INDIVIDUALS MAY PURCHASE WAR HOUSES

The 100 Wartime houses which are offered for sale here by War Assets Corporation are available for purchase by any individual willing to remove them from their present sites and return the lots to their former condition.

This information was given to Mayor H. M. Daggett, Thursday afternoon by Wartime Housing Manager J. L. McEwen to clear up the belief, prevalent here, that the houses were to be sold as a unit and removed from the city.

The houses—88 of which are on the upper reaches of Rushbrook Heights and 12 at the eastern end of Eighth Avenue—can be bought individually on the understanding that they will be removed from the lots on which they now stand, according to Mayor Daggett.

The lots are owned by Wartime Housing Ltd. Sale of the houses is being made through War Assets Corporation.

Approximately 40 tenants of the houses which have been offered for sale on "second" Overlook, Piggott Avenue, Herman Street and Eighth Avenue are being moved to other Wartime houses or are moving to other houses in the city.

THE RIGHT TO STRIKE

WHEN C. Gordon Cockshutt recently before the Canadian Chamber of Commerce pointed out that there is a difference between the right to strike and the wisdom of doing so he uttered a truth which has been too little realized before recent strikes called attention to it.

There has been and still is a vast amount of confusion in human thinking about rights. To some a right must be reasserted continuously and stridently. It must be exercised on every possible occasion, regardless of the consequences to the community, to other individuals or groups or even to those exercising it. They see a challenge in every question and an infringement in every action of others.

When Mr. Cockshutt declared his recognition of the right to strike he was setting forth a belief now generally accepted throughout democratic countries. It is no longer in dispute. But it has not always been so. Organized labor fought a long battle for recognition of that right and the habits of thought acquired during the conflict still motivate many union actions.

But recognition of the right to strike does not mean that it can and should be used without the most careful consideration. As Mr. Cockshutt indicated, the wisdom of using the weapon is another matter altogether, one that is solely concerned with the immediate benefits to the worker and not with any basic principle that was formerly the subject of conflict.

These past few years and especially during the past 12 months unions have shown a strong tendency to take strike action possibly without weighing carefully the prospects of gain or loss. Outcome of recent strikes show the necessity of using good judgment.

When business management ventures on a new undertaking it always examines its expectations with care. They balance possible gains against possible losses. That is what business does when it undertakes a new venture and it is what Mr. Cockshutt meant when he pointed the difference between "the right to strike and the wisdom of doing so."

TOKYO TRIALS

WITH the hangman's noose ending the long episode of Nuremberg, a few persons here and there may wonder what is happening to the war criminals in Tokyo. For a variety of reasons, the Tokyo trials seem a second-rate affair. Deprived of the opportunity to set a new historic precedent, as the German trials did, they lack the reasoned dignity of a high moral issue. From the first hasty and haphazard arrests last year, and the ensuing bewilderment of lawyers and investigators lost in the little-known intricacies of Japanese politics, the proceedings have had a somewhat amateurish air which has not been lost on the more astute Japanese.

Among the latter the complaint is frequently heard that the real Japanese war criminals have not been arrested. The difficulty is that there is no well-defined group of responsible men, as in Germany. Recent official documents read into the proceedings show that supposed liberals like Prince Konoye were thoroughly implicated in the plots leading to war, as well as the avowed warmongers like Tojo. Yet it is reliably known that General MacArthur for many weeks kept Konoye's name off the war criminal list because he hoped to see him emerge as the "liberal" leader of a new Japan.

A further difficulty lies in the fact that under the Japanese system it is seldom the titular holder of high office who exercises real responsibility. The locus of power is apt to be the Vice-Minister rather than the Minister, through the connection of the former with the permanent bureaucracy. With this bureaucracy largely unchanged today, and some of the most assiduous militarists cosily ensconced as members of the "demobilization boards," it is impossible to dismiss lightly the charge of the Russian member of the Allied Council that the Japanese General Staff is still continuing to operate to a certain degree.

In acrimonious retort, the American member of the Council stated that if evidence of war crimes or illegal activity by any Japanese military personnel were brought to the attention of the Supreme Commander, he would be glad to consider it. This misses the point of the present legal proceedings in Tokyo, which, if they prove anything, prove the complicity of the whole military-bureaucratic group in Japan's planned aggression.

