Unpreparedness

Deputy Is Under Fire

On the ground that his attitude has not been conducive to the best interests of mining development in this district, the Stewart Board of Trade is demanding the resignation of the present deputy minister of mines for British Columbia and has asked the support of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce in the demand. Already the Stewart Board has sent a wire to this effect to Premier John Harr and it is asking the Prince Rupert Chamber to do likewise. The matter is coming up among other business at a meeting of the executive of the Prince Rupert Chamber this afternoon.

KETCHIKAN HERE

Ketchikan's all-star hoop squad, the cream of the melon tossers in the Alaska city, arrived in Prince Rupert last night geared for their three-game series with the local all-stars and today they were putting the final touches to their technique by practising in the American gym, the scene of the forthcoming encounters.

To complete the bill, a team from New Metlakatla, Alaska, was due to arrive here this afternoon where they will compete with a local intermediate all-star aggregation during the series which begins tonight.

Supervising the Ketchikan All-Stars is coach Harold Blanton, popular sportsman and expugilist who has high hopes for his team.

MAY REQUEST NURSE SCHOOL

In an effort to relieve the shortage of nurses which is creating a problem at Prince Rupert General Hospital, the hospital board may seek re-establishment of the nurses training school which was formerly operated by the local hospital. Frank Dibb raised the question at last night's meeting of the hospital association, suggesting that ability to enrol student nurses here might bring more young women into the profession. He suggested that since regulations require that in order to operate training schools, hospitals must have a minimum of 100 beds, a special dispensation might be obtained for the Prince Rupert hospital similar to that in effect before the war.

VANCOUVER GETS AIRPORT

WILLIAM SCOW PRESIDENT OF BROTHERHOOD

PORT SIMPSON — William Scow of Alert Bay was elected president of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia for the coming year at the Brotherhood annual convention held here this week. Mr. Scow has been acting president during the greater part of 1945 since the death of Alfred Adams. His election came this morning and was followed this afternoon by other officers of the brotherhood. The convention concluded today.

Part of this morning's session was taken up by reading the report of the auditing committee which also was concluded this afternoon.

Thursday afternoon, the convention accepted resolutions and in the evening the concluding banquet was held.

Major resolution presented was one designed to streamline the organization's directorate by having a smaller executive composed of a president and vice-president to replace the host of region vice-presidents which are directly in charge of the different areas where the brotherhood is established. This involves a change in the constitution which requires a 30-day notice period.

DRY DOCK MAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

The death occurred in Prince Rupert General Hospital this morning of John Loftus, a moulder at the Prince Rupert dry dock. He was 40 years old. Born in England, he was unmarried. He is survived by a brother in Vancouver.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, relieving the Cardena, on the Vancouver-Skeena River-Prince Rupert run is due in port at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning from the south and will sail at 6 a.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Major Powers Are Not Agreed Upon Reference To U. N. Security Council

PARIS (CP)—The Foreign Office said today that Russia had replied favorably to the French proposal to take the Spanish question before the United Nations security council. Diplomatic circles in Washington said it was virtually certain United States would oppose the French plan, contending that the Franco regime, whatever else it might be, is not a threat to international peace and security and hence not a proper subject for the security council.

Britain has replied to France but the answer has not been published. It is understood to be unfavorable to the reference to the U.N.O. council.

Statements by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and other British officials indicated Britain would decline to join France in an undertaking for substantially the same reason advanced in Washington.

Scientist Is Being Held

Member of Queen's Staff Said Involved in Espionage Case
MONTREAL — The Montreal Herald says that another scientist is being held incommunicado by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The paper says the man is reported to be an internationally known professor at Queen's University, Kingston.

Wives of the nine men held for question in the spy probe have been barred from further visits to their husbands. It was said this step was taken because some of the wives failed to abide by an agreement not to talk about their visits.

TEHRAN HAVING FIERCE RIOTING

TEHRAN (CP)—Iran was the scene of bitter dissension yesterday when rioting broke out, again between left and right wing elements in Tehran. Police halted the disorders but not until three persons had been killed and five wounded.

MOSCOW NON-COMMITAL

MOSCOW (CP) — The Moscow radio last night broadcast comment on Winston Churchill's speech at Fulton, Missouri, but it did not give Russian reaction. Instead the Moscow announced read adverse comments on the Churchill speech which had been made by several United States Senators and some British political leaders.

Big Bess Has Fire

SOUTHAMPTON (CP) — A fire which broke out aboard the world's biggest liner—the Queen Elizabeth—was extinguished a few minutes after it was discovered. Smoke poured from the great liner's superstructure aft of her twin funnels and a general alarm was sounded for all fire fighting units in Southampton, England.

