For Deal— Application For its

Method of This Year Is Simplified—Do Not Have To Take All at Once

Applications for 1946 liquor permits at the government liquor store here are in full swing and this year's procedure is considerably more simple and convenient than the 1945 method.

Permits are being issued locally to those qualified to hold them, without application being made to Victoria as was the case last year. The transaction can be completed in one visit.

Provision has also been made for a more flexible rationing system than was in effect last year. Permit holders will not be required to purchase the entire liquor ration at one purchase.

Liquor store manager Charles Youngman said that applications for 1946 permits had begun at the local store a few days ago and predicted that the rush would really commence this week. The rationing method, he says, is more convenient for both the vendors and customers than last year's system.

This year's rationing forms are all on one sheet in the permit booklet instead of on 12 triplicate forms as were last year's. The divisions of each month's ration indicate what type of liquor has been purchased of the current month's ration.

On each month's ration chart are the letters "C" which is stamped when the complete ration is purchased; "X" which stands for Scotch; "S" which stands for spirits; "G" for gin, and "W" for wine when they are part of the ration. Malt beverages are identified as "B" on the chart, and each of the two "B"s stand for two dozen pints of beer or ale.

For so-called "bonus" purchases, the numbers 1, 2, 3 will identify whatever type of liquor is scheduled to be a "bonus" during the current month. The method of stamping the permits will be by dipping the rubber eraser of a pencil into stamping ink and pressing it on the division to be marked. Liquor control authorities point out that the permit has been overprinted with a special ink which will show up any erasures immediately.

WHFAT BOARD'S LOCAL POLICY

Preferential Treatment for Vancouver Again Implied in Latest Communication

The policy of the Canadian Wheat Board to treat Vancouver preferentially to Prince Rupert in the handling of grain for export is again clearly indicated in another letter from Charles E. Hunting, assistant chief commissioner of the board, to J. J. Little, chairman of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, which is continuing to press for the routing of traffic over the local railway line and into the Prince Rupert elevator.

Says Mr. Hunting's letter: "In view of the very urgent need for wheat overseas we feel that every effort should be made on our part to expedite the outward movement of wheat from Canada and for the balance of this crop year we think this can best be accomplished by concentrating the movement through Vancouver."

"We hope that our supply position will be augmented by a good crop next summer and assure you that, in this event, we will give careful consideration to the use of your facilities at Prince Rupert." If a previous letter leaves the impression that the Wheat Board doubted the adequacy or efficiency of the facilities for handling wheat at Prince Rupert, Mr. Hunting's letter says: "I hasten to apologize and assure you that we have no reservations whatever about Prince Rupert in this regard."

In December 1944 there were nine fire calls, also with little damage.

Prince Rupert Gets the Scraps

The Canadian Wheat Board makes no bones about admitting that we had suspected for a good long time—that the policy is to use Prince Rupert for grain shipping only if and when there is so much wheat traffic that Vancouver cannot handle it. This is bare-facedly confessed in the following sentence in a letter from the Board to the grain committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce:

Should a large crop be harvested next summer to the extent that we might need the facilities available at Prince Rupert we would be very glad indeed to reconsider the position.

The Wheat Board apparently either is not aware of or does not wish to take into consideration the advantageous position of this port in regard to Russia and the Orient which are going to be a greater market than ever for Canada's wheat output.

The Wheat Board is, evidently, another of the federal government bodies that is satisfied to let things move as they have been doing, through the old established channels without any recognition of more strategically located facilities in the ever-changing scene.

Correspondence published between the Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Wheat Board is indicative of an intolerable attitude of discrimination which exists against this port.

Of course, the Canadian Wheat Board is not alone in such an attitude. Almost everywhere we dig in our efforts to develop Prince Rupert as an unsurpassed ocean port we find it. It is just another sample of the ignorance or prejudice which we have to contend with in high places in our campaign to achieve the place in the sun to which we are entitled.

