WASTING GOOD PAPER

THROUGHOUT CANADA recently there has been a wave of editorial and civic indignation concerning the sale of suggestive or outrightly obscene literature and comics, some domestic and some imported. Following complaints from Toronto's Board of Control, several vendors volunteered to clean up their stands. In Vancouver the News-Herald made a survey and reported that "the salacious literature that fouls many of Vancouver's newsstands is a home product printed in Canada." In Riverside. Ont., certain comic books were recently banned as "too filthy for child reading."

Much more space than is available here would be required for an analysis of the situation. This much, however, seems indisputable: literature, pictures and comics of debatable standards are polluting Canadian book and newsstands.

For the sake of our youngsters and subnormal adult readers who are incapable of making wise selections in reading entertainment, the control of such matter should be at all times under surveillance. At this particular time, when paper is in short supply, there is even greater need for watchfulness on the part of authorities.

If imported printing fails to measure up to moral standards it is subject to seizure at the border. This leaves the domestic product with greater opportunity for unbridled circulation.

Commerce, education, culture and recreation are placing unprecedented demands on legitimate printing and paper is hard to get. No paper should be used in production of that which is palpably degenerating.

AIRPARK PROGRESS

AIR-MINDED CITIZENS of Great-A er Victoria will be gratified by the announcement that the city's offer of $20,000 for the former naval property at Gordon Head is acceptable to War Assets Corporation and that final arrangements are being made by the council to purchase the land. It requires little stretch of the imagination to see the value that such a holding will assume as civilians turn more and more to private aviation as a means of business and pleasure transport. Nor will its worth in the development of private flying in this community be underestimated.

The case for the property's improvement as a memorial park has been widely circulated in Greater Victoria. The sentiment expressed will command wide interest. It will not, however, enjoy unanimous approval. Nevertheless it must be remembered by those with special interest objections that Victoria's participation in the activities of the expanding air age must be seen in clear perspective. It is unnecessary to ask them where the community would have been if successful opposition had been raised to the development of harbor installations or train facilities.

Residents of the community will find a secondary interest in the question of expansion and maintenance.

SERVICE CLUBS

DOTARY, GYRO AND KINSMEN A service clubs are well established in this city. Their ideals of community service are being constantly put into practice to the benefit of all citizens and more especially to youth. Service clubs do not conflict with but supplement the functions of fraternal orders and the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce.

George Bernard Shaw, with his customary wit, when asked many years ago where Rotary was going, replied: "to lunch." The members of service organizations, however, do much more than go to lunch and hear addresses. They initiate affairs that would otherwise be left undone. The fruits of their good works are in evidence in various worthwhile ways. They accept the "ideal of service" as the basis of their reason for existing as an organization.

In the initiation of good community works they give leadership that inspire others to assist them. In the fulfillment of their ideals they derive much happiness which is their reward.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King recently stated: "Throughout the growth of our country the newspapers of Canada have made an immense contribution towards an informed understanding of both national and world affairs."

During his recent nation-wide tour of Canada, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery held up the democratic press as a shining example of what his troops had fought to preserve.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PRINCE RUPERT Who Suffer With Their Feet

You will be interested to know that there is a man in town who has had a wide experience in the correction of fallen arches, and can make Arch Supports that will relieve that painful and tired feeling that only foot sufferers can explain.

Mr. Bill Terry, with many years of study of foot ailments, is at Hill's Shoe Stort, and will be pleased to take an impression of your feet and let you know what can be done in your individual case.

Mr. Bill Terry is also in charge of the Shoe Repairing Dept. where your repairs are executed neatly and promptly. Call around and see him for either reason.

> At last it's happened-horse and rider in a steeplechase have finished their adventure together-perched 2top a fence, rocking horse fashion. Wellbacked to win the Grand Sefton 'chase at Liverpool, Ian Alder wast last seen as he approached the open ditch after passing the stands the first time. His effort at a leap landed him with his forelegs over the fence and hina legs in the rear. His jockey kept his seat as the horse fell astride the obstacle. The pair remained in that position a moment; then the rider climbed off and walked along the top of the fence while park attendants dragged the animal to firm ground.

All is not well on the professnial snooker front. Alex Brown, who began pro sport as a motorcycle speedway rider, and turned to the cue game, is sore at the way things are developing since Joe Davis announced his retirement a couple of months ago. Alex, rated by some experts a few years ago as the world's No. 2 snooker player, isn't included in a four-player roundrobin tournament to decide a succesor for Davis and has thrown out a $400 challenge to the winner. The four in the W. Peterson tournament are Horace Lindrum. Duncan Macdonald, Jack Smith and Fred Davis, Joe's brother.

CHEESE VALUABLE - Cheese one of our most valuable foods and should have a prominent place in meals of both adults and children. It contains nearly all the proteins of milk, which are body-builders; a large percentage of fat which makes lit a valuable source of energy; a good supply of minerals, all of which are essential to good health. Since it requires approximately 11 pounds or a little more than one gallon of milk to make one pound of cheese, about four cunces of cheese is equivalent to one quart of milk in total caloric value. So if desired cheese can take the place of part of the daily milk requirement.
