Premier King Spurs Peace Conference

Urges Paris Parley to Quit Bickering and Get Down to Real Business

Lashes Out at Unnecessary Delay—Italian Treaty Talks Proceeding

PARIS—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada lashed out at the peace conference today, complaining at the lack of progress that was being made. Vital time was being wasted on futile discussion over procedure while all the time the peace of the world was being threatened. The Canadian Prime Minister asked the conference to remember the cost of war, stop its bickering and get down to the business of peace making.

The peace conference went into its fourth week in low gear today as the Italian economic committee became involved in a lengthy discussion of how various chapters of the Italian treaty should be divided between it and the political committee.

Committees on the Finnish and Bulgarian treaties also began their deliberations.

France touched off the discussion with a suggestion that the economic committee include on its agenda Article 72, which sets up a conciliation commission in case of disputes over Italian restitution of Allied property.

Russia supported the proposal, and deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky said it should be adopted as a general principle that all questions of "a predominantly economic nature" should be considered as falling within the economic committee's scope.

Civic Centre Carnival Duly Declared Open By Mrs. Paige

Prince Rupert Civic Centre annual carnival was officially opened at 7 o'clock Saturday night by Mrs. L. A. C. Paige, for whom the ribbon-clipping ceremony before a large crowd at the carnival grounds gate was the climax of a 4,900-mile journey from Halifax to Prince Rupert.

Wife of the driver of the automobile which carried herself and her husband across the continent to win the Manson Gold Medal awarded by the Public Relations Council to the first drivers to make the journey, Mrs. Paige officially opened the city's annual gala week after Chief Petty Officer Paige had been awarded the medal by Mayor Daggett and she had received a symbolic silver spoon from the mayor.

The ceremony took place at the McBride Street entrance to the carnival grounds before a crowd of several hundred who stood under a clear evening sky which gave carnival authorities a surge of hope that such good weather might continue for the duration of the week-long celebration.

On the platform were Mayor H. M. Daggett, Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Paige, Public Relations Committee chairman R. E. Montador, Civic Centre President T. Norton Youngs and Al Manson, donor of the gold medal.

Following a brief speech of welcome, Mayor Daggett presented the medal to Chief Petty Officer Paige, who, in his response, paid tribute to the warm hospitality with which Prince Rupert had received himself and Mrs. Paige after their long drive.

"We enjoyed the drive, but we enjoyed the reception that you people gave us far more. You people have been wonderful," he declared.

Mayor Daggett then presented Mrs. Paige with a souvenir silver spoon. Following Mrs. Paige's response, the two travellers received congratulations from those assembled on the dais.

An interesting feature of the ceremony was the presentation of a large bouquet of gladioli and carnations to Mrs. Paige by tiny John Lindsay, grandson of the proprietor of Lindsay Motors, local Dodge car dealer. Mr. and Mrs. Paige had made the trans-Canada journey in a 1935 model Dodge.

Carnival Was Well Patronized
With the opening of the carnival games, the crowd streamed into the grounds where they patronized the various stalls and booths until midnight. Carnival committee chairman Youngs reported that attendance was excellent, and expressed hope that "good weather and good crowds" would continue throughout the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paige left the city at 1:30 p.m. in their veteran automobile to motor to Vancouver, after which they will travel to Cumberland, Vancouver Island, to spend part of their holiday with Mrs. Paige's parents. They hope to reach Burns Lake tonight.

They plan to motor back to Halifax through the United States. At the city hall this morning they were presented by Mayor H. M. Daggett with a letter of greeting to Mayor J. E. Ahern of Halifax. Mayor Daggett made the acquaintance of Mayor Ahern during the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities several weeks ago.

Dedication Is Lauded

Minister of National Defence Writes in Regard to Roosevelt Park

"It does seem fitting that this park should have been named Franklin D. Roosevelt Park and is being dedicated as a tribute to the thousands of American soldiers who served in the Army during the war," says a letter received from Hon. Douglas Abbott, minister of national defence, replying to an invitation to his department to be represented at the forthcoming dedication ceremonies here. "It is with pleasure, therefore, that I am able to accept the kind invitation to have a member of the Army staff represented at the ceremony."

It has already been announced that the Canadian Army will be represented at the dedication by Brigadier E. C. Plow, C.B.C., D.S.O., district officer commanding, Military District 11, Vancouver, who is coming instead of Major-General F. E. Worthington, C.B., M.C., M.M., general, officer commanding, western command, Edmonton.

Inter-Town Series—SMITHERS BASEBALL TEAM BEATEN IN SUNDAY DOUBLE-HEADER HERE

Local All-Stars 8, Smithers 0, Savoy 5, Smithers 2

Making a week-end raid on Prince Rupert, a Smithers all-star baseball team suffered a double repulse in two games against two Prince Rupert teams on the Roosevelt Park diamond Sunday afternoon. The travel-weary visitors went down by a score 8 to 0 against an all-star local team in the early afternoon and, in an evening game, suffered a 5-2 defeat at the hands of the Savoy team.

In all, the sixteen innings which composed both games presented the packed bleachers with as good a brand of baseball as has been played here this season and it is possible that, if the visitors had not spent the whole previous night in travelling, they might have showed up better in the scoring. They arrived at 4 o'clock Sunday morning by automobile, playing their first game nine hours later.

The largest baseball audience to assemble at Roosevelt Park this season achieved rosy sunburns in the open bleachers at the afternoon game and the evening attendance was only slightly smaller.

Afternoon Ball Game
The nine-inning afternoon game was undoubtedly the slower one from the fans' viewpoint but blossomed into real activity in the fifth inning when Prince Rupert got a series of breaks that netted them six runs. The four previous innings had netted them a run off a single by Lindsay in the second and one, off a single by Davis who completed the circuit with the help of a double by Windle, in the fourth.

Smithers went six innings without tallying a hit. In the seventh, a hit by Starret was (Continued on Page 2)

CLEARING C.P.R.
BANFF—It is expected that the Canadian Pacific Railway main line at Cathedral Mountain will be cleared by tomorrow of the big rockslide which came down at the week-end. The highway has been cleared and buses are carrying passengers between trains on either side of the obstruction.

U.S. HOTEL FIRE
ST. LOUIS—Damage estimated at $50,000 was done when fire broke out in the 27-storey Park Plaza Hotel early Sunday morning. Guests escaped in night attire. Four firemen were injured.

