How British Submarine Saved American Airman Shot Down Off Sumatra.

ABOARD AN AMERICAN CARRIER OFF SABANG, SUMATRA, April 24 (CP)—Under smoking guns of Japanese coastal batteries, a British submarine made one of the most dramatic rescues of the war, picking up an American pilot, Lieut. Dale Klahn, who had been shot down in the Allied task force blow against Sebang and Lhonga.

British and American forces and Dutch naval units co-operated in the Allied raid on April 19 against Sumatra.

Important Landing Made By Allied Forces; Have Made Beach in Hollandia

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTH PACIFIC, April 24—In another important move against the Japanese in the insular war of the South Pacific, Allied invasion forces have gone ashore on Hollandia on the north of New Guinea just inside the Dutch portion of the island. General Douglas MacArthur described the operation as one of the largest sea, land and air actions of the Pacific war.

Beachheads have been successfully established and the invaders, following the landing Saturday, were moving inland on jungle trails towards one large air field and two smaller ones about twenty miles from the shore. The Japanese were caught by surprise and the extent of resistance has not yet been made known although it is expected there will be fierce counter-attacks.

"The Japanese will be surrounded and their ultimate fate is certain," declared General MacArthur. "This reverses Bataan," he said.

In making the landing the Allies by-passed Wewak, New Guinea. It gives the Allies control of five hundred more miles of coastline.

Strong naval and air support was given the landing forces. Carrier-based planes were used. Ninety-five miles above Wewak another Allied landing is reported to have been made. Wewak itself has been given another heavy aerial pounding.

OLD CANNON BARK OPENS LOAN DRIVE

The Sixth Victory Loan campaign (Army) was officially opened in Prince Rupert today by the firing of the little cannon in front of the sign on the lawn of the Federal Building.

This cannon is one of several of its kind that was used by the army of General James Wolfe when the French Army under General Montcalm was defeated on the Plains of Abraham at Quebec City. A comparison between this relic and the huge guns used today is another of several reasons why wars of today require so much money.

On the sign there will be kept a daily record of the standing of each army unit in the Prince Rupert area and the cannon will be fired again when the army has reached its quota of $94,000.

MOSCOW, April 24 (CP)—As relative calm prevailed along the long Russian front for the second straight day, front dispatches indicated today that the Russians are massing for a new campaign.

In Berlin the Germans felt that the lull meant that the Russians were preparing for a new attack to coincide with invasion from the west.

The word gospel formerly meant good story or glad tidings.

MANY WIRES ARE SENT TO RAILWAYMEN

MONTREAL, April 24—A telegram to 94,000 individuals was sent this morning over the wires, signed by R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, who, on the official opening day of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign, urged all employees throughout Canada to better their previous record subscriptions.

The message read: "In the last Victory Loan campaign employees of the Canadian National system subscribed a larger amount of money than the employees of any other company in the country and we broke all our own previous records for bond purchases. This time we must do even better. The last great battle of the European war is about to begin. We must get into it with all our determination and all our resources. We must back our fighting men with everything we have. I ask all members of the Canadian National family to put victory above all other considerations and to support the new loan to the absolute limit of their financial ability."

Was Policeman In Early Days

Nearly thirty years ago, the late Harry Hamblin was a police officer in Prince Rupert. He had lived for the past twenty-eight years or so in Winnipeg. His wife died two or three years ago. Deceased of late had been a guard at a Winnipeg munitions factory.

NEW SHIP LAUNCHED

Dry Dock Thrown Open to Public for First Time in Years for Victory Loan Inauguration Event

For the first time in years, the gates of the Prince Rupert Dry Dock were thrown open to the public this afternoon for the occasion at 3:30 of the launching of the new ten-thousand ton freighter Fort Aspin as an event marking the inauguration of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign. Weather being auspicious and other conditions favorable, there was a large general turn-out to join with shipyard workers themselves to witness at close range the sliding down the ways of a fine new flag-bedecked ship into her natural element.

Official guests were on the launching stand for the ceremonies which were in charge of Bernard Allen, manager of the yard. Rev. G. L. Douglas, naval padre, blessed the ship which was formally given its name by Mrs. Neil MacDonald, wife of one of the riggers, who, in the traditional custom, smashed a bottle of British Columbia wine against the bow as the hull started its journey down the ways. The Dry Dock Male Choir at this point started the singing of the naval hymn. The program also included selections by H.M.C.S. Chatham band. Mayor H. M. Dargett was on hand to introduce Lieut. Col. J. H. Brickler, officer commanding a local regiment, who has seen overseas service in this war, and Harold Ponder, veteran of the last war and officer in the Prince Rupert Machine Gun Regiment, who made brief addresses appropriate to the occasion.

Further incidents in connection with the launching included the making of presentations to the sponsor Mrs. MacDonald—a silver serving dish from the dry dock management and a wrist watch from the riggers' union.