Sabotage was suggested today by the general manager of Cunard-White Star Line although the cause was said to have not been definitely ascertained.

The fire started in the isolation hospital of the great ship. Damage was not extensive. It was the thirteenth ship blaze at British ports within the last five weeks. Special fire and police precautions have been set up and all workers and leitters on the waterfront are being carefully checked.

TERRACE MAN PASSES HERE

A pioneer resident of the Terrace district, John Desjardines, passed away in the Prince Rupert General Hospital last night at the age of 65 years. Ill for more than a year, he had been in hospital here for the last month.

Born near Winnipeg, deceased came to Terrace in 1922 where he had been engaged in farming until illness stopped his activity. He is survived by his widow, seven daughters and two sons. They are Mary, Agnes, Anna, Florence, Cecilia and Jean at Terrace, and Theresa (Mrs. Pierre Le Ross of Prince Rupert).

The sons, Henry and John, both live at Terrace.

The remains are being sent to Terrace tonight for interment.

Financial Assistance For Fishermen Urged

Loan Board Advocated by Local Member — Deplores Living Conditions of Natives

VICTORIA (CP)—Establishment of a fishermen's loan board in British Columbia similar to the board in Nova Scotia was urged by William H. Brett, C.C.F. member for Prince Rupert, in the continuation of the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday. "The only kind of credit available to fishermen has been a barter arrangement with the large fish companies," he said. "That arrangement provided that fishermen must offer their entire production to the company advancing the cost of equipment. This government should give serious consideration to similar legislation."

Mr. Brett also urged better living conditions for Indian fishermen and said that on the Queen Charlotte Islands citizens lacked social services and many people were forced to travel 70 or 80 miles by roads and boats to obtain medical treatment.

Interest in Public Affairs

Healthy token of the greatly increased interest that is being taken in local affairs, especially the post-war development of the port and district, was manifest in the monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce this week when a sizeable gathering of thirty-four men got together to discuss many things of current interest from a business standpoint. We can remember not so long ago when it was hard to rustle up a dozen men for such meetings. It is well that that should be changed now.

We may sometimes think that deliberations coming up at such gatherings as the Chamber of Commerce may be futile, that our discussions are trivial and ineffective. It all, however, goes for the exchange of ideas, laying the foundation for joint actions and decisions. The main thing is to have the community of interest and the discussion of public-spirited men assembled together. Without that there can be no crystallization of beneficial ideas.

The City's Finances

The city's financial statement, which was referred to in a newspaper story in this paper yesterday, is a healthy enough document. It shows the city's business has been carefully and safely carried on for another year, at least as far as the finances are concerned. Of course, there were no major undertakings essayed and there are many of which the city is sorely in need — streets, roads, schools, services.

The city, like other minor governments including the provincial, with revenues easy and expenditures actually difficult to incur through scarcity of labor and materials, which scarcity is rapidly easing, has had no difficulty in keeping its finances buoyant. Had they not been maintained in this condition, there would have been something wrong.

The balances the city has now would soon peter out if even a start was made on what needs to be done.

Give Business A Chance

"We have reached the stage," says the Ottawa Journal, "where businessmen are too much shodded about, too much meddled with, too much suspected and frustrated. To help in developing the country by producing wealth and wages is to be a mark and object of suspicion."

The smaller business firm has not only tried to keep going, notwithstanding the fact that all its energies and struggles to get more trade resulted in many cases in all its earnings going in wages and taxes, and in actual loss to the business itself through wearing out machinery on which no depreciation could be charged, but has been harassed by controls, regulations, questionnaires and on top of all attacked as an organization not in the public interest.

"For the exploiter and chiseller," says the Journal, "there need be no sympathy; nor for the man who says 'to hell with the public.' But for the honest businessman, the builder, providing work and wages and wealth, treating his workers decently and helping his community and country, there should be sympathy and common sense."

New Board Is Elected

Hospital Year Was Success, Annual Meeting Hears

Prince Rupert General Hospital had an operating profit of $12,808 in 1945 and treated 2,932 in-patients and 3,006 out-patients, according to reports delivered by the secretary and president at the annual meeting of the Hospital Association in City Hall council chamber last night.

The reports of president G. P. Tinker and Managing Secretary H. W. Birch were followed by the election of five directors to represent the Hospital Association on the Board of management. These were Frank Dobb, Earl Gordon, Arnold Platen, T. B. Black and B. R. Dodds. George Rorie was re-appointed auditor.

Figures contained in the report by President Tinker indicated a constant increase in the work done by most departments last year over 1944, in spite of a shortage of nurses "which is still a major problem not only locally but throughout the province."

