Operatic Musk-Ox Under Way

Eleven Snowmobiles Take Off From Churchill in 43-Below Weather for Edmonton

CHURCHILL — The 47-men strong force of Exercise Musk-Ox, the Canadian Army's research expedition into Canada's northernmost Territories, took off here today in some of the harshest weather of the winter. The temperature was 43 below zero on the first leg of a 3100-mile trek which will end at Edmonton on Feb. 5.

Low visibility yesterday had caused a 24-hour postponement. The men huddled in the inn, and with a five-mile-per-hour wind blowing as the boom cannon announced the start of the expedition, the most arduous of its kind yet attempted in North America.

The force travels in snowmobiles, seven leaving here with sleds to be picked up at Churchill, and each vehicle loaded with sleds laden with supplies.

JAP SHOWS HOW THREE DOOLITTLE FLIERS WERE MURDERED IN SHANGHAI—Japanese Officer Yamama, who witnessed the execution of three Doolittle fliers who participated in the first bombing of Tokyo, demonstrates to the manner in which the American airmen were made to kneel before their executioners in Shanghai. Their arms were bound to crosses and the men were blindfolded. A black spot was painted between the eyes as a target for the firing squad.

ORDER OF PROMINITY

Conference Being Held in Ottawa Soon to Interpret New Regulations

OTTAWA — An effort is being made in Ottawa to bring about uniform interpretation of new wage orders. The chairman of the National War Labor Board, Justice M. B. Archibald, says that members of both the National and Regional War Labor Boards will meet in the federal capital on February 26 to discuss the effects of the recent relaxations of wage controls.

Canadians To Leave Europe Shortly Now

Army and Air Force to Be Withdrawn With Dispatch From Europe

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today that the Canadian occupation force of 25,000 men will be withdrawn from Germany by April. Air Minister Collins had previously announced the withdrawal of 10,000 men from the occupational air force by the end of June 30.

The Navy did not participate in the announcement. The present shipping situation prevents that all troops now in Germany should be back in Canada by September or October.

Referring to the Air Force withdrawal, the statement of the prime minister said "negotiations are proceeding which may result in earlier withdrawal being made possible."

LANUCK TROOPS STRIKE BRIEFLY

LONDON — A sitdown strike lasting several hours was staged on Monday by some members of the Highland Light Infantry Battalion of the Canadian Army of Occupation in Germany.

The men asked for better rationing and to know the definite date of their repatriation to Canada.

It was not known in London how many of the Highland Light Infantry Regiment, of Galt, Ontario, were involved, but it is understood that the strikers did not include any commissioned personnel or non-commissioned officers.

After Vokes explained the situation regarding rations and the repatriation policy, the men went back to work. At all times the men were orderly and others in the battalion were able to perform their duties.

FORMULA FOR WAGE-PRICES

President Truman's Economic Plan Brings Mixed Reaction in States

WASHINGTON — President Truman's Wage-Price policy is bringing a mixed re-action from Congressmen. Some of the lawmakers are saying they see the threat of inflation in the new policy, while others say that any such trend can be controlled. Briefly the policy provides that pay increases in general must be approved by the government if the increases lead to higher prices. Any compensating price increases will be allowed immediately after the pay boost.

GREENWICH IS NOT ANXIOUS

Resolution Against Being Made World Capital To Be Put to Vote

NEW YORK—The residential town of Greenwich, Connecticut, seems to be taking the U.N.O. world capital announcement completely in stride. Greenwich has been buzzing with controversies ever since it found out that part of its area was included in the recommended site. A referendum will be held on March 2 on a resolution protesting against the establishment of the U.N.O. capital in or adjacent to Greenwich.

COAST FISHERIES TO BE REDRAFTED

VANCOUVER — Complete reorganization of the Federal Fisheries Department staffs on both coasts and the strengthening of patrols and other services is now under way. Fisheries Minister H. F. G. Bridges announced here Wednesday.

He said that fisheries protection and services on the Pacific coast were being brought back to pre-war strength, and improved by the use of more efficient vessels. Airplanes are to be added to the patrol service, he said.

Further intensive study of the whole salmon situation along the B. C. coast is being undertaken in view of the reduction in catches in the last two years.

PITTSBURGH GIRL, YUKON SURVIVOR, HERE CONTINUING INTERRUPTED TRIP

The wreck of the steamer Yukon on which she was a passenger interrupted but did not alter the travel route of Miss Irene Leposky of Pittsburgh, Pa., who escaped from the storm-torn vessel 12 hours after it went aground in Johnstone Bay on February 3.

