surprising that nothing is done to develop or encourage traffic through Prince Rupert?" asked A. D. Ritchie in advocating inclusion of Prince Rupert under the National Harbor Board aegis at Monday night's meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. "I say we will never get anywhere until we too come under the National Harbor Board."

Cocktails Are Approved

Ontario Legislature Puts Measure Through, Protests Notwithstanding

TORONTO — The Ontario Legislature has given the "go-ahead" to the Drew government's new liquor bill. The bill, which would permit cocktail lounges on a limited scale, has drawn sharp protest from temperance forces who yesterday staged a demonstration in Queen's Park itself.

Fifteen hundred persons paraded to the Parliament Buildings, singing such hymns as "Fight the Good Fight" and "Onward Christian Soldiers." At Queen's Park, they demanded "Bring out the Premier!"

Meanwhile within the House a Liberal amendment which would have deferred consideration of the bill was defeated 61 to 29 while the bill itself was given second reading by similar margin.

AURICH TRIAL IS UNDER WAY

AURICH, Germany—The trial of three former members of the German Army for killing an unknown Canadian airman was resumed yesterday before a Royal Canadian Air Force War Crimes court. The accused are Robert Holger, Wilhelm Ossenback and Walter Weigal.

The prosecution will attempt to prove that the former German soldiers in March, 1945, took a wounded flier, who had parachuted from his aircraft, to a forest and shot him.

Josef Caspers, former German soldier and sole witness in the war crimes trial of three former German soldiers, testified today that he was present at Nazi headquarters at Opladen in the Ruhr when three R.C.A.F. prisoners were taken away singly and shot.

Olof Hanson, president of the Hanson Timber & Lumber Co., travelled from Smithers to Terrace on yesterday's train.

Peace River Outlet

There was a brief little dispatch that just made the Daily News headline yesterday which was of utmost importance to this Pacific Coast port. It was that which said the House of Commons at Ottawa had recommended that serious consideration be given to the construction of a Pacific Coast outlet for the Peace River country.

The resolution was, evidently, non-committal but it brings out into the open once more, now with Parliamentary support behind the principle, the whole matter of a Pacific Coast outlet for that vast northern Empire of the Canadian northwest. It has the effect of once again authorizing the government to take immediate steps looking to the execution of a project which we in these parts have long agitated for. It is the signal for us here in Prince Rupert to get very busy once again in the campaign to make this place, beyond question the most strategically advantageous, the outlet for the Peace River country which Parliament, by its resolution, concedes a project warranting attention from a national standpoint.

It is, indeed, a very important resolution and of vitally significant importance to Prince Rupert.

Future of Dry Dock

In the lean days before war brought unprecedented shipbuilding activity to the local dry dock, we were protesting at the manager of the yard being moved away to Vancouver and the plant's activities and affairs being directed to remote control from there. Now the transfer of Manager Bernard Allen from the dry dock to Vancouver as assistant general superintendent of Canadian National Railways for British Columbia suggests another similar situation developing as the yard, apparently, slips back again into the old state of inactivity.

Possibly, as is being suggested by some hopeful officials, there may still be intention of building at least one of the Canadian National's new coastal vessels at the local plant. We hope so but, if this is the way they go about it, it is a new way of preparing.

Or as we are beginning to fear, is it the deliberate intention to abandon the yard as far as any semblance of permanent use is concerned?

Something to Think About

It is a long article from Mr. Harvey which we present today in our "What Prince Rupert Needs" series. It is a rather blunt one, too. It says some things that might be a little distasteful for us to take. Nevertheless, we consider Mr. Harvey's contribution one of much interest.

