Capt. Hare, veteran navigator to southeastern Alaska, who served on such vessels as the Tongass and Cricket before the war and during which he came in here on navy transport ships as pilot, interviewed yesterday afternoon by a Daily News reporter, whom he had proudly shown around his ship, predicted growing importance for Prince Rupert as the transshipment point for fish from southeast Alaska to the United States. Saying it was "too bad to see it idle" now, he expressed the hope that the ocean dock here would soon be available again for traffic because it is capable of much faster handling of cargo than the regular Canadian National dock over which the Palisana's cargo was handled yesterday from ship to refrigerator cars. Shortage of longshoremen also slowed up the discharging of the vessel here as it was possible to get only one crew where two were needed. What it means to You to have THE REAL THING

A girl doesn't mind waiting for the great day she can display a real diamond on her third finger. Neither does a wise home-owner, or builder, mind waiting a little to have a Genuine Duroid Roof over his head.

At present this may be necessary. The demand for Genuine Duroid Roofs is tremendous. Even with greatly increased production, shortages may, at times, occur. Nevertheless, it's wise to wait for the Real Thing, a Genuine Duroid Roof, because it's still made with a base of the best ragfelt. The long rag fibres help to give years of extra protection to your home. So insist upon a Genuine Duroid Roof. Look for the Sidney Seal of Quality on every bundle.