In-patients last year totalled 2,932, which worked out to 26,106 hospital days. In 1944 there were 2,608 and 27,764 hospital days.

Out-patients numbered 3,006, compared to 2,555 in 1944.

Major operations in 1945 were 376, in 1944, 275. Minor operations in 1945, 1,137. In 1944, 952.

Births, totalling 315, showed a decrease of three under 1944.

X-rays were taken of 3,790 patients, of which 1,927 were military, compared to a total of 2,475 in 1944. Civilian out-patients totalled 1,220 as compared with 1,266 in 1944. There were 643 in-patients last year as against 645 the previous year.

President Tinker pointed out that while the number of civilian patients x-rayed last year was approximately the same as in 1944, there was a considerable decrease in the number of military patients. Thus removal of troops from the area caused a reduction in revenue of the x-ray department.

Taking Over Military Wing

He reported that since last November the Hospital Board has been in possession, on a temporary basis, of the military hospital building.

"Eventually," he said, "we hope to take over this building on a permanent basis, for which purpose the sinking fund has been built up during the war years."

Presentation of the auditor's report by Managing Secretary H. W. Birch showed that total revenue for the year was $140,191, while expenditure totalled $127,382.90, leaving an operating profit of $12,808.10.

In concluding his report, Mr. Tinker extended his thanks to the hospital association and its ladies' auxiliary, the press, medical profession, I.O.D.E. chapters for their interest in hospital matters, and to the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union and Rupert Bakery for Christmas gifts for patients, and to the Lady Superintendent, Miss P. Mooney and the hospital staff and to Managing Secretary Birch and D.C. Stevenson, for their work in promoting the welfare of the hospital.

RESULT OF TYPING ERROR

JOHANNESBURG — After a voyage half-way round the world, a letter has been returned to an official of the Potchefstroom University College in the Transvaal. It was addressed to a man at Kakamas in the Cape, but a typing error on the envelope spelt the name of the place Nahamas. It was sent first to Bermuda and thence to the Bahamas.

GREAT CHURCHILL SPEECH MADE POSSIBLE BY FORMER CANADIAN

Green Foundation at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., Was Gift of Montreal-Born Woman

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—This Tuesday was a red-letter day in the history of Fulton, Mo. (population 8,297 last census), when Winston Churchill, introduced by President Truman, delivered the Green Foundation address at Westminster College (average registration 350).

This tremendous event in the life of a little college town stemmed directly from the public spirit and generosity of Montreal-born Eleanor Ibbotson, the enterprise and initiative of Dr. Franc L. "Bullet" McCluer, Westminster's president, and the influence of Missouri's favorite son—Harry Truman.

Eleanor Ibbotson was married in 1893 to John Findley Green, St. Louis attorney and graduate of Westminster's class of 1884. In 1937 she gave the college $10,000 to provide for annual lectures on international affairs—a foundation in memory of her husband.

When Mrs. Green died a year ago she left an additional $10,000 for the foundation. None of this will go to Mr. Churchill who advised the college he would not accept a fee.

Another Canadian link in this chain of circumstances; the late Dr. O. D. Skelton, then Canadian under-secretary of external affairs, delivered the first Green foundation address in 1937.

Aim of Lectures

The foundation terms set the aim of the annual lectures as "the promotion of a better understanding of economic and social problems which are international," and suggest that the speaker "shall be a man of international reputation."

Last September Dr. McCluer was reminded by his calendar that he must arrange for a Green foundation lecturer—"a man of international reputation."

The daring idea occurred to him to try for Winston Churchill. Dr. McCluer got his nickname "Bullet" because of his rapid fire oratory as a college debater, and his quick thinking coupled with action.

The "Bullet" influence sent him straight to Washington to enlist the aide of a Westminster grad—Brig.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to the president.

Gen. Vaughan was enthusiastic and took Dr. McCluer to the president who said he would help. He not only forwarded the invitation to Mr. Churchill but initiated it himself with the notation that if Mr. Churchill accepted, he, Mr. Truman, would introduce him.

The Churchill acceptance came about the same time official announcement was made in London that the former Prime Minister would go to Miami for a winter holiday, early in January.

Travels With President

Mr. Churchill came to Washington Monday and travelled to Fulton with the president by special train. He has returned to Washington and will remain here until March 15 when he is to receive a civic reception in New York and remain there until his scheduled sailing date, March 19.

Meanwhile Fulton and the college were faced with an expected influx of 30,000 to 50,000 people to see and hear (most of them by loudspeaker) the former prime minister and the president.