The letter and the vein around which it centres—that Prince Rupert people want other people to do things for them when they are loath to take a chance themselves—is worthy of consideration of us all, particularly those who may have a little to invest. There is, no doubt, a lot of truth to it. But the argument which Mr. Harvey pursues, however, can be carried just so far. He is quite right that Prince Rupert people, who clamor for development, payrolls and the like, should be willing and anxious to put in their own stake. However, they must also be always alive to the importance of inducing others to come here to invest and to assist and augment the resources of those who are already here. It is fair, too, to concede that those who do come here and invest should receive their modicum of the returns in proportion to the measure of their investment.

True there are some Prince Rupert people who may have little in the way of cash to invest—but their talents and their services also might be considered an investment which is entitled to fair measure of return.

We may not agree with all that Mr. Harvey says but he gives us something to think about whether we like it or not.

WHAT

Prince Rupert Needs

(Being one of a series of suggestions by readers of the Daily News for the betterment of this city.)

What Prince Rupert needs today is more producers and fewer talkers; fewer boards of trade and more boards of directors of local enterprises; more development and less exploitation; more local profits reinvested locally instead of being drained away to provide payrolls for other places.

After 40 years, the pattern of Prince Rupert has become very plain. So, just examine and analyze the condition of Prince Rupert. Let's take a look, and we find that Prince Rupert people, other than our fishermen, are all non-producers. They obtain their livelihood by adding to the cost of other people's production but produce nothing themselves. Here are six questions to ask yourself:

What do Prince Rupert people produce?

What do Prince Rupert people create?

What do Prince Rupert people do to add to the wealth of British Columbia and of Canada?

What have Prince Rupert people got of their own to sell to the rest of Canada?

What goods originate in Prince Rupert to justify a better train service or to bring in even one little tramp steamer?

What have Prince Rupert people ever done to help themselves?

The answer to all these questions is the same—nothing!

This is the disagreeable fact which Prince Rupert people refuse to face or even admit. But the fact remains!

History

Up until 1914, Prince Rupert people lived off the wages of construction work: railway construction, dry dock construction, etc., all capital expenditures (somebody else's capital!). From 1914 until this last war, Prince Rupert people have lived off (not on) fish. They have lived off the operating expenses, chiefly wages, paid by people from other parts of Canada in the fish business. With the exception of the late John Dybbavn's firm and Jim Bacon, and more recently, the Fishermen's Co-op, Prince Rupert's fish industry has been developed by people from elsewhere and to them have accrued the profits. But these are not Prince Rupert people.

Incorporated in 1910, the City of Prince Rupert's first generation has largely disappeared and, with very few exceptions, they have been unable to leave jobs for their families to enable the city to benefit from its natural increase. Today, former students of Prince Rupert's High School are scattered all over this continent for the one reason that the City of Prince Rupert could not afford them a livelihood for which their schooling qualified them.

To provide a livelihood for its own people, every city requires to produce something in expanding quantities, to possess some industry which will grow to take care of the natural increase of its people. But in Prince Rupert is there one single small producer—one single small industry capable of expansion, financed and operated by Prince Rupert people? Just name one, if you can!

So, we see that Prince Rupert people, apart from its fishermen, are NOT producers. They are sellers of goods produced elsewhere. They will sell you anything—at a price! And usually at a price too high. With them, the ceiling becomes the floor. Prince Rupert and Vancouver have the same terminal freight rates but the difference between the published prices in Vancouver and in Prince Rupert is instructive. But Prince Rupert people do not sell anything produced in Prince Rupert. They would rather eat Atlantic finnan haddie than local black cod. Of course, the finnan haddie is cheaper, too. All they have to sell of local origin is their indifferent services which cannot be exported and which does not add to the wealth of Canada. They let the other man elsewhere do the producing and make their profit out of him.

