Strike Hits Local Mill

Walk-out Last Night at Georgetown Lumber and Box Plant

The International Woodworkers' Association strike of loggers and sawmill operators caught up with the Georgetown Lumber & Box Co. Ltd. last night when eleven employees at the Big Bay sawmill, having become unionized, walked out last night, resulting in the closing down of the plant which had been an important factor in the supplying of boxes for the fishing industry in this area.

W. R. McAfee, manager of the Georgetown concern, had no comment to make today other than that his company would await the reaching of an agreement by the main body of operators of the province with the union, abiding by such an agreement. Pending such an agreement, his company had not felt disposed to sign up.

The strikers are remaining in camp at Georgetown.

At the same time as he announced the strike at Georgetown, J. A. Stacey of Terrace, district organizer of I.W.A., stated that three interior sawmill operations—George Little & Son at Kwinitza, Copper River Sawmills (Mahoney and Baxter) at Copper City and Prince Rupert Sawmills (L.C. Griffiths) at Shames had signed fully with the union.

ROSE SENTENCE THIS THURSDAY

Mr. Justice Lazure Considering What He Will Do With M.P.

MONTREAL, (CP)—As Mr. Justice Lazure yesterday was considering what sentence he would give Fred Rose, convicted of conspiracy to relay wartime secrets to Russia, defence counsel for the Montrealer member of Parliament announced an appeal would be entered against the conviction. Joseph Cohen, defence counsel, said the appeal would be based on law, facts and mixed facts of law. He made this statement when the appeal was filed. Application will be made for full trial for Rose.

Meantime Rose's status as a member of the House of Commons is unchanged until he is actually sentenced.

FINED $100 FOR ILLEGAL FISHING

Capt. Henry Doiron of the halibut boat Sea Maid was fined $100 plus $3.75 court costs when he pleaded guilty in city police court Monday afternoon to a charge of fishing halibut in Area Two after the close of the season in that area. The charge was laid by Capt. C. W. Barnshaw of the fisheries patrol boat Kitimaat.

Magistrate H. D. Thain levied the minimum fine under the statute after Doiron, in extenuation had told the court that his boat engine had broken down, making it impossible for him to haul his gear in on June 11, final day of the Area Two season.

The Sea Maid was found by the Kitimaat on June 12 hauling halibut gear off Marble Island on the west coast of Queen Charlotte Islands. Doiron pleaded not guilty when he first appeared in court last Friday but reversed his plea yesterday.

The Sea Maid arrived here on June 12 with 26,000 pounds of halibut aboard.

OTTAWA (CP)—Renewed requests for government controllers to step into the seamen's strike and the British Columbia lumber tie-up were made in the House of Commons yesterday.

Take Over Box Mills

"Immediate" Action by Ottawa in Connection With Tie-up Is Expected

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun publishes a special dispatch from Ottawa saying the Dominion government has decided to take over British Columbia's box-making plants "almost immediately," place controllers in these factories and order the men back to work.

The story says: "A well-informed source said today that the government, convinced of the food emergency created at home and abroad by lack of production in box-making plants, is determined that I.W.A. leaders must 'falling' and union members must return to the industry on which salvage of British Columbia's vitally needed crop depends."

It continues: "Announcement can be expected almost hourly from Arthur McNamara, deputy minister of labor. Taking over the box-making plants may be a prelude to further moves which might result in action in connection with sawmills."

Another dispatch says that the appointment of Gordon Bell of Vancouver as British Columbia box factory controller is "imminent."

Charles Linton of the Royal Bank staff failed for Vancouver on the Catala today.

TIMBER INDUSTRY DISPUTE STILL ON; LATEST UNION PLAN REJECTED

LOGGERS ACCEPT SLOAN PROPOSALS BUT OPERATORS WILL NOT ENTERTAIN RESERVATIONS

VANCOUVER—The tie-up which paralyzed the British Columbia timber industry for over a month is not yet over although loggers and sawmill workers have offered to return to their jobs. Last night the International Woodworkers of America Council recommended that the strike be called off on the basis of the report of Chief Justice Sloan.

