Powell River Production Ceases

British Columbia's Biggest Paper Mill Tied Up By Strike

No Decision Yet As to Whether Logs Are to Be Considered "Hot"

POWELL RIVER (CP)—A mass meeting of American Federation of Labor employees of the closed Powell River newsprint mill recessed briefly shortly before noon today after failing to come to a decision on whether or not to flout the C.I.O. "hot" label on the mill's pulp logs.

Some 1,600 workers met for two and a half hours, but could not decide whether to walk through the C.I.O. picket lines and be described as "scabs" or refuse to go through the lines and thus break their agreement with the Powell River Pulp and Paper Co.

During the recess, officials of the two A.F.L. unions which have jurisdiction over employees at the mill and representatives of the C.I.O. International Woodworkers of America conferred with company officials in an attempt to gain an extension of the company ruling that the employees must decide by noon what they were going to do.

Production at the mill, largest in the British Empire, stopped at 2 a.m. Pacific daylight time after the company's sawmill closed when the mill-pond workers stopped moving logs to the sawmill.

The mill, which supplies newsprint to western Canadian and American newspapers, produces an average of 700 tons of newsprint daily. Some newsprint also is shipped to Australia.

Defendant's counsel J. T. Harvey contended that the circumstances surrounding the intended disposal of the hotel shares by Mr. Sealy did not constitute an arrangement of trust, but that when he had a memorandum bearing Sing's name attached to the share certificate in question he was merely marking it for eventual disposal by will.

Mr. Harvey argued that since no formal contract existed at the time of Mr. Sealy's death, the alleged verbal representations favoring Dong Sing could not be considered binding in the matter of disposal of the shares.

Efforts are being made to have the present car ferry slip conditioned for the service by which fish-laden car barges would be brought here from Ketchikan for transfer to the Canadian National Railways and shipment east.

Hart Has Tax Plan

Would Have Dominion Government Collect Provincial Impost as Part of Federal Levy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier John Hart announced last night that it is extremely unlikely there will be dual income tax collections in British Columbia.

Mr. Hart has asked the Dominion government to collect provincial tax throughout the province as it collects federal levy.

Ottawa would then return the provincial portion to Victoria.

This would eliminate collection of two taxes by separate authorities.

CLOTHES TO COST MORE

Ceilings Lifted on Men's and Boys' Suits and Other Wearing Apparel

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices and Trade Board today announced price ceiling increases on men's and boys' suits, overcoats, fine pants, work pants and woollen sportswear. Ranging from five-and-a-half to nine per cent, the ceiling increases are effective on goods manufactured after June 1.

The board said the increases were authorized to offset, partially the effect of increased costs to manufacturers because of recent elimination or reduction of subsidies on cotton and wool and wage increases recently authorized by war labor boards in the textile industry.

No price change is authorized on garments at present in stock. The increases apply both to manufacturers and retail stores. Ceilings on wooden and upholstered furniture are also increased seven to 13 per cent. This does not include B.C. hardwood products.

EVERYTHING IS NEEDED

CANADIANS are probably the best-clothed people in the world today in quantity, quality and variety of wardrobe. Clothing which we consider shabby, or worn, or outgrown, or out-dated, will be new and beautiful and warm—and sometimes the difference between life and death—to millions of European people who, on their meager rations, cannot get through another winter, much less work to rebuild, unless they have clothes to keep them warm.

They need everything and anything that can be worn: clothes for babies, boys and girls, men and women; woolen, cotton, fur, leather—even silk. Especially shoes and boots. They also need bedding—warm bedding, to replace non-existent stoves for which there is no fuel anyway.

The question confronting Canada again is: "What can you spare that they can wear?" And the answer: "Give now, that they may live next winter."

WHY STRIKES?

EDMONTON'S BULLETIN views Columbia's I.W.A. strike in realistic vein when it comments:

If the tie-up lasts two weeks, that two weeks' shortage of output will never be made up, for the mills were turning out all the lumber and paper they could produce to keep abreast of the current demand. The whole western community will have to get along with so much less timber products than the mills could produce in whatever period of time they stand idle. The gap will not be bridged, for the mills have no reserve production capacity to bring into use and catch up the arrears. Whenever the strike ends, there will be so many fewer houses when winter comes, and so many fewer products of all kinds.

Why do Canadians do these things to each other, and to themselves? Every strike ends in a settlement. Why can't we have the settlements without the strikes?

