Evacuation From Iran Is Under Way

RUSSIANS, HOWEVER, WILL REMAIN IN ONE PROVINCE

TEHRAN (CP)—Undersecretary of State Prince Firouz said today that Russian troops have received orders to begin evacuation of Iran. Firouz said the Russians will leave Seman, 100 miles east of Tehran, exactly on the deadline set by agreement of the Big Three with the Iran government several months ago.

Six hundred British troops, last of the British garrison, moved from Tehran yesterday and the last two hundred of them were moving across southern Iran into Iraq today.

Last American troops were withdrawn at the end of December. Troops of the three nations had been sent to Iran in 1941 to guard and maintain the southern life line to Russia from the Persian Gulf.

The Russian withdrawal from Iran is only partial. Moscow announced that the Soviet troops would remain in sections that are still disturbed including the northwestern area which includes the province of Azerbaijan.

Appeal For Road Work

Elaborating on the deplorable condition of the highway between the city of Prince Rupert and Galloway Rapids which is threatening to cause the suspension of business between fishery plant operations at Port Edward and Prince Rupert, the Prince Rupert branch of the Automobile Association of British Columbia has dispatched a petition to Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of public works at Victoria, urging that immediate steps be taken to effect necessary repairs.

The Automobile Association communication is as follows: "As you are possibly aware, during the war years the Americans with their heavy equipment kept this road between Prince Rupert and Port Edward in condition. Since they have left the district very little maintenance work has been done and this is the reason for the present complaints being received.

"Early this month complaints were received regarding the condition of the Provincial Highway from Prince Rupert to Galloway Rapids Bridge. These complaints were made by automobile owners, transportation companies, and Nelson Bros. fish processing plant, who in connection with their businesses are using this road continuously. Nelson Bros. even are going so far as to threaten withdrawal of their business amounting to approximately $500,000 per year from Prince Rupert merchants in favor of dealing direct with Vancouver. Transportation companies also have threatened to stop operations on this highway between Prince Rupert and Port Edward, which would isolate this latter community.

"After receiving the above complaints, the mayor, together with representatives of other organizations of Prince Rupert, contacted the local office of the Public Works Department, making a strong plea regarding the condition of this road, and were assured by Mr. Brady that temporary repairs would be made.

"Following this conference two trucks and a gang of men with shovels were used to fill some of the holes with crushed rock for approximately one and one-half miles north of the bridge. After that work was discontinued with the exception of a handful of men with wheelbarrows cleaning out ditches and dumping this refuse in holes along the road.

"Some snow was eventually cleared from the Prince Rupert end by a small bulldozer. "Three weeks after the first complaints were received, the same parties again drew our attention to the condition of the road which was now in an even worse state of deterioration. Copies of letters are attached.

"Two members of the Automobile Association made an inspection tour on February 20 and took photographs of the road and equipment available for maintenance. These pictures are attached.

"On February 24 a committee of this association called on Mr. Brady and were informed nothing more could be done, and if he so wished, he could close the road entirely. This lack of co-operation prompted us to bring this matter to your attention.

"A further inspection tour on February 26 revealed that only four men and two wheelbarrows were working on the road.

"Nelson Bros. Fisheries are directly dependent on this road for transportation by truck of their processed fish from their Port

LIVERPOOL SHIP FIRES

LIVERPOOL, (P)—Fire among 1000 bales of cotton aboard the Swedish liner Drottningholm was brought under control today after dense fumes caused evacuation of passengers and crew. Three firemen were overcome. The vessel had arrived Wednesday from India with 700 passengers.

Three other ships in the harbor had fires during the night and arson is suspected.