Miss Leposky, who was on her way from Anchorage where she worked in the government weather station since last May, is in the city today enroute home via the Canadian National line just as she planned although more than a week late.

"I always wanted to see north-west Canada and I don't know why the wreck of the Yukon should change my plans," said this tall, blonde girl who lost everything but the clothes she was wearing when the ill-starred ship broke up.

She is leaving on tonight's train for Chicago on her way to Pittsburgh.

Dilapidated Railway Station Is Criticized—Many Other Complaints Registered

The "dilapidated" condition of the second-storey waiting room in Prince Rupert's C.N.R. station was deplored in a resolution presented to the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its monthly meeting last night by L. M. Felsenthal and the chamber adopted the resolution's recommendation that the railway whereby it may become favorably engaged at the earliest moment in a trans-Pacific service.

- That the C.N.R. interest itself in the establishment of a free port on the Pacific Coast.
- That facilities of the C.N.R. be used solely and fully as their true advantages dictate and not as decreed by any pressure group or prejudicial influence.
- That where disadvantages at present minimize the complete use of the facilities of the C.N.R., the railway should actively pursue a policy to overcome them.
- That action be taken whereby the C.N.R. might take advantage of the unprecedented tourist traffic that has accumulated for the Pacific Coast, emphasizing the triangle tour—Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Jasper.

Although the brief stated that "excuses are no valid reason for sufficient action at this time," the replies to the seven copies sent to government and railway officials, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King and C.N.R. President R. C. Vaughan brought forth no positive remarks in its behalf.

The meeting was held in the Boston Cafe with President Clifford Ham as chairman. There were about 35 members and guests present.

It is estimated that 45 persons have been killed and 400 injured in two days of fighting between police and surging mobs of Indians. The British have put the city under martial law. Several American soldiers were injured in incidents. The Hindus and Moslems were demonstrating against the conviction of an officer in the Japanese-sponsored Indian National Army.

His only passenger, Kam Lee, also of Prince Rupert and recently discharged from the Royal Canadian Air Force, suffered lesser injuries.

Hundreds of Them Marched On Mauretania for Trip to Britain

HALIFAX — Hundreds of German prisoners of war have been marched aboard the big liner Mauretania. The prisoners were all smiles as they were moved from six special train from western Canada onto the 35,000-ton trooper. Hundreds of civilian and military police patrolled the area which was barred to civilians outside of a few newsmen and photographers. Searchlights swept the area all the time the movement was in progress.

FISHERIES WORK HIGHLY USEFUL

"Intensely practical" problems dealt with by the government fisheries biological service on the Pacific coast were outlined to the Junior Chamber of Commerce by Dr. John L. Hart of the Nanaimo fisheries laboratory at the monthly meeting of the organization last night.

"Some people have the impression that we wander around concerned with abstruse problems that interest only a few other biologists," Dr. Hart said. "This is not true. Our work is having practical value to the various fisheries on the coast."

Major work is being carried out on the salmon fishery, through three "investigations," one on the Cowichan River on Vancouver Island, one on the Skeena River, and a general salmon investigation which does not include either of those mentioned above or the Fraser River fishery which is under an international commission.

Purpose of the biological work is to determine the "ideal intensity of the fishery which will yield the greatest productivity. This involves tagging and supervision of spawning grounds," Dr. Hart said.

The Skeena River, which is the province's second most important salmon fishing river, has shown signs of decreasing productivity in recent years, and this must be checked, he declared.

Investigations of the herring fishery are also being carried out. These lead to proposals for new methods of exploiting the herring, and the investigation has been so well organized and carried out that it has won international recognition.

IS FELT IN VANCOUVER, ELSEWHERE

Centre of Disturbance Near Olympia—Some Serious, Some Funny Incidents

VANCOUVER — An earthquake was felt with some severity in several areas of the United States Pacific northwest and in British Columbia on Thursday night. The shock was described as the largest local earthquake ever picked up by the seismograph at the University of Washington. The sway was felt at Seattle, Olympia, Tacoma, Vancouver and at the Puget Sound navy yard in Bremerton. There have been no indications of any serious damage or injuries.

The earthquake, variously described from "light" to "severe," shook the coast all the way from southern British Columbia to northern Oregon.

Residents who felt the tremor in Vancouver and Victoria reported that walls rattled and dishes were upset but there were no reports of any serious damage in British Columbia. Lions Gate Bridge swayed but there was no traffic on it.

