Labor Government Wins Australian Vote

HOLDS 23 OF 67 SEATS WITH HALF OF BALLOTS COUNTED

Government Victory Assured, Says Labor Leader Chifley

SYDNEY, Aust. (CP)—The Labor government was assured of a return to power when ballot counting ceased at midnight following today's general election.

Half of the expected 4,500,000 votes have been counted and indicate that the administration's absolute majority of 23 in the house of representatives will be about the same in the new parliament.

Prime Minister J. B. Chifley said in a press statement that it appears beyond doubt that the government has been returned.

LABOR LEAD CUT

Earlier, Labor government candidates led in 37 of 62 federal divisions in the eastern states four hours after the polls closed in Australia.

In the general election Liberals led in 11 divisions and the Country Party in seven with voting close and results in doubt in seven divisions, six of which were held by the Labor party at dissolution of parliament.

Two hours after polls closed two Sydney papers had declared Labor was returned to office.

TAXATION ISSUE

A major issue in the election was income taxation, which the Labor government claims necessary for progressive social legislation, and which the Liberal and Country parties have charged were too high.

Opposition to the Labor government, particularly Arthur

Fadden, Country party leader, campaigned on major tax reductions. Fadden said that cuts as great as 28 per cent might be possible.

Liberal leader Robert Menzies argued that tax cuts are indirect wage increases, giving incentive to increased production without threat of inflation.

The Country party was the official opposition in the house during the former Labor regime.

Results of Friday's elections indicated that the 4,600,000 voters of Australia favor the social legislation effected and planned by the Labor government, and are willing to pay for it.

Truman Sees End To U.S. Meat Famine

WASHINGTON — Improvement in the American meat situation which in past weeks has seen that commodity practically disappear from the country's butcher shops, was predicted by President Truman today.

The President said that price ceilings on meat are not responsible for the shortage that has swept the nation.

He declared that the government had no intention to lift ceiling prices on meat despite pressure from many quarters to do so.

President Truman's announcement followed a move by the United States army on Thursday to slap a claim on one-quarter of all the meat turned out by federally inspected slaughter houses in the country.

His decision to maintain ceiling prices settles the danger of an administration pre-election split over the issue of keeping price ceilings on the rapidly-vanishing commodity.

Coming in the face of a pre-election storm inspired by bare butcher shop counters, President Truman's refusal to raise price ceilings affirms the government's stand that increased meat prices would give impetus to inflation despite claims that it would cause growers to release livestock held on the range awaiting higher prices.

TEXAS FLOOD ROLLS TOWARD MEXICO GULF

THE WEATHER

Cloudy skies are general over interior British Columbia this morning except for clear weather over the Kootenay region. Overcast skies are general over the coastal area with intermittent rain over the Vancouver Island lower mainland regions and continuous rain elsewhere. An intense weather system 400 miles off the Charlottes is already causing southeasterly gales over exposed areas of the Charlottes. Strong to gale force winds are expected to spread southward along the coast by afternoon today. The system will move in over the Charlottes tonight but a further system to the west will prevent any marked improvement in the weather.

Ship Workers Win 15-cent Wage Boosts

Employees of Five Southern Yards Gain By National Labor Board Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 6,000 workers in British Columbia's shipbuilding industry were granted wage increases of 15 cents an hour by the National War Labor Board in a decision announced Friday night.

The far-reaching decision put the board on record as opposed to a "formula or pattern" for adjustment of wage rates which would not be subject to variation in different cases.

Affected are workers at Burrard Drydock Co., Pacific Drydock Co. and West Coast Shipbuilders in Vancouver and Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd. in Victoria.

The increase does not include the remaining workers at Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Co., which as a subsidiary of the C.N.R., comes under railway jurisdiction.

An appeal by the Prince Rupert local, Shipyard Workers Federal Union to the War Labor Board for a similar increase was denied by a sitting of the board here.

MILK TO RISE IN SPITE OF ALL PROTESTS

VICTORIA, —The provincial cabinet has authorized the head of the British Columbia Milk Board to order increases not exceeding 2¢ a quart in prices of fluid milk.

Protests have been received from Vancouver consumers' organizations, and requests were made to the provincial government to subsidize producers to hold prices at present levels.

Dairymen throughout British Columbia have long complained of being unable to successfully operate at present prices in view of rapidly rising costs and salaries of employees.

