Urges Support Defence Plans

Canada, being considered to a large extent invulnerable by reason of distance and natural defences, had adopted the policy of mobilizing and training forces for service overseas. To a lesser degree this had been the policy in World War II and, as a result, Canada had been able to do much to restore confidence to Britain through presence of trained troops there in her hour of great need and danger.

Conditions had now, however, completely changed and there must be a complete new approach to the defence prob-is survived by three daughters,

Mrs. George Shenton of Prince Rupert and Mrs. E. Wheldon of Mrs. J. C. Westover of Victoria.
Many friends of the family will son's passing and will extend their deep sympathy to the berieved. The funeral was held at Qualicum Beach.

CIVIL WAR IS ALL OUT AGAIN

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek Orders His Generals Back Into Action

NANKING — It appears that the Chinese civil war is about to be resumed on full scale, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has ordered all his generals back into the field. The next major objective of the Nationalist forces will probably be the city of Yenan which is being used by the Communists as their capital.

AUTO TIRES ARE SCARCE

Few That Arrived During Last Few Days Insignificant

Compared with Requirements
With three hundred or more tires estimated to be required by Prince Rupert's motor vehicle owners, a mere half dozen or so which trickled into local dealers during the last week have done little to relieve the situation and local service stations have still to follow the practice of doling out the rubber to the most utterly needy customers. One dealer yesterday afternoon estimated that there were not half a dozen each of passenger and commercial vehicle tires in the city including a few that arrived during the last few days. "And there may not be any more before February," he grimly added.

Coal Famine In Cranbrook Town

CRANBROOK—The East Kootenay, where one of British Columbia's coal industries is centered, is facing a coal famine because snow is so deep that coal cannot be delivered from the mines. Such is the case here. Three feet depth of snow is holding up deliveries.

FOOD FOR ALASKA

EDMONTON—Eggs, poultry, fresh fruits and meat from Canada are now on the way to Alaska over the Alaska Highway following the lifting of export permit restrictions by the Department of Trade and Commerce. They are going from here to Dawson Creek by rail and thence by truck to Alaska.

MILLION-DOLLAR ORE BODY AT SMITHERS

Duthie Mill to be Reopened Within Forty-five Days

New ore bodies of an estimated value of $1,000,000 have been indicated by diamond drilling operations this year at Duthie Mines, Ltd., near Smithers, and the management plans to have the ore mill in operation within the next 45 days.

The ore bodies indicated by the drill tests are in addition to the high-grade ore which has again been made accessible through the rehabilitation of former

Alaska and Prince Rupert Territory Now Ripe for Divorce From Seattle Interests Which Have Exploited It For So Long

MOVE TO INITIATE NEW SHIPPING SERVICE FROM HERE APPROVED EVERYWHERE

PETERSBURG (Special to Daily News) — The honeymoon is over and Alaska, tired of an exploited marriage with Seattle interests, is shopping around for a divorce with grounds for such action as follows:

1. A price differential of 20 per cent on Alaskan purchases from Seattle wholesale houses, local merchants claiming that Seattle wholesale prices to Alaskans are higher than retail prices advertised in Seattle newspapers.

2. The current shipping tie-up which has seriously damaged the economy of the territory has impressed Alaska with the need of an alternate shipping link.

3. An expected freight rate boost when the War Shipping Administration turns coastal vessels back to the operators on January 2. Rates will probably be doubled.

Petersburg, like all communities in southeastern Alaska, is solidly backing the Briggs Steamship Co. in initiating a large service between Prince Rupert and the territory.

The latest announcement from Briggs states that his company is prepared to set up buying agencies in St. Paul and Chicago as well as arranging car pool loadings.

A representative of the St. Paul and Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce will soon tour Alaska to boost the advantages of buying in the Midwest.

This city of Petersburg has been hard hit by the strike. Its merchants have suffered a total loss estimated to be $300,000. All commodities are in short supply. Fresh produce is at a premium. Building is at a standstill. City streets have been darkened because of an electric bulb shortage.