The earthquake, felt about 7:18 p.m., was apparently stronger in Washington State than in British Columbia. It sheared the cornice from a hotel roof at Olympia, the state capital, into the street below, toppled the brick wall of a packing plant and burst a 150,000-gallon water tank in Seattle. There were quarter-inch cracks in Olympia buildings.

The quake is believed to have had its centre somewhere in Olympic Peninsula about 75 miles south of the capital.

At Kent, Washington, a statue of St. Joseph toppled over onto the roof of a Catholic boys' school.

The disturbance was not without its humorous incidents. A man had been suffering from hiccoughs all day. The tremor stopped them.

A boy was repairing a roof when the quake shook him off onto the back of a horse standing below. The horse ran away and, a block off, bucked him into a creek. He was all wet but, otherwise, uninjured.

Three-way Co-operation

The Canadian National Railway, so far at least, has no idea of what use may be made of the great port installations which the war brought to Prince Rupert such as the huge warehouse and cargo wharf. A nebulous idea is put forward that something eventually may be done through co-operative effort between the railway, the municipality and the government. This was disclosed before the civic court of revision yesterday by the railway taxation commissioner who unsuccessfully sought to have some special consideration given in the way of taxation in view of the buildings being idle with no immediate prospect of any use being made of them.

We are not particularly interested in discussing at the moment the advisability of making tax concessions on these installations in order to encourage their use for industrial purposes. It is timely, though, to suggest that once again we should be bestirring ourselves to "sell" them for active use so that the development of this strategic port may be speedily brought about.

Here in Prince Rupert we can continue the campaign along these lines no more effectively than by endeavoring, as we have been doing, to spur the railway company and the government into some action whereby Prince Rupert may be brought to play its part in the opening up of this port and area from a national standpoint. After all, the property concerned is theirs and we would think it only good business that they should endeavor to do something toward putting it into profitable use.

True enough, Prince Rupert should not expect the railway company or the government to do everything without any effort of its own but the fact is that the development of Prince Rupert and this great northwest country of Canada is something that would be of national much more than mere local benefit.

Further, the railway company and the government are in better position to make the contacts which may ultimately lead to the utilization of these great terminal facilities and the achieving of the development which will make for the common prosperity not only of the community of Prince Rupert but of the whole of Canada. We should pull our own load here in Prince Rupert but, when we seek the assistance of the railway and government, we have no reason to rest content with "it's up to you" or "so what?" attitudes by the powers that be. We are tired of hearing that sort of thing. It should not be the attitude of authorities who are competent and willing to deal with their own business in a progressive way instead of expecting somebody else to do it for them. We at least have one railway official on record now going so far as to admit that "co-operative effort between the railway, municipality and the government" is needed. Prince Rupert people are anxious to "co-operate." We hope that the railway and the government are too.

Talking of Population

There is nothing very extravagant in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics prediction that the population of Canada may reach 15,000,000 by 1990, half a century hence, and that the next quarter of a century may see a gain of 21 percent for British Columbia. Fifteen million people in Canada by 1990 would represent a gain of approximately 38 percent from the 1941 census figure. That would be a far cry from the 150 percent gain in population recorded by this country in the past half a century as is to be found in comparing the 1941 census of 11,506,665 with that of 1891 when 4,833,239 people were officially counted in Canada.

A 21 percent increase in population in the coming 25 years does not match by any means the 54 percent recorded in British Columbia as between 1941 and 1921.

In connection with speculation on the subject of the future growth of population, some official figures as to past census progress in Canada and British Columbia are of interest. Here they are:

	Canada	British Columbia
1871	3,869,257	36,247
1881	4,324,810	49,459
1891	4,833,239	98,173
1901	5,371,315	178,657
1911	7,206,643	392,480
1921	8,787,949	524,582
1931	10,474,786	694,263
1941	11,506,655	871,861

While there has been no census since 1941, it is conceded that British Columbia in the five years since then, due to the concentration of population on stimulated war industries, has gained probably more than any other part of Canada and now the postwar trend is for people to flock in even greater numbers to this province. It is quite possible that there are very close to a million people in British Columbia today.

WILL PROVIDE SUN LAMPS FOR CIVIC CENTRE

A Prince Rupert electrical firm is prepared to provide and install free of cost the initial units of a battery of sun-ray lamps in the city's new Civic Centre building providing a room is set aside for that purpose.

Frank Howarth, manager of Mott Electric Company, said at luncheon meeting of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club Thursday that his organization was willing to do much to overcome the weatherman's parsimony of sunlight by allowing citizens to take daily "sun" baths at the Civic Centre after its opening on March 3.