Polish Veterans For Farms Coming Early in October

Selection of Polish veterans in Italy for employment in Canadian agriculture is proceeding, and it is expected that the first group of Polish ex-soldiers will arrive in this Dominion early in October, according to Hon. Humphrey, minister of labor.

To date, close to 700 veterans have been selected by officials sent from Canada to Italy to supervise the move. All men chosen have had farm experience, are single and under 35. In addition to occupation selection, the men are carefully medically examined.

First group of farm workers to reach Canada will number between 1500 and 2000. They will go mainly to dairy and livestock farms, where it has been difficult in recent years to secure satisfactory year-round workers.

OCTOBER LIQUOR QUOTA 4 BOTTLES

VICTORIA, —British Columbia's liquor ration for October will be increased to four bottles, only one of which may be Scotch whiskey.

The present ration is three bottles to a permit. The beer and ale quota will remain unchanged, but the wine ration will be boosted to two gallons. The wine increase is one-half gallon.

TAILLESS JET PLANE EXPLODES

The jet plane was one De Havilland hoped to fly to new world speed records.

30 ARRESTED AFTER ALBERTA STRIKE RIOT

EDMONTON — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today that about 30 farmer pickets have been arrested and another 40 are under investigation following a wild melee at Beaver Crossing, where a cattle buyer was injured and a herd of cattle scattered over the prairie by a picket line of 300 striking farmers.

The incident was the worst outbreak of violence in the 22-day-old strike of the Alberta Farmers' Union which has halted livestock and farm produce deliveries since early in the month.

The strike is scheduled to continue for another eight days and possibly may be carried on longer if the farmers, who are seeking the establishment of a government fact-finding board to set parity farm prices, so decide.

In a statement Thursday night federal Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner said that the cabinet felt that the present agricultural prices support board is adequate and that the creation of an additional board is unnecessary.

The government has invited Carl Stimpfle, chairman of the Alberta Farmers' Union, and F. G. Appieby, secretary of the Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada, to meet the cabinet to discuss the issue, but so far the meeting has not taken place.

Children now will go to Castlegar until Kinnaird Hall is improved. The renovations are expected to be carried out about October 1.

Editorial SUPPORT YOUR CIVIC CENTRE

Described authoritatively as a pioneer project of its type, unique throughout Canada, Prince Rupert's Civic Centre is entering its first complete year of Community Service. Next week, it is putting on a concentrated membership drive, soliciting the support of Prince Rupert citizens in its building and programs which already have begun to pay dividends in healthful recreation and entertainment.

Value of the Civic Centre is unquestioned by the majority of people. However, the need for its support probably is not as widely realized as it might be. The value of membership in the Civic Centre, its leaders feel, is so great that if every family were to take out one family subscription, its unhampered activities in behalf of the people would be assured.

It is a simple matter of arithmetic. There are an estimated 2,200 families living in Prince Rupert. An annual family membership costs $12. If each were to take out a membership, the working fund for the Civic Centre would be $24,000 or better a year. Compare this sum with the $17,500 budget, an absolute minimum, drawn up for this year's operations, and it can be seen that the Centre would be in a position to provide a widened field of recreation for the citizens.

If every family in the city were to take out a membership, there would be no necessity to make additional charges for any of the activities which go on within the Civic Centre, according to its managing director, Don Forward. This however, he added, is reserved for some happy future date when the community organization is functioning on a settled basis.

Tribute to the Civic Centre as an agency in curbing juvenile delinquency was recently paid by a man who is in a position to have an inside view of current juvenile tendencies. He is Police Magistrate W. D. Vance, who is also juvenile Court Judge.

"There is no doubt that even in its short period of operation the Civic Centre has been of great value in keeping the young people busy and out of trouble," he said. "Delinquency among the young people of the city has lessened considerably within the last six months, and I certainly feel that the work of the Civic Centre has been a factor."

Thus, from the standpoint of its inherent community cultural possibilities and its wholesome effect on our young people, a Civic Centre membership is a "good buy". Support your Civic Centre.

COLOR HATH CHARM

SOME 18 DELEGATES to the convention of B.C. School Trustees at Prince George last week returned to their homes in the Lower Mainland by travelling by way of Prince Rupert. It was unfortunate for them and for Prince Rupert that they arrived late at night and boarded ship immediately.