Justice Gordon Sloan providing the federal government authorized a membership referendum on a union maintenance clause in a new contract. The Sloan proposals had previously been accepted by the operators but rejected by the union. The operators later announced refusal to accept the referendum vote idea insisting on the voluntary check-off as recommended by Chief Justice Sloan.

The operators, in turning down the referendum proposal, demanded the full acceptance of the Sloan proposals and again call upon the I.W.A. to quit stalling.

In a statement last night International Woodworkers Association leaders said the Sloan proposals, while not meeting all that the workers might desire, represented a "considerable advance." It was in the interests of the workers and the economy of the country that the strike should terminate.

The reservation on the Sloan report called for by the I.W.A. would provide for maintenance of the present membership and for entry into the union of all men hired after the new contract became effective. The clause would not apply to non-union workers now in the industry.

The I.W.A. statement emphasized that workers would not return to their jobs until the operators agreed to accept the referendum vote if authorized by the government. This the operators, through R. V. Stuart, promptly refused to commit themselves to.

Announcement of the I.W.A. council's decision came after Harold Pritchett, president of I.W.A., had reported to the council last night on decisions which had been reached at a conference of striking loggers earlier in the day with government officials. Details of the decision were not immediately announced. Pritchett had said yesterday afternoon that I.W.A. leaders were in "continuing contact" with government representatives but added that union was not planning further meetings with cabinet members.

Pending disclosure of the terms of final agreement, it was believed the union was seeking government backing for new interpretation of Chief Justice Sloan's recommendation of voluntary check-off which would provide a form of maintenance of membership in a new agreement the basis of which, under the basis of the Sloan recommendations, would be a 15c per hour increase, 44-hour week and voluntary check-off. The union had previously sought a 25c per hour increase and forty-hour week.

CONSERVATIVES FOR BEER, WINES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Suggestion that beer and wines be sold in eating places in British Columbia met with approval of delegates to the provincial Progressive-Conservative convention on Saturday.

SCENES OF HORROR IN PATH OF SUDDEN 250-MILE GALE IN AUTOMOBILE CITY

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A tornado last night swept through Sandwich in the city of Windsor, taking a toll of at least twenty-one lives and, perhaps, many more. The storm struck River Rouge across the Detroit River and swept on across the southwestern section of Windsor. Three are known to be dead at River Rouge and some eye-witnesses said the death toll on the Ontario side of the river was considerably higher than twenty. Buildings were flattened in a 100-yard path.

Reported that property damage may run into millions. Detroit suffered little. The wind was not high there and the only damage was by heavy rain.

In the direct path of the tornado, which struck first at River Rouge and then veered across the river into the Sandwich and Ojibway sections of Windsor, the velocity attained an estimated maximum of 250 miles per hour. Houses and business establishments were razed as if by a huge knife which cut them down. It happened in ten minutes with what a correspondent described as "atomic suddenness."

Whole families are believed to have been trapped and killed. Seven people are said to have perished in one house alone. Some persons were decapitated.

A policeman said he saw one house blown 1000 feet into the air. The wing of a plane fell against one house but the plane was not immediately identified.

Hospitals were soon crowded with hundreds of injured. Every available doctor and nurse was pressed into duty. Electric light and telephone poles were laid low and the area was plunged into complete darkness, rendering the work of rescue and relief and treatment of the injured the more difficult.

The city of Windsor was still completely without light and power today, lines being cut off because of danger of falling wires. The main section of Windsor escaped the actual path of the tornado.

Larger Death Toll Expected—The death toll is expected to increase sharply when searching parties get through the tangled ruins. Thirteen dead have already been identified. The injured will run into hundreds. Hundreds of people, rendered suddenly homeless, saw the wind topple their homes like so many straws. Business establishments were wrecked and autos tossed about. The tornado climaxed two days of violent rainstorms in the area and struck without warning when many residents were at their supper tables. The terrifying funnel sucked up nearly everything in a 100-yard swath into its fatal grip and created four huge water-spouts. Windsor and Detroit hospitals were still hard-pressed today to handle seemingly endless streams of injured. Many were discharged after receiving first aid treatment. Police reported that the Sandwich area, largely a rural community, had been almost completely flattened. Many of the killed and injured were caught in the welter of their collapsing houses. Newspaper Got Out in Detroit. The Windsor Star, minus its own light and power, published today's edition at the Detroit News plant. Drinking water was taken from the Detroit River and out through emergency chlorination. The filtration plant, which is the ordinary source of the city's water supply, was without power. Direct telegraph and telephone lines to Canadian points are down and communication today is via United States border centres.