PREMIER AT DIEPPE
DIEPPE—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today, in an address at this once-bloody Normandy city, that Canada brings to the Paris peace conference "as beacon light of encouragement and hope, the example of people of different races, languages and religious faiths, once at enmity with each other, now as a single nation."

Marjorie Jackson Shower Honoree

A delightful miscellaneous shower was held Friday night by the office girls of the War Assets Corporation at the home of Miss Mary Postuk, 1005 Park Avenue in honor of Miss Marjorie Jackson.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in crepe streamers, pink and white being the predominant colors.

Several amusing games were played, prize winners being Eileen McKale, Lorraine Thornton and Lillian Franklin.

During the latter part of the evening piano selections were rendered by Miss Mary Postuk which proved very enjoyable.

Delicious refreshments were served after which a beautifully decorated basket was brought in with many lovely gifts for the bride-elect.

Order Is Restored

Situation Relatively Quieter After Three Horrible Days in Calcutta

CALCUTTA—The situation was relatively quieter and British forces seemingly had things under control today in Calcutta after the worst riots in the history of this great Indian city which, during three days, had brought violent death to over two thousand people and injury to thousands of others. At least some semblance of order has been restored but many parts of the city appear like a virtual battleground with tanks and guns and heavily armed men everywhere while the streets are littered with dead with millions of dollars of damage from burning and looting in evidence.

CHARGED AS BOY KILLER

Returned Man Reported to Have Confessed to Crimes in Vancouver and Calgary

LETHBRIDGE—Donald Sherman Staley, a recently discharged overseas war veteran, is being charged with the sex murder of young boys at Calgary and Vancouver—Donny Goss and Gary Billings respectively. Now serving a one-year sentence for breaking and entering into a cafe here, he is announced by police to have confessed.

It was on July 5 that Gary Billings was criminally attacked and murdered in Stanley Park in Vancouver. Not long after, Donny Goss was done to death at Calgary under somewhat similar circumstances. Explanation by a pathologist of a knife in Staley's possession led to suspicion in connection with the killings of the boys.

Staley returned from overseas June 17, was honorably discharged a few days later. He came to Calgary the latter part of July and was arrested here August 17.

LONDON—The Council for the Provision of Rest-Breaks Houses for Nurses and Midwives announced receipt of $1,560 ($8,240) from the Canadian Nurses' Association.

SHORT SPORT

REMEMBER WHEN—A wild Syracuse southpaw called Johnny Vandermeer walked 10 men but limited Toronto Maple Leafs to five hits to give the Chiefs a 3-1 International League victory 10 years ago today. The next year he found his control and made the experts throw the record book out the window by tossing two consecutive no-hit games for Cincinnati Reds.

The youngsters who play on the Dominion's soccer fields these days are mostly native-born Canadians, but in years gone by, the top-drawer teams filled their ranks with many a man who hailed from the land of haggis and Robbie Burns. One of the greatest of the Scottish immigrant players was a stocky little chap named Bobby Harley, who captained a Canadian football team that toured Australia 22 years ago. Bobby's 57 now; just a little too old for active play, but he keeps close to the game by managing the Civic Legion team in Winnipeg. He's also vice-president of the Manitoba Football Association. He doesn't exactly remember when he first played soccer. "Up at Airdrie, where I was born, they almost give a lad a football the day after he learns to walk."

It was in 1924 that Bobby was chosen captain and centre half of the Canadian all-star team to Australia. "That was a real squad," he recalls. "It included Dickie Stobard of Vancouver, one of the best left-halves the game has ever seen. Then there was Jim Honde of Brandon and George Forrest of Toronto, both fine players." The Canadians took the Australians for 20 out of 26 games. "Those Aussies could run like rabbits," Bobby says, "but our teamwork was better."

Harley gained the reputation of being a pretty durable character. He played his best football after suffering a severe leg injury in the First Great War, and he made the Australian trip at the age of 34. "Don't know what the matter with the young fellows in the game these days," he remarks. "They're all washed up in their late 20s. Guess they don't live right." It wasn't until 1933 that Bobby broke a few ribs in a game at Winnipeg and decided it was time to quit.

Bobby's watched a lot of soccer in the last few years, and he hates to admit it, but he thinks the West Coast footballers are tops. "I saw Vancouver North Shore win their four-game exhibition series here this summer, and they were feally a delight to watch. Now I find that Vancouver St. Andrews is supposed to be even better. Of course it was

OPEN SEASONS ARE ANNOUNCED

Open season for ducks and geese in this district this year will be from November 1 to January 15, it is announced by the Department of Mines and Resources. Local hunters who desire early hunting may, however, obtain it by going into the Atlin district above the fifty-sixth parallel of latitude which includes certain popular migratory bird hunting venues around the mouth of Portland Inlet. There the season opens September 1 and continues to November 15.

The bag limits this year are 12 ducks and 5 geese in any day or 125 ducks and 25 geese in the entire season. The shooting of migratory birds earlier than one-half hour before sunrise or later than one-half hour after sunset is prohibited.

The same in my time. Nanaimo and Ladysmith used to field some wonderful teams back around 1912."

Walk into Bobby's apartment today and you'll see scores of pictures taken during his playing career. There's also a photograph of his son Gordon, who plays a little soccer himself. "He's a good player, but he's too scientific to my way of thinking," says Bobby. "I used to rush right into the thick of it. That's the way to enjoy football."

SHOW PARTY FOR CARNIVAL HERE

Entertainment troupe, especially billed for the Civic Centre Carnival each night this week, arrived on the Catala last night from Vancouver. It consists of Marguerite Hewson, tap dancer; Mary Mack, singer and comedienne, and the Delrays, adagio dance team, all of whom are well known and popular in the professional entertainment world.

Smithers-Prince Rupert Games

discounted at second base when he was tagged by Windle on a throw from Harley Lewis, third baseman.

Starrett also made Smithers' second hit of the game in the ninth inning but his scoring chance also fizzled out at second base when Windle tagged him on a throw by catcher Cliff Dahl.

What was undoubtedly the most spectacular play of the game was made by Prince Rupert's left fielder, Joe Beruschi, when he stretched himself to grab a fly from Delage in the seventh inning. Reaching to almost horizontal position, Beruschi managed to catch and hold the ball while he recovered balance by doing a complete summersault.