They returned south with no first-hand knowledge of this city, its development or its possibilities. A few drops of rain in the air confirmed their belief that the weatherman weeps here all the time.

As he rolled westward on the C.N.R. one delegate remarked on the absence of painted dwellings. He mused on the aesthetic value of bright colors for farm houses and advanced the theory that the farmers, ranchers and pioneers would develop a greater sense of pride in their properties if the buildings were painted.

The delegate further suggested that the government—as a morale booster and in the interests of general beautification — reimburse through tax deductions those who painted their homes and buildings.

This visitor's dream might or might not be feasible but color, just as music, hath charm for all.

LIFE in this Prince Rupert
by BIDDEE JINKS

Being slightly off the main thoroughfare between the East and the West, we in Prince Rupert sometimes feel by-passed by artists or otherwise talented people who travel from place to place. And then, once in a while, we find ourselves exceedingly favored in that one, even unobtrusively, has entered our midst.

I am thinking of Mr. Bjorn Selvig who, with his wife, is visiting his brother and family of this city. Mr. Selvig needs no introduction, particularly since his exhibit of last week in the Civic Centre. We who saw left that building with the quietude of those who look upon rare beauty—indeed, the work of genius! In black and white, shaded with a finesse beyond comprehension, Mr. Selvig's works touch the simple things of everyday living and turn them into the unforgettable.

One of my favorites was a sketch of a little old log shack, sagging a bit, leaning in sympathy to the Norwegian hillside on which it had rested full many a year, the old sod roof showing signs of weathering—yet, it was beautiful. And a story compassed it about; for beyond this hill and this shack were others in the district of Telemark where Mr. Selvig and his wife took refuge for more than two years from the Gestapo. None of us know what that means. We hear of it, we read of it, we murmur, "It must be awful"—and promptly go on with our way of life, untouched.

they were caught and information "wrung" from unwilling lips, it would jeopardize everything, in particular the life of this co-organizer.

So the Selvigs moved; but it meant more than just moving. It meant selling everything they possessed to provide means of livelihood while up in the hills. And more than that—for a Quisling agent had approached Mr. Selvig with the offer of a high salaried position in the propaganda department of the government; he would be invaluable to them in placing before the people the propaganda, in black and white, that Quisling wanted them to see. Mr. Selvig refused, choosing rather to suffer hardship with the countrymen he honored and for the country so treacherously betrayed.

They made for the hills, taking little besides Mr. Selvig's easel and art-portfolio. Many times this proved his salvation, for when approached by an officer of the Gestapo, Mr. Selvig was innocently pursuing his vocation of drawing! Actually, he was invaluable to the Allies. In his search among the hills for subject matter for his pencil and pad, Mr. Selvig found many other things, including ammunition and pamphlets dropped by the Allies. He gathered it and distributed it; and the Ger-

SEARCHED BY GESTAPO

One evening a heavy knock sounded on the door of the shack which was the Selvig's home. It was the Gestapo. Unceremoniously they entered, searching the house carefully, their eyes peering everywhere, even into the very desk where, in plain sight, lay the pamphlets gathered that day! They had not been hidden away—everything was lost. But somehow the officers did not see them and left the premises empty-handed! It brings to mind an old-old story of a man in a lion's den. Could it be—could it be—that those men, looking, could not see?

Another of Mr. Selvig's drawings shows a German ship lying in the fog of early morning in the Tamsberg harbor. Morning after morning Mr. Selvig walked along the wharf, sketching as opportunity permitted. Not only is the scene itself outstanding, but it is also representative of the loyalty with which the Norwegian people served the Germans who occupied their country; for this vessel lay in harbor two years for repairs that would normally have taken two months to complete!

LIKE CANADA

Mr. and Mrs. Selvig have been in Canada for four months. They love our country and would like

FISHING AREAS CLEAR OF MINES

LONDON (Reuters)—Sixteen minesweepers of the Royal Navy, now back in their British bases, spent two months making the coasts of Iceland and the Denmark Strait safe for the world's fishing fleets.

It has been one of their most protracted and arduous post-war missions and they swept up to the limits of the Northern Ice Pack, operating in perpetual daylight.