NEW DELHI, (CP)—Sentiment appears to be crystallizing rapidly for quick acceptance by the Hindu Congress party and the Moslem League of the British-proposed coalition interim government of India.

All Hinges On Trieste

Success or Otherwise of Big Four Conference Rests on This, It is Believed

PARIS, (CP)—Big Four foreign ministers yesterday resumed the task of writing the Italian peace treaty and an American source said success or failure of the conference might well hinge on the Russian attitude toward Trieste. A close associate of Secretary of State James Byrnes of the United States considered Trieste a "question of principle" and "the secretary never compromises with questions of principle."

Observers anxiously awaited indications as to whether Russia would be willing to compromise on her demands that the Adriatic port be ceded to Yugoslavia. United States and Great Britain favor internationalization.

The reservation on the Sloan report called for by the I.W.A. would provide for maintenance of the present membership and for entry into the union of all men hired after the new contract became effective. The clause would not apply to non-union workers now in the industry.

Announcement of the I.W.A. council's decision came after Harold Pritchett, president of I.W.A., had reported to the council last night on decisions which had been reached at a conference of striking loggers earlier in the day with government officials. Details of the decision were not immediately announced. The union had previously sought a 25c per hour increase and forty-hour week.

OTTAWA, (CP)—Members of the veterans' committee of the House of Commons urge that the Department of Veterans' Affairs become a medium through which ex-service men may obtain goods from the War Assets Corporation. There has been renewal of objections to the present system under which veterans supposedly have priority on regular retail markets through which goods are channelled.

TOKYO TRIAL

THE TRIAL against 26 of Japan's alleged major war criminals is under way in Tokyo. In addition to waging aggressive warfare, the Japanese are charged with violating international law by an attack without a war declaration.

In the main, the charter under which the trial is being held resembles that laid down for the Nuremberg proceedings. But no single party such as the Nazi party is indicted. And the list of major war criminals brought to trial is far from inclusive, though it embraces four former Premiers, most of the Pearl Harbor cabinet, three Axis pact negotiators, and the general who engineered the Manchurian aggression.

It is expected that individual war guilt in Japan will be much more difficult to prove, due largely to the wholesale destruction by Japanese bureaucrats of vital incriminating documents at the war's end. Mainly what is needed, however, is the will on the part of the nations concerned to pursue justice without regard to political considerations or distinctions between individual diplomats, militarists, and industrialists.

IMPROVING ELECTIONS

OPINIONS of representative persons and organizations now are being sought with a view to helping legislators determine the type of electoral registration to be used in British Columbia.

Questionnaires which were authorized at the last session of the Legislature have been mailed and it is expected that these will be completed and returned by July 15.

There may be a choice of four systems:

The present federal government method; provision for perpetual registration; compulsory registration and voting; the present British Columbia system.

Under the existing system enumerators make a house-to-house canvass and one member of a household may register all others. In rural areas applications register at enumerators' headquarters.

The perpetual registration plan provides for use of the current newly-revised voters' list as a base and builds up a permanent list. Once registered the name will always appear on the list provided a vote is cast at every election or application is made for reinstatement after failure to vote.

Compulsory voting involves two combinations: compulsory registration and voluntary voting; or compulsory registration and compulsory voting. The latter may follow the Australian system which has resulted in 95 per cent of the electorate voting. Fines are imposed for failure to cast a ballot.

The present B.C. arrangement calls for registration by sworn affidavit by the voter. Under it voters have made little use of the courts of revision each year, but a revision prior to election is provided for new applicants and changes of address may be registered.

Sixteen questions are asked in the questionnaire, including choice of any of the four systems, or modified forms thereof; whether returning officers should be permanent employees; whether candidates should be required to make deposits (and how much); and whether absentee voting should be abolished.

WEATHER DISASTER

THE TORNADO disaster at Windsor, Ontario, which we report today, reminds us that such a quirk of nature may visit any place unexpectedly to bring death and disaster. The Windsor area is known to be normally one of the most pleasant and tranquil of all Canada as far as weather is concerned. No one would have ever anticipated a meteorological holocaust to descend upon it such as was experienced last night.