Statement on Dry Dock Deemed Unsatisfactory

Industrial Committee Has Letter From Mr. Vaughan — Various Proposals For Local Development Put Forward

The Prince Rupert Industrial Committee meeting, last night, expressed extremely dissatisfaction with a letter from R. C. Vaughan, president of Canadian National Railways, dealing with the future of the local dry dock, and the apparent lack of energetic effort to obtain contacts. While no mention at all was made in the letter of the construction of a new ship for the B. C. coast service, a service unable even now to handle satisfactorily the business offering, and pathetically inadequate to attempt to handle the tourist and industrial traffic of the immediate future. A recommendation will be submitted to a general meeting in connection with this matter.

Among the correspondence received at last night's meeting from government officials and organizations the letter from R. C. Vaughan, president and chairman, Canadian National Railways, with reference to the use of the dry dock aroused the most comment. This letter, dated February 11, was as follows:

"As you know, this plant was utilized under the emergent conditions of wartime for the construction of certain types of vessels for which there was an urgent need. I am given to understand that these products of the yard, as measured by performance, compared very favorably with the products of other Canadian yards. I have no authentic information, however, as to comparative costs. The last order for new construction is now approaching completion and, although efforts have been made to secure new business, these efforts thus far have been unsuccessful.

"The future of the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyard will require very careful consideration and I am unable at this time to make any definite statement in this respect."

Various Suggestions Being Considered

The committee last evening gave consideration to various briefs submitted by several organizations in the city containing suggestions for the industrial development of the city and district and, in order to incorporate these into a recommen-

Opening of Centre Off

Official announcement was made today that the formal opening of the Y.M.C.A. war services building as Prince Rupert's civic centre was postponed from this week-end until such time as the building has been turned over by the government to the Civic Centre Association through the clarification of certain matters in connection with the negotiations. The postponement involves the ceremonies of opening which were to have taken place on Sunday afternoon and the dance on Monday evening.

Meanwhile, the building will remain in the hands of the Y.M.C.A. war services with the staff in charge. There have been no further developments since yesterday when the mayor wired to the Minister of National Defence requesting a clarification of the whole situation.

WASHINGTON, D.C., (P)—Government officials said Friday that two Russian fighter planes recently fired on a United States patrol plane after it flew over a Soviet air base area at Port Arthur.

The officials, who declined to direct attribution, said that some damage was done to the Navy plane but that none of the eight officers and men on board were injured.

MARGES MAY FOLLOW GIRL'S DEATH

Arrest of Two Men Follows Finding of Coroner's Jury in Shanoos Case

Two men were taken into custody last night and are facing the possibility of charges against them in connection with the death on February 10 of Ethel Shanoos, a 21-year-old girl who died in a cabin on Ninth Ave. E.

Gordon Robinson and John Gordon were taken into custody at the conclusion of a coroner's inquest in the death of the Shanoos girl which resulted in a verdict that "Ethel Shanoos met an untimely death due to suffocation assumed to have been caused by her being placed in an unnatural position.

The jury brought in the verdict Thursday evening after an afternoon session of the inquest which was resumed following an adjournment since February 11. Testimony of Effie Johnson, companion of the Shanoos girl during the drinking party which preceded her death, was heard again by the jury as was that of John Wing and Robert Gordon Robinson. In the cabin of the latter the girl died.

Medical testimony by Dr. R. E. Coleman, autopsyist, revealed at the earlier session of the inquest that the Shanoos girl apparently had died of suffocation. It also indicated injury to the lower part of the body.

Building Permits Total $7,885

A building permit authorizing construction of a residence on Fourth Avenue East, valued at $4,500 by Chris Berg was the largest item on the list of building permits issued by the City Engineers' office during February. Permits for construction and repairs on buildings totalled $7,885 for the month.

Customs Receipts Total $17,313

Customs receipts at the port of Prince Rupert during February totalled $17,313.13, bringing the total so far this year to $48,459.99. Receipts for February 1945 were $32,470, and the two month total was $80,294.

