Robert Burns

Noble and lofty thoughts that are expressed in imperishable words by men of genius are the priceless possession of all mankind.

Hence today, not only Scotsmen, but countless others of every race pay reverent tribute to the memory of Scotland's immortal bard whose tender poems forever touch the emotions of the human heart.

Robert Burns was born on January 25, 1759. He died in 1796 at the age of 37. In that short span of life he gave to Scotsmen especially such songs of kindness and of love that by their intimate and human appeal have since become the cherished music of all people in the world who love their fellow-men.

Few have touched the chords of human brotherhood as did the poet Burns. He peered with prophetic vision beyond the mists of racial strife and saw a world where

"man to man the world o'er shall brother be and a' that."

He lifted the veneer that clothes the arrogant, the pompous and the hypocritical and brought to light the refreshing goodness that lay beneath their sham.

"The rank is but the guinea's stamp
A man's a man for a' that."

And he who loved, with a poet's tender passion knew too how fleeting are our human joys.

"For pleasures are like poppies spread,
You seize the flower, the bloom is shed;
Or like the snowfall in the river
A moment white, then gone forever."

Robert Burns possessed a matchless insight into human nature, its virtues and its weaknesses. He wrote in simple language the hopes and yearnings of the common man.

Scotsmen everywhere this day will address the haggis, toast the immortal memory, clasp each other's hands and sing "Auld Lang Syne."

And we who are not fortunate enough to be of the land of the land of the heather—Sassenachs they said we were—we shall turn to our book of Burns and read again his lovely thoughts. And we know that in our silent reverie his words will kindle in our hearts a warm glow of affection for the ploughman poet who still inspires mankind with the ideal of the brotherhood of man.

C.P.R. Does It Anyway

In spite of vigorous protests at the proposal, the Canadian Pacific Railway is going through with its intention of building three superliners for British Columbia coastal service at a cost of $2,500,000 each. With British Columbia yards gasping for work, that is what the C.P.R. does. There may be what will be called sound business reasons for the exporting of this industrial plum to British yards, which are already said to be choked with work, but the best of reasons will not be very acceptable to the people of this coast. They cannot help but think how much it would have reduced the growing unemployment situation here if the work could have been done here—how far it would have gone in tiding us over the difficult interim reconversion period.

Fortunately, there appears to be no intention of the other steamship companies on the coast to do like the C.P.R. Union Steamships are actually calling for tenders for corvette reconversion work which will bring their fleet up to the current requirements. The minister of transport, Mr. Chevrier, has publicly announced that it is the intention to build new C.N.R. ships on this coast and the fact that the railway company itself owns the local shipbuilding yard at Prince Rupert would logically rule out any idea of exporting the work.

Publicity Meet—
Montedor
President

Local Public Relations Council In Annual Session
Prince Rupert Public Relations Council elected E. Montedor president by acclamation at its annual meeting in the city council chamber last night and re-elected Alderman Nora Arnold as vice-president. Arnold Flaten remains chairman of the finance committee, and J. Harry Black and Mark Hill were re-elected chairmen of the external and internal committees respectively. Miss Jean McMillen was elected secretary. The whole executive entered their 1946 posts by acclamation.

The meeting, attended by 31 delegates from city organizations, and interested individuals, heard reports from its retiring president, Lloyd Morris, and from committee chairmen Mark Hill and Arnold Flaten. In his annual report, Mr. Morris outlined work of the organization since its beginning on March 29 last year. Finance committee chairman Flaten reported that funds collected last year totalled $2,645, and that expenditures were $339. In addition to public subscriptions last year, totalling $2,555, about $900 has been pledged to the Council for the next two years. Ultimate results of last year's financial drive, he said, will be about $5,000.

Internal affairs chairman Mark Hill reported that his committee has been "surveying the field" in its efforts to brighten the city. He said that his committee had met with the City Engineer and Sanitary Inspector to discuss such matters as open sewers, garbage disposal, cleaning of vacant city lots and the erection of traffic and street signs. The committee had also been active, he said, in regard to erection of a welcome arch at the city's outskirts and had attempted to interest waterfront businessmen in brightening that district with colorful neon signs. An appeal for a centralized source for industrial information which could be used for the guidance of businessmen interested in establishing in Prince Rupert was made by Theo Collart who said that such information should be specific and immediately available.

Mr. Collart used as an example for the need, a report that Vancouver interests had been unable to fill an order for railroad ties by the Chinese government and said that the Public Relations Council ought to be able to offer figures on the amount of tie timber available in the Prince Rupert district and invite the Chinese government to seek bids here. He also urged that local citizens invest their money in local industries to assist the industrial growth of the city.

"You would have to start things in a small way yourselves and let them grow," he said.