On the mound, Stu Henry, recruited from the Moose line-up in the city league, struck out seven batters, walking two. He allowed four base hits, and struck out seven batters. Incidentally, the two batters who were passed on balls by Henry were Aida and Leach, the first two batters of the game.

Carl Spicer, Smithers pitcher, had the distinction of passing no batters on balls. He struck out 6 batters, and allowed nine base hits.

A two-base hit was made by Minor Simundson in the seventh, and by Windle in the fourth. Neither of these mighty blows resulted in scores, both runners being left at third base when the inning ended.

Seven-Inning Evening Game
The evening game got off to a faster start with Smithers scoring one run in the first inning and Prince Rupert two. Aida, Smithers' diminutive second baseman, scored after getting on base when struck at bat by a pitched ball. Minor Simundson, first Prince Rupert batter, set pace for his team when, as first batter, he hit a double that eventually came home.

Minor, incidentally, is the most proficient base-stealer in the local league, having amazing speed between bases and a disconcerting ability to slide between basemen's legs.

Prince Rupert's second run in the first inning was made by Doug Kerr, left fielder, who got on base on a catcher's error after being struck out.

After making their initial run in the first inning, Smithers was held scoreless until the sixth, when Leach came in off a three-base hit, which incidentally, was the only triple of the series. Leach came home with the full blessing of umpire Joe Beruschi when pitcher Jack Lindsay balked.

A double by Lindsay accounted for one of Prince Rupert's two runs in the third inning, the other being scored by Walter Johnson who was walked by Smithers' pitcher Carl Spicer.

Prince Rupert's final run was scored when Minor Simundson made the circuit after being walked in the fifth.

Carl Spicer put up a commendable performance on the pitching mound for Smithers. After hurling nine innings in the afternoon game, he reappeared in the evening to pitch four well-controlled innings. He was relieved at the first of the fifth by Delage, who finished the game.

News of Smithers

A very successful picnic was held at Lake Kathlyn on Wednesday afternoon when members and friends of St. James Anglican Sunday School gathered at the Lake for their annual outing. The party was picked up at the Anglican Hall by John Bovill and taken to the lake in his truck. Races and baseball games were enjoyed by both young and old and a number of the kiddies went in swimming. There was an abundant supply of ice cream and candies for the youngsters, and everyone had a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Heggie of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, have been visitors in Smithers for the past ten days and guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Heggie. Mrs. Louise Campbell and daughter, Diana, left last week to spend several weeks holidaying in Vancouver and elsewhere in the south.

District interest will centre this Wednesday on the annual Hazelton Flower Festival. In addition to the show itself, there will be such interesting features as queen crowning, baseball, sports, picnic supper and ball in the evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Morrison of Kispiox, mother of Moses Morrison, took place last Wednesday. Mrs. Morrison had passed away in Prince Rupert and the remains were brought home for burial.

Twenty-four children attended an undenominational Bible school which was held during the past week at the United Church in Hazelton. Mrs. Ward Marshall and Capt. Helen Collard had charge of the younger groups; Miss R. Tolley and Miss R. Beck, the intermediates, and R. Morris, the older group.

Mrs. L. G. Skinner and Miss Edna Dobbie R.N. of Copper River were here at the first of the week enroute south on a motor trip which they plan will take them as far as Vancouver Island.

Miss Echo Lidster, superintendent of boys' and girls' clubs, has been a visitor in this district during the past week and was at Kispiox today.

Miss Audrey Benson has resigned as a nurses' aide at the Hazelton Hospital and is joining the staff of her father's office.

Fall drive of poles down the Skeena River was started last week by the Hanson Timber & Lumber Co. A large number of poles are being sent down to yards at Nash and elsewhere down the river, which are practically empty.

A. G. Bartlett and Bert Bartlett motored up from Prince Rupert at the first of the week. Mrs. Bert Bartlett and children are visiting in Hazelton until September.

FENCES TO KEEP OUT WILD DOGS

Governments Pay Bounties to Keep Sheep-Killing Wild Dogs in Check

SYDNEY, Australia (P) — The wild dog, known as a dingo here, is one of the most destructive pests with which the Australian farmers have to contend.

Usually brindle-coated, and slightly larger than a sheep dog, he is a cunning and deadly sheep-killer, and is found throughout the country districts of Australia. Experts say that dingoes' remains found in isolated regions suggest that they were in Australia before the advent of the Australian aboriginal thousands of years ago.

The destruction they cause among sheep is typified in these two instances. On one New South Wales sheep run recently, dingoes killed 100 valuable sheep in four nights; in Queensland, they reduced one flock from 31,000 to 17,000 in 12 months.

The dingo has become so much of a pest that all state governments offer a bounty for each dingo scalp. In New South Wales, the government pays $10 a scalp, while Queensland and South Australia pay up to $5 a scalp.

The dingo is killed usually either by poison or shooting. Six thousand ounces of strychnine are on their way from Britain to aid the dingo hunt in Queensland, where 20,000 have been killed in the past nine months. In South Australia, 417,000 din-goes have been destroyed in the past 13 years.

In New South Wales, the government has given the lead to other states in dingo prevention measures by constructing a special wire fence round most of its borders to keep the pests out.

The fence runs for 220 miles along the New South Wales-Queensland border, and for 146 miles on the South Australian side. It costs $40,000 a year for upkeep, which is paid by the state government and farmers. It is kept under constant supervision by a team of overseers who use automobiles and horses for the job.

If there were no fence, experts say that hundreds of thousands of dingoes would enter New South Wales, and repeat the AFFECT PRINCE RUPERT?

ACTION, IF ANY, that may follow the current visit to Alaska of a United States congressional military committee, which has declared that United States vast northern territory of Alaska must be adequately and quickly armed to repel any possible invasion, might well again project Prince Rupert strongly into the North Pacific strategic picture as it did during the war.

The Alaska Highway and the Northwest Staging Route might be the main route to the north in an over-all defensive scheme but the coastal water route would at least be an important subsidiary.

Naturally, it would be preferable if Prince Rupert could be built on some sounder and more permanent footing than that of military expediency but, nevertheless, that is something that must be considered. In this changing world, it is not easy to predict from day to day where and in what manner our future destiny lies.

PALESTINE EXPLOSION?