The possibility that the Rotary Club will take on the project of providing more sun lamps for the Civic Centre will be discussed by the club executive at an early meeting.

Mr. Howarth did not indicate how many of the units his firm is willing to donate but the probability is that four will be the initial number.

Details of the project are still to be worked out. Announcement of the "grand ball" celebrating the opening of the Civic Centre building, on March 4, was made by T. N. Youngs, Civic Centre chairman, who promised that it would be the "biggest thing of its kind" to take place in Prince Rupert.

The entertainment program of the meeting led off with a "who's who" autobiography by William Terry. Chairman was James H. Thompson, club president, Ralph Green, Vancouver, George Keith, Winnipeg, and Glen Wilson.

Q. Isn't it proper to butter a whole slice of bread, and then bite into it?

A. No; the proper way is to break off a small piece at a time, buttering each bite separately.

PULP MILL DISCUSSED

Power Franchise Also Up at T. and L. Meeting—Cold Storage Dispute

The proposed building of a pulp mill at Prince Rupert and the extension of the power franchise to the Northern B. C. Power Co., were the main topics of discussion at last night's regular meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council. It was finally decided that, until such time as the company has submitted its proposals to the city council in writing, further discussion on the subject would be premature.

Delegate Paul Taranger from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union reported on the dispute existing between his union and two of the Cold Storage plants in the city—the Atlin and the B. C. Packers. He stated that his union felt the companies were unfair in not being willing to negotiate collective agreements with the "closed shop" clause going to a conciliation board for decision. The entire proposed agreement should be submitted for conciliation, it was felt. He said it could be that they might have to come to the council for assistance in this connection. He was assured that any assistance that could be given would be gladly rendered.

The secretary was instructed to write the executive of the C.C.L. regarding the establishment of a second Truck Drivers' Union in the city, pointing out that inter-union strife was the most destructive force that true unionism has to combat and requesting that they reconsider their decision.

David Crocker reported on the meeting of the "Jobs For All" Association held Sunday night last in the Fishermen's Hall. It was decided, pending the decision of the labor movement in Prince Rupert to send dele-

A short time before midnight last night, Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Sea, Capt. Jordan, arrived in port from Ketchikan with four carloads of frozen fish for transshipment East over Canadian National Railways. Early this morning the vessel sailed in continuation of her voyage to Seattle.

Included among the passengers of the steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. E. B. Caldwell, in port last night southbound from Ketchikan to Vancouver, were half a dozen survivors of the steamer Yukon which was wrecked a week ago Sunday on the western Alaska coast near Seward. They had boarded the Canadian vessel at Ketchikan and are going through to Seattle—all except one, Miss Irene Leposky, who entrains here tonight for her home in Pittsburgh.

NEW MEXICO'S PARCHED ACRES DRINK DEEPLY OF FRESH WATER—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reed register silent satisfaction as they watch the first water to reach their parched acres near Tucuman, New Mexico, where the bureau of reclamation is constructing a huge irrigation project. When completed the project will supply water through a 75-mile-long canal to 45,000 acres of fertile but arid land. The development is one of hundreds in the west which will provide jobs for at least 50,000 World II veterans, and farm homes for some 85,000 families.

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent the spattering of fish when frying?

A. Invert a collander over the pan. When boiling, add a tablespoon of vinegar to the water to prevent crumbling. It also adds to the flavor and makes it firm and white.

Q. How can I keep the bristles of the toothbrush stiff?

A. Every person should have two toothbrushes and should use them alternately. This gives each brush a chance to dry and regain its stiffness before using again.

Q. How can I make smooth gravy?

A. An absolute necessity in the kitchen is a flour dredge. If one wishes the gravies to be smooth.

Ready-to-Wear Supply Situation Here Better Than Elsewhere—Local Man in New York After Nylon Sale

"Prince Rupert ready-to-wear stores have proportionately more merchandise than those of Vancouver or Montreal and Canadian stores appear to have more on their shelves, bare as they may seem, than those in the United States."

Such is the observation of L. M. Felsenthal, manager of the local People's Store organization, who returned to the city Wednesday from a business trip south and east.

Mr. Felsenthal hastened to add, however, that there was no improvement in the supply situation in Canada and no immediate prospect of an improvement. From coast to coast on both sides of the line shortages of merchandise continue acute.

