Starving Wrangell Looks To Prince Rupert for Salvation

WRANGELL (Special to Daily News)—Lew M. Williams, acting governor of Alaska, told the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce yesterday that a barge or auxiliary service operating between Prince Rupert and southeastern Alaska ports would be the finest thing that could happen for the territory of Alaska. This statement lends strength to the widespread belief that the transportation set-up will be revised before next session of the legislature in January when it is expected that territorial subsidies will be requested for the operation of a car barge between Prince Rupert and Haines which would serve intermediate points of southeastern Alaska. Members of the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce, who like the rest of the people of southeastern Alaska are fed up with the present situation with the current shipping strike emphasizing necessity of the use of Prince Rupert as an Alaska supply point, cited a fifty percent increase in wharfage rates at Seattle and a probable freight increase as further reasons for full utilization of Prince Rupert. It was urged that reciprocity arrangements be made between United States and Canada to permit of the purchase of meat and other commodities which are at present on the embargo list. A survey is being made of the probable tonnage which the Briggs Steamship Co., proposing to establish a line from Prince Rupert to Southeastern Alaska, can expect from local merchants. Briggs' power barges would be 105 feet long, carrying about 250 tons. Additional craft would be put in service as conditions warrant. A Wrangell dairy has slaughtered two-thirds of its herd on account of feed shortage. The owner, Ivor Nore, attempted to obtain hay from Watson's store in Smithers but, unless the hay arrives within the next week, Nore will be forced to butcher the balance of the herd. There is a critical shortage of all supplies, especially medicine.

Little Theatre May Broadcast

Plans for play production were considered by a meeting of the Prince Rupert Little Theatre executive last night at the Civic Centre. Interest in radio production was developed. A full report of the evening's proceedings will be given to the assembly at the Wednesday night general meeting when C. H. Insulander's offer of radio broadcast time will be discussed and a selection of plays due to arrive from the B.C. Drama League will be on hand for consideration.

LEAFS AND CANADIENS

Leadership of National Hockey League at Stake This Evening
TORONTO—Leadership of the National Hockey League standing will be at stake tonight when the Montreal Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs meet in Maple Leaf Gardens. The margin of leadership of the Maple Leafs over the Canadiens in the standing is now but half a game. In the second game scheduled for tonight Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers will meet at Madison Square Gardens. The Sunday night schedule is as follows: Canadiens at Boston; Toronto at New York; Chicago at Detroit.

WILL CHANGE FOREST LAWS

Drastic Proposals to Be Made At Next Session of House, Victoria Hears
VICTORIA — The provincial Legislature, when it meets again early next year, will hear proposals for sweeping changes in the statutes relating to British Columbia forests, it was learned yesterday. It is believed the new measures will be directed toward placing the entire industry on a sustained yield basis, embracing provisions to ensure reforestation of logged-off lands and regulation of logging methods to prevent destructive exploitation.

WARNING OF INCIDENTS

Important Buildings in Palestine Mined—Trains May Be Blown Up
JERUSALEM — The Jewish English-language newspaper Palestine Post yesterday received a warning from a "telephone terrorist" saying that Government commissioner, the Palestine Broadcasting House, residence of Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, High Commission Service building and offices of the district commissioner had been mined. Meanwhile Arabs and Jews warned against using Palestine railways in leaflets pasted to house walls and lamp posts here. They warned that passenger and freight trains as well as troop trains might be blown up by mines. Following a series of railroad explosions, trains are now being heavily guarded.

PUT IT UP TO PEOPLE

OTTAWA—It is up to the Canadian people to decide whether they want price and rent controls retained, Donald Gordon, chairman of the Prices and Trade Board, said last night. Controls, if they were to succeed, must have public support. The government's policy could only be carried out if the people supported it. If Canadians wanted decontrol they must be prepared to accept considerably higher prices of necessities and "chaos in the field of shelter." Mr. Gordon suggested that Canadians watch the course of decontrol in the United States, the full results of which should soon be apparent. Gross total of the Canadian Legion Poppy Day fund has risen to $629.31. Canadian Legion secretary P. M. Ray announced today. Latest contributions, totaling $26.40, have come from Canadian Fishing Co. at Bute-dale and B.C. Packers at Bella Bella. Returns have not yet been received from Port Simpson and several Queen Charlotte Islands points.