WILL PALESTINE blow up at last? Some observers think that a major explosion is imminent but past experience suggests that the fuse which was all unwittingly touched off by Arthur Balfour in 1917 is a very slow-burning one and that it is still a long way from the real dynamite. On the other hand, the tempo of rebellion in Palestine has certainly speeded up of late. It was known some time ago from captured Hagana documents that serious trouble was brewing, but the real answer to the question depends on the force of British counter-measures and Hagana reaction to them.

Hagana means defence. The organization was formed about 40 years ago, originally for the purpose of securing protection by joint action against Arab bandits.

Various incidents have encouraged the growth of Hagana as an armed resistance movement until it now includes almost every adult Jew in Palestine. The acquisition of arms by Hagana was not too difficult. For thirty years the Middle East has been one huge arsenal, and weapons could always be bought at a price. In spite of severe penalties, there are thousands of illicit firearms cached in various parts of the country.

Until quite recently, Hagana had not clashed openly with the British authorities. Its role has been passive rather than active. Most of the terrorist incidents of the last few years were directly traceable to smaller but more violent organizations. Hagana has confined itself to intensive preparation and to assisting the entry and subsequent protection of illegal immigrants.

When Hagana does decide to come out in the open, it may prove to have something more than a nuisance value. It is estimated that the organization can put up to 80,000 trained troops in the field, including some 3,000 commandos.

The Hagana Jews do not want to fight the British; in fact they realize that in a major showdown they would not stand a chance. They hope, however, to gain their point by turning world opinion against the British policy in Palestine. As they see the position, the British are only in Palestine for selfish reasons.

Before the first World War (so runs a favorite argument) Arab nationalism was rising swiftly and during that war the Allies made use of it.

It is perfectly true that Lawrence of Arabia was not satisfied that his promises to the Arabs were carried out, but his power to make promises was doubtful, and in any case Britain was not the sole arbiter in the matter. It is also true that British interest in Palestine is largely based on the protection of the Suez Canal. It is only natural that Britain should wish to protect that vital life-line. Jews the world over might have suffered far more seriously than they did, had the Germans captured Suez. With regard to Zionism, the charge that this was no more than a political trick is a grave libel on the memory of that distinguished statesman, Lord Balfour.

Palestine contains half-a-million Arabs. The Arab knows that he cannot compete with the Jew, and that he has not the capacity to develop Palestine. The Jew possesses the very qualities which the Arab notoriously lacks—energy, vitality, and knowledge of modern methods. Arab leaders see only too clearly that Zionism involves a new economic life built on Western models and new applications of science which would eventually oust all who could not adopt them.

Aggressiveness on both sides has not helped matters. An early Zionist publicly invited the Arabs in Palestine to "trek along." Arab extremists, in berserk moments, have carried out brutal massacres, cutting down greybeards and carving up women and children.

Britain has been unlucky in that the Balfour Declaration of 1917, promising a national home for the Jews, was followed by the Hitler pogroms which uprooted millions of Jews and left them homeless. These unfortunate people clutched at Zionism as a drowning man clutches at a straw, but Zionism, in its original conception, was never intended to cater for millions of Jews. Jewish leaders aver that in Biblical times Palestine supported ten times its present population, and that with modern methods even that figure could be doubled.

Britain, trying to hold the balance fairly as between Jew and Arab, has restricted immigration and the purchase of land by Jews. If the Jews were allowed their own way, the Arabs of Palestine would soon be dispossessed. And the Balfour Declaration makes it quite clear that nothing shall be done to prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine.

