BOOMERANG OF STRIKES

CTRIKES are becoming so wide-I spread and serious not only in the United States but also in Canada that there is real danger in their purpose becoming premanently and irrevocably lost. Certainly, there is imminent danger of widespread suffering among the people as a whole. There are certain commodities a disturbed supply of which can be endured for a long time without much hardship. But, when the distribution of foodstuffs becomes directly interfered with, as is the effect of the maritime workers' strike in United States and the farmers' strike in Canada, the situation assumes much more directly dangerous aspect.

When strikes of this nature are instituted, a serious responsibility is assumed for those responsible for them and also, of course, by those persons who answer the call and, for timidity or other reason, fall in line when the strike whip is cracked.

In both the maritime workers' and the farmers' strike, government action or lack of it appears to have been the final actuating element. Governments are, of course, in a difficult position as they endeavour to maintain the economic stability of the country, a collapse of which would have disastrous effects on the lives and livings of all people.

There is no intention here to discuss one way or another the merits of the claims of the strikers but it must be apparent to most of thinking people today that, if strikes such as those now in effect are permitted to continue, conditions much worse than those which existed before the strikes commenced might be early ensuant for all concerned.

of highway construction in British Columbia, announces that there will be paving of several highways next year. As far as is known at present, the Prince Rupert Highway is not included in the list of roads due for such treatment although parts of the Cariboo Highway are.

So that the provincial government may give the Prince Rupert Highway treatment and improvements similar to that which other roads, and there are many in the province which are also badly in need, receive it is desirable the question of use of the right-of-way over the Canadian National Railways should be soon settled between the Dominion government and the railway company. That done, we can rightly expect that paving of the Prince Rupert Highway, western end of the northern transprovincial road already a popular tourist motorist route, shall also be undertaken. That, of course, is the only ultimate solution to make it a highway which motorists can use with reasonably assured comfort and safety.

IMPORTANCE OF ARMS

IN ANY SORT of international crisis a nation looks to the state of its armed forces. Not that war, in its modern -definition, is just around the corner. Probably no World War Three is yet upon us. But there is going to be a good deal of preventative maneuvering - a show of firmness here and there to forestall "incidents" which might otherwise pile up into a chain reaction.

diplomacy succeeds - not, perhaps, in proportion to the size of armies in the field but certainly in ratio to what concrete evidence a nation gives of its determination to "stay in the game."

Still able to win games or save them, Maurice Leyland, hero to Yorkshire and England for 20 years, has decided to quit cricket He bows out, at the end of this county season, with a record that should give him a spot beside the game's great. His county cap worn at a saucy angle, ready smile and irrepressible humor, flashy batting and teasing, left-handed bowling, show that Leyland at 46 hasn't changed much since he went to Yorkshire as a comer in his middle 20's. A glance at his record shows how he came along. In big-time cricket he has scored more than 30,000 runs, including 80 centuries, claime nearly 500 wickets and demonstrated near perfection in fielding and throwing. In 41 test matches he has scored 2,767 runs, including a century in his first test. The England stalwart, whose choice was once automatic, was not included in this year's series, but most players think that only the urge to scale down the average age dictated his ommision. He shares the record for the biggest test stand in England-382 runs against Australia in 1938.

EXCITEMENT AT STEWART

Lights and Whistles as Department of Mines Official Becomes Missing

STEWART-Friday was a day of excitement and conjecture as to what had happened on the Big Four property. Late in the evening lights were seen high up near the Silverado Glacier and the mine whistle was heard resounding through the night. Speculation was rife and the accountant, Gordon Rothnie, telephoned Dr. Playfair at Premier suggesting that he come down to Stewart in case there had been an accident.

Later it was ascertained that a survey party under Dr. White of the Department of Mines had been surveying the Prosperity group on the west side of the mountain and were returning home to the Big Four camp via the glacier. Dr. White's assistant, G. Willox, loitered a little behind the party and got into difficulties on the steep mountain slope. The others became alarmed at his tardy return and set out on a search for him, thinking he might have been injured by a fall. He was found safe and sound about 9 p.m. considerably off his course and just a bit frightening. The party ultimately reached, the camp abou 11 p.m. amid great rejoicing.