Mr. Felsenthal visited such cities as Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver. He also crossed the line and was in New York and Pittsburgh. His mother and sister are in the latter city.

The local business man happened to be in New York the day after nylons went on sale in the big Gimbel store. They advertised 26,000 pair going on sale. Before 1 p.m. 30,000 women had tried to buy them. The store was so jammed that the women could hardly move. Three whole floors were roped off in aisles and there were police patrols.

MORE FABRIC BEING MADE

CANBERRA, Australia—Australia, the world's largest wool producer, now is manufacturing woolen fabrics on a large scale.

Recent development of attractively patterned light-weight woolen sheers gives wool, the best-wearing fabric, a new versatility and glamor.

New results are being obtained by the use of extra fine yarns, combined with production of intricate fancy weaves by expert textile designers. Shrink-resistant, uncrushable, easy to wash and iron, the light weight and smoothness of texture of the new woolen fabrics make them ideal for year-round wear.

Materials at present in production in Australia weigh four ounces per square yard. Weight is expected to be cut to 2½ ounces per square yard very shortly. Weight of normal woolen fabrics varies from six to eight ounces per square yard.

Production cost of woolen sheers is low. Present Australian retail prices of various types are: unpatterned sheer wool, $1.32 per yard of 30 inches width; two-tone screen-printed sheers, $2.36 per yard of 30 inches width; wool sheers, hand-printed in individual designs, $5.59 per square yard.

GIRLS GETTING POLITE AGAIN

Veils On Girls' Hats Taboo In New Rules for Secretaries

WASHINGTON — The wartime crop of gum-chewing office workers who couldn't spell and dropped saying "Sir" to the boss had better be minding their "Ps" and "Qs."

A new course in decorum and conduct for secretaries is a must for ambitious career girls enrolled at the Washington School for Secretaries. First off, the girls are taught to have a respectful and impersonal attitude for the higher-ups, at all times. "They must not expect to be insulted," an official of the school explains.

Manners, posture, carriage, dress and grooming are taught in a four-weeks' lecture course at the school. While attending the school they are expected to put the teachings into practice. They must wear stockings and gloves, shoes with heels, and hats instead of bandanas.

Veils on the girls' hats are taboo, because that is "strictly glamor dress," says an official, and so are bows and flowers. Their shoes must be conservative—not open-toed, or open-heeled, not too bright in color, and not having too many straps, or fancy trimming.

They must not wear too much jewelry. Tailored suits are recommended as most appropriate office attire. There is no restriction on color, except that it "ought to complement the natural coloring of the wearer."

The girls are advised to use nail polish, because the "average person's hands are more conspicuous without it." They are urged to use lipstick that doesn't come off on the teeth and the school suggests that a brush be used to paint on rouge because it makes lips appear smoother. Among other tenets of good office behaviour hammered at are how to enter a room, how to sit gracefully, how to reach for the telephone, how to bend from the knees to open the bottom file cabinet drawers, how to take messages, make introductions and greet callers.

A secretary must never take a man's coat. "That puts her in the servant class," the school warns. There must be no gum-chewing, no smoking and no chatter or gossip.

MAY DEVELOP DESERT AREA FOR NATIVES

CAPETOWN — Dr. Louis Steenkamp who was a member of the expedition to the Kalahari Desert area of the Bechuanaland Protectorate last year, stated recently in Capetown that the area had vast possibilities but the question was whether it should be opened for native or European expansion.

Dr. Steenkamp said he believed the main purpose should be for development of the natives. Although the expedition explored the Schwartz theory that storage water in Kalahari would increase the Union's rainfall, it had found possibilities of utilizing vast forests to increase the woodworking industry's scope and believed that land adjoining the swamps might be successfully cultivated by irrigation, he said.

To Reside Here After Honeymoon

At a marriage ceremony held in the manse of First Presbyterian Church last night, Miss Ethel Evelyn Holmstrom of 425 Ninth Avenue West became the bride of Donald L. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Jensen, 508 Green Street. Rev. A. F. MacSweeney officiated. Witnesses were Mrs. Nan Nordin and Mrs. Godfrey Nordin.

Following a reception held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, the newly married couple left on the Prince Rupert for a honeymoon in Victoria. They will reside in Prince Rupert, where Mr. Jensen is employed as a trainman with the Canadian National Railways.

ANTIQUES IN MODERN HOME

Designer Says Use of Chippendale, Empire and Baroque Acceptable if Properly Balanced

NEW YORK. — Because of the tremendous interest in antiques today, decorators and collectors have been discussing the part that antiques will play in the post-war home that is flat-roofed, streamlined and modern.