"Prince Rupert has been our life line," declared a city spokesman. "We really would have been in bad shape if it had not been for Prince Rupert. When conditions were most serious our small boats picked up large quantities of essential supplies."

Lack of knowledge of Prince Rupert, its facilities and economic advantages of employing the great northwest route across the continent is evident throughout this section of Alaska. Most citizens know of it only as a good idea.

It seems imperative to this correspondent that Prince Rupert set up some program to educate the territory not only about Prince Rupert but also of its hinterland such as the Skeena and Bulkley River valleys. The majority of residents here have never heard of these two productive areas.

A Wrangell dairyman, Ivor Nore, who is purchasing hay from a Smithers concern, thought the interior village was some mining town on the coast and was surprised to learn that steamers did not call there.

There is a tremendous potential market in Alaska for the resources of Northern British Columbia but Alaskans must be told a few facts about their next door neighbor.

working faces. The mine management estimates that half of the value of the new ore can be recovered as profit.

Hint of General Strike—Steel May Close If Anthracite Is Hit

NEW YORK—The soft coal miners' strike against the government of the United States has started. The walk-out of 400,000 miners in various parts of the nation became complete at midnight in response to the strike call of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who gave notice of termination of the agreement with the government. Government officials were working today on papers leading to citation and possible arrest of Lewis on charges of contempt. He had failed to act on a court order requiring him to recall the notice of termination. He had not been arrested up to early afternoon today nor had any statement emanated from him.

Intention of the government to prosecute any labor leaders who encourage the strike has also been given.

What would happen if Lewis is actually arrested is a matter of conjecture. Already A.F. of L. and C.I.O. leaders have expressed their sympathy. There might even be a general strike.

The possibility of an early spread of the strike to the anthracite field is seen although no notice of termination has as yet been given.

There is some uncertainty as to whether the strike is complete in the state of Washington owing to communication difficulties in that area because of winter storm conditions. At least some of the Washington miners are out on strike.

Lewis is said to have at his disposal a sum of $13,000,000 for miners' relief.

Steel company executives state that steel plants will close down by the end of the month if coal supplies are shut off by strike.

REORGANIZING CANCER FIGHT

Leader in Work From Vancouver Here to Revive Branch in Prince Rupert

For the purpose of reviving a branch of the Canadian Cancer Society in Prince Rupert, Mrs. S. A. Conrad of Vancouver is spending a week in the city and at a luncheon of key representatives to be held next Monday is planning to get the reorganization actually under way. That evening Mrs. Conrad, who is honorary provincial secretary of the Society, will proceed by train to Smithers and Prince George.

While here she is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Norman L. Hooper, Killas & Christopher Apartments.

Arising out of the King George V Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund which was instituted in 1935, the Canadian Cancer Society's principal function, Mrs. Conrad told the Daily News yesterday afternoon, is to promote anti-cancer publicity and education in Canada. Now that war is over, the Society is able to get back into stride with autonomous provincial and local branches aiding in the national campaign.

Revenue is derived through membership fees. There are now no less than 60,000 members in British Columbia. In the membership drive at Prince George in April of this year, no fewer than 800 members were enrolled.

EDMONTON HAS RECORD COLD

Lowest Thermometer Reading For November in 50 Years

EDMONTON—Edmonton had its coldest November day in 50 years yesterday when the thermometer dropped to 19 below. On November 20, 1896, thirty below was recorded. Penhold, to the north, was the coldest point in Alberta with 34 below. Calgary had 21 below. West of Lethbridge there is 40 inches of snow.

Two More Are In Aldermanic Field

Two more aldermanic candidates were mentioned in today's civic election gossip around the town. John McLeod, manager of the North Star Bottling Works and member of a well-known pioneer family, is definitely in the field, it has become known. Another aspirant is expected in the person of Arthur H. Ogilvie of Eighth Avenue East, who served here with the Navy during the war and is now a civilian employee of the Navy.

A General Speaks...