DRY DOCK COSTS

Editor,
 Daily News—
 Perhaps it might be of interest to you to hear a little story about the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyards, giving a reason why it is inactive even if everyone is howling about its inactivity.

Our company ordered a new one-inch logging cable from our Prince Rupert supplier and, because we had no man here who could splice cable, we asked our supplier to have an ordinary eye splice put in, in Rupert, before they shipped it out. The dry dock did the job and charged $17.75 for just straight labor on putting in one eye splice. We protested but they would not come down.

Then we noticed in the paper that on the Paul Bunyan Sports Day in Port Alberni on September 2, Bert Laird of Comox Logging Co. at Ladysmith put an eye splice in a 1 1/2-inch line in 3 minutes 36 4/5 seconds, and the second prize was 3 minutes 51 1/2 seconds.

If the dry dock's charges are all so absolutely unreasonable as this, it is a wonder they get any work to do at all. Almost any organization would make a compromise on a charge like that but they will not.

Sees Need of Understanding

East and West Should Become Better Acquainted

G. A. Hunter, home from a business trip east in the course of which he attended the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, expresses enthusiasm about the mutual benefits to be derived from better acquaintanceship between West and East as can be made possible through attendance at such national gatherings as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"The East is not prejudiced against the West so much as lacking in knowledge and understanding of us," he thinks. "They feel we are a long way off and are detached. Personal contact with them is what we need to remove their indifference."

Mr. Hunter expressed gratification at the sympathetic support he received from delegates from Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and the Peace River in certain representations he made to the convention relative to the development of this port in the national interest. He was assured of this support being continued.

Mr. Hunter will recommend to the bodies he represented closer contact with the national organizations and strong representation at their national gatherings. "We cannot live to ourselves and fight our battles alone if we are going to advance," he said. "We should organize and co-operate. Then we will get somewhere."

Mr. Hunter found the eastern cities busy and crowded but industry and business hesitant and indecisive owing to uncertainties owing to industrial unrest. The steel and soda-ash strikes just ended had had a seriously disturbing effect on post-war reconstruction through the slowing-up of production. There were indications, however, of fuller appreciation of the need of better labor-management understanding.

The local newspaperman encountered weather conditions varying from 86 above in Buffalo to 20 degrees of frost in eastern Saskatchewan. It was good to get back to the temperate Pacific coast, he said.

First United Church was the setting last evening for the wedding ceremony which joined Miss Ethel Carmichael, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Carmichael of Queen Charlotte City, and James Robinson, eldest son of Mrs. Gladys Robinson of Prince Rupert. Rev. R. A. Wilson officiated.

Wearing a white satin gown with long train and floor-length veil, the bride was given in marriage by Ovaud Johansen. She carried a bouquet of small red roses.

Her attendants were Mrs. Ken Yelland, wearing a gown of pale green crepe and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations, and Mrs. Ole Strand, gowned in flowered taffeta, with a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Groomsman was Kenneth Yelland.

Mrs. E. J. Smith was organist.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Valhalla Hall at which more than 60 friends of the bride and groom were present. Centering the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake which was cut in traditional fashion by the bride and groom.

Toast to the bride was proposed by the groomsman and was responded to by the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are leaving on the Prince Rupert tonight for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Vancouver Island, after which they will take up residence at Port Alberni.

CITY HALL TO BE OPEN FOR VOTE REGISTRY

The city clerk's office in the City Hall will remain open from 7 to 9 o'clock on the evenings of October 28, 29 and 30 for the registration of civic voters. City Council decided Tuesday night.

Final date for registration will be 5 p.m. on October 31, after which no names will be placed on the 1946 civic voters' list.

It is anticipated that this year's voters' list will be smaller than in recent years, due largely to a decline in the number of poll tax payers.

The court of revision to revise the voters' list will sit on November 15, with Mayor Daggett as chairman. Other members of the court, named by the council Tuesday night, will be Aldermen Arnold and McKay.