NO DEVELOPMENTS
OTTAWA—There are "no developments" in connection with disposal of former United States Army waterfront installations at Prince Rupert, said a War Assets Corporation spokesman here yesterday.

AIR LINES STRIKE ENDED
WASHINGTON—The Trans-World Airlines pilots' strike—United States' first major walk-out of commercial fliers—ended yesterday with agreement to submit the dispute over pay and working rules to arbitration. TWA said it expects to put its first planes back into the air today with transcontinental flights starting from both coasts. It might not be possible, however, to re-employ all former personnel.

SUSPEND VETO VOTE
NEW YORK—France proposed today that the United Nations political committee suspend debate on the controversial veto question to enable the five big powers to try to find a formula for voluntary modification of the veto's use.

"FANTASTIC" SITUATION
TORONTO — A spokesman for the Canadian Brewers' and Distillers' Association said yesterday that it was a "fantastic" situation where brewing and distilling was the only industry which was unable to present its case through newspaper and radio advertising.

COLD ON PLARIE
EDMONTON — The thermometer has dropped to 15 below zero at Prince Albert and 10 below at North Battleford, five below in Edmonton and zero at Calgary. Snowfall has been general with two inches on the ground here.

STILL SEARCHING
VANCOUVER — Search is continuing for a youth, Donald Russel, wanted in connection with the killing of Robert Teeporten in a North Shore lodge. He may have made off in a canoe which is missing.

WARRANT RULED OUT
VANCOUVER—Chief Justice W. B. Farris has overruled a warrant which called for a search of United Distillers Ltd. premises in connection with an alleged liquor exporting conspiracy.

TWO-INCH SNOW BLANKETS CITY

Prince Rupert slipped and skidded to work this morning on the season's first real snowfall—a two-inch blanket which fell overnight, inspiring a x n i o u s looks at the fuel pile by householders and jubilant whoops from youngsters who made ready for a week-end of skiing. An ardent Chamber of Commerce member dismissed the phenomenon as a "good example of the diversified weather" in Prince Rupert but admitted the hope that the diversity would not include heavy frost tonight. Installing tire chains is a nuisance, he grunted. However, this hope is, apparently, due for disappointment, because today's clear sky is expected to continue tonight and Sunday, with tonight's minimum temperature dropping to 25 degrees in the Prince Rupert area, according to the official forecast. This morning's wet and slippery streets were responsible for no traffic accidents as far as could be learned although there were one or two instances of vehicles slipping from narrow streets into ditches. The younger element of the city greeted the snow enthusiastically and more than one household was aroused at the crack of dawn by small fry preparing for a day's skiing. Ski tracks snaked across many a vacant lot before the sun was well up. Skiers Going Into Action
Ski Club President Allan Armstrong said this morning that he anticipated about 30 ski club members would climb Mount Hays to the club cabins Sunday morning to make final preparation of the ski trails and to get things generally in shape for the season. "We may make a few runs on the trails, but our prime purpose is to work," he said. Ski club members will have to provide their own transportation to the base of the mountain, he said, since club transportation facilities are not yet established. Repatriation Being Blocked MOSCOW — Red Star said today that United States and British military authorities were blocking repatriation to Russia of hundreds of thousands of Soviet citizens who are "pining for home" in German prison camps. Dispatches said that the Allied authorities were holding the Russians, condemning them to a sorry existence.

Serious View is Taken of Battles on Frontiers

SALONIKA (CP)—A four-day battle, revolving around the village of Skra, still raged in rugged mountains between the village and nearby Archanjelos, south of the Yugoslav border, and the Greek Third Army headquarters said that two tank-supported brigades were moving into the region.

NEW STORM HITS WEST

DENVER — A new storm swept south along the Rockies today blanketing Montana and Wyoming with snow and hampering rescue efforts in eastern Colorado where many families are still marooned and much livestock is weakening by two weeks without food. Cattlemen said that the storm would cause heavy livestock losses. Those who could were rushing their stock to railheads for marketing, but thousands of head of stock remained without fodder since the first blizzard struck two weeks ago.

CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Such is Verdict Against Esquimalt Indian Woman in Death of Small Niece
VICTORIA — An Assize Court jury yesterday returned a verdict of manslaughter against Mrs. Ethel James, an Esquimalt Indian woman, who had been charged with murder of her five-year-old niece, Rosa James, in their Esquimalt cabin last June 13. She will be sentenced at the end of the Assizes.

Agreement On Trieste

Russia Yields Important Point in Regard to Authority Of Governor
NEW YORK — The western powers scored a major victory yesterday in obtaining Russian acknowledgement that the governor of Trieste should have single-handed power to take action in the event of an emergency. The acknowledgement came about as the council of foreign ministers continued to struggle with terms of the peace pact for Italy. However, Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov maintained that the governor should be under the guidance of a proposed council of government which itself would be controlled by an elective assembly of the internationalized zone.

STRUGGLING TO REACH WRECK

All on Board Crashed Airlines Plane Near Burbank Believed To Have Perished
BURBANK, Cal. — A search party, fighting deep snow and almost impassable terrain, sought a new approach today up White Mountain to reach the crash of a Western Air Lines plane which fell last Wednesday with 11 persons, including three Canadian women, aboard. Airlines officials said it was concluded that all on board the plane had been killed. The wreckage was found at a height of 5800 feet near Lebec, 50 miles north of here. Only parts of the tail and propeller could be seen from the air. The Canadians aboard were Mary LaBranch of Edmonton, Mrs. Bridget Knight of Banff and Mrs. Florence Henry of Winnipeg. CHILDREN PERISH
PORT MELLON—Two children, aged 2 and 3 years, were burned to death Friday when fire destroyed a one-room home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry on the outskirts of Port Mellon. Reports said the children were alone at the time of the fire, cause of which was unknown.

Wanted -- An Explanation!

THE MINISTER of trade and commerce, in whom we thought we really had a good friend and who, we hope, is still really doing all he can to help us, will need a good explanation to satisfy the people of Prince Rupert as to why, after the government had committed itself to the renewal of the United Kingdom shipping subsidy through Prince Rupert, it should not be expedient now to implement the subsidy by granting it to shipping interests which have offered to take it up. Certainly the reasons are dim enough now.

Evidently something has intervened to cause this change of policy between the time that the subsidy was put in the estimates and approved by Parliament and the present time when the Department of Trade and Commerce deems it inexpedient to make actual disposition of the subsidy. Parliament has, it appears, decided on a thing and the Department (or the government) has changed the decision—possibly another example of the federal bureaucracy about which we have been hearing so much complaint of late.

One suggestion is that the action of the Department of Trade and Commerce may be due to pressure which the British have been applying on Canada against the granting of subsidies to Canadian vessels for handling off-shore shipments. The only reason for that, of course, is that Britain, already deeply in our obligation, does not want our shipping to conflict with hers. Some rather strong statements may be heard if Britain, after all we have done for her, would endeavour to stultify in this manner the legitimate development and progress of Canada. We are all admiratory, loyal and devoted but there is a reasonable limit to the taxing of our patience and patriotism.

Meantime, the people of Prince Rupert, who have been banking on the early culmination of their long hopes and ambitions by an humble start being made on the development of this as a world shipping port, will feel badly let down. Their hopes had really been raised when the subsidy, after considerable pressure and representation on our part, had been settled upon as governmental policy. It is to be hoped that the vigorous protest and demand for explanation which has been dispatched to the minister by the Chamber of Commerce will be productive of a satisfactory, non-evasive and still encouraging answer.

If there was really any good reason why Prince Rupert should not have had the subsidy, it seems inexplicable that we should be hearing about it after instead of before Parliament had acted on the matter.

PR. RUPERT AND ALASKA

EVERY ALASKAN who comes this way seems to be complaining about the iniquitous Jones Act which prevents Canadian bottoms from participating in any way in the transporting of American goods to and from Alaska.

Some Alaskans are quite hopeful that they may be able to get something done about the scrapping of the measure which is becoming increasingly unpopular, unpopularity which is the more intense under present starvation conditions in Alaska owing to the maritime strike.

The gradually increasing amount of traffic that has been developing of late between Prince Rupert and Alaska, notwithstanding the Jones Act and other obstacles, is only a drop in the bucket of what would come here were the Jones Act eliminated. The people of Alaska, who have long suffered bureaucratic oppression as a territory and are now demanding statehood and the greater freedom, if greater responsibility it implies, are becoming the principal advocates for the fuller utilization of the port of Prince Rupert for their convenience and pleasure. How much longer they are to be denied a reasonable measure of autonomy is a matter of vital importance to Prince Rupert.

