20 POWER FOR THREE HOURS

Trouble On Falls River Transmission Line Causes City To Be Without Service

Prince Rupert was completely without electric light and power service for about three hours late this morning due to a break on the Falls River transmission line, the nature of which was not immediately ascertainable at the company's offices. Mean; time, the dry dock power plant was pressed into service and this afternoon started supplying energy. Between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning power was also off for a time due to a "snow flip" on the transmission line. Lack of power explains curtailment of the size of the Daily News today and absence of some of the news which otherwise would have appeared.

Not Wholly Favored Reactions On Taxation Plan

Reception to Ontario Premier's Taxation Scheme Not

Enthusiastic far has indicated little support for Premier George Drew's proposals for a Dominion-provincial taxation system. Interesting Suggestion Made By Newspaper Correspondent

LONDON — It has been suggested by a British newspaper correspondent that future British armies may receive their training in Canada -just as a great part of the Royal Air Force did during the war just ended.

The correspondent -- Major W. E. Sheppard - says in a front-page article in the Daily Herald that no decision to this effect has been yet reached but he indicates that such a step is being considered.

According to this report. Canada is said to favor such a plan, since it would help the Dominion financially.