Also appointed by council Tuesday night was a court of revision to consider the special assessment list and local improvement sewer construction projects. This court consists of Aldermen Youngs, McKay, Johnston, Arnold and Ham.

Other officers elected were: First Vice-President, Mrs. N. Moses. Secretary, A. Hardwick. Treasurer, Mrs. Mattson. Program Convener, James Clark.

Principal W. W. C. O'Neill was named honorary member of the executive. The executive itself was not elected at last night's meeting, due to the small attendance. However, it is expected that the executive will be elected at the next meeting. There were 13 present last night.

Mrs. Hill explained the aims of the separate Parent-Teachers' Associations. An association at each of the city's schools, she said, would tend to increase parental interest.

Hallowe'en shellout chairman Robert Moore reported that the shellout campaign is now under way, the children having hundreds of tickets in their possession which they are selling.

The club will hold a work party on Sunday to gather firewood and prepare for the bonfires.

Inlited by President R. E. Montador as a new member of the Club was Bert Haugan, of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative. Guests were Clifford Mason of Vancouver, and Joseph Goscoe of the King Edward School teaching staff.

SCIENCE PROBES MYSTERY BEHIND DREAD DISEASE

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Science soon may open up its big research guns against arthritis, one of mankind's oldest, most devilish and costly ailments.

Don't expect the attack to bring early success. The "great crippler" ranks with the toughest riddles medical men ever have tackled. Its physical effects have been fairly well tabbed, but the cause at one end, the cure at the other, and much of the pathology between is an uncharted morass. Quacks have had a field day—as they have had with other great ailments before genuine cures were discovered—and arthritis investigators estimate that millions of dollars are wasted annually on phony cures and nostrums.

The lack of knowledge is due chiefly to the fact that no one ever has been known to die from any of the widely diversified forms of arthritis. Yet millions are afflicted, and it affects 10 times as many persons as tuberculosis or diabetes, seven times as many as cancer—more than cancer, tuberculosis, diabetes and heart disease combined. One-third of all individuals past 55 years of age are arthritic.

OPEN INQUIRY
"In human suffering and economic loss it is the deadliest of all diseases," says Dr. William Fishbein in explaining the task of the United States National Arthritis Research Foundation. "No one is safe from it, for it can strike in infancy as well as in older life. It apparently tends to afflict men in middle age, when they would otherwise be at the peak of their productive capacity."

The arthritic foundation was set up last year as a co-ordinated effort of the U.S. Public Health Service and of sponsors of the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark., a non-sectarian institution which has treated 185,000 arthritics since 1914. On Oct. 7 the foundation launched a country-wide campaign to raise $2,500,000 to start a diversified, long-range inquiry into the what, how and why of the disease.

The "when" is pretty clearly established. Evidence exists that prehistoric man was the victim of joint-crippling and deforming ailments. Egyptian mummies show arthritic conditions and one theory holds that Rome's famed baths were begun first for the therapeutic welfare of patrician victims.

REMEDIES TRIED
"Literally thousands of remedies have been tried," Dr. Fishbein says, "from red flannel, which had some merit because it applies heat, to strings of beads. Today we are down to a few simple things—some form of heat, regulation of the diet—but only to make sure it is well-balanced; rest, and relief from worry."

It seems fairly well established that there is no family tendency or susceptibility to arthritis or that it is related positively to any other disease.

"There does seem to be some evidence that the activities and exposure of war service have caused an increase of arthritis among former servicemen," says Dr. Fishbein, "and there is a lot of evidence that the condition is often initiated by some form of emotional shock, but it is never the exclusive factor, and there is no evidence that it can be completely caused by mental disturbance."

One of the big problems in investigating is that the usual test animals—rabbits, dogs and guinea pigs—are no more susceptible to creation of arthritic conditions than is the rest of the animal kingdom, man excepted.

LACROSSE CLASH FRIDAY NIGHT

Two lacrosse games will be the feature events on the local sports front Friday night at Roosevelt gym. The senior league will see the Legion tangle with Merchants while the junior gutted stick wielders will be formed into two teams of the same names.