There is one small hotel and virtually no accommodation for any large number of visitors. Fulton is off the railway line on route 54 between Jefferson City, the state capital on the south, and Mexico, horse-breeding centre to the north.

The president and his party left the train at Jefferson City and motored to Fulton. After the address both received honorary degrees of doctors of laws, and they spent the night at the home of A. P. Green, millionaire horse-breeder at Mexico.

Many thousands of middle-westerners were bedless and hungry on Fulton's great day except those who took along their bed-rolls and lunch baskets.

There is much discussion these days of problems and difficulties which face Prince Rupert in its postwar development and prosperity and what solutions might be devised towards solving these problems.

WHAT PRINCE RUPERT NEEDS TODAY?

ELECTRIFICATION! What magic in the word—particularly for the farmer, the rural home owner! Power for the cream separator, the churn; for the silage cutter and the hardwood saw; for implements that used to spell back-breaking work. Energy for lighting, cooking, refrigeration; for household appliances of all kinds. The coming of Hydro lifts burdens, speeds tasks, transforms life on the concessions. Once electrification is decided on, Banking goes into Action.

Through Farm Improvement Loans with special terms The Canadian Bank of Commerce finances installation of the necessary Hydro equipment on the farm itself, or the purchase of an independent farm electric system. These loans are also applicable to the purchase of many electrical appliances. This is Banking in Action.

I.O.D.E. HAD GOOD YEAR

Queen Mary Chapter Going All Out for Second War Memorial

When the annual meeting of the I.O.D.E. Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held in the form of a dinner meeting at the Boston Cafe, with Mrs. D. C. Stuart, in the chair and 71 members and guests present, reports of Municipal officers and of primary chapter officers were read, showing a very full and successful year spent chiefly in war and refugee work. The principal work for the coming year is to be in support of the second war memorial in aid of which the combined chapters already had a very successful tea and raffles.

The report, Mrs. D. C. Stuart, gave a very interesting and inspiring report on the activities of the chapters in the past year and the need for continued and whole-hearted efforts toward the success of the Second War Memorial in the coming year. The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Honorary Regent, Mrs. Sidney Elkins; Regent, Mrs. D. C. Stuart; First Vice-Regent, Mrs. Jens Lundh; Second Vice-Regent, Mrs. D. C. Stuart; Secretary, Mrs. John Murray; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Boddie; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Hutchison; Educational Secretary, Mrs. H. M. Foote; Echoes Secretary, Mrs. S. Saville; Organizing Secretary, Mrs. R. J. D. Smith; Standard Bearer, Mrs. S. V. Cox; Service Libraries Convenor, Mrs. Sidney Elkins.

The entertainment features presented during the course of the meeting included two very delightful songs by Mrs. Gilbert Brown, who has spent six years singing in a troupe entertaining the service men, J. A. Teng rendered two very lovely solos. Raffles were drawn during the evening with the following lucky ticket holders: Mrs. Allaire, ticket No. 725, winner of a three-tier walnut end table donated by Gordon & Anderson.

Mrs. W. J. Penniger, No. 854, winner of a super health cooker donated by Gordon's Hardware. Miss Evie Rivett, No. 145, winner of an electric iron donated by N.B.C. Power Co.

Mrs. M. McLeod, No. 427, winner of a fruit bowl, wonated by John Bulger Ltd. Mrs. B. Stephens, No. 187, winner of a mirror donated by Elio Furniture.

At the close of the meeting, three very interesting films were shown by Mr. Harper for the National Film Board and a vote of thanks extended to him for his courtesy in showing these pictures to the members.

Jamaica Considers $88,135,500 Plan

KINGSTON, Jamaica, B.W.I. (C)—A plan calling for the expenditure over a 10-year period of £19,585,000 ($88,135,500) on social services, education, agricultural development and general economic improvement of the country was announced here recently. The main objects are to increase the productive capacity of the country to meet the urgent need for improvement of the social and economic condition of the people and to prepare for further more ambitious advances in the future. The plan will be financed from four sources as follows: allocations from colonial development and welfare £6,100,000; estimated surplus on basic island budget £4,695,000; loan £3,000,000; taxation £7,864,000. At a press conference, it was emphasized that the plan as it now stands sets out proposals and not decisions, and that it is not intended that it should be a rigid scheme.

Nursing Sister (Lieut.) Bea Berner sailed last night on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver to resume her duties at the Vancouver Military Hospital after spending the last three weeks on leave at her home here.

RADIO RESEARCH

bleak Baffin Island previously operated by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Co-ordinating their work, an extensive study was made of the effects on radio of the aurora—peculiar to Canada among the inhabitable portions of the earth's surface.

