ELDERLY NATIVE DROWNS AFTER BEACH MISHAP

Jacob Cooper, 84-year-old native of Port Simpson, was drowned in Metlakatla Passage about 6 o'clock Saturday night when he fell into the water while attempting to climb into a dinghy during clam digging operations near Metlakatla village.

His body was recovered by two companions after it had been in the water for more than an hour. According to the story told to the provincial police by George and Roger Powell, who had been digging clams along with Cooper, on the mainland near Wearmouth's Island, the elderly man lost his footing when he tried to climb into a dinghy and fell into the water. The current carried him away from shore.

The Powell brothers managed to get onto George Powell's troller Rubina but were unable to start the engine and, after several unsuccessful attempts, they used boards to row the trolling boat to where Cooper's body was drifting. More than an hour was said to have elapsed before Cooper's body was recovered. Efforts to revive him were unsuccessful. An inquest into Cooper's death was held today at Metlakatla by Coroner M. M. Stephens.

Contracts For Russia Reported To Be Halted

Canadian Espionage Conspiracy Still Centre of News Spotlight—Further
Official Statement Is Expected Soon

OTTAWA—Following disclosures at the week-end of the Russian espionage activity in Canada involving officials of the Canadian government, a news service reported last night that an order had been issued calling for the halting of contracts for the manufacture of goods in Canada for Russia.

The Canadian Press said last night that it had been authoritatively informed that Soviet Russia was behind the espionage activities of which Prime Minister King made a statement at the week-end without naming the power.

The Ottawa Journal said today that a former member of the Russian embassy staff was being held.

Twenty-seven persons are now being detained, according to the latest reliable reports, twelve of these having been arrested Friday. They are being held at the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks outside of Rockcliffe, a suburb of Ottawa. The nerve centre of the investigation of leakage of secret official information by two Supreme Court judges is on the ninth floor of the Justice building.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from the United States are already here and dispatches from London say that Scotland Yard is assisting in the investigation.

An official statement in regard to the progress of the investigation is expected within a day or so in order to "clear the air" of rumors.

Investigating Sordid Story

Meantime the government investigation of a sordid story of Canadians being blackmailed into betraying their country's state secrets to a foreign power continued unabated today. There have so far been no clearcut statements since Prime Minister King's announcement late last Friday.

An unimpeachable authority told the Canadian Press that a virtual Russian fifth column was being built up in Canada.

At Montreal the Star newspaper said in a news page story that six persons were arrested there Friday by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and those taken to police headquarters included a member of the National Research Council staff and an official of the Labor-Progressive party. The Star said that the raid had been ordered by Ottawa authorities and was carried out at McGill University, the Foreign Exchange Control, the Bell Telephone Co. building and the University of Montreal where the National Research Council is located.

It Can Happen Here

Espionage and intrigue along international lines in high places is not uncommon. Most every nation has had its incidents of top-ranking officials co-operating with ulterior-motivated foreign agents in one way or another. It is a new sensation, however, for Canada to have a conspiracy such as that which appears to have been uncovered at Ottawa and about which the Prime Minister made a guarded statement on Saturday. Somehow or other the most of us had just accepted the fact that Canadians, particularly top-ranking officials or trusted servants, would be above that sort of thing. But it is suggested that even Canadians may have fallen to the wiles of enemy agents some way or another.

As far as official history records, foreign espionage within Canada has never heretofore had the conscious co-operation of Canadian officialdom. It is to be hoped that this record will be maintained in Canada although all the suggestion so far in connection with this case is that there has been something seriously irregular in high places.

The government does well to have the whole circumstances speedily and effectively investigated with a view to bringing to full book any persons who may have been engaged in treachery to the state.

The Ottawa revelations remind us that the enemy—the fifth columnists—may always be among us and we would all do well to be watchful.