FOR THIRTY YEARS a fighting man who attained to the highest Army rank and distinction and is, therefore, well qualified to speak and advise, Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., while hopeful that the young United Nations organization will achieve its primary objective of maintaining permanent world peace, suggested in an address here that the certainty of such peace is by no means assured as yet and that, in any possible combination of conflict that would bring about World War III, Canada would be a chief battleground and prize. In view of the terrific new scientific development of the instruments of destruction and the annihilation of distance by the new powers of aerial propulsion, such a war would be one of utter surprise and quick destruction, the General said. The point was that there would be no chance for preparation of defences after conflict became imminent. The General correctly enough suggested that Canada's geographical position in the new world of today made it highly advisable that she should be looking without delay to her defences against attack. Her natural defences of distance and inaccessibility were no longer effective. She was vulnerable from every quarter.

Here in Prince Rupert, the strategic position of which had been amply demonstrated in the last war, the General who had general command of Pacific Coast defences in the days of serious Japanese threat appropriately enough reminded us that we should be directly concerned with manning of our own defences and one way of doing so was to encourage the speedy recruiting of the active and reserve forces of navy, army and air. The General completely dismissed political considerations when he urged citizens to support the government in the defence measures which it saw fit to take.

THE WHITE CANE

THE WHITE CANE, the symbol of one who suffers with blindness, is also a challenge to the rest of the society and is in many ways an eloquent object lesson.

It is a challenge in that it demands attention and sympathetic support from those of us who enjoy the often unappreciated blessing of maintained sight.

It is an object lesson inasmuch as it shows that the one so afflicted is still mingling with society, still striving to take his part, still anxious to maintain independence and self-respect within the limitations imposed.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, has developed a most helpful and understanding program.

It frankly seeks aid, so as to be able to conduct its valuable and merciful work. But such work is also hinged to a determined purpose—to help the blind to help themselves. If, through the agency of the institute, a blind person can be placed in industry, and made a self-supporting individual, such an outcome pleases the institute more than any other. This is because the organization realizes the psychological aspect of the lives of those whom it serves. There are also other ways in which the institute ministers, in helping the blind to help themselves. No more appealing cause exists, than in this effort to sustain and encourage those in "darkness" that never lifts.

There is every reason to give unstinting support to anything that aids the institution in its provision of services to the blind and in its prevention of blindness program.

ADVERTISING NEEDED

MAKING a magnificent contribution to the cause of victory and of freedom, advertising during war years was instrumental in helping to maintain the high morale of the people of the United Nations; increased the production of weapons of war; stimulated recruiting and boosted the sale of Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps.

Today advertising is helping labor, management and government iron out grievances and settle unrest, strikes and difficulties now impeding our peace-time production.

Indications are that Canada is on the threshold of an era of progress and prosperity unparalleled in the long history of our country. To attain the highest degree of growth and expansion during this era, business, industry and finance must be backed with sound, sane and honest advertising.

WOULD RENEW MILK SUBSIDY

Parent-Teachers Association So Requests—Regular Meeting Last Night

The importance of milk as an article of food was stressed last evening at the monthly meeting of the Borden Street School Parent-Teacher Association and a resolution was carried urging the city Parent-Teacher coordinating council to press for the restoration of the milk subsidy. J. S. Wilson, principal of Borden Street School, stated that 120 pupils were buying half a pint of milk daily and he was sure that the children reaped a very real benefit from it. He heartily endorsed a resolution on the matter which had been brought up by Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby.

There was an excellent attendance with Mrs. George Howe, president, and Mrs. S. J. Anderson, secretary, in charge. Following the business meeting there was a much appreciated Indian pow-wow dance by the following girls of Grade Six: Barbara Moore, who also played the piano accompaniments, Anita Brue, Messina Pavlikis, Myrtle Miller, Marjorie Way, Barbara Stalker, Roberta Paul, Carole Moorehouse, Margit MacArthur and Alice Nickerson, who sang an Indian lullaby. This item had been planned and staged by the girls themselves and their costuming and dancing were very effective.