These junior teams, composed almost entirely of school boys, are expected to put on a lively exhibition, if their showing is to be judged from pre-season practices. Some of these "stars of tomorrow" already show signs of turning into real boxa artists. They are all very enthusiastic about the game and would welcome any help they could get in promoting the sport here, such as sponsors, coaches, etc.

Coach Dick Woods also promises a first class showing on the part of the senior teams which are built around two divisions of the team which won the Manson Cup.

Tentative lineups are as follows:
Canadian Legion—Minor Simundson, Ralph Smith A. Nelson, Terry Parsons, Ted Arney, Bud Schuman, Cliff Silversides, Gus Stromdahl, Bob Scharf, R. Spring.
Merchants—Dave Chapple, Joe Gillis, D. Morven, Harry Sheardown, Charlie Maundrel, G. McGee, F. Ferry, R. White, Dick Cameron and S. Scharfe.

THIS AND THAT

BORDEN P.-T.A. NAMES OFFICERS

At an enthusiastic meeting of parents and teachers at Borden Street School last evening the organization of the Borden Street School Parent Teacher Association was successfully carried out. The following are the officers of the group:

- President—Mrs. G. Howe.
- Vice-President—Mrs. J. Garrett.
- Secretary—Mrs. S. J. Anderson.
- Treasurer—Mrs. D. Parent.
- Social and Hospitality Committee—Mrs. Lineham, Miss Sim, Mrs. W. McLeod, Mrs. A. McKeown.
- Program Convener—Mrs. Seaman.
- Membership—Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cheeseman.
- Literature Convener—Mrs. J. A. Rutherford.
- Press and Publicity—J. S. Wilson.

Mrs. Earl Becker, secretary of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Association, spoke of the great value of the organization to parents and children alike. The contacts had very definite influences on children, parents, and the community at large and all three reaped great benefits.

J. S. Wilson, principal of Borden Street School, who presided emphasized the great value the association had been to the schools of the city in the past. There was however a need for greater association between the parents and the teachers if the children were to get the greatest value out of the possibilities that modern educational methods offered.

A film slide on "Life in the Congo" was enjoyed after the adjournment of the business session. An unusually interesting aspect of the showing was that Miss Cressman of the Prince Rupert Public Health Unit, was able to give from her own experiences in the Congo, intimate and revealing comments on the scenes displayed.

Refreshments were served by the refreshment committee with Mrs. G. Howe as convener. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Seaman at the piano.

Mr. Wilson also referred to two special observances that should affect all citizens concerned with the education and welfare of the children. One is Better Parent-Teacher Week. This is set for the week of October 20-27. The other is Education Week. This is set for the week of November 3-9. Open days will be held in the elementary schools on the afternoon of Tuesday, November 5 and in the High School on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 6. A public meeting will be held in the Civic Centre on the evening of Thursday, November 7.

Visits to the various classrooms proved of great interest to the parents. The modern books available for the children, the practical and progressive methods of developing the skills and attitudes of the pupils, provoked many commendatory remarks on the advantages that children have nowadays.

BULKLEY VALLEY PIONEER DIES

Charles Barrett, Rancher, Paeker, Succumbs at Smithers at Age of 81

SMITHERS—One of the Bulkley Valley district's best loved pioneers died in the Bulkley Valley Hospital at Smithers Wednesday morning. He was Charles Barrett, rancher and packer, who succumbed at the age of 81.

Going to the Bulkley Valley district in the early pioneer days, he packed supplies for the Dominion Government Telegraph line during its construction. After its operation terminated, he settled on the Barrett ranch at Barrett Lake where he lived until the time of his death.

He was active to the last, supervising his 2,000 acre ranch, part of it leased government land, and part of it owned by himself.

Known and loved throughout the whole Bulkley Valley, tributes to him were expressed by scores of his friends. It was said of him that no one was ever turned away from his door, and that he had given $2,000 worth of meals to settlers walking through the valley looking for land to settle on.

He is survived by his wife at the home ranch at Barrett Lake. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Teeth

THAT'S true — when baby's born, he actually has all twenty of his first teeth, and four of the permanent ones. They're hidden, of course, and still growing.