Maybe It Might Help

There was nothing about the little demonstration of Saturday in front of the Canadian National Railways offices to get excited about. Certainly, there was nothing harmful about it. The idea of the promoters of the picketing was to aid the campaign to spur the powers that be—railway or government—into a little speedier action toward getting something going at the local dry dock. It may be a little different way of drawing attention to the situation at the yard and the necessity of having something done about it soon. The very fact that it was unusual helped to draw attention to the situation and, if nothing more than that was accomplished, it was to the good.

Even if it might seem absurd—many things when done the first time are considered so—it is the results that count and, if the innocent little picketing of the railway offices here may have helped to get the authorities out of their lethargy or laissez-faire, the picketers are to be thanked.

One trouble is that a lot of us have got into a rut and are inclined to scoff at things which seem a little unconventional or different. Progress is never made by doing things the same way day after day.

Mr. Vaughan Speaks New World Order Now Necessary

Man Must Co-operate to Survive—Importance of Railways

MONTREAL—“Even without the menace of atomic power the disastrous war that convulsed the nations for nearly six years drove men to the realization that they must seek new ways of co-operation,” said R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, at a luncheon meeting of the Royal Montreal Curling Club. “The dreadful potentialities of atomic energy are forcing them to realize that the creation of a new world order is of the utmost urgency. If men cannot learn, and learn quickly, how to live together in peace, civilization is doomed.”

In his daily life, Mr. Vaughan went on, man had shown himself capable of intelligent co-operation, capable of living under law. The control of the forces he had himself exploited was not beyond him. These things were the basis of his hope for the future. “What he needs is the wider vision, the wider application, the breakdown of the frontiers of the mind.”

In the war, Mr. Vaughan said, the United Nations pooled their resources and shared their responsibilities. Together they defeated the forces of evil. Together they must keep those forces defeated and lead the way in building a united world which could never be imperilled by outlaws.

There could be no return to 1939, the Canadian National president emphasized. The world had entered a new era. This did not mean, however, that all the old institutions would be abandoned, though many of them might be modified.

Importance Of Railways

“Transportation, for example, will always be of paramount importance to human relationships,” Mr. Vaughan said. “In spite of the rapid development of aviation and motor traffic, I think the railways will be with us for a long time to come. As you know, Canada still enjoys a level of railway freight rates which on a per ton mile basis is the lowest of any civilized country, notwithstanding our very difficult operation conditions. The railways have helped build up this country and they will be called upon to assist in its development to further greatness. Anyone who may have been so shortsighted as to dismiss the railways as obsolete learned during the war that railways are essential. Not only are they essential but they may be depended upon. The railways were able to handle the enormously increased load at a time when they were handicapped by shortages of manpower, equipment and supplies; they were able to do the job efficiently and economically, because they are flexible organizations, consistently keeping abreast of needs and development.”

In giving an account of the stewardship of the system which he described as the loyal and faithful servant of the people of Canada, Mr. Vaughan said that the war had demonstrated beyond any doubt the capacity of the National system to handle traffic in tremendous volume. It had demonstrated the earning power of the system. “From 1941 to 1945,” he pointed out, “we paid the government in cash from our earnings $112,000,000 and for interest approximately $78,500,000.”

The spirit of loyalty and co-operation was strong in the Canadian National system, Mr. Vaughan said. “Every department and every individual employee may be depended upon to maintain the good will we have built up over the years, and in particular during our war service. We may be depended upon to give the travelling and shipping public the responsible, efficient and courteous service it has a right to expect of us. Our only desire is to serve the people of Canada and to serve them well.”

Announcement was made Sunday that Kaen Industries are to begin construction of a 28-foot by 10-foot boat for the Department of Fisheries for use in connection with salmon tagging and survey on the Kvaikvaik tributary of the Skeena.

The report, which refers to Montreal only, says the government's approach, that is through legislation, is strictly a blanket affair and that an individual approach is necessary.

IMPROVING OF COMMUNICATION

Microwave Radio Relay Being Adopted by C.N.R. and C.P.R.