REVERSE ADVERTISING

ASIDE possibly from some of its sweeping war claims, the Soviet government does not permit or believe in advertising. It regards this sort of thing as an invention of the capitalistic system it pretends to abhor. It is questionable, however, whether it will get very far in building up the Russian standard of living to the level of that of western Europe if it continues its present attitude.

In his recent "My Twenty-five Years in China," John B. Powell cites an amusing example of how this ban of advertising backfire. He states:

"The Soviet government decided to establish a canned goods industry. Machinery was purchased, a factory was set up, and an American woman, an authority on canning, was brought to Russia as an instructor and technical expert in the organizing of the plant. The finished product, consisting of tinned tomatoes, string beans, fruits and other products, was shipped to the retail stores; but there the product stayed on the shelves, because the Russian public was not familiar with this method of preserving food.

"An American resident who had heard of the predicament wrote a letter to one of the Moscow papers, suggesting that the products be advertised in the customary American fashion. The letter aroused a storm of indignation with a flood of correspondence in all the newspapers reprimanding the bumptious American and condemning all advertising as the work of the devilish capitalistic system.

"The surprising outcome was that the correspondence appearing in all the newspapers constituted the best possible advertising, and as a result of the interest aroused the canned goods stocks, began to move fast."

There is an easily apparent moral in that story for those few people in this country who still regard advertising as mere additions to the cost of anything sold. The cheapest goods are those that move quickly from producer to consumer, the most costly those that remain unsold on the merchants' shelves.

—Chilliwack Progress.

LETTERBOX

CIVIC ENTERPRISE
Editor, Daily News:
Answering yesterday's letter "Council's Run-Around," I would say that the common public are very sour-stomached and must be better educated in regard to their rights.

During last summer's election campaign I approached one of the leading sponsors of the Labor-Progressive party pertaining to better business and civic enterprise.

Prior to the last war, and until now we have been following a "spend it all" policy with our resources rather than thriftily accumulating savings.

At present we have women working in our factories who might better show their efficiency in improved housekeeping and teaching our precious offspring, thereby cancelling the surplus of labor and more efficiently saving the husband's earnings.

After all it is supply and demand that sets the price of commodities including the wages of individuals.

Now, I believe, instead of showing so much opposition to our councillors, we should use our own heads.

In several write-ups in local papers I have intimated that I need financial support for my endeavours. I believe we, as individuals, could use our money more efficiently in sponsoring civic enterprise, thereby proving with our own hands that we can approach higher attainments. I believe that in unity rather than in conflict we will more quickly reach our objectives.

SOUTH AFRICANS URGE RATIONING OF FOODSTUFFS

JOHANNESBURG —Food rationing in South Africa, hitherto confined to "unofficial" rationing by wholesalers and retailers, is being urged strongly for the larger centres by a number of national bodies, but its introduction is considered unlikely because of the large illiterate native population.

Such organizations as the South African Council of Trades and Labor and the National Council of Women argue that the population of the cities is sufficiently literate to make administration of rationing a success and urge its introduction to regulate distribution and curb growing shortages.

Residents of hotels and boarding houses do fairly well—a married couple can live in a hotel room with food, linen and service for 20 pounds a month (about $20 a week) — but the lower income householders, particularly the natives and other depressed classes, are unable to meet nutritional requirements.

Corn and wheat are in short supply and lower income groups are unable to afford adequate substitutes.

Meat, while plentiful for the time being, is expected to become scarce in a few months. While prices have approximately doubled since before the war they still compare favorably with Canadian prices. The most expensive cuts of beef cost 1s. 6d. (24¢) a pound, compared with 7d. or 8d. before the war. Lamb chops are 1s. 6d. a pound and bacon sells at 1s. 9d. to 2s. 3d., with all grades fairly plentiful. Butter, cheese and fat products, particularly soap, are scarce. An order just issued allows bakers 50 percent of their restricted quota of sifted meal to make pies, sausage rolls and fruit buns, eaten mainly by the lower income groups.

Sugar is short, and manufacture of all confectionery has been banned. Imported Canadian toffee is selling at 2s. 6d. a pound.

Milk and eggs are scarce and shortages in dairy and poultry products are likely to become worse with winter well on the way.

Fresh vegetables are plentiful almost all the year round although there are seasonal scarcities and price fluctuations.

ROTARY HEAD HERE TONIGHT

Harold Hicks of Agassiz, governor of District 101, Rotary International, who has been on a flying tour of Rotary clubs in Alaska, will arrive in the city on the Prince Rupert tonight from Ketchikan and will be guest of honor at a dinner and dance given by the local Rotary Club during his brief stay here. Mr. Hicks will continue south on the Prince Rupert. A reception will be held at the Old Landmark, followed by a dinner at the Commodore Cafe to which Rotary wives and guests have been invited.