Designer Beryl S. Austrian insists that there is a place for antiques in modern interiors. They should, however, be used sparingly in modern settings.

She believes an unusual secretary-bookcase, a pair of fine bergeres or a baroque setting can be used and absorbed into a modern scheme and become an integral part of it. She does feel, however, that dreary antiques are out and the faded velvet, dull damask and sober needlepoint can't enhance any room.

Perhaps the most important thing to remember in combining modern and antique furniture is that you can use Granny's Chippendale, Empire and Baroque providing you balance it properly, she says. But it would be ridiculous to have a dark hand-carved table next to a blond, modern straight-legged chair.

But if the dark old woods are stripped or bleached or pickled to blend with the blond tones that are used in modern decoration the antique will lend grace and warmth to the modern. For increased interest some white or pastel paint can be rubbed into the bleached wood.

Chinese Design Finding Favor
Since contemporary design has borrowed freely from the Chinese in line and color, Mrs. Austrian believes it follows logically that Chinese antiques such as lacquer chests in clear primary shades of red, green or yellow, tables in cracked white or shiny ebony, brilliant screens and figured rugs with monochromatic designs, are in perfect harmony with today's modern pieces.

Antique accessories, as well as furniture, can point up a modern interior, she says. Lustre can be added to a contemporary background with the addition of a Venetian mirror, lamp bases of old porcelains in fine glazes, or the exaggerated details of a Napoleonic ink stand.

Even the curved and "curly"

Louis XV and Baroque, if suitably keyed as to scale and color, can help dramatize a modern setting. But a room that is stripped of ornamental detail must be carefully planned if a mixture of period furniture is going to be set against an interior of glass, metal and plastics.

Mrs. Austrian says that though there will be a great deal of antique and modern combined in this post-war world, few people realize that there always has been some combination of antique and modern in the average household.

Overstuffed, upholstered couches and chairs with spring seats and down cushions which were the comfortable contribution of the 20th century to modern living were used in most households no matter what the period of the furnishings, she says.

SHORT SESSION OF PARLIAMENT

Expected to Conclude in May Prior to Peace Conference

OTTAWA—Observers in Ottawa say that, despite a heavy program before Parliament at the forthcoming session, the House of Commons will adjourn for the summer. These observers expect adjournment to come in May with the House reconvening in late August or early September. The reason for the reported adjournment is said to be the government's desire for a full Canadian representation at the peace conference in May.

BOSTON TAKES FIRST PLACE

Draw Verdict With New York Rangers Puts Them on Top In National Hockey League

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-all draw result last night with New York Rangers was sufficient to put Boston Bruins at least temporarily in the National Hockey League leadership with a one-point margin over Montreal Canadiens who, in turn, are a single point ahead of the third-place Chicago Black Hawks. The game drew a crowd of more than 14,000 to Madison Square Garden.

With such a close race going on for the first-place honors, there will be much interest in the week-end schedule of games. Tomorrow night Boston will be playing the Rangers again, this time on Boston ice, while the Canadiens will take on the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Gardens in Toronto with Chicago meeting Detroit at Detroit. Sunday night the Canadiens will be at New York with the Rangers, with Detroit playing at Chicago.

The standings to date are as follows:

	W	D	L	P	A	Pts
Boston	19	8	12	127	112	46
Canadiens	21	3	13	123	94	45
Chicago	20	4	14	159	146	44
Detroit	15	6	15	97	105	36

WOMAN BALL SCOUT FOR PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA—The Philadelphia Phillies have signed a woman baseball scout. She is Miss Edith Houghton, a young and pretty discharged "Wave." Miss Houghton is believed to be the first woman scout in the history of Major League baseball. She was a former shortstop for the old Philadelphia Bobbies, a girl's baseball team.

BABE PRATT REINSTATED

Big News in Hockey World—Back in Maple Leafs' Fold

NEW YORK—The big news in the hockey world for Canadians is the return of the so-called "Honest Switchman"—Defenceman Babe Pratt—to the fold of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Pratt was reinstated to the National Hockey League yesterday by the circuit's board of governors. He returns just in time to help his team in its drive toward the play-offs.

Pratt was expelled 16 days ago from the league by president Red Dutton for betting on N.H.L. games. The governors have warned that any player or official found guilty of betting on any National Hockey League team will be expelled and will have no right of appeal.

PORCUPINE NAMES
The porcupine is also known as quill-ning, urson, hedgehog, and quiller.