Like the disasters of war and pestilence, the violence of weather can hurl itself anywhere without notice. Like death itself, one cannot tell where it might hit next. It might happen here.

Norwegian Artist-Patriot Hopes To Live Here, Paint Scenes

A talented Norwegian patriot, who figuratively went through the five-year German occupation of his homeland with a gun in one hand and a drawing crayon in the other, is casting a professional eye over central British Columbia scenery and he likes it fine.

"It is just about the same as Norway, only the trees are bigger," commented Bjorn Selvig, whose amazing talent in black and white drawing has already won him an offer to exhibit in the Toronto Art Gallery after only two weeks in Canada. "I should like to stay here permanently and do landscapes and character studies."

White-haired and soft-spoken, Mr. Selvig and his blonde, pleasant wife, Johanna, are visiting his older brother Gunnar Selvig, 120 Fifth Avenue West. Gunnar hopes to have his brother's 30 black and white and pastel drawings of Norwegian landscapes and portraits put on exhibit in the Civic Centre soon.

Actually, it will be the second time that they have been exhibited in Canada. They were shown two weeks ago at Port Hope, Ontario, where Mr. and Mrs. Selvig stopped to visit another brother, Thor.

These 30 drawings, masterly lined pieces of the Norwegian mountain country with a few character studies, are really a form of defiant expression by Mr. Selvig against the Germans who savaged his country and sought his life. Rather than submit to using his talent to do propaganda work for the Nazis, he went underground in April, 1940. It was while hiding in the mountains 100 miles north of Oslo that the majority of his drawings were made.

However, his hatred for the Nazis was also expressed in another and more dangerous manner. During the occupation he was in charge of collecting and distributing arms and ammunition to the underground patriot groups in his district.

"We had many a dangerous brush with the Germans," said Mr. Selvig, as he stood by the woman who shared his hiding. "We have seen many of our friends captured and put to death by torture."

A true patriot, as well as an artist of standing, Mr. Selvig can still chuckle grimly over some of the discomfitures imposed on the Germans by his friends. Such an incident is illustrated in one of his drawings. It is a pencil drawing of a harbor scene in Oslo showing a German freighter standing half-shrouded in mist.

"The ship was damaged by Allied bombs," Mr. Selvig recounted. "They brought it to Oslo for repair. Ordinarily the work would have taken about a month and a half, but because of Norwegian sabotage, that ship stood there for more than two years. I had plenty of time to draw it."

Another drawing shows a mountain farm with rugged mountains in the background. Mr. Selvig points out a mountain and says: "An American bomber crashed there in September, 1944 with 11 people aboard, one a woman. The Germans dumped their bodies into a mass grave. Later the Norwegians erected a large cross over the grave and planted flowers. They cared for it perpetually."

Former Local Man's Picture

Perhaps the work of which he is most proud is a profile of his father, the late Jack Selvig, a resident of Prince Rupert for 16 years, who returned to Norway in 1936. It is a pencil drawing of great skill which probably never will leave the family.

Commemorating the liberation, Mr. Selvig created a design for silverware symbolizing Norway freed from bondage. This design has since been cast in silver in the form of cream spoons of considerable beauty.

The return of peace to Norway has brought about some changes for the better since the times Mr. and Mrs. Selvig were forced to live on a diet of nothing but potatoes and water. However, economic improvement has been slow and food and clothing are still scarce.

"There are many children in Norway who will never be normal, because of starvation in their early years," Mrs. Selvig said with pity in her voice.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Selvig are agreed that, if it is possible, they will take up residence in Canada and probably at Prince Rupert.

"This is a magnificent country for an artist," Mr. Selvig says. "There is much that I should like to paint around Prince Rupert, and particularly around Kitwanga where I stopped when we drove from Terrace on Sunday."

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I avoid ironing the every-day towels?

A. If the every-day towels are folded after rinsing in the first water, and before running them through the wringer, then dried, they will be smooth enough without ironing.

Q. How can I make bed sheets wear longer?

A. Turn them each way, paying no attention to the top or the bottom. By doing this the strain will be divided and the sheets will give much longer service.