PAPER INDUSTRY

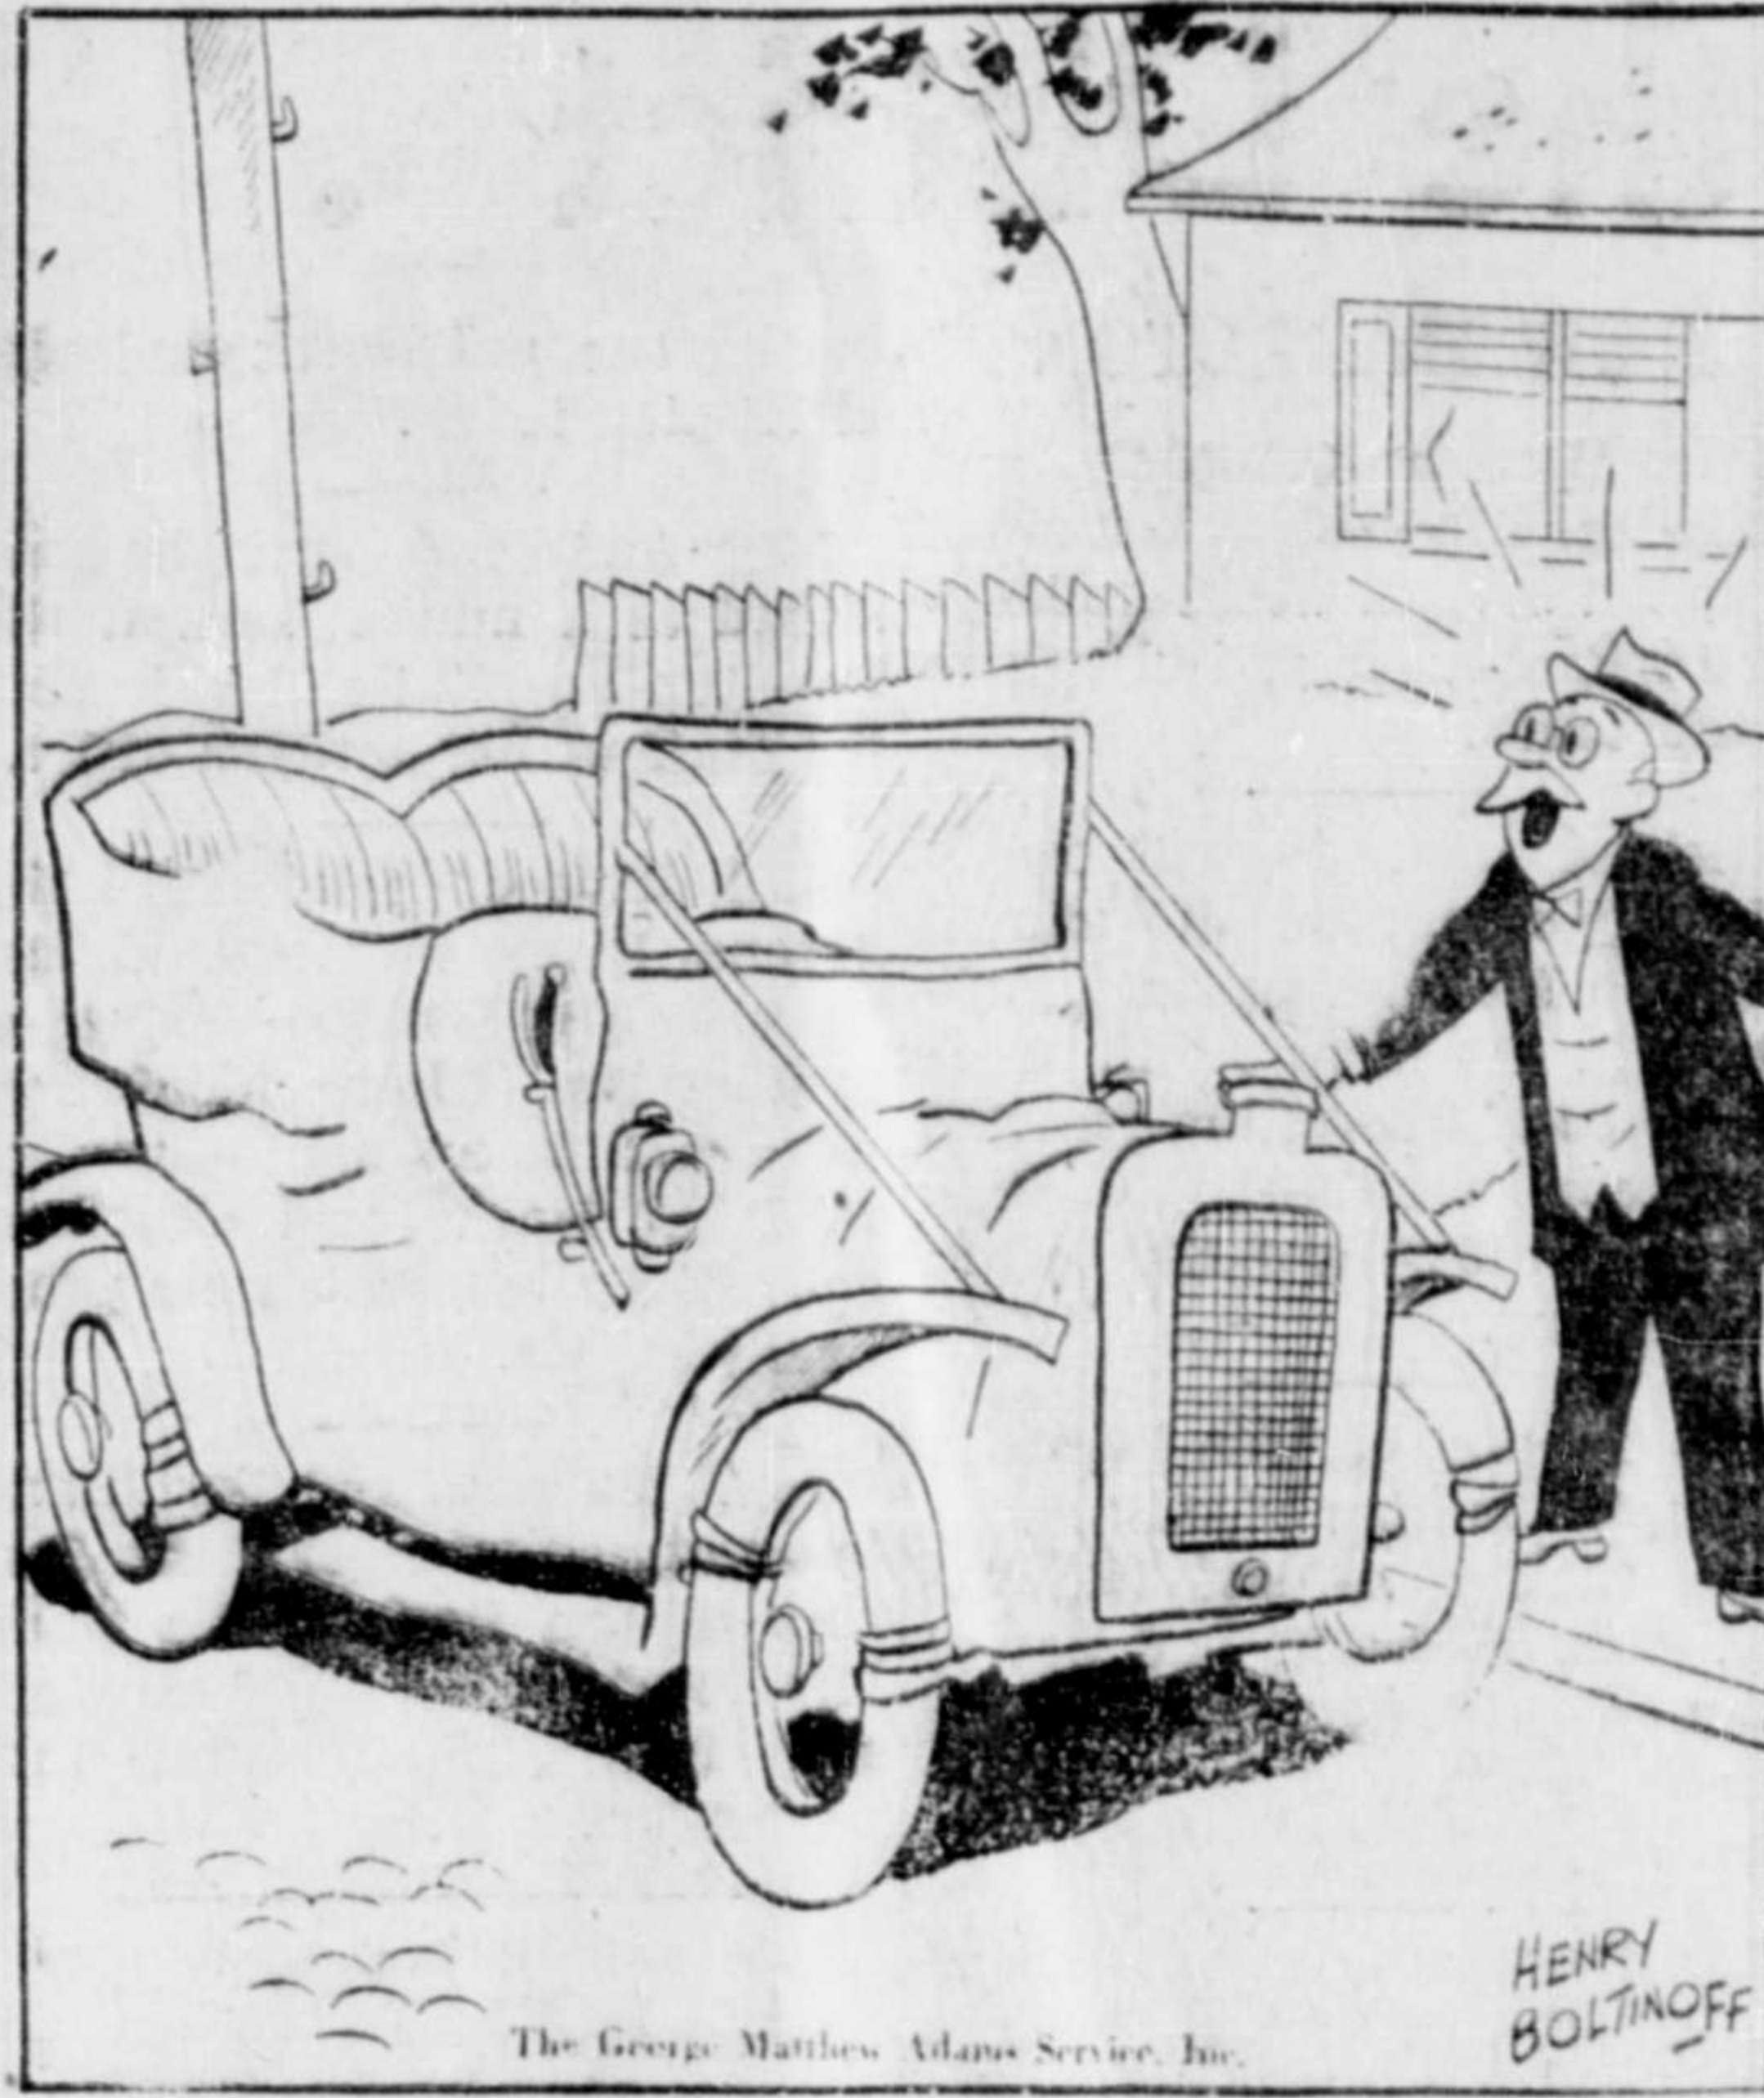

DEVELOPMENT of the pulp and paper industry into the Dominion's biggest manufacturing enterprise in which 200,000 workers are employed is reviewed in a booklet recently issued by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

The booklet traces the industry's growth from the building of the first Canadian paper mill at St. Andrews, near Lachute, Que., in 1803. There are now more than 80 pulp and paper companies in Canada operating 108 mills with output at about $375,000,000. Of all the peacetime domestic manufacturing industries, pulp and paper stands first in employment, first in total wages paid, first in export values, first in the net value of production and first in capital invested, the booklet reveals.

In newsprint alone the Dominion has a mill capacity of 4,250,000 tons yearly and 94 per cent of the output is exported. Canadian production supplies three of every eight newspaper pages printed throughout the world. Normally the industry accounts for 14 to 24 per cent of the Dominion's total exports.

Emphasis is put on the fact that the industry is making much progress with its program to build a perpetual industry despite the fact that millions of trees are cut down annually. Reforestation is expanding rapidly throughout the country and the main problems to be overcome are forest fires, tree diseases and destructive insects. A plea is made for greater governmental supervision of forest management and the fight against forest diseases and an appeal is made to individuals to take every possible precaution against fire.

AIRMEN ADOPT JEW CHILDREN

Distribute Parcels From Home To Ailing Youngsters in Germany

MONTREAL—The story of how 22 Canadian airmen, seven of them Montrealers, "adopted" 22 Jewish children while stationed near Hamburg, Germany, and brought them back to health, was told here recently by one of the airmen, LAC Sam Kirshner of Montreal.

Kirshner told how he and a friend, Cpl. Mickey Goldberg—both members of the all-Canadian Spitfire Unit which is believed to have topped all others in Europe in downing enemy planes prior to VE-Day—aroused interest in 20 other Jewish men on their airfield at Uetersen, west of Hamburg, to aid the children by distributing the greater part of their parcels from home among them.