SAFETY IN AIR

WHILE major air tragedies cannot help but create the impression that there is still an element of risk in flying, a proper perspective must be maintained. One swallow does not make a summer. One train wreck does not discredit a nation's railroads. And one crash, or even an unhappy cycle of crashes, does not mean that routine flying, in the comparative sense, is dangerous. There is danger in nearly everything man does. The casualty record of any major airline compares most favorably with the pedestrian traffic toll of any major city. And most assuredly the airways already have outstripped the highways in the matter of safety.

MOST IMPORTANT OFFICE

WE HAVE been called to book by a citizen prominent in educational affairs here about the emphasis we have been laying on the discussion of mayoralty and aldermanic possibilities while paying comparatively little attention to the school board. Certainly, we should not need to be reminded, nor should the citizens generally, of the important function of the office of school trusteeship and the high desirability of able and enlightened type of candidates for the office.

To appreciate the point we are trying to make, we have but to remember that, not only are the schools the highest spending department of the municipality, but they have the direct responsibility of handling our greatest asset—local or national—our children—and administering their training in citizenship which, after all, is the prime factor of education.

Yes, we would do well to be most concerned about our school trusteeship instead of being so casual, indifferent and even forgetful of it.

STATE OWNERSHIP MAKING PROGRESS IN NEW ZEALAND

Government-Owned and Controlled Industries Extended During Labor's 11-Year Term

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent
AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—How far and how fast does a Socialist government proceed toward its objectives—how much is really socialized? That is a question visitors invariably ask in New Zealand. New Zealand has had a Labor government with Socialism as its aim, uninterruptedly in office for 11 years. The war slowed down its progress toward its objectives in some directions, but speeded the introduction of other measures. The items which follow give an indication of what has been nationalized and what has been left to private enterprise. They do not include items like labor legislation and social security projects which, though part of the government's policy, are not specifically steps toward nationalization.

Of the main utilities, electricity is almost entirely a state enterprise, although the distribution within towns is left to locally elected boards. New Zealand has always been more socialized than most countries and many services, such as electricity production, have always been state controlled.

In the communications field, railways have always been state-owned in New Zealand. The Labor government has largely entered into the road transport field and has acquired by purchase many road passenger and goods services, although many private concerns are still operating. They can only operate, however, under permit from government licensing authorities. Air services are entirely state controlled. A state corporation was set up this year to acquire and operate all airlines. The government operated in a small way as a shipowner before the Labor government assumed office, chiefly in maintaining communication with the Dominion's Pacific Island territories.

State Tentatively Controls Radio
Post and telegraph services were state operated when the government came to power. It has brought radio broadcasting entirely under state control, and operates directly both the National Broadcasting Service, which runs the main stations on a non-commercial basis, and the Commercial Service, operating a string of secondary stations broadcasting sponsored programs and advertisements and items generally of "popular" appeal.

The government controls the marketing of butter and other dairy produce and of meat. It negotiates bulk purchase agreements for the sale of these products and pays primary producers a "guaranteed price." Any surplus when prices abroad are high goes into funds which are used to equalize prices when lower rates are being paid in the world market. Internal marketing of honey, eggs and poultry, bananas and citrus fruit is also government-controlled.

Primary production in which the state has an interest includes forestry. About 25 per cent of timber production comes from state enterprises, many of which, however, were in being when the Labor government came into power. It has extended the milling aspect of the service.

The state has not nationalized coal mines, although this is part of its ultimate policy. It has, however, acquired a number of mines and is proposing to purchase others shortly.

The great majority of industries generally are still privately owned and operated. Recently the government moved to acquire a controlling interest in a subsidiary of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to be established in New Zealand and to take part in the importation and sale of gasoline and oil in competition with existing companies.

Government As Central Bank
Early in its career the government took over the shares of the reserve bank, a central bank established to control monetary circulation and credit. It had been established by the previous government under state control but with publicly subscribed capital. Many members of the government were not satisfied that this gave it sufficient control of the financial structure and after some years the state also took over the Bank of New Zealand, the largest trading bank, in which it had all along had a majority of directors. There are, however, five other smaller trading banks still operating under private ownership.