11 Platypuses Eat 8,800 Worms Daily

MELBOURNE, Australia —A problem for Director David Fleay of Healesville Sanctuary, near here, is to find 8,800 fat worms daily for the eleven platypuses there—800 apiece. Mr. Fleay has his own wormery but even then is forced to rely on the efforts of small boys who get 45 cents a pound for worms. From time to time, appeals are published in Melbourne papers urging small boys to get busy with the family mattock.

Six Victorian platypuses will be sent by air to South Australia shortly for release on Kangaroo Island.

Mr. Fleay caught seven in the streams near the sanctuary recently but only one was a male. He will keep on hunting until he gets two more males in order to send three pairs to Kangaroo Island.

JASPER PREPARES TO RECEIVE OLD FRIENDS AND NEW

To the list of thousands of Canadians, and tourists from all parts of the world, who visited Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies before the war can now be added the hundreds of men and women of the British and United States Armies who were there during the war.

Some of these uniformed visitors came to work. There were the Lord Lovat Scouts, famous commandos, who used Jasper as a training ground for mountain warfare. They put in long strenuous hours hardening sinews, building up stamina and testing and proving new types of equipment. One of them is seen, to the extreme right, rock-climbing above the Canadian National Railway track.

And some came to play. Returning on furlough from arduous duty in the North Country, men and women of the United States Army forces, found Jasper a delightful place to relax in. They loafed in their own bungalow camp or took the opportunity to swim, hike or go horseback riding. They also got to know some of the wild animals in the park and one of them is shown to the right, with a family of bear cubs.

Jasper Park Lodge, spreading across the top of the layout, was not open however, for the conservation of men and materials was necessary in the war years. But this summer hotel on Lac Beauvert, with its charming cottages, will be open again this year from June 15 to September 15, and has been completely renovated and alterations made for the added comfort of guests. Advance reservations are already heavy.

Hundreds of thousands of speckled and rainbow trout and other game fish were reared and distributed in lakes and waterways, promising good sport for the fisherman. And in this largest of North America's national parks, the trails and highways within its 4,200 miles are in splendid shape.

STRONG AND HEALTHY

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B, D, Riboflavin (G) and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underper, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

RECEPTION AT TERRACE FOR LOCAL COUPLE

In honor of Rev. and Mrs. J. Linney a reception was held Monday evening at the Terrace home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pohle where 35 friends congratulated the couple who were married earlier the same evening by Rev. Victor Graham in the Terrace Pentecostal Tabernacle.

Following a period of singing and instrumental music, supper was served by the hostess. It was highlighted by the cutting of the wedding cake by the bride and groom. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Pohle.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," Mr. and Mrs. Linney motored from Prince Rupert to Terrace for their wedding. They reported the high-way in splendid condition.

JASPER READY FOR FILMING

Final Preparations for "The Emperor Waltz" Completed

JASPER, Alta.—With last minute preparations complete for the filming of Paramounts $3,000,000 technicolor production "The Emperor Waltz," starring Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine, in Canada's famous Jasper National Park, the well known team of Charles Brackett, producer, and Billy Wilder, director, has gone into conference on the story ending of the picture which was not completed previously.

Since arriving at Jasper on May 23 the executive heads have been touring possible locations selected by advance agents. Assisted by Major J. Wood, park superintendent, they finally chose the Columbia icefield, Mount Edith Cavell and the historical Snake Indian River country for shooting, after several days spent in studying locations suitable for the duplication of the Austrian Tyrol setting for the film.

A new high in pre-season tempo has been reached in this little town that even the bumper tourist season to follow will find hard to equal. A delightful fort-night's spell of sunshine has everyone in holiday spirit and daily arrivals of staff for nearby Jasper Park Lodge, combined with movie folk, has swelled the population noticeably. Sun glasses and summer fashions are the accepted style of dress as the town takes on a responsive attitude to the Hollywood influx.

Joan Fontaine arrives May 31 with the major part of the troupe on a special train from Hollywood. The entire company will be housed at Jasper Park Lodge.

Bing Crosby, motoring from his Nevada ranch, is expected June 3. He will be accompanied on his long drive to Jasper Park by Barney Dean, his pal, a noted gag writer.