Two films, "Child Welfare in Sweden" and "Now, the Peace," aroused much favorable comment, with C. H. Insulander, vice-president of the co-ordinating committee, operating the machine. There was much interest shown in the machine itself as this is the projector purchased by the Parent-Teacher Association for the elementary schools of the city. It is one of three that have been made available for Canada. Mrs. Seaman was program convener and played for community singing. Refreshments were served with Mrs. Lineham, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Bowes and Mrs. McKeown in charge.

BIG GOVERNMENT PAYROLL
CANEERRA. — Twenty-five per cent of Australia's working population of 2,840,500 persons is employed by federal and state governments and other governmental authorities. PEARKES wage war, through having the money and the power, were Great Britain, the United States and Russia. "In any combination of conflict between these powers," he declared, "this country would become a major theatre of operations." Nor would there be time to mobilize, equip and train fighting forces after the threat of war became imminent. Therefore, the task today was to provide immediately for the defence of Canada against the possible calamity of another world war.

Gen. Pearkes pictured the awful suddenness with which, through the development of airborne transport and weapons of tremendous destruction, attack of another war might be made. There would be the greatest of secrecy and the attack would be launched, no doubt, from long distances with airborne troops and weapons of the nature of the atomic bomb, carried by jet propelled, pilotless aircraft. Devastating attacks might almost instantly destroy great cities. "Therefore the bombers must not get through and all possible means must be devised to prevent them."

Urges Support Defence Plans

At the moment the best brains of the peace-loving nations were being employed in planning defences and the weapons to assure peace. Canada was no exception and was launched upon a campaign to raise regular forces of young men for navy, army and air augmented by substantial trained reserves. "It is essential that we have these defence forces and it is equally essential that the government of the day be supported in its plans."

Gen. Pearkes, as he opened his address, congratulated the city on having acquired such a fine asset as the Civic Centre. He trusted that it would continue to be maintained as well in the future as was being done today.

President W. D. Lambie presided over yesterday's luncheon and guests, besides the speaker, were Art Bench of Vancouver and F. E. Anfield and J. T. Harvey of Prince Rupert.

Announcement was made that the international president of Gyro, Greg Yorke of Vancouver, and the district governor, Fred Hawes of Victoria, accompanied by their wives, would be here December 13 to conduct the annual installation of officers of the local club. Plans in connection with the installation proceedings are already being made by a committee headed by W. F. Stone.

TUBERCULOSIS SEALS COMING

Will Be Next Kin Undertaking—Regular Meeting Last Night

Next activity of the local Kinsmen's Club will be the distribution of Christmas tuberculosis seals which is to be under way by the first of the week under a committee headed by Alex Armstrong. The club was in regular fortnightly dinner session last night at the Civic Centre with President R. E. Montador in the chair and a good attendance of members with guests in the persons of W. H. Francks and Robert Thompson of Vancouver and Harry Sheardown, J. S. Wilson and T. G. Bateman of Prince Rupert.

Checks were presented to the city schools for their percentage of sales of "shell-out" coupons. The recipients were: J. S. Wilson, Borden Street School; T. G. Bateman, Conrad Street School; R. G. Moore, King Edward School, and Pierre LeRoss, on behalf of an Anunciacion School.

Alex Baillie and Kenneth Pugsey were initiated as new members by President Montador. Acceptable impromptu entertainment was provided by Mr. Francks with a talk on "Kinsmanship" and violin and mouth organ selections, also leading in lusty community singing.

It was decided that one official delegate would be sent to Prince George where a new club is about to be instituted. A charter for a new club at Terrace is being awaited.

PLAN HOCKEY AT OLIVER

Hockey, which to many Prince Rupert people is merely a radio program which they would like to hear on Saturday night, may make a real life appearance on ice here next Sunday.

In the supposition that the current cold weather will continue until the week-end, Ray McLean of the Northern B.C. Power Co. is attempting to organize a hockey game to be played at Lake Oliver Sunday afternoon, something that has not taken place here in some years.