One of the largest government undertakings is becoming the construction of private houses. Large state suburbs are springing up in all the main centres. The state retains ownership of these houses and lets them at a low rental to tenants.

Development of crown land and the advancement of land settlement schemes have long been in operation. Mortgages for those wishing to acquire land and buildings are available through the State Advance Corporation. The state was already in business in fire, accident and life insurance when the government came into power, and the present government has not taken over any private insurance companies, with which it operates side by side.

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP)—The New South Wales state government hopes to quadruple Sydney's water supply by the erection of the largest dam in Australia at Warragamba Gorge, 70 miles from the capital.
The $20,000,000 dam which will take seven years to build will be 380 feet high and 250 feet long with a 30-foot highway cross its top. It will stop the Warragamba River into which several other streams flow and build up a reserve of 460,000,000 gallons of water.

SEEING CHRIST
 ETHEL BRIERLY, Salvation Army, Glen Dowell
 "We would see Jesus." —John 12:21.
 Seven hundred years ago this request was fulfilled by certain Greeks who had come to Jerusalem. It was natural that the petition should be granted. Today, if we desire to see a stranger, we ask a mutual friend to introduce us. God gives to His children the power to see Him.

This power enabled Stephen to see what was invisible to his murderers and be strengthened by the vision of his glorified Saviour. Paul and the others who watched his death saw the reflected glory on the face of Stephen. The strength of tea is shown in boiling water. In the Christian life the hot water of disappointment or suffering need only test the truth of the promise: "My grace is sufficient for thee."

When we are born into God's family our spiritual kinship should be as evident to the world as the human family relationship often is. In God's word a clear description is given of His family characteristics. The spirit of love marks those who belong to Christ. His life showed love in action. It will be reflected in us when the glory of His presence permeates every phase of our lives.

Impatience often mars the image of the master in us. The uncomplaining spirit of Job was a rebuke to his doubting friends.
 The sincerity of our love to God is shown by our acceptance of God's will for us when tempted to question His wisdom and goodness. The prison songs of Paul and Silas made the jailer aware of his need of salvation.

The inconsistency of professing Christians prevents many from coming to Christ. They have never met any one who knew Christ well enough to introduce Him to their seeking souls. Let us who belong to the Lord claim the children's privilege of obtaining all we need from the Father's store that His likeness might be revealed in us.

"Only as we truly know Him,
 Can we make Him truly known;
 Only bring the power to others,
 Which in our own lives is shown."

EASTERN STAR DANCE ENJOYED

Delightful Affair Last Night In Masonic Hall as Usual Outstanding Social Affair

The annual ball of the Belist Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held last night in the ball-room of the Masonic Temple, was, as usual, an outstanding social affair. It proved highly enjoyable for the 150 or so persons who were in attendance. Mrs. J. L. McIntosh, worthy matron, received the guests.

The hall was beautifully decorated under the tasteful direction of Mrs. Alex Mitchell in yellow and white, the general decorative scheme being embellished with Eastern Star emblems. Music for the dancing was by Bobby Wood's Orchestra and Alex Mitchell was in genial form as master of ceremonies. Delicious refreshments were served during the midnight hour.

NATIVE GIRL MAKES GOOD

Miss Esther Barton of Kincolth, Now Matron of Cleveland Hospital
Miss Esther Barton, a native girl of Kincolth, who has been visiting relatives in and around the city, also in Alaska, has returned to the United States. It is over 24 years ago that Miss Barton, unable to enter a nursing school anywhere in British Columbia, set off for the United States where natives are given an equal chance with whites. She settled in Cleveland, Ohio, where she took her training which enabled her to take a position as matron of a children's hospital, which position she still holds. After a month's stay Miss Barton left on the Prince Rupert for Cleveland, Ohio, her adopted home.

FROG'S LEGS BRING PROFIT

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., (C)—So long as frog's legs are considered a tasty dish in Montreal and other cosmopolitan centres three Carleton Place natives will continue to provide them — at a handsome profit. Henry Willis, one of the oldest frog catchers in town, said he had shipped as much as 2,300 pounds of frogs' legs in a season, worth roughly $700. He has been