The need was so great, the servicemen soon found their parcels far from sufficient so they wrote their families, friends and various organizations asking for more bundles of food and clothes.

So successful were their appeals, that men who had been receiving one or two parcels a month were soon getting as many as 30 in the same period. The parcels were remade into 12-pound lots, one being given periodically to each child. The donations, however, were not made haphazardly as the airmen had earlier investigated and written down the case histories of each youngster and knew just what each one needed.

Women Authors Win Story Competition

JOHANNESBURG, (C)—Women authors have carried off the honors in a South African story competition in English conducted by an Afrikaans publishing firm in Johannesburg. Two manuscripts—"The Sea Hath Bounds," by Daphne Rooke and "The Expiring Frog," by Elizabeth Dagherleaves—shared the prize of $800 and a 15 per cent royalty on a guaranteed circulation of 10,000 copies. "The Sea Hath Bounds" was Mrs. Rooke's first attempt at novel writing. She is the wife of a plastering contractor, and mother of a six year old girl. Elizabeth Dagherleaves was the pen name of Elizabeth Charlotte Webster, who came to South Africa in 1925 and died in 1934. Miss Webster wrote "The Expiring Frog" in the last two years of her life and her sister submitted the manuscript.

As an indication of the lengths to which publishers were forced to go to have their newspapers appear on time, one Plymouth paper was forced to rush copy to Exeter, 44 miles away, and after printing, make the return trip with the finished editions.

DANGEROUS FUN!

- DON'TS FOR SWIMMING: Don't swim for at least one hour after eating a meal. Don't swim alone or to a distance at which you are not able to reach means of support in case of exhaustion. Don't dive into water unless you are sure of its depth and that it contains no submerged objects on which you might strike your body. Don't swim or wade in swiftly flowing rivers or in water that is affected by strong currents or tiderips.

- DON'TS FOR BOATING: Don't stand up in small boats. Don't jump from one boat to another. Don't take chances on the weather in a small boat or canoe.

Vacation time!—and thoughts turn to swimming, boating and fishing. They are all fun, but remember that these pleasant pastimes are fraught with danger.