MONTREAL— Following the announcement in May of last year of their intention jointly to make practicable investigation of microwave radio relay systems, the communications department of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways have been carrying out field tests leading to the selection and acquisition of sites for intermediate relay stations between Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

The railways report that satisfactory progress is being made and it is anticipated that more advanced experimental work will be undertaken in the near future. Particular characteristics of these systems are freedom from static, fading and man-made interference such as caused by ignition systems, diathermy equipment etc. It is anticipated that the effects of aurora which have caused so much trouble to existing communications system in recent days will be greatly alleviated if not eliminated.

TERRACE P.T.'S NOVEL MEETING

TERRACE—With the largest crowd yet in attendance, the monthly meeting of the Terrace Parent-Teacher Association was held in the Legion Hall Thursday evening. At one side of this hall, which serves during the day as the Grade I classroom, were two bulletin boards filled with clippings relative to P.T.A. work. Through the efforts of the teacher and her pupils the room had been made colorful and attractive. At the top of the blackboard was a border of flaming northern lights with white polar bears in the foreground. An Eskimo landscape was in the process of development on the sand table and pictures of Eskimo life were to be seen around the room. With the present winter conditions in Terrace, vivid conceptions of Eskimo land must be forming in the minds of the children. The president, Mrs. Floyd Frank, was in the chair and the meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada." Reports of conveners were submitted. A discussion as to what could be done to aid the schools most effectively developed and Mrs. J. McLeod, Mrs. Loveless and Mrs. B. Smith volunteered to organize local talent for the benefit of the schools. To commemorate "Founder's Day" Vic Imhoff read an appropriate selection. This was followed by a silver collection the proceeds of which will be sent to headquarters. The evening was brought to a pleasant conclusion with the serving of refreshments prepared by the social committee.

POETRY IS ACCLAIMED

"Grey Ship Moving" Second Book of Verse by Newspaperman Charles Bruce

TORONTO — Charles Bruce, Canadian newspaperman who was well known as a Nova Scotia poet before he came to Toronto 11 years ago to direct news-development for The Canadian Press, has just come out with a second book of verse. He calls it "Grey Ship Moving." (Ryerson).

Its 15 poems done over the last dozen years include "Personal Note," a tightly-written column and a half in verse which set down in 1941 Bruce's "statement of belief" at a time when the world was in turmoil, many of his friends were overseas, and he was in Toronto. Within three years he was CP's London Superintendent overseas and as a war correspondent crash-landed safely in Belgium with a flak-bomber crew.

This working Canadian newspaperman's verse is acclaimed in Britain, where "Grey Ship Moving" is published simultaneously. An introduction by the well-known English poet, Wilfred Gibson, says Bruce's work, "like that of Walt Whitman and Robert Frost, is vital with the very stuff of life, and never merely a rehash of literary reminiscences."

In his 20 years as a newspaperman, Bruce never went literary. Now general superintendent of The Canadian Press, he started out to be a reporter and wound up handling other men's copy. He explains his leisure-time poetry thus:

"It is perhaps only natural that a desk man, who rarely gets a chance to go out on a big story, should sometimes feel like having his say. Under the circumstances, it is not unusual if the form in which he says it differs radically from that of the writing he turns out or handles every day. At that, a study of poetry may come almost unconsciously to the aid of the news writer seeking to picture people and actions as he sees them; and a few years writing or editing news would tighten up and make more effective the work of many poets."

Among the many distinguished public figures who started out as newspaper carrier boys were two prominent governors of New York State, Thomas Dewey and A. E. Smith.

Bread Making Is Really Fun And Source Of Pride

"Baking day" is no longer on most homemaker's calendar, since a variety of fresh bread and rolls are readily obtainable from the bakery or grocery store. However, there are still times when we get that creative urge to make our own bread or rolls, but fear of working with a yeast mixture prevents many from satisfying this desire.