Scientists say the geographical location of Canada makes it a "natural laboratory" for exploration of the mysteries of the aurora's effect in the zone around the earth's geomagnetic North Pole "towards which the corpuscular radiation of the sun is drawn by the earth's magnetic field."

They explain that corpuscular radiation is in the form of minute particles of matter which are caught in the earth's magnetic field and spiral toward the geomagnetic pole—located on the west coast of Greenland some 12 degrees south of the true North Pole.

The ionization of rarified air at high altitudes by ultraviolet radiation from the sun is "normal" in all inhabitable land masses of the earth except Canada where corpuscular radiation is concentrated and is believed to cause the aurora.

Here, the bombardment of the corpuscular matter apparently modifies normal ionization to such an extent that ability of the ionospheric layers to reflect radio waves back to the earth is lessened.

The recorder stations are strategically located to study the "auroral belt," the outer fringes of which extend to all parts of Canada except the extreme southwest corner near Vancouver Island. It sweeps across most of Canada, extending eastward across Southern Greenland and Iceland and westward through Central Alaska. It also skirts the northern coast of Siberia.

ALBERTA WINS CANADIAN CURLING CHAMPIONSHIP

SASKATOON—Alberta early this morning won the MacDonald's Brier and the Canadian Curling Championship by defeating the Northern Ontario rink 8-6 in a play-off that was brought about by a three-way tie at the end of the regular round-robin series. The win was Alberta's fourth victory in the seventeen years that the bonspiel has been played.

The Northern Ontario rink, skipped by Tommy Ramsay, won a bye into the final round of the playoff. Alberta and Manitoba, the other two rinks which ended in a tie for the right to meet Northern Ontario for the championship and Alberta posted a 8-7 victory over the Manitoba in a thrilling game that was not decided until the last rock was thrown. The three rinks finished the regular nine rounds with seven victories apiece.

British radio listeners will get a "horse's eye" description of the Lincoln Handicap April 3 if present plans of the BBC materialize.

New President The new president of the Dominion Curling Association is J. E. Armstrong of Regina. He was elected at the annual meeting at Saskatoon. He succeeds George Norgan of Vancouver who has held the office since the Association's last annual meeting in 1942. Life memberships in the Association were presented to Dr. A. F. Anderson

Seasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

Cooking of Cereals: Breakfast Is Important Part of Daily Menu

Before this modern age of breakfast played a major role in the daily menu. It was the heaviest meal of the day and several courses were served. Unfortunately, nowadays breakfast often means a cup of coffee and a piece of toast—fare too meagre to supply the necessary energy for the day's activities. Canadian breakfasts usually follow along pretty much the same pattern—fruit juice, cereal, jam and beverage. But no matter what is served, breakfast must include at least one of the most possessing good "staying" power if that mid-morning slump is to be avoided and what is this requirement better than a bowl of steaming hot cereal? Of course the family may not like cooked cereal for breakfast but perhaps the fault lies in the porridge served. If it's stringy or too thick in consistency no one can be blamed for spurning it. However, a culinary catastrophe need never happen in your family if a few simple rules are followed. The Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, realizing that experimental work should be conducted in methods of cooking Canadian cereals in order to give consistently good results, asked the Household Science Department of Canadian Universities to cooperate with them in an experimental project, six of which are able to do so. The tests were extensive and varied the proportions of water to cereal; length of cooking time and amount of salt needed.

In addition, all methods most commonly used in Canadian homes were tried out and the following methods for cooking regular and quick-cooking rolled oats were those generally conceded best.

Roller Oat Porridge
(using regular rolled oats)
1 cup regular rolled oats
3 cups boiling water
¾ teaspoon salt.

Start cooking cereal in top of double boiler over direct heat. Sprinkle cereal gradually into the boiling, salted water, stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Keep water boiling to prevent cereal becoming sticky. Boil, over direct heat, for 5 minutes, then cook, covered, for 1 hour over boiling water, stirring only occasionally. Makes about 3 cups.

To reduce time of cooking in the double boiler, soak cereal in the specified amount of water overnight, then bring to boil and cook over direct heat for 5 minutes and finish by cooking in double boiler for 30 minutes. If wheat germ is added, use 2 tablespoons wheat germ per cup of raw cereal.

Roller Oat Porridge
(using quick-cooking rolled oats)
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
3½ cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt.

Sprinkle cereal gradually into the boiling, salted water, stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Keep water boiling to prevent cereal becoming sticky. Boil, over direct heat for 3 minutes, then cook, covered, for 10 minutes over boiling water. Makes about 3½ cups.