"We have the weather, we have the ice, so we might as well have hockey while we can," he commented, this morning. "I feel sure there must be enough former players with equipment here to put on a game."

Just exactly when ice hockey was last played in Prince Rupert with any degree of formality is something that nobody seems to definitely recall but even during the intense cold spell of 1943 no organized games were played.

BOSTON — Boston Bruins, whom many observers still pick to finish in first place in the National Hockey League, took the presently leading Toronto Maple Leafs into camp by a score of 4 to 1 last night and moved into a tie with Montreal Canadiens for second place—one game or two percentage points behind the Leafs.

In another scheduled fixture last night, Chicago Black Hawks defeated Detroit Red Wings 6 to 4.

President Frank Calder limited National Hockey League games to 60 minutes five years ago today, eliminating overtime play in the games to enable traveling teams to catch trains. Originally a wartime measure, the ruling has remained in force

RINK AT GYRO PARK MAY NOT BE POSSIBLE

In spite of frosty weather, Fire Chief H. T. Lock's efforts to make a skating rink at Gyro Park appear to be meeting with failure due to the fact that the water spread over the area is seeping into the ground before it freezes, leaving an uneven, mushy surface which probably cannot be made into a rink.

However, while the city firemen have been working to make a rink in the centre of the city, young people have been taking advantage of other ice surfaces in the area. Well marked by skate blades are the frozen surfaces of Oliver Lake, where parties have been going nightly, the fountain pond in the C.N.R. Park, and another sizeable pond near St. Peter's Church, Seal Cove.

Other small ponds also have been the scene of skating parties and impromptu hockey games.

Evidence of the interests being shown in skating are the numbers of pairs of skates piled on the counter of a local shoe repair man who has made a bid for the skate sharpening business. In the last two days he has sharpened more than 20 sets of blades.

Inability to flood the Gyro Park properly to make a rink was a bit of a disappointment to Fire Chief Lock and his men who have put in considerable effort in the attempt.

"It looks as if the ground has to be frozen first, so the water won't seep away," Mr. Lock said a bit ruefully. "I would certainly like to have seen a rink there. It might have provided a lot of pleasure."

LONDON — A supper given by Tottenham Gas Company was delayed half an hour due to lack of gas pressure.

FUEL ECONOMY IS WATCHWORD FOR BRITAINS

LONDON — Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell says there may be shortages of coal this winter but "no serious crisis" if the people do what they can to save fuel. The average Briton isn't entirely convinced.

When Cartoonist J. C. Walker of Cardiff's Western Mail drew a householder dressed in overcoat, hat and motor rug, reading "Bleak House" by candlelight in front of a fireless grate, he reflected a widespread reaction to the minister's forecast.

Week by week, Mr. Shinwell has veered from heavy pessimism to moderate optimism and back again. Meantime, Arthur Horner, general secretary of the National Union of Mineworkers, has said consistently that the anticipated 5,000,000-ton deficit in coal production will throw 1,000,000 men and women temporarily out of work.

Industrialists in many parts of Scotland have been warned officially that their electricity supply may be cut one day a fortnight to conserve coal. Power plants and railways are nearing the bottom of their stockpiles. Gas companies have threatened pressure cuts when the weather gets really cold.

And already—even before the first snowfall—some parts of the Midlands and southern England have experienced power failures of brief duration. Bradford, Yorkshire, even went without street cars for one stretch of 40 minutes.

"I want to tell you there is not going to be a crisis in coal, if by crisis you mean that industrial organization is going to be seriously dislocated and that hundreds of factories are to be closed down," Mr. Shinwell told the Coke-Oven Managers Association.

Minister Gives His Reasons

That statement, he indicated later in the House of Commons, was based on four suppositions:

- 1. That the present working force of about 700,000 can be kept in the mines or increased.