Breadmaking is fun and the results afford the homemaker a source of real pride. It is similar to gardening; we plant the yeast seeds in the flour mixture. These grow under favorable conditions, but require careful attention. The growing yeast plants produce the gas, which leavens the dough. During the rising periods the bread dough should be kept warm, preferably 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. It should be stiff enough to be elastic, but still as soft and pliable as putty. An excess of heat kills the yeast plants. All liquids should be no more than lukewarm. In very cool weather the flour should be warmed.

In grandfather's time, the whiter and lighter the loaf of bread, the more desirable it was. For this reason millers proceeded to remove the bran coats. Today we know that no edible part of wheat or other grain kernels should be thrown away. Would you use the white of an egg only, and throw away the yolk? Of course not.

Home economists offer the following reliable recipes, not exactly new, but tried and proven for success.

Special Brown Bread
1 yeast cake
1/4 cup lukewarm water
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon fat
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons molasses
1 cup cornmeal
2 cups cold oatmeal porridge
2 cups whole wheat flour
4 1/2 cups white flour
Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Heat milk to boiling, add fat, salt and molasses. Pour over cornmeal and let stand until lukewarm. Add porridge, whole wheat flour and dissolved yeast. Blend thoroughly. Let rise until light and double in bulk. Add white flour and knead until smooth. Shape into loaves, place in greased pans and let rise until double in bulk, about 1 1/2 hour. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees Fahrenheit, for one hour. Yield: 2 loaves.

Sweet Raisin Ring
1/2 yeast cake
1 tablespoon lukewarm water
1/2 cup scalded milk
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoon sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Filling:
1 tablespoon melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup seedless raisins

Topping:
2 tablespoons confesinary sugar
1 teaspoon warm water
Chopped nuts (optional)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, salt and sugar. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast, beaten egg and blend well. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until smooth. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk, about two hours. Roll into a rectangular shape about 1/2 inch thick. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon and raisins. Roll up as for jelly roll and shape into a ring. Place on greased baking sheet and cut with scissors at one-inch intervals, almost through ring. Turn each slice slightly on its side. Blend confesinary sugar with water and brush over the top. Sprinkle with a few chopped nuts if desired. Cover and let rise until double in size. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees Fahrenheit, for 25 to 30 minutes.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove postage stamps from envelopes?
A. To remove them from envelopes or when they are stuck together, place the stamp under a sheet of thin paper and run a hot iron gently over the paper. The stamps can be easily removed.

Q. How can I dust upholstered furniture properly?
A. Place a wet cloth over the piece to be dusted and beat it. Change the cloth frequently. This beats out the dust, which clings to the cloth.

Q. How can I make use of lemon rinds?
A. Save and dry all lemon rinds. A handful thrown on a dying fire will revive it.

Fine Floor Show, Dance, At Terrace

Board of Trade Launches Convention Fund Drive

TERRACE — The Board of Trade staged a very successful floor show and dance Friday night in the Oddfellows' Hall, the object being to commence building up a fund against the expected doings in early summer when the Associated Boards of Trade hold their convention at Terrace. The Board's committee showed ingenuity in planning the affair on Friday and also by the manner in which it was carried out.

Besides dancing there were various items of entertainment. Miss Jean Kirkaldy, in Highland dress, drew several encores with her excellent dancing of the Highland Fling. Mrs. V. Imhoff and Mrs. Pache presented a tap dance. Leslie Magor, who is an accomplished singer with a clear tenor, gave three songs. Joe McConnell sang "I Love You Truly." W. C. Osborne gave a show of acrobatics on the dance floor which had been cleared for the purpose. Mr. Yoxall, with his microphone, added the modern touch to his duties as master of ceremonies.

J. H. Smith, the president, thanked all those who had helped the ladies, who had prepared the refreshments and coffee, Terrace Bakery for donating the necessary loaves and others, not forgetting the volunteer orchestra consisting of V. Imhoff (piano), R. W. Beecher (drums), Art Kohn (piano accordion) and S. N. G. Kirkaldy (cornet).