Trouble Lies At Top

We have thought that the higher-ups of the Canadian National Railways might have been spurred to the adoption of a little more helpful and efficacious policy in regard to the maintenance and development of business for their facilities in this part of the country, one of the most important of which is the Prince Rupert dry dock, after our protestations a short time ago. That was what the Daily News had been lately hoping for and believing but the Prince Rupert Industrial Development Committee, and it has been working hard on the matter and should be in a position to know, does not appear to think that Mr. Vaughan, the chairman and president, is doing all that he could in this connection. Today it announces its "extreme dissatisfaction" with a reply which Mr. Vaughan has made to its representatives urging continuation of activity at the shipyard here, advocating specifically the early construction at the plant of at least one vessel for its depleted and inadequate coastal fleet which, with only the ancient and hard-working steamer Prince Rupert remaining, will find itself turning away business this year and next year, too, unless immediate action is taken to secure new ships.

If apathy towards this end of the railway stems from the very head of the company in the person of the chairman and president it is indeed difficult for lesser officials, and, no doubt, the hearts of some of them are in the right place, to be fully effective and enthusiastic.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the difficulty as far as getting the railway company to assume a forward-looking and progressive policy in connection with this very important line and port, which demonstrated its great usefulness and value in the emergency of war, instead of a niggardly "dollars and cents" attitude of waiting for business to fall into its lap and doing a minimum to assist it, lies right at the top, and possibly, even, beyond the chairman and president himself.

It appears that right here in Prince Rupert we have a lot of fighting still to do to win with our rightful place in the sun.

Civic Centre Situation

There can be little criticism of the decision to defer the acceptance of the Y.M.C.A. war services building here as the civic centre until such time as certain points in the terms of contract for the turning over are clarified. Even if there may be some inconvenience and disappointment over the official opening having to be deferred after full preparations had been made for it this week-end, it will be well worth waiting a couple of weeks or so if, as a result, a better deal can be obtained. In any case, it is but good business to know fully of what we are going into.

There seems to be some uncertainty as to what the Department of National Defence might have had in mind when it supposedly attempted to get possession of the building. That is one of the points that was obscure and may fittingly enough be cleared up.

The fuss that was raised over the whole matter this week may not have been in vain. It at least brought things to a head and may speed the final settlement on the most favorable terms.

Mr. Hart's Program

Northern and Central British Columbia will, no doubt, share large measure of benefit from the extensive program of development in highway and public works projects as well as other fields suggested in Premier Hart's keynote address in the Legislature yesterday.

Of particular local interest is the announcement of a complete rural electrification plan for Terrace district, a start on which has already been made and the machinery for further extension of which is on the ground.

Roads in all parts of the province are reportedly in a deplorable condition, the Skeena River area being not alone in that regard. We may expect the attention which the Prince Rupert Highway, for instance, so badly needs.

It is high time that a program such as that now pledged was undertaken. Probably, it would have been instituted had it been possible to provide men and materials earlier. But it will be all the more timely now.

Of direct interest to the central interior of the province, particularly the eastern section, is the statement of the provincial Prime Minister that the commission idea of forest administration, as proposed by the Sloan report, is not to be implemented but that direct departmental administration will be continued under the minister of lands, Mr. Kennedy, the north's sole cabinet representative.

The Matter of Spain

The situation which has arisen currently over Spain and the insistence of the thoroughly unpopular Francisco Franco upon maintaining his dictatorship has its spectacular phases and is attracting a deal of attention but there is no reason but to suppose that it is little more than a tempest in the teapot.

The fact that Great Britain and United States with France are taking an active part in the matter by suggesting that the people of Spain oust the strutting little Fascist should serve to speed his elimination which is bound to come sooner or later.

There are possibilities of a more or less minor flare-up to be sure but the danger of a major conflagration in arms is not very potent. At that, however, it may be a source of irritation for a time.

WALLACE BELFRY— At 21 and in his freshman year, he is managing editor of Varsity, the University of Toronto's eight-page daily, the world's largest student publication. He will be interviewed on Canadian Cavalcade, on Monday, March 4, from 8 to 8:30 p.m. E.S.T. Belfry got his discharge as an ordinary seaman only a few months ago from the Royal Canadian Navy.