British Columbia has the highest drowning death rate in Canada—an average yearly rate of 14 deaths per 100,000 population, over the past six years.

Most deaths from drowning are preventable. Avoid needless risks when swimming, boating or fishing. Only by increased vigilance and observance of common-sense rules of safety can we decrease the toll taken by drowning each year in British Columbia.

Reasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

It is the time for Peaches: Good crop coming this year

It is the time for peaches. This year the crop is very good. A homemaker has herself a large supply of canned peaches for next year. Many of these peaches were missed so much by the public last year. With that in mind, part of the country's sugar quota has been put aside.

They make a delicious jam. Peaches are also. Fruit jams are most popular in hot weather because they need very little sugar and are appealingly and appetizingly sugary.

Some home economists recommend peaches of the "V" variety. Rochester's, Elberta's and Golden Jubilee.

They may be canned by the "cold pack" or the "hot pack" method. For either method, the peaches are selected to size and degree of ripeness. Good, sound and ripe peaches should be used. Peaches with bad spots should be discarded and the good portions used for jam or desserts. When comes the blanching (boiling water), the case of peaches is to facilitate the removal of the peaches, like peaches in a peeler, should be removed as soon as possible. The peaches, after being blanching, are quartered and pitted. In the cold pack method, the peaches are packed in sealers, cut in half and covered with boiling water. The pint glass sealers are processed in a water bath for 20 minutes. Glass sealers can only be used in a thermostati-ally controlled oven at 275 degrees F.—pint sealers 35 minutes, quart sealers 45 minutes. The hot pack method differs from the cold pack. After the peaches are prepared, that is, blanching, skinned, drained from the brine, halved or quartered and pitted, they are simmered for 5 minutes in the syrup and packed hot. The processing time is decreased because of this pre-cooking. Sealers of both sizes and tin cans are processed 15 minutes in the boiling water bath. In the oven, pint glass sealers are processed 25 minutes and quart sealers 30 minutes, at 275 degrees F.

Peach Jam

6 cups sliced peaches.
3 cups sugar
3 teaspoons cider or blended vinegar or lemon juice
Prepare fruit then add sugar, mix thoroughly and allow to stand one hour before boiling. Start cooking and when jam begins to boil, add the cider or blended vinegar or lemon juice. Boil jam uncovered for 15 to 20 minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars, cool, seal. Yield: 4½ cups.

NOTE—Boiling time should be counted from the moment jam comes to a full rolling boil. Jam should be stirred frequently to prevent sticking. Since boiling time is approximate, jam should be tested for consistency by removing saucepan from heat, placing a tablespoon of jam on a cold saucer and chilling it quickly. If jam does not set to proper thickness, it should be cooked for a few minutes longer, then retested.

Peach Surprise

Rich biscuit dough (using 2 cups all-purpose flour)

3 peaches, halved and pitted
6 teaspoons brown sugar

Make rich biscuit dough. Roll to ¼ inch thickness and cut in 12 rounds of 4 inch diameter. On each of six rounds, place half a peach, cut side up, put 1 teaspoon brown sugar in the hollow. Cover with other rounds of dough, press edges together, and bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until browned. Serve with rich milk flavored with a few drops of almond extract or with pudding sauce. Six servings.

Crusted Peaches

1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
6 peaches
1½ cups dry ready to eat flake cereal
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Mix lemon juice and honey.

Peel peaches, halve and pit. Dip in lemon mixture. Roll in crushed cereal. Place in greased baking dish, cut side up. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot or cold, plain or with custard sauce. Six servings.

PASSES AWAY IN VANCOUVER

Arni Walter Johnson Dies in Southern City—Funeral Takes Place Today

Arni Walter Johnson of this city, who passed away on Friday in Vancouver where he had been taken for treatment, was laid at rest this afternoon in Forest Lawn Cemetery at Vancouver. He was an engineer at the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative plant and had been a resident of the city for some ten years. Forty years of age and a native of Manitoba, he had been seriously ill for about three months. Many friends will mourn deceased's untimely passing and will extend their sincere sympathy to the widowed mother, who resides here, the widow, the former Jean Eyclson, and young daughter, Marget.

Mrs. Johnson will return to Prince Rupert from Vancouver on Wednesday of this week.

WILD ANIMALS ARE FRIENDLY

SOUTH HAZELTON—Wild life has become exceedingly friendly this summer, approaching much closer to the settlements than is usual. An example of this was the visit here from Sunnyside Cannery last week of Henry Wilson to visit a sick friend. First of all, Henry saw what he thought was a cow in the yard of Jim Stewart but it turned out to be a moose nosing around the house. Then, as he neared Thomas Brown's house, he encountered a big black bear which moved calmly off into the bush. Then at Jonathan Brown's he saw what he at first believed to be a dog but which he found to actually be a coyote.

Richard Large, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large, returned home on the Catala last night after spending the past few weeks camping near Vancouver.

Miss Betty Greig, having resigned from her duties with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board here, left yesterday for Vanderhoof where she will pay an extended visit as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moran on their farm near that town.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Johnson are on a visit to Massett, having left for the Queen Charlotte Islands on the Cassiar at the end of the week.

QUITS TEACHING FOR RACE TRACK

Love of Horses Drew Justine Mosse From the Schoolroom

REGINA — A school teacher turned racehorse owner and trainer is Justine Mosse of Sar Fernando Valley, Calif., who has just completed a successful running of part of her stable at the Regina Exhibition.

Miss Mosse has been training horses and running them in various parts of the United States including Santa Anita, Hollywood Park and Chicago for the past 10 years. This is her first visit to Canada.

She says racing is in her blood because her family have been interested in the sport of kings for generations. Her father, born in England, is at her California home looking after the rest of her string.

It is more than a year since she last saw the San Fernando Valley and she doesn't expect to be home until December. While on the road she bunks close to her horses and superintends all work on the ponies.

Most successful of her horses in the Canadian circuit is The Wunk who won at Saskatoon and placed at Regina. The Wunk is an offspring of Morovich which won the Kentucky Derby in 1922.

She has enjoyed her visit to Canada and her only complaint is that Dominion racing purses are hardly big enough to cover expenses of transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty have arrived in the city from Long Beach, California, to spend a couple of months. Jack McNulty left Thursday night for a trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Christiansen are leaving by car on Tuesday next for Vancouver. Mr. Christiansen has finally severed his connection with Chris' Mill Bakery here.