The hall was attractively decorated with flags, the central feature across the top of the raised platform being a banner reading "Terrace and District Board of Trade. Watch Terrace Grow!"

The committee in charge consisted of W. C. Osborne, chairman, Dudley Little, Emil Haugland, with Mrs. Dudley Little, Mrs. W. C. Osborne, Mrs. G. McAdams and Mrs. C. J. Norrington in charge of refreshments.

The Abbot ordered Coffee before Prayers!

An early coffee legend tells about a Mohammedan abbot who was troubled by drowsiness during prayers. He found that, after trying the newly-discovered coffee drink, he was able to attend properly to his religious duties. Believing this to be a revelation from Mohammed, he ordered his monks to drink coffee together before services in the mosque.

Whipped potatoes and green beans will complete a top-of-the-stove meal. And you should be able to calculate on left-over tongue for week-day lunch service. The first inroads on your week's ration will be made on Monday, with 5 tokens for one pound of round steak, the basis of well-seasoned, crisp-browned meat cakes. Now that the dried bean family is making a more plentiful appearance at most markets, Tuesday's meatless main dish will well be a casserole of limas or navies. Fresh-baked whole wheat muffins and a mixed salad should assure a meal of nutritious and appetizing goodness. Minced beef and veal make a pleasant combination for a meat loaf. For variation, line the bottom and sides of a loaf pan with your favorite meat mixture, fill the centre with a good head dressing, and cover with the meat mixture. Wednesday's dinner, you should have on hand the solution to a luncheon problem. Thursday's stew, topped with dumplings, is toothsome fare for six tokens. And by Friday the wheel of good eats revolves to fish. With almost half your ration makes Saturday an opportune time to satisfy the family's penchant for a juicy steak. Even so, you have to your credit seven tokens to augment purchases if you have a guest night, or to help out with next week's roast day.

Canadiens In Lead

Toe Blake's Last-Minute Goal Gives Victory Over New York

TORONTO—There were two National Hockey League games played last night. At New York the league-leading Montreal Canadiens came through in the last minute to beat out the New York Rangers 5 to 4. With 46 seconds to go, Toe Blake scored the 200th goal of his NHL career to give the Canadiens their victory. At Chicago, Detroit Red Wings held the Black Hawks to a tie for the second straight night. More than 17,000 fans watched the two teams battle to a two-all draw. The deadlock moved the Hawks into a second-place tie with the idle Boston Bruins. The Hawks and Bruins are three points behind the Canadiens.

Saturday night's hockey shenanigans saw the Montreal Canadiens move into the top spot of the National Hockey League on the strength of a 4-2 defeat handed the Toronto Maple Leafs. The slipping Detroit Red Wings went into reverse again and tied with the third-place Chicago Black Hawks 3-3. In Boston, the powerful Boston Bruins bowed to the lowly New York Rangers 6-2. The top three teams in the leagues in order are Montreal, Chicago and Boston. The fifth-place Maple Leafs' chances at a spot in the playoffs are dimmed even further and are practically extinguished.

Served In Far East—

LOCAL WIRELESS AIR GUNNER TOOK HAND IN ALLIED BURMA COMEBACK

Of the hundreds of young Prince Rupert men who served overseas in World War II none had more thrilling experiences than Warrant Officer John Johnson, son of Mrs. C. Johnson, 218 Eighth Avenue West, who is just home from the Far East theatre. He served as a wireless air gunner with the command and attack of Japanese fighters. She had thirty or forty machine gun holes as well as a hit from an anti-aircraft shell which blew out the catwalk. Fuel lines were shot up—there was only 40 gallons of fuel left after the 1300-mile flight.

With crash imminent, the commanding officer had ordered his crew into the back of the ship and, as a result, the lives of all were saved when the ship, being set down skiffily, dug in by the nose to be later written off as a total loss.