Q. How can I clean a raincoat?

A. Spots on the raincoat can be readily removed by rubbing thoroughly with the inside of a raw potato.

Coffee for Breakfast ... instead of "Must"

About 1668, the Dutch founders of New York—then New Amsterdam—started drinking coffee for breakfast instead of "must" or beer. It was not until after the surrender of the city to the British in 1674 that coffee came into more general use both in and away from the home.

CALGARY — The first Canadian girl to ride in the opening parade of the Madison Square Garden rodeo in New York, will be a 21-year-old Albertan—Patsy Rodgers.

The attractive Calgary girl was notified recently that she had been selected as "Miss Canada" to ride with five United States girls during the four-week session. And after that, there is a possibility of further riding in Boston.

Miss Rodgers was reared on a ranch near Bottrell, Alta., and rode a pony to school every day. She still keeps a little bay saddle pony at the ranch for week-end rides.

After leaving the ranch, she attended a business college in Calgary and for the past three years has been a receptionist in a business office.

Miss Rodgers has never visited Eastern Canada or the Eastern States and she is looking forward to seeing the sights and night clubs of New York. The girls are not allowed out of riding costume from the time they leave the train until they return and are also not allowed unsupervised activities.

Her outfits will be provided by the rodeo management and all expenses of the trip will be covered. She has already ordered a new white stetson from Denver and a full western wardrobe from Philadelphia. She expects to ride a Palomino in the parade.

BACKSTROKE RECORD

WELLINGTON, N.Z. — For the fourth successive year Neaire Lane established a record for the New Zealand women's 220-yard backstroke during the Ottago swimming championships. Her time was three minutes 7 2-5 seconds, nearly two seconds better than her previous time.

PLAYED TOGETHER IN NAZI PRISON

Lack of Food Limited Softball Activities of Stalag 111 Inmates

TORONTO — Billy Paton and Max Wilson, starting battery for the G. H. Wood softball team of Toronto's Davisville League, are starting their second season together as teammates under somewhat different circumstances from their first.

Paton and Wilson played their last season of ball two years ago in Stalag Luft 111 where they met after they had been shot down in operations over Germany with the R.C.A.F.

Using American Red Cross equipment the prisoners organized a six-team league, but due to lack of nourishment each team was able to play only one game a week. Paton relates that he used to save his chocolate rations for a week to supply him with enough energy to pitch a complete game. Players on the winning team were rewarded by a piece of cake, surrounded by the camp orderlies.

"We used to feel dizzy after a game, we were so weak," said Paton.

The league functioned through the summer of 1944 but folded after the following year when the boys were liberated by the British, following two mid-winter treks across Germany in sub-zero weather from one prison camp to another.

"The tough part about these treks was that we saw more food wasted than at any time we were in the hands of the Germans," said Paton. Red Cross parcels had been distributed to the men but they were too weak to carry them.

WHAT'S DOING AT PRINCE RUPERT RECREATION COUNCIL GYMS

BY JIM NAST

MOVIES TONIGHT—By courtesy of Mayor Daggert, the following films will be shown at the Centre tonight in the meeting room: "World of Plenty," "Youth in Crisis," "The Case of Charlie Gordon." These films are of interest to everyone dealing as they do with the part played by the municipality in the looming relief problem.

FASTBALL MEETING — A fastball meeting will be held tonight at the Civic Centre.

JUNIOR GYM CLASSES—The junior boys and the junior girls classes are now discontinued. There will be no more junior classes until next September.

GYM TEAM TO TERRACE—There is a possibility that the Rup-Rec show will be on tour on July 1 to Terrace, to take part in the Dominion Day celebration there. Final arrangements will be made when representatives of the sports day committee meet with Rup-Rec Director George McGregor on Wednesday afternoon.

WASTE PAPER WASTED

BRISTOL, England — Britain burns 100,000 tons of waste paper a year, while Finland and Sweden are asked to send waste paper to Britain, said J. C. Dawes, Board of Trade director of salvage, here recently.

In reference to the end of the Licensing Act, which covered printing and publishing, in England in 1694 A.D., Macaulay, the famous essayist wrote: "The greatest blow for freedom was then struck."

