"OF RATS AND MEN"

ONE of the little-known battles in UNRRA's war on famine and disease in Europe is the fight against the rat. The weapons are poisons, smoke cartridges, deadly gases and traps. The principal battlefields are YugoSlavia, Greece, the Dodecanese Islands, Italy and Poland. The generals are UNRRA health and agricultural experts assisted by corps of local recruits.

According to these experts, man and the rat have essentially the same diet and so are in constant competition for food, especially during periods of famine. They also share several important diseases in common. Rats carry the bubonic plague flea, the typhus louse and the germs responsible for spirochete jaundice — all exceptionally virulent among human beings. A healthy rat eats, befouls or wastes more than half; its own weight in food daily. On farms each one will eat at least two dollars worth of grain per year and destroy an additional 20 dollars worth.

CONFIDENCE — OPTIMISM

THE DAILY NEWS has been receiving congratulations on its recently announced purchase of a commodious downtown business block which, after extensive reconversion and extension work has been carried out, will become the paper's new home. The ownership and management of the Daily News

thus demonstrates in a practical and tangible way its permanent confidence in the future of Prince Rupert and its intention to serve in a larger and better way the community in the matter of dissemination of news and in the other ways in which a newspaper has of serv-

The Daily News has long preached confidence and optimism in regard to Prince Rupert and its future. With the port and city now settling into the postwar years, that confidence and optimism is undiminished by any temporary reactions even after the breaking of a boom. If the Daily News, by its own actions and urgings may be of any assistance in making others become imbued with similar spirit of confidence and optimism, we will be well pleased. Meantime, we hope to be excused if we fell a little satisfaction in having been able in some measure to practice what we preach.

NEWSPAPER COSTS

NCREASED COSTS of production, accentuated by recent increases of wages and price of newsprint, have made it necessary for newspapers of Canada to consider choice of meeting the financial situation in two traditional ways - increasing the subscription price or the advertising

Papers in Eastern Canada have already generally increased their street sale prices from the general average of three cents to five cents. Western Canada newspapers have for a long time been generally sold on the streets at five cents. How these five-cent dailies intend to meet the higher cost has not yet been decided or disclosed.

As for Prince Rupert, subscription and advertising rates have for years been notoriously low. If and when the time comes that the managements of local papers find it essential to increase their rates, the patrons will, no doubt, accept the situation in good part.

THIS WATCH WINDS ITSELF

On my trip to the East recently I took one of our self - winding watches to see for myself how they perform. I was away a month and found the watch only half a minute slow. That was quite satisfactory as it keeps really good time now after a small adjustment. I had not wound or set "the" watch in that time.

The small motion of one's arm in walking or working keeps the watch wound by means of a case. If laid aside it has enough reserve power to run 18 hours. Of course, you can always wind it like an ordinary watch if desirable.