Make a Stake And Get Out

Forty years ago, Vancouver was a sick-looking town, a little town calling itself a city. Prince Rupert's recent history was preceded by that of Vancouver. In both cities during the period of railway construction, the merchants grew fat. In both places when construction ceased, after the construction men and the boomers moved on, business languished. But, and here is the difference, Vancouver merchants re-invested their fat profits in what was in their hands, which happened to be largely lumber. They stayed by the place which had given them such fat profits, and reaped more profits! In Prince Rupert the story is slightly different. The fat profits of its merchants are NOT re-invested in the place they were made. Prince Rupert merchants, when they have made their pile, pack up their swag and leave for other places. Vancouver merchants themselves helped to develop the natural resources of their district. Prince Rupert people leave this important function to people from other places. And when such people are reluctant to do the very same thing that the Prince Rupert people won't themselves do, these same Prince Rupert people howl to High Heaven! But still produce nothing!

Wage Earners Do The Same

This same phenomenon is to be observed among the wage earners. Those who have worked in Prince Rupert until retirement age seldom remain to pay city taxes in return for their easy living during their working years. They sell their property, if they have any, and depart for other climes. Those who remain from choice are few indeed, even if they do have the price to get out. And this is not to be taken as criticism, but simply as a matter of record. Just cast your memory back! Just look around for the retired Prince Rupert people. You won't see them, for they are mostly paying taxes and living elsewhere.

Makes Payrolls Elsewhere

Prince Rupert's population has remained in equilibrium at about 7,000 during the years since the G.T.P. construction ceased in 1914. Employment is available for just so many people, and no more. If one man goes, another comes. Prince Rupert people still produce nothing. No new industry has started. There has been no development or expansion of even new methods of preparation in the fish industry. With the whole world crying out for food, the fish companies still decline to handle the immense tonnage of cod available. Instead of taking all the fish the fishermen catch, they buy only the much over-rated halibut and salmon. In the midst of a cedar country, Prince Rupert people still prefer to buy shingles made elsewhere rather than make shingles themselves to sell elsewhere. They buy lumber (when they can get it) from other places rather than cut it for themselves. In fact, they prefer to buy everything made in other places, for they produce absolutely nothing for themselves. These same people are those who so earnestly desire to see a bigger and more diversified payroll in Prince Rupert while, at the same time they are making payrolls for some other place.

Even in the fishing industry, Prince Rupert has no big schooners capable of competing with the Seattle boats on the Western banks. These cost money, but unlike Vancouver's pioneer merchants, Prince Rupert's people do not re-invest their profits in that which lies to their hands—in the natural resources of their district.

The simple fact is that it is high time that Prince Rupert people did something for themselves. They have the money. But of course, the idea of making a stake and then getting out will prevent them doing anything. Keeping taxes down is more important to them than making Prince Rupert a better place to live in. Ever since 1910, there has been a lot of loose talk about the wonderful natural resources of this northern country. Whatever these natural resources may consist of, Prince Rupert people have made no use of them. In fact, for Prince Rupert people, these wonderful natural resources don't exist, unless in the imagination of newspapermen who are so good at repeating tall stories. In any case, if they do exist, Prince Rupert people ignore them, unless for boasting about.

Let George Do It!

For forty years, Prince Rupert people have made no effort to consolidate its immediate district, by getting a road through to the canneries on the Skeena, and bringing its large business to town. They would rather dream dreams about some huge tourist business of the future with its easy money, over gravel road through an empty country, than be realists and use that which lies to their hands. And if tourists come even once, attracted by our scenery, once will be all, for they will judge their trip by its comfort and there is abso-

RIBBENTROP JEW BAITER

Admits It Before Nuernberg Court—Rebuked Mussolini

NUERNBERG — Joachim von Ribbentrop angrily admitted before the international military tribunal Tuesday he had upbraided Benito Mussolini because of Italian mercy to Jews in southern occupied France. Earlier he testified that his German foreign office had always sought to soften the Nazi anti-Semitic measures in Germany.

Confronted with captured German documents which depicted him in the role of special anti-Semitic envoy to foreign governments the former German foreign minister conceded that the documents were substantially correct.

lutely nothing in this whole north country to take care of any, even a small volume of tourist traffic. No hotels, no plumbing, no baths and certainly no comfort, as anyone who has had the misfortune to travel in the interior will agree. Are Prince Rupert people who so want this tourist traffic, not interested in hotels? Of course, if someone else puts up the money and does the business! It's the same old attitude. Let someone else do it! A City Under a Curse!