The Boston Bruins have moved into undisputed possession of first place in the National Hockey League. Last night's game between Boston and cellar-dwelling New York Rangers which ended in a 2-2 tie gave the Bruins a one-point edge on Montreal and a two-point margin over Chicago.

The Duke of Devonshire, then Governor-General of Canada, was disappointed when his favorites, Ottawa Senators, bowed 3-1 to Montreal Canadiens 25 years ago. The Duke recovered his spirits when he saw the Senators, chosen by some experts as the greatest hockey team that ever raced on skates, come back and win the Stanley Cup that year.

Heavyweight boxer, Ernie Schaaf, after taking a merciless beating from giant Primo Carnera, died in hospital 13 years ago yesterday. Twenty thousand fans yelled "fake" four days previously as Schaaf collapsed in the 13th round of the 15-round fight, but the youthful boxer failed to regain consciousness.

The first world 18.2 balkline billiards championship tournament started in the Grand Hotel, Paris, 43 years ago today. There were four entries — two each from France and the United States—and play ended in a three-cornered tie six days later. Maurice Vignaux of France refused to play off and appealed to the French court. After several months' delay he was ruled winner.

LOCAL SKIERS INVITED TO SMITHERS MEET

Members of Prince Rupert's Mount Blaine Ski Club are being invited to take part in the Smithers ski carnival scheduled for February 24 and 25. This year's carnival will be the first in the interior town since 1940 and its backers also anticipate entries from Hazelton and Burns Lake as well.

Included in the two-day classic will be a banquet honoring the visiting skiers, and the crowning of the Snow Queen. Candidates for the royal throne are Miss Doris Ollary of the Smithers Ski Club, Miss Margaret Erickson of the C.N.R., and Miss Helen Oulton for the Smithers merchants.

Major slalom and downhill ski events will start on Malkow Lookout hill which is generally conceded to have one of the finest ski runs west of Jasper.

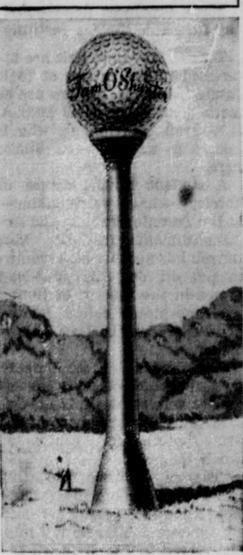

The banquet will be held Sunday night, following the initial races, and on Monday night, the carnival will be topped off by the crowning of the Snow Queen followed by a dance.

Philip A. Jones of the Smithers Ski Club says that adequate room and board will be assured for visiting skiers.

Chicago will soon have a golf landmark in an 85-foot-high water tank to be built in the shape of a golf ball on a tee at Tam O'Shanter Country Club. The tank, a 30,000-gallon sphere of welded steel construction, will provide water and pressure for an automatic sprinkler system to protect the entire clubhouse property from fire.

YUKON SURVIVOR'S STORY

clothes and I was glad that I did."

The first boatload of women and children were taken off at 2 o'clock the afternoon following the wreck and Miss Leposky was taken to the Coastguard vessel Onondaga in the second boatload later that afternoon. They were lowered into the lifeboat with ropes tied under their armpits.

Miss Leposky recalls seeing the seamen lowering an old lady into the lifeboat. However, the woman missed the small craft and went into the water. She was left in the water for considerable time and, when finally rescued, her first act was to straighten her hat which somehow had stayed on her head.

"She was a spunky old lady," Miss Leposky recalled.

A high source of satisfaction to Miss Leposky was the fact that she salvaged her toothbrush, lipstick and comb with which she and other women on the rescue ship Onondaga "prettied themselves up" before they got to Seward on Tuesday afternoon.

Coastguardsmen on the Onondaga went all out to help the survivors, and were particularly solicitous for the children, many of whom had been separated from their parents.

"They walked the deck with them and heated bottles of milk. They really were swell," she said. The people of Seward, too, showed memorable hospitality to the survivors.

Miss Leposky remained in Seward until last Friday, then travelled on the steamship Alaska to Ketchikan where she remained for a few days. She arrived here last night on the Prince Rupert.

She doubts if she will be content to remain at home in Pittsburgh and hopes to get some sort of job that involves traveling. She is a trained secretary. "I like to travel," she said. "Even on boats."

TRADES SCHOOL ATTRACTS GIRLS

Many Provinces Represented at Re-establishment Institute

TORONTO—Most girls are interested in the careers of their future husbands, but few are as methodical about it as Miss A. E. Burrell of Winnipeg who is taking a watchmaker's course here.