Doesn't that emphasize the importance of starting to build fine, sound teeth very, very early? That's where Carnation Milk can be important. It is rich in the bone and tooth building minerals. It's an excellent source of essential vitamin D. It provides all the other food values of good, pasteurized milk. Ask your doctor about a Carnation formula for your baby. And write for a free copy of the fine Carnation book "Your Contented Baby". Address The Carnation Co. Limited, at Toronto or Vancouver.

Atlantic Battle Makes Thrilling Motion Picture

NEW YORK—The battle of the western ocean—familiar to every Mariner during the seven years of war—is brought to the screen in its most authentic and thrilling form by the British documentary film, "The Raider," now being shown in New York.

From its first shot of a lifeboat tossing in a swell-running sea to the climatic battle between a freighter and a U-boat, the picture shows incidents that were close to the lives of the residents of Halifax, Saint John, N.B., and Sydney, N.S.—the "East Coast Canadian ports" from whence sailed the convoys to Britain.

In the film, the rusty, ugly freighters sail from New York—but they might have gathered for convoy in Bedford Basin. The men who sailed them and the Royal Navy men who protected them, were the same swash-bucklers who swaggered down Barrington Street in Halifax or who landed on the Sydney jetties.

"The Raider" was produced in 1945 by the Crown Film Unit of English Films Corporation. It was produced by Ian Dalrymple and was directed by Pat Jackson, who also wrote the story.

No professional actors are in the cast and there is no love interest. The actors who are anonymous, came from the Royal Navy, the Royal Netherlands Navy or the allied merchant navies.

NEW YORK—The battle of the western ocean—familiar to every Mariner during the seven years of war—is brought to the screen in its most authentic and thrilling form by the British documentary film, "The Raider," now being shown in New York.

From its first shot of a lifeboat tossing in a swell-running sea to the climatic battle between a freighter and a U-boat, the picture shows incidents that were close to the lives of the residents of Halifax, Saint John, N.B., and Sydney, N.S.—the "East Coast Canadian ports" from whence sailed the convoys to Britain.

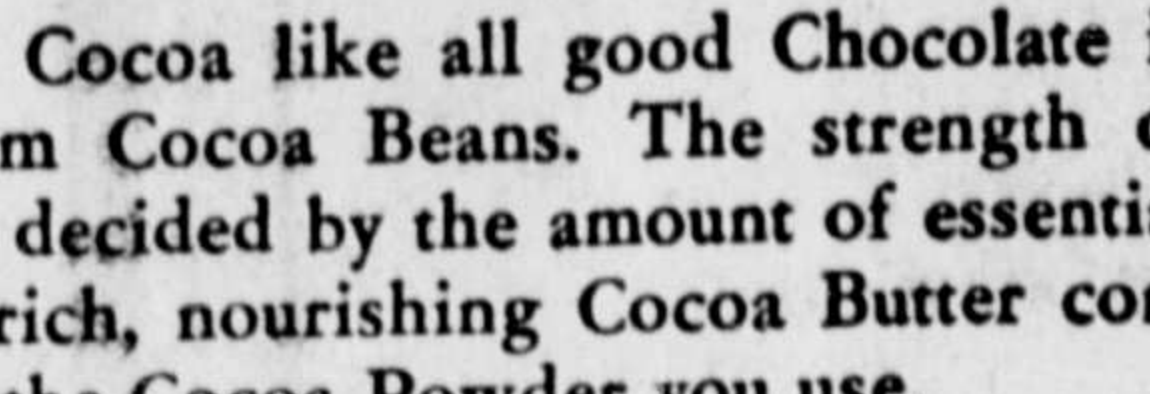

In the film, the rusty, ugly freighters sail from New York—but they might have gathered for convoy in Bedford Basin. The men who sailed them and the Royal Navy men who protected them, were the same swash-bucklers who swaggered down Barrington Street in Halifax or who landed on the Sydney jetties.

"The Raider" was produced in 1945 by the Crown Film Unit of English Films Corporation. It was produced by Ian Dalrymple and was directed by Pat Jackson, who also wrote the story.

No professional actors are in the cast and there is no love interest. The actors who are anonymous, came from the Royal Navy, the Royal Netherlands Navy or the allied merchant navies.