SIGHTLESS GIRL IS CRACK BOWLER

Regina's Myrtle Stevens Plans To Be Chiropractor

REGINA — The girl who played Chopin at a recent recital also wins prizes in knitting and bowling when she takes time out from running her soft drink stand at the city hall—she excels wherever it's "touch" that counts.

Blind Myrtle Stevens of Regina has had very faint vision in only one eye since birth but next year she expects to secure her A.T.C. M. rating in music and perhaps continue her chiropractic training. Her ambition to become a chiropractor was interrupted at Davenport, Iowa, but she became interested in the course while receiving treatment for her vision and discovered that it was "touch" that counted in the field.

First blind person to high school in Saskatoon where she particularly excelled in mathematics and grammar, took her early training at a school for the blind at Bradford, Ont.

AROUND THE Playing Fields

FASTBALL—For the first time this season games had to be postponed last evening on account of rain. We do not know if the rain came in response to the editorial complaining of dust and asking the weatherman to send rain but, if so, we wish the editor had stated that the rain would not be welcome till after the ball games were over—say 10 p.m. P.S.T. However, we shall see how well the newly installed drainage system works on the Gyro ball ground. It should be of great value.

ALGOMA PARK—A visit to Algoma Park would surprise many of our citizens who may not have gone there. It is opposite McClymont Park. There is a large playing field and, with a little attention each year, it should develop into a really admirable sports ground. It is spacious and there is room for expansion. The drainage is not a big item.

Chief Justice Hughes, formerly of the United States Supreme Court, stated: "The administration of government has become more complex. The dangers of the impairment of fundamental security of life and property emphasize the need of vigilant and courageous press."

SHORT SPORT

What may have been just another game in an exhibition tour for members of the Liverpool football club will be a memorable occasion for their wives for some time to come. While the ladies were probably pleased to hear of their husbands' 11-1 victory over the Toronto Ulster United Club in their only game on Canadian soil, they were particularly interested in the news that each player received a present of a pair of brand new nylons at half time, with the compliments of a local department store.

The whole thing started at the beginning of Liverpool's North American tour when some of the players expressed the hope that they might find some of the precious stockings during their stay. They didn't get anywhere in the United States, but officials of the Toronto store read of their request and turned up the same with the coveted hosiery. Controllers Bert McKeller and Hiran McCallum made the presentations.

CAPT. DONALD IS HONORED

Navy and Merchant Navy Officers in King's Birthday List

Many residents of Prince Rupert in the early days of the war will be pleased to see the name of Captain Colin Degge Donald, R.C.N., included in the King's birthday list of honors as an officer of the Order of the British Empire (O.B.E.).

Captain C. D. Donald arrived in Prince Rupert the latter part of August, 1939, and was busy organizing the Fishermen's Reserve Patrol Service when war was declared. On the outbreak of war he was appointed naval officer-in-charge at Prince Rupert and was responsible for the early organization of the Prince Rupert naval base. Captain Donald served here until relieved by Commander Geoffrey Borrie, R.C.N.V.R., in January, 1940, when he was transferred to important duties in the south and on the east coast including that of naval officer in charge at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, which post he held until after the cessation of hostilities when he again returned to duty at Esquimalt.

Other well-known naval officers similarly honored are Capt. V. S. Godfrey, Eng. Capt. A. D. H. Curry, Capt. R. A. Wright and Cmdr. McRae.

Larry Thomson Receives Award
In the same honors list, two well-known B. C. coast pilots are rewarded with their war services and many years of duty on this coast with the M.B.E. They are Captains Daniel Clinton and Lawrence Thomson. Captain "Larry" Thompson is well-known to the local waterfront fraternity. Originally in the service of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, he has been for over 25 years in the pilotage service and was for some time resident pilot at Prince Rupert when grain shipments were more frequent than now. In later years Capt. Thomson has been a frequent visitor to the port with Imperial Oil tanker and other ships of the Merchant Navy.

BUGY BEES
In order to make a honey crop, bees from a good colony must visit up to 520,000,000 flowers during the season.

Typical of the relentless efforts of newspapermen to get the story to their readers was the British reported who telephoned a personal account to his newspaper, within 20 minutes, of being bombed twice while getting his car out of the garage.