Sir George E. Foster, the Tory chieftain, once had the courage to refer to Liberal Prince Rupert as "The City under a Curse." At the time, Sir George was only partly right, for the curse had been partly lifted before he discovered it. But today, the City of Prince Rupert is as much under a curse as ever it was. And the curse of today is "Absentee Ownership." Just look—the Dry Dock Company, the Railway Company, the Steamship Companies, the Fish packing Companies, Oil Companies, Cold Storage Companies, Banking Companies, Power Company, Theatre Company.

Every one of these are branches with headquarters elsewhere, owned by people elsewhere, who get the profits. And the local representatives of these out of town companies are so able in influencing and vociferous in our local Boards of Trade! These representatives may change from time to time but their influence remains the same and that influence has not been unfelt even on former City Councils. These people, no matter how estimable they be, are interested in Prince Rupert's progress only to the extent of being able to send profits to their head offices elsewhere. And if they do not find being in Prince Rupert profitable, they do not remain here. But, these are not Prince Rupert people. Our Boards of Trade might well consider separately.

Argentina Honors Roosevelt Memory

Buenos Aires—The Argentine government is going to honor the late President Roosevelt on the anniversary of his death. Argentina has authorized issuance of a five-centavo commemorative stamp bearing a picture of the late President of the United States. The stamp will be issued on April 12, the anniversary of Roosevelt's death.

Could Be Shipping Food Through Here

J. T. Harvey referred at the meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce Monday night to a statement which had been made in UNRRA quarters that the problem of moving food to a starving world was not so much in shipping space but in port congestion. It seemed to him that there must be something wrong when the elevator here was idle under such conditions. The fact that the plant here was available should be made widely known.

HOW CAN I ???
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I renew old jar lids?
A. Boil in a solution of borax and ivory soap, using three table-spoonfuls of borax and one-third cake of soap to about two gallons of water. Put in just enough lids at a time to be well covered by the water. Boil for thirty minutes, then rinse well with hot water.

Q. How can I drive rats away?
A. Sprinkle a liberal quantity of chloride of lime in the garage, cellar, or other haunts, and the rats will not bother.

Q. How can I clean a leather article?
A. Make a lather of castile soap and cold water. Apply it, and when dry, polish with a soft woolen cloth.

These representatives of foreign interests into a separate Chamber by themselves for these foreigners would certainly not encourage any enterprise by Prince Rupert people in opposition to themselves.

Month Can Be Done And there is so much that the people of Prince Rupert might do for themselves, which no one else can do, for them.

Prince Rupert is a seaport. It is the centre of a wide district—or is it only kidding itself it is a centre? For a beginning Prince Rupert people could supply proper facilities for the residents of the surrounding areas to encourage them to visit Prince Rupert proper. It could develop a municipal wharf or floats where goods of various kinds could be assembled loaded under cover in wet weather. For after 40 years experience with weather conditions there is not a single spot of waterfront where a sack of flour can be loaded dry on a day.

For 40 years, Prince Rupert has not yet provided waterfront facilities for the up of our fishermen's boats for the winter. The result is that boats after boat has gone to the bottom to make its head-quarters there. But it is not only the fishing vessel itself that goes, but the skipper and crew as well, and their wives and families. To take advantage of the Rupert's sleepiness, Vancouver is now spending $1,500,000 to take care of this overflow of Prince Rupert. And always remember that these fishermen are producers!

They could—but what's the use? These things would cost money and, if money is spent on these things, then there won't be much for our people to take care of elsewhere. There are a thousand different things which might be done to make Prince Rupert a better place to live in, a better place to visit, a better place to spend old age in. Each details do not come within the scope of the subject, but they all add up in the end.

pression "Local Enterprise" in which Prince Rupert people have been sadly lacking, to cure which we have an Industrial Development Committee, which, so far, has developed nothing but briefs to the government.