Believe Dieppe Part of Scheme To Help Russia.

Raid of Four Years Ago Linked With Plan to Invade France and Take Nazi Pressure Off Red Army

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PARIS (CP)—The costly raid on Dieppe by the Second Canadian Division four years ago now appears to have been strategically linked with a desperate plan to invade France in 1942 to take some German pressure off the hard-pressed Red Army at Stalingrad.

This interpretation is based on the disclosure by Gen. George Marshall, former United States chief-of-staff in his report, "Winning the War of Europe and the Pacific," that the plan to invade with six divisions was considered two years before D-Day actually came.

Several senior Allied officers who knew some of the inside story of Dieppe and with whom I talked in London said the same thing.

Official details of the connection between the raid and the 1942 plan remain locked up with Britain's wartime prime minister, Winston Churchill, and the war cabinet and may never be fully divulged.

The basic strategic reason for Dieppe was never explained satisfactorily, but this much appears certain:

In April, 1942, when the Red Army was being forced back by the Germans, British and United States senior officers conferred in London on a tentative plan to invade Europe across the English Channel. The code-name for the operation was "Roundup" and the target date was the summer of 1943.

"Sledgehammer" Assault Plan

An emergency plan, code-named "Sledgehammer" and involving a diversionary assault on the French coast with at least six divisions, was also considered.

About this time the Second Canadian Division began intensive combined operation training. It was ticketed for the Dieppe raid but its task could be easily fitted into the "Sledgehammer" plan and in fact seems to have been part of it.

In June, 1942, Mr. Churchill and Lord Alanbrooke, then chief of the Imperial general staff, went to Washington for further conferences on "Sledgehammer" and "Roundup" and possible operations in the Mediterranean. It would seem that the final decision was reached there to carry out the Dieppe raid in early July.

At the Washington conference a trial run such as Dieppe to test new combined operation equipment and methods was thought necessary before risking all six divisions. Dieppe would be a certain raiser for "Sledgehammer" if the latter operation had to be undertaken.

As a result the Second Division rushed through its training and was ready to attack on July 4, but bad weather blew up. Day after day the operation was postponed and finally was cancelled on July 7.

Gen. Marshall later revisited London to determine, as the general said in his report, "if there were not something that could be done immediately to lessen the pressure on the Soviet whose armies were facing a crisis."

But the British and United States chiefs found it impossible to put on "Sledgehammer." The North African landings were ordered instead, but the Dieppe operation was kept on the books and in response to further pleas from Moscow for action in the west, it was finally decided to attack Dieppe in August.

About Aug. 17 the troops were moved toward Portsmouth and Southampton. On Aug. 19 the Canadians hit the beaches.

That, as far as I can determine without reading secret documents and inaccessible war cabinet papers, is the story behind Dieppe.

Other Questions Being Asked

Several other pertinent questions are still being asked. One is: Who did the planning? I can say, after careful investigation, responsibility for the broad plan was that of combined operations headquarters and the British war office.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, then First Canadian Army commander, and Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, then commander of the Second Corps, which included the Second Division, had nothing whatever to do with that part of the plan. The only influence any Canadian senior officers had was in working out details of the assault within the rigid framework of the broad plan.

The original plan was not greatly altered. For the raid which did not come off British paratroops were to be employed on the flanks. On the real attack commandos were used instead. There also was a plan, in the original intention, to attack Dieppe heavily with bombers, but this was rejected because the British war cabinet feared French reaction.

Rumors that the First Division was offered the assignment but turned it down because Maj. Gen. George Pearkes, divisional commander, regarded it as unsound, are untrue. The Second Division was chosen in the first instance and the First never entered into it at all.

TROOPS DON'T LIKE JAPAN

New Zealanders Show No Love For Temporary Home

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. — New Zealand troops who have been on occupation duties in Japan do not like the country, the people nor conditions there. When a draft of 2,000 of them, who have been relieved by a new volunteer force, arrived here they were full of complaints, some bitter, some good-humored and some merely resigned.

They complained of lack of clothing and equipment, lack of amenities, lack of provision for sport and recreation, and the fact that even when they did get leave there was little of interest to see and do in the war-ravaged part of the country where they were stationed. They did not like the "spit and polish" regimental discipline that prevailed.

"The only real amenity we had was beer, and it was not even very good beer," one man declared.

A sharp rejoinder to what he termed "irresponsible complaints" was made by Brig. K. L. Stewart, who recently returned to the Dominion after relinquishing the post of commander of the force. Brigadier Stewart said he did not claim that the conditions of the troops in Japan were perfect, but it was well to keep in mind that they were not on a holiday.

"I can only say that anyone who complains of too much spit and polish in an occupation force is a bad soldier," he added. Admittedly there were shortages in clothing issues, but that was due to cargo delay and the military authorities had no control over it.

Pictures were provided six nights a week. Brig. Stewart said. There was cricket, tennis, athletic sports, softball and swimming, and three rest camps at beaches. Conditions would improve every week and the re-

A MESSAGE FOR THOSE WHO NEED TRAINED WORKERS

1939 to 1945 ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNNER ON A CANADIAN CORVETTE

Keen eyesight, quick reaction, good nerves, initiative and fast accurate hand and eye co-ordination were first essentials for a sailor who manned the anti-aircraft guns on a Canadian fighting ship. He needed finger dexterity, for one of his jobs was to assemble and take apart the weapons, involving the handling of fairly small parts. And, in addition, he had the qualities demonstrated by all service men and women—whether tradesmen or not—the ability to accept responsibility, to show initiative, and to work successfully with others.

Today

A BUSINESS MACHINE REPAIRMAN . . .

With training, the anti-aircraft gunner of war days would be capable of handling many intricate assembling positions. The fact that business machine repair is one field of activity for which he can be fitted with additional training is an indication of how his service skills can be utilized.

An anti-aircraft gunner is only one of thousands of worthwhile peacetime workers coming out of the navy, army and airforce. If indicated, there is provision for training on the job, with the government adding to the income they receive while apprentices. You may get complete details about the training-on-the-job program through your nearest office of the Department of Veterans Affairs, the National Employment Service, or Canadian Vocational Training.

Men and women for the services were carefully selected on enlistment. Service experience, training, discipline and the lessons of organization add greatly to their value. Whether tradesman or not, the veteran makes the ideal employee. Canada offers none better.