SHORT SPORT

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A baseball boxscore may be a complicated business for sports writers, but it would be child's play to William Ferguson who scores for the Indian cricket team touring Britain this year. His entries are like a Domesday Book of Cricket. He has accompanied 26 test-cricket tours as scorekeeper and can tell you anything that happened in any of them. Some day Lord's, or the British Museum, may be glad of his collection. He has a special book, printed to his own prescription. It looks like a yard-square bank ledger with red blue printed lines and columns all over it. He records such details as: Runs scored by each batsman off each bowler at any given moment; what happened to every ball, and which batsman played it; missed catches, the muffers and their place in the field; times at which each innings started, each batsman came in and out, each 50 was added to the total or individual score and the chartered direction of each scoring stroke of every batsman in event he makes a century.

At that, this Australian-born wizard isn't fully extended in the quiet English scoring boxes. He really gets cracking in the press box at Sydney where he sits with newspapermen who fire such questions as: "How many has Don Bradman scored off Bill Bowsie in the last five overs?" or "How long has Les Ames been batting when Wally Hammond was out?" Fergie, the imperturbable, gives the answers pat, and he will have the opportunity next autumn when he goes to Australia for the England-Aussie tests.

Advance Plans For Boxing Bout

At a meeting last night plans were further advanced for a boxing card to be staged shortly with Len Hitchens of Prince Rupert, Canadian Army welterweight champion of 1944, and Billy McDonald of Vancouver, Pacific Coast Golden Gloves champion of last year, meeting in the main event. McDonald will be arriving here at the first of next week.

A well-known actor with a caustic wit was having a quarrel with his wife. After a particularly biting remark, she burst into tears and said:

"How can you treat me like this when I've given you the seven best years of my life?"

"Good Heavens," replied her husband, "were those your best?"

Brown bought a new shirt, and on a slip pinned to the inside found the name and address of a girl with the words: "Please write, send photograph."

He wrote to the girl and sent her a portrait of himself. In due course an answer came, and with heart a-flutter Brown opened it.

"I was just curious to see," he read, "what sort of a fellow would wear such a funny shirt."

When he put a penny in the slot of a stamp machine outside of a suburban post office, a Glasgow man was surprised to receive not only half a dozen stamps but a small shower of coppers. Into the post office he went, and said: "That stamp machine—"

He got no farther.

"Oh, I know," said the official, "It's jammed again," and she pushed a penny across the counter.

NEW RADIO EQUIPMENT

TransCanada Air Lines Improving Communications
WINNIPEG — Wartime radio communications developments are currently being used by TransCanada Air Lines to commence a network of transmitting stations that will eventually link a three-continent, wide air line operation.

Ten-channel, 5000 watt transmitters have now been installed at Montreal and Moncton and will be followed by installations across Canada, it was stated here by S. S. Stevens, director of communications and electronic development for T.C.A. The eastern installations had priority in the company's program because of their role in the trans-Atlantic service.

It is intended shortly to operate radio-teletype circuits, between Moncton and Prestwick, Scotland, with the new transmitters. These are capable of operating at speeds up to 500 characters per minute and were extensively used and proven by the military during the war years.

The new transmitters have 10 radio frequency channels. Each channel is an independent assembly, in effect a complete transmitter, enclosed in a metal cabinet which can be rolled out for inspection and repaired. The equipment is exceedingly compact and covers the frequency range from two to 20 megacycles. To permit installation of the complex antenna arrays required with high-powered, multi-channel transmitters, the new equipment is sited in a position remote from the airport where the air line's communications centre is located. The Montreal transmitter is located at Beauconsfield, the Moncton transmitter at Scoudouc, said Mr. Stevens.

Selection of an operating channel is performed by dialing from the communications centre, much the same as with a domestic telephone. A new transmitting frequency can be set up in less than five seconds. This feature is important since T.C.A. handles approaching aircraft of other air lines — trans-oceanic, and domestic — as well as its own, each working on a different frequency.

For trans-oceanic work T.C.A. employs what is known as "diversity" receivers.

To eliminate fading of high-frequency signals, a familiar phenomenon to all short-wave listeners, this system makes use of two separate antennae. The output of these are combined in such a manner that when the signal in one is in the depth of fade, the signal in the other is at peak strength. In this way uninterrupted communication is obtained.

To avoid picking up the large amount of electrical interference prevalent around busy airports these receivers are also "re-rected", some distance from the airport and controlled by means of a telephone dial.

The new equipment gives Trans-Canada Air Lines a high-

CLERK'S WHIMSY UPSETS HOUSE

Archives Reveal Act Amendment to Correct Odd Brand of Humor

TORONTO — A clerk's sense of humor became a subject of investigation for a special committee in 1945 when the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Canada ordered an inquiry into the listing of "Gypsies, tinkers, barkers, shavers, Shakers and Southcottites" among the religious denominations of Canada.