Rotary Club Sees Colorful Films

The magnificence of British Columbia's scenery and its opportunities for all types of game hunting and sport fishing were beautifully portrayed to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club on Thursday afternoon in colored film presented by James Cunningham, chief game commissioner for B.C. Showing scenery all the way from the Stikine River country to the southeastern part of the province, the pictures contained remarkable shots of game in natural habitat. Vivid scenes of trout fishing throughout the province deeply impressed the Rotarians. Guests at the meeting, welcomed by club president James H. Thompson, were Ernest and Walter Hammond of Vancouver; Frank Brown, Penticton; Richard Evans, Smithers; Inspector H. H. Mansell, provincial police; Game Inspector George Martin, Carl Dybhavn, Vancouver; P. D. Bannerman, Victoria; Bruce Rogers, Game Inspector Thomas Van Dyk, Prince George; William Drake, Vancouver.

HOLDING DOWN FRONTIER

By PEG DEEDER, Francois Lake

One sometimes wonders what would happen if all the frontiersmen and women should suddenly decide that life in the wilderness is much too raw and rugged, and move to the cities. Certain it is that, within a few years, all the clearings, made with axe, grub-hoe, and strong backs, would be reclaimed by second growth. Wild animals would once again inhabit the fields from which man has long held them at bay.

In British Columbia, at least three-fourths of the vast province must be termed "frontier." In this hinterland there is no town with a population of ten thousand people. The little towns and villages, comprised mostly of a few hundred persons, are reminiscent of mining towns shown in old flicker-films of by-gone day. They are thrown up with no regard to planning. In the spring their main streets are hub deep in mire. Many of the business buildings are paint-peeled and decrepit, if, indeed they have ever been painted at all.

Ancient, one-room log school-houses may be seen at intervals along the dirt roads. These take care of the grade school children, some of whom must attend from a distance of five or more miles away. There are no school buses. High school students must either take correspondence courses or their parents must arrange to board them in the village. This is usually prohibitive, because people in the back-woods do not have very much money.

Their produce must be shipped, except for the small quantity locally consumed, hundreds of miles to Vancouver. There, in the extreme south of the province are the only processing plants. Freight rates are high, and all of the manufactured goods the frontier people use must be freighted in, and cost dearly.

The women of the frontier look longingly at advertisements depicting the new labor-saving devices of the modern kitchen. They, who are lucky indeed, if they have a pump in the kitchen, and an old fashioned gas washer, console themselves by saying, "Maybe by the time the children are grown and have homes, those things will come to this country."

First South, Then North.
What they mean is that when the south of the province, with its milder climate and larger voting population, is properly equipped with electric power and modern farm homes, then, and only then, will some attention be given to the problems of the remainder of the province.

The population of B.C.'s hinterland has not increased in many years. True, people come, and are impressed with the scenery and the potential productivity of the country; but they immediately ask: "Where is your market? Vancouver?"

That's too far, too much freight! What? No manufacturing? No payrolls? Do you mean there is no packing plant this side of Vancouver? No railroad connecting your northern port of Prince Rupert with the Peace River country? No rail or highway into your mineral belt in the north? No pulp mills? No nothing this side of Vancouver?"

These are the questions they ask; then the prospective settlers say a very emphatic "Goodbye!"

Still, the pioneers continue to hold down the frontier. They love their country, and many of them were born there. There is narrowness and ignorance among them; but, on the whole, they are tolerant and fair-minded people and wonderful neighbors.

Co-ops are coming to the fore, much to the disgust of those who have waxed fat from fleeing the producer. People are learning to buy and sell co-operatively. Enough of the settlers have stuck together over a period of years that they now begin to see clear sailing for the ship of "co-operation."

But the frontier people know that, until some inducement for settlers is provided in the way of payroll industries, hydro-electric power, and transportation, the hinterland of B.C. will remain a frontier.