2. That absenteeism in the mines is sharply reduced.

3. That production shows an increase of 100,000 tons a week over 1945.

4. That industrial and domestic users of coal effect the utmost economies.

Less than three weeks before his "no crisis" speech, Mr. Shinwell made another in which he warned: "We run a very grave risk of breakdown." A recent government booklet for public distribution said that "Unless output (of coal) rises, there is real danger that coal shortage may act as a brake on reconversion."

The minister's aim in his fuel-saving campaign is a 10-per-cent voluntary cut in industrial and domestic use of coal, gas and electricity to avert a "breakdown in supplies in the depths of the coming winter."

Industry has been warned that "more drastic steps" will have to be considered if the voluntary saving is not effective. The government is known to be considering a scheme to restrict use of electricity. Demand has increased 76 per cent since 1938 and the gas industry is using 24 per cent more coal than before the war.

The Experts Say

By KAY REX Canadian Press Staff Writer USE MORE CEREALS-Breakfast in haste and dine at leisure is the mode of life in Canada these days as many families tend to settle for a toast-and-coffee morning snack rather than take time to consume a more nourishing meal.

Home economists suggest the easy-going supper meal should include dishes made from the whole cereals, such as cracked wheat or oatmeal, which the family missed at breakfast. Oat Cheese Croquettes is one good supper dish which has rolled oats as a base. The recipe: One and one-third cups rolled oats; one and two-thirds cups boiling water; three-quarters teaspoons salt; half cup grated cheese; one teaspoon chopped parsley; one teaspoon grated onion; few grains pepper; two chopped hard-cooked eggs; one-third cup dry bread crumbs or oatmeal.

Gradually stir rolled oats into boiling salted water stirring constantly for five minutes. Add cheese and stir until melted. Remove from heat and beat thoroughly until smooth. Add chopped parsley, onion, pepper and eggs. Chill mixture one hour. Shape into flat patties, roll in dry bread crumbs or oatmeal and pan-fry until nicely browned on both sides. Serve hot with sauce or relish. Six servings.

ENERGY PRODUCERS-Health experts say in Canada about one-third of the energy supply of the diet comes from cereal products. The wheat berry supplies starch, germ, aleurone cells and bran.

The latter three are rich in iron and B vitamins, which aid digestion, appetite, steady the nerves, and assist in the proper use of energy foods by the body. Whole grain cereals, such as oatmeal, rolled oats and rolled wheat, retain a large percentage of these nutrients. Consequently they should be used more frequently than refined products such as ordinary white flour, macaroni and polished rice.

Wraith-Like Hose Almost Invisible

NEW YORK. Cobwebs look like burlap compared with the newest nylons to be dreamed up by those super-scientists who spend their time figuring out how sheer stockings may become without disappearing altogether. The new stockings which look like nothing more than a slight mist on the leg, were unveiled recently in plush surroundings at a New York roof garden. These new 15-denier nylons (the usual present weight is 50 denier) are the sheerest ever made. Further, they come in metallic shades-gold, copper and bronze-to match the new gold and bronze kid evening shoes. No toe or heel reinforcements mar the sheer-ness of the foot, so that the stocking is almost invisible on the leg, except for a faint sheen. Imagination-Something that sits up with a wife who sits up waiting for her husband.

More Vitamin D for Good Nutrition

YOUNGSTERS who get plenty of Carnation Milk - drinking it, or eating it on cereals and in cooked foods - have a head start towards good nutrition. They get their full quota of milk food values. And now they get an increased amount of "sunshine" Vitamin D. For Carnation Milk is now irradiated to nearly 2 1/2 times the vitamin D formerly supplied. None of the usual foods we eat provide adequate amounts of vitamin D. But Irradiated Carnation Milk does supply an amount accepted as sufficient to prevent rickets and to insure good bone and tooth development in normal children. You'll find a world of help in planning meals for children in the free book "Growing Up With Milk". Write for it, to Carnation Co. Limited, Toronto or Vancouver.

There was a meeting of the Farmers' Institute at the hall on Wednesday evening. Although several members were present, there was very little business to discuss. The next meeting will be the annual in January.