The Late Hector Charlesworth

In 1891, Hector Charlesworth, as a youth of 18, started his newspaper career on Saturday Night, Toronto's social and cultural weekly. More than fifty years later, at 70, the bearded, ruddy-cheeked and ever-affable Charlesworth was still the best-known figure in the Saturday Night building—a contributing editor to more than one department of the paper.

Mr. Charlesworth in the intervening half-century became one of Canada's most colorful newspaper personalities. Serving successfully four of the seven Toronto dailies of his time, he covered most of the spectacular reporting assignments of the generation; travelled across Canada with princes, potentates and politicians and attained top rank as a music and drama critic.

"Occasionally caustic, always humorous and never bitter, he has an especial place among newspapermen," wrote a colleague in 1931. "He has done all the things that make his name a tradition among them, even in his own time. He is known from coast to coast for his facile pen and jovial personality." Of his high achievement in commentary on music and drama it was written "He is the occupant of Critic's Row by virtue of earned honors when he visits New York premieres."

First chairman of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, Mr. Charlesworth put drama into wireless for Canadian listeners, created the "Theatre of the Air," introduced British programs and was credited with much improvement culturally in radio. He held the chairmanship during the hectic depression years from 1932 to 1936, when he retired on reorganization of the Commission.

Speaking in 1941 of his 50 years in the newspaper business, Mr. Charlesworth said he believed public issues in modern days were treated with broader conception. He recalled that for 25 years discussion in the Ontario Legislature centred chiefly around "What's become of John Sandfield Macdonald's $3,000,000 surplus?" The veteran political observer said parliaments then were inclined to spend weeks arguing over nothing. He thought decisions in later years were faster and fairer.

As to newspaper work, Mr. Charlesworth declared it was the hardest in the world. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything—I might have been wealthier in worldly goods but not in mind. We give our best years to it and finish young. I never saw a newspaperman still going at 78; you see men that age at everything else."

"I have done 50 years; I won't do another 50, but it will always be as interesting as the past."

CANADIAN WAR BRIDES ARRIVE IN ENGLAND—Canadian war brides, girls who wed British service men in the Dominion, are pictured with their babies on arrival at Liverpool, Eng., aboard the Empress of Scotland. DAMAGED TANKER TO BE PATCHED TEMPORARILY

Temporary repair work on the Texas Oil Co.'s tanker Illinois, "orphan" casualty of an Alaskan reef and international tariff laws, are being carried on with the object of getting her off the Prince Rupert Dry Dock's floating pontoons.

No word on the disposition of the vessel, repair work on which was halted two weeks ago, had reached Prince Rupert, J. A. Frew, dry dock assistant manager, said this morning.

Word received from Dry Dock Manager Bernard Allen from Montreal two weeks ago indicated that the 5,000-ton vessel might be scrapped but, since then, no definite information has been forthcoming.

Standing on the dry dock pontoons since early in December, the Illinois has conceivably become an embarrassment to her underwriters, who have taken her over and must bear the cost, and to the dry dock which might need the pontoons for other purposes.

Information on the final disposition of the damaged vessel may be brought to the city by Mr. Allen, who is expected to return via Vancouver in a few days.

Made watertight by temporary patches, the Illinois probably will be moored to one of the dry dock wharves until her future is decided.

SUNLIGHT TRADE

Under French law 14th century butchers could deal in one type of meat only and could sell it only under natural light. Sales by candlelight or lamp were taboo.

That France was beginning the new year with ardor and courage.

In London war leader Winston Churchill declared "We shall only win the peace as we won the war—by character and hard work. There is no easy path to prosperity. 'Empire and Liberty' still remains the call which leads us on."

Great Joint Dance in Armory Drew Crowd of More Than Eight Hundred

Highlight in the New Year's Eve hilarity in Prince Rupert was the great dance staged jointly in the Armory Monday night by the Canadian Legion and the First Reserve Battalion, Prince Rupert Machine Gun Regiment, which attracted a crowd of no less than 800 persons.