Produce—In God's Name!
Month after month as we listen to the loquacity of some and the masterly silence of other members of the local business community, the writer remembers a jingle of former years which runs "It's not the man who knows the most who has the most to say" and these great talkers in Prince Rupert might with great benefit do a little reading for a change.

From its very title "Self Help" by the late Dr. Samuel Smiles is indicated. The previous generation who made Canada, were nourishing on Carlyle's philosophy, summed up in his own words—"Produce, produce! Were it but the pitifullest, infinitesimal fraction of a product—produce it, in God's name!"

A statistician recently calculated that it takes a capital investment of $6 000 to finance one single job which may or may not be correct. But his figure gives an idea of the investment required. Prince Rupert people have the money. Surely, they have enough brains to put that money to work—for themselves! For his own sake every farmer knows he has to fertilize his land—to replace what he has taken out. Even Prince Rupert people scorn those who don't. But to see people who have consistently exploited this district, taken everything they could out and put nothing back, Prince Rupert people need only look in the mirror.

Until Prince Rupert people get busy and do something for themselves to develop these "wonderful resources of this northern country" of which we hear so much at election times, there is every likelihood that Prince Rupert will remain an overgrown village of 7,000 people. So long as Prince Rupert people sit crying for the moon, for the government to do something, for the dry dock to do something, for the railway company to do something, for everybody else to do something, while they themselves produce nothing and do nothing except talk, there is nothing else for our unemployed and for our growing sons and daughters but to seek a living elsewhere. And for those who have jobs, to continue living—off fish! It's an easy living.

I have a few dollars. So has every other one of the 2000 wage earners in Prince Rupert but we never have had an opportunity of investing our mite in developing local resources. Yet there is every facility for gambling in mining stocks. I would much rather gamble on a local man in some local enterprise. Even if it were unsuccessful financially, I would have had a better run for my money. We would have tried to do something anyway.

Today's conditions constitute a challenge to Prince Rupert's "Free Enterprise" business community. They will either accept this challenge and do something for their community and themselves, or the Co-op will soon be doing what they refuse to. And more power to it, if it does!
D. J. HARVEY.

NEW COMPANY WILL LOG AT KUMEALON LAKE
Local Partners Form New Operating Concern—Take Over Ketchum Operation
Incorporation proceedings for the Kumealon Logging Co. Ltd., which will operate in a limit containing 12,000,000 board feet of mixed timber on Kumealon Lake, 35 miles southeast of Prince Rupert, were filed yesterday. The company, made up of five partners, is incorporating at $20,000.

Partners in the firm are John Mulrone, well known union business agent, P. Z. Gagne, N. E. Thomas, J. N. McLeod and N. S. Campbell, who purchased the timber limit from the government forestry branch on Monday. They have also purchased the camp and equipment of C. C. Ketchum, who operated a logging outfit on Kumealon Inlet until his death two months ago. Operations on the timber claim are expected to begin before July 1. Fourteen men left today on the tug Shippen to begin the initial work.

Consisting of an estimated 5,000,000 board feet of spruce, 4,500,000 feet of hemlock and 1,000,000 feet each of cedar and balsam, the timber claim borders Kumealon Lake, and averages about two miles from tide-water. While initial logging will be done by the high-lead method it is planned to make it eventually a "truck show." The ground is level throughout, and suitable for truck logging.

The partners estimate that the operation should employ between 20 and 25 men when in full production.

Q. What is the correct method of extending an invitation over the telephone?
A. The principle thing to remember is that the invitation given over the phone must be as correct and gracious as the written invitation.
Q. Is it correct for a person to use his fingers when eating an orange at the table?
A. Yes; peel the orange, then pull it apart with the fingers.