Answering questions as to the details of operational flying in the area, John told a Daily News querist that it was mostly ground defence which had to be contended with and it was usually most inaccurate. Seldom did the Japanese come up to fight although three Tojos did make an attack on the squadron one time at Rangoon, all being shot down for their trouble. Most of the bombing was by 500 and 1000-pounders at altitude usually around 1000 feet.

Throughout the campaign Johnson flew with Wing Commander Brian Sparks of Windsor. Indeed they started out together from Boundary Bay in September 1944 and it was a sad day last July at Coos Island when the "skipper" died of infantile paralysis which he had evidently contracted before leaving India.

Established at Salboni, a six months' campaign of systematic bombing commenced, the local boy taking part in twenty-seven trips over objectives in Burma, concentrating on the Burma-Siam Railway and actively participating in the reduction of such cities as Mandalay, Rangoon and Burma. Knocking out of railway bridges, strafing of rolling stock, pounding of military objectives in the storied cities of the Far East all were part of the day's work.

Narrow Escape
In Crash Landing
It was on June 1, on coming back into Salboni after the twenty-seventh and last trip during which they had a hot time in shooting up a Jap tanker and two destroyers in the Gulf of Siam, that their ship—"Madame X"—made a crash landing on the air field and the local boy had his closest call. The ship had been badly battered by anti-aircraft fire and attack of Japanese fighters. She had thirty or forty machine gun holes as well as a hit from an anti-aircraft shell which blew out the catwalk. Fuel lines were shot up—there was only 40 gallons of fuel left after the 1300-mile flight.

With crash imminent, the commanding officer had ordered his crew into the back of the ship and, as a result, the lives of all were saved when the ship, being set down skiffily, dug in by the nose to be later written off as a total loss.

With the conclusion of the war in the Far East, the squadron was shipped to Britain by way of Ceylon, through India, the Red Sea, Suez and the Mediterranean. After a three months' wait in Britain, passage across the Atlantic was made on the trooper Scythia, landing at Halifax February 1.

John arrived home early last week. A former meter reader, he is now joining the power company line crew. Next year he plans going to University of British Columbia to take up electrical engineering.

John is not the only son of Mrs. Johnson to have served in the war. A younger boy, Pete, has been in the Royal Canadian Navy a little more than a year, now being aboard H.M.C.S. Givency out of Esquimalt.

Men's Five Pins—Imperial Oil 2, Traffic 1; Artists 2, Alleycats 1; Accountants 2, Tigers 1.
Ladies' Five Pins—Khatadas 3, C.N. Telegraphs 0; Lipsett's 3, Moose No. 2 0; Cosmos 2, Married Women 1; B.C. Power 2, Price Board 1.

Mr. and Mrs. League—Apes 3, Tigers 0; Panthers 3, Weasels 0; Hippos 2, Donkeys 1; Bears 2, Badgers 1.

PITCHERS ARE RICKEY'S NEED

The baseball world heard from President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers that he is knee-deep in outfielders and that he has a world of potential catchers but groans that pitchers are a headache. Branch also means that he cannot expect to receive any assistance from the surplus-happy St. Louis Cardinals. The Brooklyn president says that the Cards will sell pitchers only to the clubs lower in the standings last season.

A Congressional Medal of Honor winner who dislodged 300 Japs entrenched in Manila first learned to fend for himself as a newspaper carrier boy.

Eliminations for the first time running of the Kenner Derby since before Pearl Harbor have closed and it now is believed Derby nominees will be slightly ahead of last year. One hundred and fifty-five three-year-olds were nominated for the classic last year. The Derby is scheduled for May 4 this year. Nineteen forty-six promises to be a big year for the Derby. For one thing the added money has been raised from $75,000 to $100,000, making this year's running the richest in its history. This year's running also promises to draw a record crowd. Resident Manager Hubert Sweeney predicts as many as 120,000 fans may flock to Churchill Downs for the classic this spring. All reserved seats have been sold already.