Cereal Custard
2 cups cooked cereal
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons molasses
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla or maple flavoring or ¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix cereal, milk, molasses and sugar. Add beaten eggs and flavoring. Mix well. Pour into a greased casserole, place in pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F., for 50 minutes or until set.

For chocolate pudding, blend 2 tablespoons cocoa with the sugar and a little of the milk and add with other ingredients. Flavor with vanilla. Six servings.

Spicy Oat-Raisin Pudding
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
¾ cup raisins
3 tablespoons mild-flavored fat

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt, soda and cinnamon. Add rolled oats and raisins. Add the melted fat and vanilla to the sour milk and add to the dry ingredients. Pour into a well-greased mold, cover closely and steam for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Serve with top milk or pudding sauce. Six to eight servings.

MAKING SILK ANCIENT WAY

But Beautiful Fabrics Worth Less Than Cotton in China

KUNMING, China, © — They still make silk in the ancient way, slowly and carefully and beautifully, but silk is worth less than utilitarian cotton in China.

Sturdy cotton coolie cloth sells for almost double the price of silk. Cotton is sold by the foot, to peasants and working folk whose hands in repose hang curled to the roundness of hoe handles or rickshaw shafts.

It is bought in short pieces, not for new garments, but for patches. Some outfits are little but a collection of careful patches in vari-colored blues, ranging from the aged white of skimmed milk to the brand new denim of the latest mending, the whole held together by patient, fine stitching.

But despite eight years of war and devastation, the silk crafts of China somehow survive, to recreate a beauty that was old 2,000 years ago.

When the mulberry leaves come out and the seed-pearl eggs of the silk moth hatch, old women wise in the ancient craft and their granddaughters new to it, still minister to the insatiable hunger of the tiny worms. In the rearing sheds, in the feeding trays, their myriad munching mandibles are faintly audible as they attack the mul-

Out of this emerald fodder, worms spin their own mummy-cases, the yards and yards of raw silk fibres that become their cocoons. China has had wars before, some of them fought over the control of this same silk industry, but the cult of the silkworm has never died out.

The price of silk, from sheerest crepe de chine to stiff satins, intricate brocades and heavy taffetas, is unbelievably low in a land where the man in the street wants a foot of cotton for patches more than a lustrous gown for ceremonial occasions.

A tour of the markets in Kunming reveals that prices range from about $1.35 to $4.50 a yard in U.S. money depending on the weight and quality.

WIN YOUR FAMILY'S PRAISE!

The Experts Say - -

By HELEN BANNERMAN

RE-ORGANIZING BUTTER BUDGETS—With the butter ration cut, Canadian homemakers are busy re-organizing their butter budgets. Though much has already been said on the subject of stretching the limited supply, the agriculture department home economists offer these suggestions.

When planning to use butter as a spread on toast or sandwiches, be sure to have the butter soft—it covers more space. Take it out of the refrigerator ahead of time so that it has a chance to warm up, but don't let it melt. This is one time when plans for breakfast begin the night before. And speaking of breakfast, if you feel that all those slices of toast use up too much butter, try increasing the amount of morning cereal and decreasing the toast.

So that each member of the family will get his fair share of butter it is a good idea to cut individual portions and place one on each bread-and-butter plate or all together on one plate.

If buns, rolls or biscuits are to be served, they may be lightly buttered in the kitchen before placing on the table. Or, for a family supper, the rolls or biscuits may be broken open or cut, sprinkled with a little grated cheese and toasted in the oven for a minute or two.

Crackers or soda biscuits may easily be eaten without butter, particularly if they are of the salted variety. If you can't get this kind, sprinkle them with a little salt before they go on the table.

Small squares of bread toasted in the oven or browned in the frying pan with a bit of bacon fat make excellent croutons to go with the soup course.

The homemaker who really has a butter problem is the lunch packer. Everyone knows how sandwiches literally "eat up" butter. If the sandwich filling is of a creamy consistency you'll need little or no butter. If it doesn't belong to this type you may feel the need of some butter. In that case, spread the butter only around the edges and omit it in the centre. It's the edge of the sandwich that usually has the thinnest layer of filling and, incidentally, it is the first bite.

Here is a consume section recipe for Cheese and Egg Spread that is an excellent butter saver.

CHEESE AND EGG SPREAD—Cheese and Egg Spread requires 1 tablespoon of mild-flavored fat, 1 teaspoon grated onion (optional), 1½ tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon mustard, ¾ cup milk, 1 tablespoon vinegar, ½ pound freshly grated cheddar cheese, 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs.

Melt fat and cook onion in it for one minute. Add flour, sugar, salt and mustard and stir well until blended. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add vinegar and cheese and continue cooking until cheese melts and mixture is smooth. Add eggs and cool. Store in a covered jar in a cool place. Makes 2½ cups of filling.