It was a gay and rollicking frolic which reached a crescendo at midnight as the old year merged into the new when all joined hands in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" followed by the Grand March led by First Vice-President W. F. Robertson of the Canadian Legion and Major C. J. O. Tombs, officer commanding the regiment, and Mrs. Toombs. Sergeant Major Piper James Robertson, in full regalia, played the pipes.

Music was by the Swing Quartette and its tunesome strains together with the genial activities of James Nicoll as master of ceremonies, kept the party moving with verve and enthusiasm from the start about 10 p.m. to the conclusion at 4:30 a.m. Corp.

HOW CAN I ???
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I tell whether or not hair is healthy?

A. This can be tested by pulling a single hair from the head. Wrap each end around an index finger and stretch it. If it stretches from 1/2 to 1 inch, it is elastic and will take a pretty permanent wave.

Q. How can I keep fish fresh for a day or two before using?

A. Cover the fish with salt and wrap in a cloth wrung out of vinegar. Place on the ice, and when ready to use, rinse with cold water.

Q. How can I tighten the sewing machine belt?

A. Rub a few drops of castor oil on it, run the machine for a few minutes, and the belt will tighten.

National Hockey—

Black Hawks Canucks Tie

Toronto Loses Again—Bruins Defeat Red Wings

CHICAGO, Ill.—There were two holiday contests played in the National Hockey loop last night, the most important of which saw the Chicago Black Hawks slip into a first-place tie with the Montreal Canadiens. The contest was waged between the Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs on Chicago ice. The Hawks scored twice in the first period then easily protected their lead to down the Toronto visitors 3-1.

This is the second time the Hawks have been in a first-place deadlock with the Canadiens this season. They could have had a league leadership Sunday, but they muffed a chance to overtake the Montreal squad by dropping a 3-2 decision to the New York Rangers.

Alex Kaleta started the scoring last night after eight minutes and twenty-five seconds of play in the first period. It went into the books as an unassisted goal, but actually Toronto centre Syl Apps had a hand in the play. Kaleta picked up a puck in the right lane that goalie McCool had knocked away from the net and he fired it back at an angle. It struck Apps' stick and bounced into the net. McCool was helpless. Reg Hamilton put the Hawks still farther ahead at the 17:44 mark of the first frame. It was a hard shot and passed right through McCool's defence.

Apps stalled Toronto's only marker of the evening after four minutes and sixteen seconds of play in the middle stanza on a short shot after taking a pass from Gus Bodnar.

Pete Horeck finished the scoring for the night after eighteen minutes and twenty-four seconds of the final period, thus clinching the game for the Hawks.

A check over the record books show that it was the fourth time in six games this season that the Black Hawks have defeated the Leafs. The two teams will meet again on Saturday at Toronto.

Boston Shuts Out Detroit
In the night's other National League engagement, Boston Bruins handed the visiting Toronto Red Wings a 4-0 shutout to gain sole possession of the league's third rung. It was goalie Paul Bibeault's second shutout of the season after sitting out the last three games. For the Bruins, the game was some sort of milestone, since it was the first time the Boston club had defeated the Wings in regular season play since December 28, 1943.

The Bruins displayed an impressive playing edge over the Wings, yet it took them 40 minutes to put in their first goal of the evening. Honors were done by defenceman Jack Crawford on a pass from Bill Cowley while Milt Schmidt and Jack Stewart were sitting out majors. Bobby Bauer notched the second Boston goal and Murray Anderson the third one. Schmidt and Stewart were sent off the ice after a furious fisticuffing exchange. Later, Stewart engaged in another fight with Terry Reardon, after Schmidt had ended the scoring by taking Woody Dumart's smort forward pass and batting the puck into an empty net after pulling out goalie Harry Lumley.

Incidentally, Lumley missed four of the 35 shots aimed at him while Bibeault handled all of his 22 chances in flawless fashion.