The Canadian lightweight and welterweight champion, Dave Castelloux of Montreal, emerged victorious in a mauling, ten-round battle with Eddie Lander of Chicago Friday night. Castelloux scored effectively with eight punches but lacked aggressiveness to follow through. Lander, who recently returned from naval duty, was wild.

In Detroit, Sugar Robinson, crowned king of the American welterweights, knocked out O'Neil Bell of Detroit in the second round of their scheduled ten-rounder. Roaring in at the onset of the second round, Robinson put Bell away before a minute and ten seconds had fled away in that stanza. The quick victory deprived Detroit's biggest fight crowd in three years of betting more than a glance at Robinson a native Detroit.

HAYSPORT FERRY

Editor, Daily News:
It has been suggested that Tyece on the Skeena River is more convenient than Haysport for a ferry float and that the float may be moved from the latter place to Tyece.

The residents of Port Essington and district, including Carlisle, do not want the float moved to Tyece. Haysport, which is the fishing boundary, is used extensively by fishermen and fish packers who find the present location very serviceable. If the float is moved to Tyece these men will be deprived of a handy place to tie up their boats as Tyece is three miles inside the fishing boundary.

On some occasions during the past season there were as many as 30 fishing boats tied to the Haysport float. The fishermen on these boats should not be expected to buck a seven-knot tide to land at Tyece, a distance of three miles.

The present ferryman, who also carries the mail from Haysport to Port Essington, says Tyece is no place for a ferry float, as ice conditions would sometimes prevent him making a landing.

COMING ON ELIZABETH

Local Flight Sergeant and Airwoman Heading Home To Rupert

Two Royal Canadian Air Force personnel—a flight sergeant and leading air woman—heading homeward for Prince Rupert, are due to land at New York this Wednesday from the liner Queen Elizabeth. They are Ft. Sgt. J. A. Smith, 921 Ambrose Avenue, and Leading Airwoman K. N. Terry, who has been engaged as an administrative clerk.

Other Northern B. C. Air Force personnel on the Queen Elizabeth are Leading Airwoman E. Hausen of Forestdale and Leading Aircraftsman E. G. Howe of Fort St. John.

ICE-FLOE TRANSPORT

Polar bears have been known to drift from Greenland to Iceland on cakes of ice.

Today, an advertisement in all Canadian daily newspapers costs 21 percent less than in 1921 and reaches 62 percent more readers.

Also, it would be a longer water trip to Port Essington.

Bishop Sees More Mining

Resumption of Activity in Various Parts of Yukon Predicted by Geddes

The tide of mining activity in the Yukon is expected to start rolling upward after having experienced during the years of war the lowest ebb it has sustained in decades, it was said yesterday by Rt. Rev. W. A. Geddes, Anglican Bishop of the Yukon, who was in the city yesterday morning aboard the Princess Norah returning to his ecclesiastical seat at Dawson after a three-months absence outside. He spent most of the time at Vancouver where Mrs. Geddes and family are at present in residence, also attending a church conference in Toronto in November. He will fly in from Whitehorse to Dawson. While here he met Rt. Rev. J. B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia.

Bishop Geddes said that a new company has become interested in the lode mining at Mayo on the Stewart River east of Dawson and its presence is expected to be accompanied by a sharp resumption of productive activity in that silver and gold field. Likewise there is expected to be a fillip of activity in the "Sixty Mile" country, west of Dawson near the Alaska boundary. A placer dredge which was taken in to Dawson in 1941 but never got any further than there is expected to be delivered over the road to "Sixty Mile" this season.

Considerable attention in the way of opening up is expected to be paid to the Carmacks area between Whitehorse and Dawson where a new gold discovery was made last year. The Yukon was one of these formerly active mineral areas of the north which suffered a slump during the war owing to shortage of manpower and lack of interest in the production of precious metals not vitally essential to the war effort.