The craft operated from Reykjavik and Seydisfjordur where, during a short stand-off period, "several of the more ardent members sallied forth and succeeded in placing a shirt on a pinnacle overlooking the fjord," as an officer put it.

The leatherback sea turtle reaches a weight of 1,000 pounds.

to make it their home. Yet, unless certain regulations are waived in their behalf, they will sail for Norway in two months.

It seems to me that we need more men of this calibre in Canada. Not only does Mr. Selvig carry in his possession documents of commendation and appreciation for his services in the Underground, bearing the stamp of the high command, second-in-command, and with the seal of the Norwegian government. These speak of character and stamina. But more than that, he comes with a pencil in his fingers—an inspiration for Art, that would reach beyond the present generation to make a greater, more cultured Canada.

Pity the Poor, Sober Scotsmen

GLASGOW, (C)—Glasgow is a more sober city, thanks to shortage of liquor supplies and new forms of recreation.

"Drunkenness is no longer a problem to us," said Chief Constable Malcolm McCulloch. Police records show an improvement in drinking habits since the beginning of the century. In 1905 proceedings were taken against 183 persons in every 10,000 of the city's population on charges of being drunk and incapable. The 1935 figure was 57 in 10,000. Last year it was at a record low of 16.

"Cinemas, dance halls and improved opportunities for sports and other recreations are undoubtedly strong counter-attractions to the public house," said Chief McCulloch. "Young people are growing up away from the atmosphere of public houses and when liquor again becomes plentiful I don't believe they will change their present temperate or tee-total habits."

for you

● If you are one of the thousands of Canadians who started buying bonds in the very first Victory Loan, you certainly are lucky. Even if you bought bonds in only a few of the loans, you still are lucky. You have your bonds tucked away for a rainy day. You're getting extra income by cashing the coupons regularly.

With the war over, the question was whether or not Canadians still wanted to keep on buying bonds. To find the answer to this question, thousands of people all over the country were asked if they wanted to continue their wartime savings habit. Eight out of ten of those asked said they were anxious to keep on saving—by buying bonds.

In answer to this demand, Canada Savings Bonds will go on sale soon. They will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500 and $1000. The interest yield will be attractive. The bonds will be registered, providing protection against loss. They can be cashed at any time at full face value, with interest, at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Complete details will be announced in this paper on Monday. Watch for this announcement, and make plans now to buy the new Canada Savings Bonds.

8 out of 10 will buy again....

TURSDAY SERMON

THE BEST PEOPLE

W. S. PROCKTER, rector of St. Andrew's Cathedral says a parson seldom gets through a day somebody telling him that those who do not are just as good as those who do. In fact many go much further and say in effect the best people are those who are entirely emancipated from the trammels of religion. This is a den which may make them compare unfavourably with the strong, healthy, handsome, charming and able of this world.

But surely it is obvious that our Creator must expect a greater output of nobility, kindness, leadership and burden-bearing from those who are best equipped to do this. It is surely a cheap thing to sneer at the other person when his or her physical and mental endowments are far less than our own. The handsome person doesn't know what it is like to live behind a plain, insignificant or even homely exterior. The ones with good digestions do not know what it is like to live without one. Why should one, who has no trouble at all being kind and charming, despise another person who has great difficulty in this respect? Why should those who can be brave without even thinking about it consider that they are superior to those whose first reaction from babyhood is to run away?

How does it come about that some of us had fathers and mothers who loved each other, and who had every material advantage to give us? How is it that we were born into one race and not into another? That we grew up here in Canada and not in some Asiatic slum where all our boasted mental ability would have hardly secured for us the barest necessities of existence? That we came into this world free of half a dozen diseases which would have stacked the cards against us right from the start? All these things, if we have them, were given to us. We did nothing to deserve them and one day you and I will have to account for the use we have made of all our splendid equipment. Shall it be said in that day that we used it all to despise our less fortunate fellow creatures and to thumb the nose at the Giver of all of it?

It does not matter to Almighty God what you have or have not in the way of physical and mental equipment. He can put all that right in His own good time. The soul burdened with bad nerves, sexual twists or other handicaps does not have to worry, if in the meantime he learns to trust in God and to lean upon His Salvation. On his spiritual pilgrimage perhaps he will not make a very lovely or profound impression on the world in which he lives, but all that he does will be in his case a tremendous achievement and the goal of it all to be transformed into Christ's likeness. Many who are first shall be last and last first.