PRINCE KONOY COMMITTS SUICIDE—Prince Fumimaro Konoey, above, three times premier of Japan and one of Emperor Hirohito's closest advisers, killed himself in Tokyo, December 15, by swallowing poison on the eve of his imprisonment as a war crimes suspect. Konoey was to have entered Sugamo prison the next day to await trial.

war years and plan large expenditures in the next few years.
Credit Extended
To Foreign Countries
Expenditures of foreign countries in Canada are being facilitated by the extension of large credits, thus enabling them to reconstruct their war-torn economies and ensuring for Canada a market for her export industries. Yet another market assurance is provided by the expenditures of U.N.R.R.A., which have already exceeded $100,000,000. All these combine to give a good prospect for adequate markets and thereby a plentiful supply of jobs during the next few years.

other machinery and a number of other products. Our import trade is also shifting to the products of different countries as more shipping becomes available.
Most of the decline in our imports during the last year has been in our trade with the United States. Our imports from parts of the British Empire, South America, Latin America and even from a few of the European countries have been increasing.

Tariffs an Obstacle To Export Trade
Almost one-third of the expansion in Canada's export trade that occurred between 1939 and 1944 consisted of various farm products. For the next few years the market for Canadian farm products looks very hopeful, but the longer term prospects are less certain. Prosperity for Canadian agriculture and to a lesser extent for Canada's economy as a whole is highly dependent on the maintenance of a large foreign market for Canadian farm products.

An abandonment by European countries of their pre-war protective tariffs for agriculture products would have mutual advantages because those countries could then use more of the food products which Canada can produce more cheaply than they and could concentrate on the production of products for which they are naturally suited.

The existence of a large backlog of available purchasing power focuses attention on the need for continuance of price controls. Removal of many of the controls at the present time would allow people to make large profits wherever acute shortages exist. It would also allow the backlog of purchasing power to be largely dissipated in higher prices rather than in the stimulation of large production.

ORGANIZING UNEMPLOYED
Appeal Issued for Labor Councils to Unite Efforts
Last week the executive of the Prince Rupert Labor Council issued a call to the Trades and Labor Council to unite their efforts in the organizing of the unemployed. With the number employed in the local dry dock dropping every day the council fears that an unemployment crisis may be precipitated in Prince Rupert comparable with that now existing in Vancouver. Present contracts are being hurried to a conclusion and there is no indication yet that the Canadian National intends to construct its own replacement in this yard.

The organizing of the discharged workers the council feels is the sole responsibility of the trade union movement and the council intends to appeal to its affiliates for financial assistance in organizational work. Already several of the Bolle-makers' executive have expressed their willingness to support such a donation from their local.

At the same time there have been increases in our imports of fruits and vegetables, furs, wool, artificial silks, farm implements,

Charles Leeson of Greenville Entertains on Fifty-Fifth Birthday

The village of Greenville as well as other native communities of the district were represented Friday night at Port Edward when Charles Leeson of Greenville entertained on the occasion of his fifty-fifth birthday. The affair took place in Mr. Leeson's Port Edward residence.

Patterson McKay, also of Greenville, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. After a sumptuous banquet had been served to no less than three sittings, there was a round of speeches and musical numbers after which dancing was enjoyed with music by George and Wilson Leeson.

The speakers included Matthew Stewart, Robert Stewart and John McNeill. The entertainers were George Leeson with saxophone solos and Patterson McKay with story-telling anecdotes.

Among the district guests were Robert Stewart and his three sons — Matthew, Arthur and Abraham — of Kincolith and Robert Dixon of Massett, all being accompanied by their wives.

TransCanada Air Lines Raised To Status of Major Air Line In 1945

MONTREAL—In 1945, TransCanada Air Lines again exhibited the capabilities that in eight years have raised it to the stature of a major air line and that hold such promise for the future, says a review for the year released by H. J. Symington, president of T.C.A.