A student in the course in horology—that's watchmaking—at the Toronto Training and Re-establishment Institute, Miss Burrell has another nine months to put in on the year-long course in the fine art of tuning up time-pieces before joining her fiancée who is also a watchmaker.

Commandant of the Toronto institute, which offers 25 courses besides watchmaking, is Lt.-Col. J. M. Muir, formerly head of the Army educational centre at North Bay, Ont.

"There's nothing like this course even though the government allowance doesn't cover all my expenses," Miss Burrell said. She served in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. as an instrument maker, and spent most of her service career in Ottawa. The government allowance she receives as a veteran in training is $60 a month.

Miss Burrell was the only girl seated at the rows of benches which fill the horology department, although the lathes which are essential equipment in the trade appeared as shiny as the instruments of a super-house-keeper.

The course is overflowing with students so classes have to be run on a shift basis. One starts at 8 a.m. and continues till 3 p.m. and 20 minutes later the second shift comes to class.

Studies With Her Husband

Mrs. Winnifred Callas of Edmonton was on the second shift and is the only other woman among the 69 students studying watchmaking. A former Wren, Mrs. Callas is taking the course beside her husband, C. E. Callas, who was in the Air Force.

Some 200 ex-servicewomen are studying at the institute which has a total enrolment of 3,700. Former Cwacs, Wids and Wrens are also enrolled in the courses of hairdressing, restaurant cooking, matriculation and stenography.

The hairdressing course, where there are as many men as women, is unique in Canada, says P. R. Huta of Regina, chief instructor. The course is run like a salon with the general public as the assignments. Cosmetology chemistry and make-up are some of the subjects taught.

Five girls among 70 men have the run of a modern kitchen in the chefs and baker's course. Using the most up-to-date equipment they study their trade as well as help feed the students in the adjoining school cafeteria.

Besides being fed right on the school grounds the ex-servicewoman can get her spring outfit there. The products of the needle trade course are for sale at cost price to the students at the institute.

Ex-servicewomen say that social life is not organized at the school, but Toronto is not as bad a place to live in as they had been led to believe.

FAMILY MAKES OWN VIOLINS

17-Year Old Plays Instrument Finished After 200 Hours Work

TORONTO, ☉ — The Stradivari violin, famous 18th century violin makers, may have their counterpart in the Innes family of Toronto who are playing instrument, of their own making in Toronto music circles today.

James Innes Sr., a member of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, learned to make violins in Canada under a teacher named Kusack who, like the famous Antonio Stradivari, took the secret of his special varnish with him when he died.

Along with devising a varnish formula of his own, Mr. Innes taught 17-year old James Jr. the rudiments of the craft and after 200 hours' work, which kept his spare time occupied from August until after Christmas, the younger Innes finished his first violin.

James Jr. has used the instrument in his weekly work in a radio show where he took the place of his father who had to give up the assignment during the symphony season.

Another son, Bob, formerly of the R.C.A.F., also learned instrument making from his father. He is now making a viola while awaiting permission to go to the United States where he has a job with the chief violin-maker at a famous instrument making company.

Mr. Innes Sr. thinks that Canadian spruce and curly maple, the woods used in his violins are just as good as those from Europe and perhaps better as in some cases they are harder. Each violin gets about eight coats of varnish with long drying periods between each coating.

He believes that modern violins are just as good as those made by the old masters, but the moderns will not get recognition until they have been dead and buried a long time.

Snow Plough Off Track; Train Is 12 Hours Behind

Derailment of a rotary snow plow which went off the track while digging into a solidly packed slide half a mile east of Kwinitsa contributed largely to a 12-hour delay of last night's regular passenger train from the east which finally arrived at 10:45 this morning. The track is clear again today and this evening's train for the East will be leaving on time at 8 o'clock.

BREAKS INTO RHYME OVER TOWER OPENING

LONDON, ☉ — Reopening of the Tower of London, with admission reduced from ninepence to sixpence, elicited a rhyme editorial from The Sunday Dispatch:

It almost seems uncanny. And against all rule of Law. That something now is cheaper Than it was before the war.

But still we must be grateful. Since our troubles now decrease. And with the U.S.A. we share. The rich rewards of Peace.

For they are now unrattled. And we who fought since '39. Well, we get cheaper goods.

But would we seem ungrateful. If we said to those in power. "Let's have a cut in income tax. And keep your Bloody Tower!"