"We can't put the cart before the horse," they say, "but bringing in thousands of settlers until we can assure them a livelihood."

REBEKAH HEAD IS VISITOR TO LOCAL LODGE

Mrs. H. D. Hollingshead, president of the Rebekah assembly of B.C. and Mrs. Lottie MacDougal, one of her officers, who arrived Wednesday from Vancouver to pay an official visit to the local Rebekah lodge, will leave by tonight's train for Calgary to attend the Rebekah assembly in that city. They will visit lodges in the interior of British Columbia on their way back to Vancouver.

During her official visit here, a very good turnout of members of Centennial Rebekah Lodge, Number 40, greeted Mrs. Hollingshead at a meeting held Wednesday night in the Oddfellows' Hall. They were rewarded by hearing an inspiring address given by the president in which she brought out the fundamental and far-reaching effects of the work of the Order in B.C. The Order showed a successful year in all phases of endeavour, particularly in the United War Relief effort, in which it worked through the International Red Cross.

Mrs. Hollingshead stressed the fact that the population now stands, hydro-electric power would not be a paying proposition; but, without it, manufacturing industry will not move into the country. Give us the facilities, and the settlers will come. Give us the settlers and we'll provide our own markets. Give us the markets and transportation will find its way into the rich, far-flung corners of this province."

Glen Cunningham made a new world's indoor record for the 1,500-metre run at New York eight years ago. The barrel-chested miler from Kansas covered the "metric mile" in three minutes, 48.4 seconds, clipping 1 1/2 seconds from the former mark set by Gene Venzke who finished 35 yards behind Cunningham.

The Canadian Rugby Union rules committee adopted the forward pass at a meeting at Toronto 15 years ago yesterday. The move followed years of discussion on the subject and led to the opening up of the Canadian game and importation of many stars from United States in succeeding years.

Primo Carnera, then world's heavyweight champion, successfully defended his title in a 15-round decision over Tommy Loughran at Los Angeles 12 years ago tonight. Three months later Max Baer trounced the beefy Carnera who never again proved a real threat.

B.C. HOPES IN CURLING

Team Off to Compete in Macdonald Brier Championship

VANCOUVER—Earnest hope of bringing the Macdonald Brier championship to British Columbia for the first time in history is in the hands of four curlers now enroute to Saskatoon on a Canadian National train to take part in the famous competition which starts in the Saskatoon arena next Monday.

The Vancouver rink, headed by Frank Avery, will carry the B.C. colors into battle against Canada's best. Avery, and his rinkmates, all former Manitobans, have beaten British Columbia's best. This will be his fourth try for the coveted curling honors, but his first attempt as a skip.

Other members of the rink, all seasoned curlers, are Bob Brown, Third; Bob Henderson, second, and Ned Wiginton, lead.

CO-OP, JUNIOR HIGH WIN FIRST HOOP GAMES

Co-op hoop squad delivered a shocking but pleasant surprise to the fans and their league mates last night by smashing their previously uninterrupted record of losses to defeat Macey's 35-27. Losers of their 10 previous encounters in the league circuit, the Co-op team was said to have borne up commendably under the unexpected victory.

The triple game session in the Armory also brought forth another upset when the Bo-Me-Hi squad crumbled at the seams during the second half of their game with Savoy's, and came out at the losing end of a score of 49-28.

In the junior lead-off fixture, Junior High also made its first win by trouncing Gyro.

Bursting with determination, the Co-op team took the initiative right at the start and maintained an almost continuous lead over Macey's. Only once did Macey's take the lead by stepping ahead one point for a brief period. It was clearly Co-op's best game so far this season. Co-op's high scorers were Viercek with 15 points followed by Petersen with eight.

In the Bo-Me-Hi encounter, Bo-Me-Hi led during the first few minutes, but finished the first half three points to the rear. Half time score was 17-14. During the second half the students played their poorest game this season. Teddy Arney of Savoy broke loose to run up a 25 point individual score, the highest this season, and a real record.