At home, the company achieved several important service extensions. A third daily transcontinental schedule was inaugurated. Third and fourth flights were added between Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, with the latter being incorporated in a new through service between the Alberta cities and the Pacific Coast. A fourth daily service linked Montreal and Halifax and a second was introduced between Halifax and Sydney.

At the end of the year, domestic routes totaled 5,299 miles, including an east-west service from St. John's Newfoundland, to Victoria, and north-south branches reaching into New York, London, Windsor, Calgary and Edmonton. During 1945, T. C. A. aircraft flew 10,522,000 revenue miles (last two months estimated), an increase of 1,441,526 over 1944.

Passenger and express traffic continued their steady eight year climb with the former being limited only by the number and size of aircraft available. Mail traffic declined slightly as the period of reconversion began. Passengers numbered 180,000, an increase of 23,116. Mail weighed 3,572,000 pounds, a decrease of 167,105 pounds. Express weighed 921,000 pounds, an increase of 64,984 pounds. (Figures for the last two months are estimated).

The first step was taken in a transformation of the present T. C. A. fleet. Although excellently maintained, it is no longer of sufficient size to cope with the volume of traffic offering and with the country's traffic potential. Plans call for a new fleet of both four-engined and new twin-engined aircraft, these latter of greater seating capacity than the 10 and 14 seat types currently being flown. The entry into service of three twin-engined 21-passenger DC-3's mark the opening phase of this program. Twenty-one additional DC-3's are being procured and will see service by the summer of the new year.

Meanwhile manufacture of the four-engined DC-6 type aircraft of distinctive Canadian design has proceeded at Montreal. T.C.A. has maintained close liaison with this project and expects initial deliveries in the autumn of 1946.

SHAMES BRIDGE ONLY OBSTACLE TO ROAD REPAIR

Highway construction crews from Prince Rupert and Terrace are still working on the Shames River bridge, which remains the only impediment on the Prince Rupert Highway following the slides and floods which created havoc along the route two months ago.

No prediction as to when the bridge would be repaired was forthcoming from the office of the local public works engineer, but it was learned today that materials for the job were available and that work was going ahead.

A section of the approach to the bridge was washed out and one end of the double span structure was knocked askew by floodwaters which rolled huge boulders down the river channels.

The section of grade which the rampant river ripped away is being refilled while a pile driver

"KITTY" COMING THIS WEEK-END

Paulette Goddard is Heroine of Gutter-snipe's Success Story Set in Elegance of 18th Century London

Coming to the Capitol Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday is "Kitty," a comedy of life in 18th Century London, starring Paulette Goddard and Ray Milland. It is the story of a guttersnipe from the London slums of Houndsditch, who is hired as a model by Painter Thomas Gainsborough when she tries to rob him. Under the guidance of a scoundrel named Sir Hugh Marcy, Kitty is educated and introduced until she becomes a duchess and a real lady.

The plot thus varies only slightly from the Pygmalion legend, a well-tried blueprint for many fine pictures and plays. What makes Kitty remarkable is its excellent character actors and settings and costumes of almost inconceivable luxury and elegance. The atmosphere of 18th century London is produced with no less attention to detail. Actors and actresses will grin and port in the abandoned fashion of that drunken era and the dialog is larded with "Your servant ma'am," "Stap me," "Od's blood" and other George III expletives.

As leading man, Ray Milland is said to give an accomplished performance. In the title role Paulette Goddard struggles hard with a cockney accent but seems to grow more beautiful each time she wears another of her 26 costumes.

places a new pile foundation for the damaged bridge. Elsewhere along the highway between Prince Rupert and Hazelton the road is passable. However snow conditions, which have hampered highway crews, present a threat to block the road should it fall in greater amounts.

Whenever it rains at Prince Rupert, it snows along the highway, road workmen say, and this snowfall has hampered repair work.

Public Works Department crews from Prince Rupert are living at Telegraph Point, the closest location to Shames where living quarters are to be found. This is some 30 miles from the scene of their bridge repair operations.