What better start to the windy month of March than a savoury pot roast for the week's first dinner? And as a brake on your butter usage, choose vegetable accompaniments such as carrots, onions or individual bundles of celery stalks, which can be cooked around the meat. The ensemble will be worthy of a guest or two. Then on Monday an interesting remake is a meat roly poly—ground meat seasoned, moistened, done up in biscuit dough jelly roll fashion, and baked in a hot oven. If you haven't sufficient left-over gravy to serve as sauce, a tin of tomato or mushroom soup will do a tasty trick. Tuesday's cheese puffit, has two-fold purpose. Not only is it a dairy dish par excellence for meatless eating, but it also makes use of stale bread which it behooves each family not to waste in these days of widespread food need. It is easily made by layering slices of bread (about two per person) alternately with cheese in a casserole. Over this pour a combine of three slightly beaten eggs, two cups of milk, salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly, the secret of the puffing. Then place the casserole in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven until set. Colour, flavour and texture contrast can be given by a green vegetable and salad. Incidentally, a little emphasis on green and yellow vegetables easily compensates for the Vitamin A of butter which is on smaller rations this month. Wednesday's market order includes lamb chops and sausages, and perhaps some unrationed kidney, for a mixed grill. The sausages remaining from the pound purchase can add interest to breakfast or luncheon menus. Closely linked with meat is fat, and saved from cooking the chops and sausages will be precious amounts to clarify and use for future cooking purposes. Thursday's veal cutlets take kindly to braising, and Friday is set aside for a marine meal. It might take the form of oven-poached smoked fillets with a parsley sauce for pretty garnish. And a planned left-over will solve Saturday's lunch question. Extra nutrition and ration extension can be tastefully given to Saturday's meat patties by including minced liver with the ground beef. Remaining from this week's eating will be one token which is comforting to have on hand to increase your purchase if you are confronted with a guest night.

PLANE ON WAY SOUTH AGAIN

Haida Queen Heading Back to Vancouver via Islands After Initial Commercial Flight

Heading southward on return trip after her maiden flight in a new commercial air service between Vancouver and Prince Rupert via the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Queen Charlotte Air Lines 15-passenger Stranraer flying boat Haida Queen hopped off from Prince Rupert for Massett Inlet and thence via Alford Bay and Cumshewa, picking up passengers enroute. On departure, it was expected to be back in Vancouver by this afternoon.

The Haida Queen had arrived here at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon and tied up for two nights at the Seal Cove air base. She had made the flight north in an actual five-and-a-half hours flying time. Leaving Vancouver at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, the first stop was made at O'Brien Bay in Johnstone Straits where that night was spent. Coming on from there to Prince Rupert stops were made at Cumshewa Inlet, Alford Bay and Massett Inlet.

The plan of Queen Charlotte Air Lines is to make weekly flights between Vancouver and Prince Rupert via the Islands in the meantime, arriving here from the south Wednesday afternoons and returning Thursday mornings. Later, as business warrants, the service will be increased. As the company is equipping itself soon with at least two more ships, it will also be in a position to handle direct flights between Prince Rupert and Vancouver as well as by the Islands to and from which the most of the initial business is being developed.

The Stranraer flying boat, formerly belonging to the Royal Canadian Air Force, is equipped with two Bristol Pegasus 850 h.p. motors which give the craft a speed of about 120 miles per hour.

Her crew consisting of two pilots—W. J. Peters and R. B. Spillsbury—and air engineer Ellwin, the passengers on the first flight north were T. B. Jackson, manager of the timber department of Pacific Mills, who got off at Sandspit; George O'Brien, a vice-president of the Powell River Co., who disembarked at Massett Inlet, and eight commercial travellers, as well as A. J. Spillsbury, president of the com-ton suggested that Mr. McAdams bring up at this meeting the matter of establishing powerful broadcasting stations on the British Columbia coast so that it will be possible to hear Canadian programs in the Orient.

D. G. Little suggested that timber trade with China through the port of Prince Rupert be discussed as well.

Gerry Matheson, director of Pro-Rec for B.C., stated in a letter that it was not possible for him to come to Terrace to see about establishing a Pro-Rec here but he would get in pany; W. J. Wood, operating manager of the company; Esmond Lando, Vancouver barrister, and Mrs. Waddell, also of the Powell River Co. Incidentally, Mr. Lando is a son of N. L. Lando, who was a pioneer clothing merchant of Prince Rupert, now engaged in the fur business in Vancouver.