The incident was discovered in the records of the assembly by Hon. W. J. Stewart, present speaker of the Ontario Legislature, who was studying them in preparation for a revision of rules and procedure.

Investigation revealed that the whimsical clerk had inserted the offending words "in a moment of thoughtless levity" in an amendment entitled "An Act to enable religious societies of all denominations of Christians in that part of the province called Upper Canada to hold lands for certain purposes therein mentioned" in order to startle his brother clerks, who would correct the proof.

But the somnolent clerks let the item go through untouched and it became necessary for the

A. By rubbing the stains with lemon, and salt, and then exposing to the hot sun.

Q. How can I fill the salt and pepper cellars easily without spilling?

A. A funnel for this purpose is the best method, but if none is convenient, make one by using an old envelope, merely tearing off a small portion of one corner for the opening.

Q. How can I prevent the cake from running all over the pan while baking?

A. Use less baking powder the next time and this trouble will be eliminated.

Q. Should the changes of water be the same temperature when washing clothes?

A. It will be far less hard on the clothes when washing if the temperature of the water is the same throughout the wash.

There were a few speeches suitable to the occasion, emphasizing the excellent relations existing among the various workers at the News. Enthusiasm was expressed over the prospects of life in the fine new home that the paper will have next year after removal into the Brooks-bank Block, acquisition of which

BRITISH JUSTICE SYSTEM ADMIRER

Mr. Justice A. M. Harper Speaks Before Prince Rupert Gyro Club

The British system of administration of justice, admirably exemplified here in Canada, is respected in all parts of the world where decency and honest government are esteemed, declared Mr. Justice A. M. Harper in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday. Built up through the centuries, this British system of justice, including trial by jury, exemplified power and fairness and was in line with the principles of true decency. His Lordship's subject for an appreciated, informal talk was "The Penal System and Criminal Law."

In the course of his address, Mr. Justice Harper told interestingly of a day's visit to New Westminster Penitentiary from which he had come away with a new and more favorable impression of such Canadian institutions. The judge spoke of a splendid library which he had inspected in the penitentiary. Books were well selected and in all languages. A meal in the institution was described as well as the daily afternoon court of the warden in which complaints of the men were heard and rectified. The workshops where clothing and iron work were among the pursuits had also been visited. Beautiful pictures and etchings had also been seen. True the penitentiary had its hardened and derelict inmates with their distorted outlook on life but among them were "able and bright men."

The judge mentioned the difference between the penitentiary and the common goal, such as Okalla where terms of less than two years are served and where the rules were not so rigid, particularly in regard to visiting, and expressed his admiration for the British system.

miration for the Bostal system first offenders.

Mr. Justice Harper recalled a previous visit here in 1915 as chairman of a commission investigating municipal affairs for the provincial government. He still felt now, as he had recommended then, that the land should not be called upon to pay the costs of social services.

The luncheon was provided over by W. D. Lambie, the club president, and other guests, besides the speaker, were H. G. Perry, E. T. Applewhite and William Hickmore.

Allan Sheardson called on Gyro softballers to be ready for a game against Kinsmen at the opening of Gyro Ball Park tomorrow night.

Grocery Business Is Changing Hands

Announcement is made today of the changing hands of the well-known grocery business of Tom Lee & Son on Second Avenue from Lee Sam and son, Benny Lee, to Marcel and Emil Blain, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Blain and both popular local ex-service men. The change of ownership becomes effective on June 1.

Scouts Volunteer To Rebuild House

PRESTON, Ont., (P)—More than 3,000 "work hours" have been voluntarily contributed by senior scouts and enthusiastic young men in the reconstruction of Preston's famous "Scout House," which was gutted by fire in December last year with damage exceeding $5,000.

The boys have done most of the reconstruction, calling in outside help only for electrical wiring, plumbing and spray painting. Every care is being taken to rebuild as closely as possible to the original appearance—with a look-out for new facilities wherever practical.

Cost of the reconstruction has been borne largely by voluntary subscriptions made by firms, organizations and citizens. A total of $3,000 was collected, while insurance coverage on the building was only $2,400 as against the $5,000 loss.

Officials are hopeful that the building—began as a stone barn some 110 years ago—will be entirely free of debt on completion.

Preston's popular Teen Canteen, which was also housed in the building, is also being rebuilt.

Glass eyes were used by the Romans and Egyptians.