It is true that the most costly thing God does is to make an immortal soul out of a human being. It was this that cost the Suffering and Death of Christ. Creation is easy for Him. He can make a handsome body or a keen mind without even thinking about it. But all these handsome bodies and keen minds are things just of the moment. They are like the beautiful sunsets that are speedily swallowed up in the night and are soon as if they had never been. It is our job for the little while that we have what we have to make of that an immortal soul. And the way to do it is to let God do it. For this the Christian Fellowship is vital. The Sacraments are vital. The worshipping, praying and working together are vital. It is not always pleasant. The devil still has most of the best times. We cannot promise you a good time in the church. Nor can we promise that you will be with the best people. But you will be at God's most costly business for yourself and for others, which is the making of immortal souls out of human clay. You will be treading the only road of Hope.

INFLATION HITS BRITISH SOCCER

LONDON — Blame it on Britain's housing shortage or the post-war "new deal," but big-league soccer managers willing to part with big sums for players now find inflation has hit the market.

One of the best examples concerns 31-year-old Tom Walker, Hearts' Scottish international inside right who, apparently, had a lot to say in his recent transfer to Chelsea, English League first division club.

Services of Tommy, a big noise in pre-war football, were sought by Charlton Athletic. Jimmy Seed, Charlton's manager, made a couple of London-to-Edinburgh trips to make the deal but Chelsea, a last-minute "dark horse," signed him on the dotted line for £6,000 ($24,000).

It isn't known what Tommy got out of the deal but sports writers weren't hesitant about mentioning a home, plus a good position. In all, it was figured that Tommy's soccer playing and position would net him about £30 a week.

During negotiations in the Scottish city between managers of the clubs concerned, Tommy was called into the discussions and stated the terms and conditions he wanted.

"The sky was the limit, but even that wasn't high enough," Seed told newspapermen on his return to London after Chelsea had obtained the player.

There may be two answers to this latest twist in soccer transfers. Players are looking for some of the "gravy" in the financial deals; they are becoming increasingly conscious of the gate receipts and the post-war crowd interest in the game with attendances at the 44 English League Saturday games nudging the seven-figure mark.

The other answer may be that lack of experience of some of the youngsters who made a name during the war years is enhancing the status of the old-timers who proved their worth in pre-war.

The flying boat Haida Queen which went to Stewart Friday on her regular flight, is remaining in the north on charter freight work to the mines in the vicinity, and will return Tuesday on her flight to Vancouver.

Britain Aspiring To Become Racing Centre of World

LONDON — Britain wants to be regarded as the horse racing centre of the world and ambitious plans are being drawn up by the Jockey Club to realize this in 1947.

The club has its eye on air transport as a means of bringing the winners of other countries to Britain to compete in major international events. It plans to cater to the public by staging longer meets at the big tracks.

Smaller meetings will be developed also, assisted by increased revenue expected from the big fixtures. Larger purses are regarded as an incentive to keener competition, with correspondingly increased attendance.

Many tracks will be re-opened next year for the first time since before the war. An August Bank holiday fixture at Epsom is thought likely to become permanent in addition to the spring and Derby meetings, and Goodwood and Ascot will probably have three meetings.

NEW YORK — Tony Zale came back from the verge of a knockout Friday night to flatten Rocky Graziano in the sixth round of their fight in New York and retain the world middle-weight boxing championship.

Zales weighed 160 pounds, and Graziano tipped the scales at 154 pounds.

RATION SCHEME LITTLE CHANGED IN OLD COUNTRY

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — There are forecasts of more sugar and jam in the spring but right now Britain's basic rations are no better, on the whole, than when the war was on.

Tea, candy and meat rations have been boosted a bit but cheese, fats and soap have been cut and bread is rationed for the first time in British history. Many foods sold freely during the war have been brought into the "points" rationing system to put a ceiling on sales.

These are the present ration levels:

Sugar—One half pound a person a week, unchanged since 1940.

Meat—Whatever can be bought for 1s. 4d. (28 cents) a week—twopence more since bread rationing was introduced than at any time since 1941. A family of three can have four meat meals a week if the slices are thin.

Bacon—Three ounces a week, one ounce less than during most of the war.