Adoption of a constitution by the public relations council was preceded by a discussion of the duties of the internal and external affairs committees. Correspondence from several eastern magazines and newspapers regarding advertising for Prince Rupert was ordered filed by the president pending budget arrangements.

At Vanderhoof—
GEORGE OGSTON
QUITS AS TRADE
BOARD SECT'Y

VANDERHOOF—After holding the position of secretary of the Vanderhoof and District Board of Trade for the last 27 years, George Ogston retired last week. His resignation was presented to the Board's annual meeting. Tribute to Mr. Ogston's service was paid by Board members who described him as the "backbone" of the organization during past years. His contacts with prominent people and organizations, it was said, played an important part in the development of Vanderhoof.

Mr. Ogston gave pressure of private business as his reason for relinquishing the office. However, he will continue as a member of the executive.

The election of officers resulted in Maynard G. Kerr being

PRINCE RUPERT SKI TRIALS

(By A. A.)

Last Sunday was not the best day possible for skiing. However, that did not stop six enthusiasts from hiking up nearby mountains to partake of their favorite sport.

Nick Krook and Art Hardwick left town late Saturday night to spend the week-end at the ski club cabin on Mt. Blaine. Nick reports that the wind and the rain made skiing impossible on Sunday at cabin level so they spent the day indoors. Snow remains at a depth of about four feet at 1500 feet and was hard packed.

Duncan McRae, Bud Timmermeister, Bob Eby and Allan Armstrong were up Mt. Hays investigating the accessibility of the excellent runs to the east of the Army camp. After the half hour hike to the camp up the wooden walk, they climbed for 20 minutes before the terrain levelled off sufficiently to provide easy cross country skiing. From there they followed a ridge through lightly timbered country with

'WELCOME HOME' PARTY COSTLY

TERRACE — The "Welcome Home" committee held a meeting Wednesday night to consider the finances of the very successful event which took place on December 28 and to which a good many returned soldiers came.

The affair ran into considerable expense which will be met by the various local organizations who sponsored and carried out the welcome party. Just as soon as accounts are in, the lodges and associations taking part will pool the amount that has been assessed. It is expected that assignment will amount to $50 or $60 for each organization.

inviting trails leading off on either side. Within 30 minutes they found an excellent hill on the north slope with runs over half a mile in length through quite open ground. In spite of the gale that was blowing the north slopes were sheltered and the snow was crusty with a light covering of new snow.

From the ridge at the top of the run there was a magnificent view sweeping from Porcher Island and Alaska on the west, and Mt. Morse to the north.

This week-end, if the weather remains favorable, there will be parties going out to Mt. Blaine and others taking their skiing a little closer to home and going up Mt. Hays and Mt. Oldfield.

FAST HOCKEY AT SMITHERS

SMITHERS — Good fast ice made for a fine game on Wednesday night when Elks met the Native Sons in the Smithers Hockey League. The score of two-all could not be broken in spite of playing overtime.

A penalty shot by J. Dunlop of the Elks was nicely saved by Frank Symes, Native Sons goalie. Both goals scored for Native Sons were by J. Chapman, and for Elks by B. Dunlop and V. Plockhart.

This was the finest game of the season so far and was enthusiastically watched.

Rainmakers Damp Macey's Score 40-27

Climbing out of their rut, Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers last night stepped out to trim Macey's by a score of 40-27 in continuation of the city basketball schedule. Rainmakers drew first blood in the opening minute of the game by successfully working the tip-off play and carried through their initial lead.

Frank James led the Rainmakers with an individual score of 13 points while Rupert Holkestad starred for Macey's with 10 points. E. Ciccione of Bo-Me-Hi also ran up 10 points.

Rainmakers' centre, Jimmy Foreman, was taken out of the game with an injured knee and it is not anticipated that he will be in shape to take a very active part in the Rainmakers-Co-op game on Tuesday. Coach Alex Bill expects to hold Foreman down in order to have him in shape for the Ketchikan series next month.

In the second game of the evening Co-op was defeated by Intervets 30-28. Intervets Vukovich was top scorer with 12 points with bouncing Boyo Gurvich of Co-op following with eight points. The Co-op team seemed to be jinxed by losing games by narrow margins, but Coach Jim Bacon is lining them up for a definite series of victories.

Bo-Me-Hi-Macey box score:
Bo-Me-Hi— F. James 13, J. Foreman 7, D. Hartwig 6, E. Ciccione 10, C. Miller 2, R. Lavigne, J. James, M. Thompson 2.
Macey's—R. Holkestad 10, J. Hougan 2, M. Teng, D. Murray 2, B. Cruickshank 4, A. Arntsen, B. Menzies 2, S. Olafson, B. Pierce 9.
Referee, F. Leland; umpire, A. Dominato; scorekeeper, H. Pierce; timekeeper, Houston.