During the stops on the first flight north, officials of the air lines company were making arrangements for landing and servicing facilities along the way and also at Prince Rupert. They have the co-operation of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The one-way fare for a Vancouver-Prince Rupert flight is $69.85 and round trip, $123.50.

touch with George McGregor of Prince Rupert and see if he could come in his stead. As no word had yet been received from Mr. McGregor, it was decided to inquire into the cause of the delay.

Further inquiries are to be made into the matter of securing long distance telephone service for Terrace.

The Hospital Committee gave an encouraging report that there was a good chance that Terrace may in the not distant future have a Red Cross Hospital.

A wire received from Stewart Board of Trade asking Terrace to endorse objections to the present Deputy Minister of Mines, Dr. Walker, was given consideration but the meeting felt that further information should be obtained before adversely criticising a public official of whom very little of a specific nature such as would justify his removal from office.

Four Ladies Members Now

Mrs. W. C. Osborne and Miss A. Lips, new lady members, were welcomed. This brings the total of lady members to four, the other two being Mrs. C. J. Norington and Mrs. W. Robinson.

There was a goodly number of members in attendance. In the absence of J. H. Smith, who had been called to Prince Rupert on business, G. McAdams, vice-president, was in the chair.

INDIAN MOVE FOR VOTE IS LAUDED

Momentous landmark in Indian progress, and one unique in Canada, is under way at the village of Metlakatla where the whole band, numbering more than 130, is seeking enfranchisement.

This illustration of the advancement of the Indian from his savage state of less than a century ago was used by Major D. M. MacKay, Indian Commissioner for B.C., in speaking before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday afternoon.

Lauding the attitude which inspired the Metlakatla band to seek the responsibilities of citizenship, Major MacKay appealed to white men to support them in their struggle.

"They want to go forward. They want the status of citizenship. It is wonderful to think that they have progressed to a point where they can stand on their own feet. I should like to see your city and the province give them every assistance in assuming the responsibilities of citizenship," Major MacKay declared.

Primary obstacles in the way of Indian development listed by Major MacKay were liquor, ostracism by the better class of whites, and illegitimacy. He saw liquor as a particularly serious obstacle.

"Most major crime among Indians can be directly traced to liquor," he said. "I should like to see a more serious view among magistrates for this offence."

He said he believed that one reason that stiffer sentences were not handed out was that magistrates possibly are aware that the municipality must pay the cost while Indians are at Okalla."

Regarding ostracism of Indians by the better class of whites, Major MacKay said that "some people judge the Indians by those they see on the skid-roads of our cities. They should no more be judged by that standard than should the white race be judged by its derelicts."

Diversity of opinion regarding the administration of Indians has inspired suggestions that they should be treated like whites.

"But we want to make sure that they are able to look after themselves. We do not want to enfranchise them merely to get rid of responsibility for them," he asserted.

White Men To Blame

The problem of illegitimacy can be traced to white men, Major MacKay said, and the Indian Department is left with the responsibility of caring for the mothers and children.

Major MacKay saw signs of Indian progress at the Brotherhood convention now in progress at Port Simpson where they are conducting their own affairs.

"Here is evidence of a local type of government. Was there any suggestion of that in 1850 when Sir James Douglas wrote of 'naked savages menacing the weak white settlers?' Today in many places we have Indians with living standards equal to those of the whites."

Guests at the meeting were Dr. A. D. Galbraith of the Miller Bay Indian Hospital, Indian Agents James Gillett of Prince Rupert and F. E. Anfield of Bella Coola and J. H. Smith of Terrace. President J. H. Thompson was chairman.

RETIRING FROM HOSPITAL BOARD AFTER 18 YEARS

Announcement of his retirement as a member of the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital after 18 years of service, much of it spent as president, was made by President G. P. Tinker to the annual meeting of the Hospital Association last night.

Mr. Tinker also announced the retirement of Robert Gordon, another veteran member. He suggested that the Association pursue a policy of gradually bringing younger men who have an interest in the city to replace the older members of the hospital board.

"I have just completed 18 years on the board of management and during that time both the hospital and myself have been knocked down and rebuilt," he said. "I am happy that we now have a hospital that is splendidly built, splendidly equipped, and best of all—paid for. This has only been accomplished through the work of the board of management and our managing secretary, Mr. Birch. I think it would be wise if we would consider replacing our older members on the board gradually with our more responsible younger men so that the work can continue."

An expression of appreciation by Frank Dobb was followed by a vote of thanks proposed by T. B. Black, which acknowledged the work done by G. P. Tinker, H. W. Birch, D. C. Stevenson, lady superintendent Miss P. M. Mooney and the hospital staff.