LESS FAT ALLOWED
Fats—Seven ounces a week compared with eight during the war; an ounce more butter, an ounce less margarine and an ounce less lard or other cooking fat.

Cheese—Two ounces a week, compared with three ounces during most of the war.

Tea—Ten ounces every four weeks, two ounces more than at any time since 1940.

Jam—One pound every four weeks, the regular wartime allotment, or an extra pound of sugar if preferred.

Candy—Fourteen ounces of candy or chocolates every four weeks, two ounces more than the wartime level.

Soap—Three small cakes of soap, or their equivalent in soap flakes or soap powders, every four weeks—one-quarter less than at the end of the war.

Bread—Not rationed at any time during the war but now limited to nine ounces a day for the average person. Cake and flour are included in the nine-ounce figure.

32 POINTS QUOTA
No major food item has been removed from the rationing scheme since the war ended and so far there is no prospect of any such move.

Aside from the staple rationed commodities, many other foods come under the control scheme, available only by surrender of "points" tokens from the ration book. Thirty-two points a month is the individual quota. A pound of prunes takes eight, a box of cereal two, a small tin of first-grade salmon 20. Dried eggs used to be point-free but now a small tin takes eight points. Half-a-pound of sweet biscuits is a four-point item.

Eggs are allocated on the ration book—sometimes two a week but more often one or none at all. Oranges and bananas are kept for children only. Fruit has been more plentiful, with supplies flown in from the continent, but prices are high. Peaches, even late in the season, were about a shilling (20 cents) apiece.

"Dog Inferno" Invaded

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. — Three men armed with sticks and truncheons fought their way through a "Dante's inferno" of savage dogs to arrest their owner and clean up a "dog den" on the outskirts of Southampton.

Charles Edwards, 65, was sent to jail for three months for causing unnecessary suffering to seven dogs. The inspectors told of savage attacks by dogs chained in kennels made of oil drums, broken boxes, pieces of wood and old cisterns.

"It was a kind of Dante's inferno of experience," said one.

TURNPIKE'S ORIGIN

Seek to Traffic Toll
Australia's traffic rate is climbing...
There are fewer auto-roads now and rationing still applies.
The number of killed and injured daily accidents is about 50 with the pre-war rate of 76. During the war 115,000 died or were injured on the roads of Great War.
South Wales state is responsible for 60 per cent of the road toll and the Road Safety Council has a campaign against the rate with the co-operation of automobile associations and administrations.
Posters, newspaper and advertisements are being used to urge greater precautions and pedestrians. There are lectures to school children, 1,000 of whom under the age of 15 are road accident victims in New South Wales every year.

REC COUNCIL GIVES FUNDS TO CIVIC CENTRE

Prince Rupert Recreational Council, parent of the robust Rup-Rec movement now operated by the Civic Centre, voted itself out of existence last night, bequeathing its worldly wealth to the Civic Centre Association.

During its slightly more than a year of existence, the council, formed in June 1945 to be the operational arm of the Civic Centre movement, handled more than $5,000, of which $1,400 was turned over to the Civic Centre last night.

Of this, $427 had originally been a Civic Centre contribution to an equipment fund prior to the time when the present building was acquired.

In its initial stage, the Recreational Council was responsible for the formation of gymnasium classes, outdoor sports program and other recreational activities which later became the responsibility of the Civic Recreation Board, and now the Civic Centre Association.

Of the money turned over to the Civic Centre Association last night, $1,045 was turned into the general operating account to sustain operations of the Civic Centre.

The money was compiled by subscriptions from organizations in the city which contributed to it in amounts varying from $5 to $100 monthly.

Tribute to the pioneer work in recreational activities done by the Recreational Council was paid by several members when it was formally dissolved.

ECONOMY MOVE TO FREE MANY U.S. SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON—Thousands of American soldiers are slated for discharge in the army's latest economy move. The War Department announced that it will discharge immediately all non-essential non-volunteer enlisted men returning from overseas who are (1) not needed at their domestic posts and (2) are within six months of their discharge date.

In addition, the army ruled, enlisted men in overseas or domestic posts who are within six months of separation will be discharged immediately if they can prove that they intend to enter a college or university immediately or they are not critically needed by the army.

The army said the new discharge orders would affect a large number of the 300,000 enlisted draftees still in the service.