The Tweedsmuir Park Rod and Gun Club met in the hall on Wednesday afternoon with J. Sugden, chairman, and L. Mulvany, secretary. It was decided to raffle turkeys at Christmas to raise funds. All were unanimous in requesting that the bounty on wolves be increased to $50 as they are a menace to stock and game.

Miss Potterton will be missed in Smithers, as she has been a valuable and active member of St. James Anglican Church, having been on the Sunday School staff and a member of the Auxiliary. COYOTES AND WOLVES BUSY

Wild Canines Are Causing Trouble in Lakes District

BURNS LAKE—Coyotes killed a big doe on the hillside close to the southerly arm of Tchesinuk Lake. Wolves are driving the few remaining deer into the settlement and herding seven cariboo on the Tchesinuk range during the past week.

Howard Brott of Danski had been carefully fattening two kids for winter consumption. On Friday morning he heard a frantic bawling at his cabin door. Opening it, he found a nanny goat in a high state of excitement. Seizing his rifle, he struck across the pasture which was covered with a light powder of new snow making tracking easy. He came to the tracks of two coyotes and saw where they had carefully shouldered the kid into the adjoining timber. Hurrying along the tracks, he came to the kid, just in time to see two grey shadows melt into the underbrush, but could not get a shot. The kid, with its throat badly torn, was still alive, so Brott bled and butchered it forthwith.

The murder trial of Joseph Sankey, who was charged with the murder of Loretta Chisholm, Port Essington School teacher, began in Assize Court before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

Expansion of the Taltapin Mine, north of Burns Lake was forecast by A. Woods, manager, who visited the city. A new road was being put through from Burns Lake to the mine.

"Business people in Vancouver have great hopes for the north and are very much interested in Prince Rupert," Bert Morgan reported after returning from a visit to the southern city.

Halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the first ten and a half months of 1926 were 26,898,900 pounds, and it was estimated that the full year's catch would be about 27,000,000. The 1925 catch was 27,884,500 pounds. (1946 landings: 12,114,000 pounds).

Death came unexpectedly to Rev. Dr. Charles J. Cameron, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, who succumbed shortly after collapsing at the entrance to Max Heilbronner's jewelry store. He was a brilliant student and a gifted orator.

The Prince Rupert Dry Dock received a contract from the Granby Consolidated Mining Co. to build a service boat to replace the vessel Azurite which had been sold. The new vessel will be named Granby.

HEALTH UNIT OCTOBER REPORT

Report of the work of the Prince Rupert Health Unit during October, indicating activities of the public health nursing and sanitation services, was released today after being presented for consideration by city council's health committee.

Total attendance at the child welfare clinics conducted by the unit's two nurses—Miss Olive Johnson and Miss M. Cressman—was 152. This included examinations at school, at the clinic and in homes.

Routine work was carried out in Prince Rupert with weighing stations and home visiting occupying a large part of the nurses' time. Examination of the city's school children was continued and systematic visits to tuberculosis and venereal disease cases got under way.

Visits were made to Port Edward and Digby Island. School children at Digby Island were examined and sanitary conditions at the school checked.

As a preliminary move to the possible inclusion of all of School District 53 in the Prince Rupert Health Unit, the director, Miss Joyce Leslie, and Miss Cressman visited the Hazelton district briefly to get an idea of what type of work would be needed there and how it could best be planned.

Activities of Sanitarian M. J. Harper included checking of milk and water sources and restaurants and rooming houses. Milk samples were collected and tested regularly and bacteriological analysis of treated and untreated water samples from Shawatlans Lake was negative.

Five cases of food poisoning in a nearby town were believed to have been caused by a tainted fruit cake produced by a baker in that town. No further cases were reported after the cake had been destroyed and the baker requested to report to a physician.

An inspection of restaurants resulted in a quantity of worn-out cutlery being condemned. An inspection of most of the rooming houses in the city resulted in many unsatisfactory conditions being found and brought to the attention of the owner or caretaker.