In the junior game, the High School squad did better than their seniors. They climbed out of their rut to win their first game of the season, putting on a display of competent ball handling which had a happy effect on the fans.

High School's high scorer was Carlson with 11 points, followed by Mostad of Gyro with 8 points.

Individual scoring:

Co-op—Viereck 15, Johnson 6, Sheperd 4, Menzies 2, Petersen 8, Sharpe.

Macey's—R. Holkestad 4, J. Haugan 2, Murray 3, Pierce 5, Arntsen 3, Cruickshank 7, Menzies 3.

Savoy—Arney 25, Davis 9, M. Holkestad 10, Vuckovich 5, Simundson, Eby, Alexander, N. Haugan.

Bo-Me-Hi—F. James 2, J. James, J. Forman 8, Hartwig 2, Cllicone 9, Thompson 7, Lavigne, Miller.

Junior High—T. James 2, T. Forman 2, Boulter 4, Wong, Eidsvick, Carlson 11, Lien 2, Scharff 2.

Gyro—Mostad 8, Shier 2, G. Haugan, Sunberg, Laurie, Pierce, Forbes, Moore.

ARE MARRIED AT SMITHERS

SMITHERS—A wedding of interest took place last Wednesday evening when Rosa Hill, daughter of Mrs. Charles Nichols and the late William Hill of Smithers, was married to Patrick J. Downey, son of J. P. Downey, pioneer hotel keepers of Smithers.

Patrick Downey is a Bachelor of Commerce, having obtained his degree at the University of British Columbia.

The wedding took place at the Newton residence and Rev. C. E. Mott performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. John Williams, and Wilfred Eby was the groom's attendant.

Both the bride and matron of honor were gowned in floor length dresses of white satin and carried bouquets of roses.

A reception was held in the dining room of the Newton residence where the bride, the groom, the father of the groom, the groom's guests, James Sever, presented to the bride who responded to the bride's wishes were Mesdames Newton and Hindle. The couple will be at home to many friends in Smithers the first week in March. It is expected that they will return home here.

Aussie Brothers Start Gold Rush
KALGOORLIE, Australia, (P)—This western Australia town is having its first real gold rush since the war started. The rush has followed a rich strike a few weeks ago by two brothers named Hill. The Hills, inventors of a mobile-boring machine, took their gadget to the Kawonnina field. They put down two bores close to mines thought to have been worked out at Exeter and White Feather. One of the brothers, H. J. Hill, tested the old reefs by boring 62 feet. They then sank a shaft to 12 feet and struck a reef about four feet wide which showed both fine and coarse gold. The two have now pegged out claims over about two miles of virtually virgin ground in the vicinity.

Porous Soil Cover Needed To Insure Seedling Growth

Petunias and zinnias are the most popular flower in America today. They have come to the front in the last 20 years, displacing the former leaders, which were nasturtiums and sweet peas.
Each of the popular leaders has outstanding merits, that of the petunia being profuseness and long season of bloom. Though so slow to begin that seed is usually sown early under protection, the petunia never stops blooming until frost kills the plant.

Unlike other annuals, petunias do not seem to mind failure to pick off faded flowers. Where many annuals stop blooming, once they have begun to mature seed, the petunia keeps right on; which may be due to the fact that a great percentage of its flowers make no seed.
Double petunias never bear seed; pollen from them must be carried to single flowers and seed from the usual cross produces both double and single plants. But all-double petunias, grown by a method which still is secret, have now been produced, and one of them, All-double Colossal Shades of Rose, won in the All-America trials for 1946.
The secret of breeding all-double petunias was first discovered by the Japanese, and until the war the only all-double seed came from that country. Now the method is known in this country, and many all-double varieties may be expected.

Most widely planted petunias are the small flowered singles, in many tones of red, pink lavender and blue-purple. There are no really yellow petunias, though some varieties have a tinge of cream. Some small flowered singles are very dwarf in habit, others make large mounds covered with blossoms. Some large