Following the launch, the Fort Aspin was picked up by tugs and moved into the finishing berth.

Looks Like Invasion Soon . . .

Unless it is just a great "war of nerves" which the Allies are staging to synchronize with the mighty air offensive which is rapidly softening up the war industries and communications of Nazi Europe from every angle, the land invasion of western Europe should soon be getting under way and may come any time now. The great campaigns of the last war came in spring or summer generally and, in spite of the great developments since those days in motorized and heavily armored fighting equipment, spring may still be regarded as the most auspicious time to make progress in land fighting. So the invasion may come any time now. Certainly, many signs and statements point in that direction. One of these days we will probably wake up and find it has commenced.

War Boom Receding . . .

Even here in Prince Rupert the war stringency seems to be relaxing with a recession in a measure at least of boom conditions. We are told by bankers, business people and others that the population here is less than it was a while back. About the only thing that seems to be little changed is the shortage of living accommodation.

Goods are beginning to loosen up. Help in some lines at least is said to be not so hard to obtain as it was.

Prince Rupert business people, perplexed so long with the problems of obtaining goods and getting help, will welcome an easing up. It will help them in a measure to give the service that the most of them really would like to give and the impossibility of which has been taxing their nerves.

Business in Prince Rupert is getting back in a degree to more "usual" conditions although it cannot by any means be suggested that it is back at the level of four or five years ago. Most likely it will never be anything like that again.

Finland Still Says No . . .

The way Russia has dealt with Finland over the armistice question is at least worthy of a passing reference. Breakdowns have occurred and recurred in the negotiations, with Finland taking the daring position of rejecting Russian terms which most of the Allies had characterized as satisfactory and even moderate.

The world waits and watches. Will news of further raids on Helsinki darken the front pages because of the latest rejection of Russian peace offers? The bad news does not come.

The excuse to visit terror on Finland to force acceptance of peace terms has not been seized. Finland's friends continue to hope that Russia will continue to hold those reasons valid.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
 (By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

I don't know how many of the commanding officers of the troops in this area have written to the head office of Famous Players to express their appreciation of the Sunday shows given in this area for the boys but I fancy most of them have. I certainly think it is a very definite and worthwhile war service and I think also that thanks are due to Mr. Borland and his assistant, Mr. Reid, for having everything ready and the theatre nice and warm for each Sunday afternoon.

Tomorrow night is the Ack-Ack unit dance I told the junior hostesses about and I shall remind them once again tomorrow as I really want their help and co-operation in these two dances this week.

Mrs. Martin of the R.C.A.F. and I are going to write a book. At least we're talking about it and I imagine that is about as far as we'll get. She'll supply the inspiration and enthusiasm and quite a few of the anecdotes and I'll do the slugging. All we'll need will be a nice kind publisher—angel I believe they call them in the show business—to publish it for us and we'll be rich and famous overnight. The question is what night? Oh, forgot to say it's going to be all about our own dear Rupert during its very recent boom days from the first day I hit the town and Mr. Kelly gave me an ice cream cone free gratis and for nothing until today.

But then again, we mightn't. Have you boys who have gone to the dances Job's Daughters have given ever wondered how they came by that name. I did and looked it up. In the very last chapter of the book of Job, after reams of suffering, it says "So the Lord blessed the latter end of Job more than the beginning . . . He had seven sons and three daughters . . . and in all the land there were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job." A very appropriate derivation I think, don't you?

MIDLANDS

The town of Cobourg has been asked to lend $400,000 in the Sixth Victory Loan. Northumberland County's quota was set at $1,600,000.

One isolated case of spinal meningitis has made its appearance in Cobourg, the Medical Health Officer reports. The disease shows no indication of spreading.

The corvette Cobourg, which has the heartfelt sponsorship of Cobourg citizens, is expected to visit here about May 1 before going on operations.

HOUSING PROBLEM MAY LAST

By FRANK HINDS
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, April 24 (C)—A new note has been injected into discussion of wartime housing problems in crowded Vancouver with the suggestion that the adjective "wartime" is an optimistic qualification and the housing problem would remain just as acute here in post-war years.

Wartime industrial expansion on the west coast brought an influx of workers and technicians from the east which compared only with the push westward in the old boom days which culminated in the Yukon gold rush.

Interviews by National Housing Registry officials with Vancouver's new worker population indicate that only a small percentage of the thousands of newcomers intends to return to whence it came when hostilities cease.

About 1,000 prairie farmers who came to Vancouver to work in the stack winter season are already heading back home, but they represent only a small fraction of the war workers who jam transportation facilities and housing accommodation here today.

Vancouver shipyards provided employment for most of the male workers imported to the city since the outbreak of war. The success of efforts being made to make permanent the shipyard boom which hit the west coast in 1940 would probably result in these workers remaining on the coast.

The aircraft industry in the city attracted thousands of workers also and every indication is that this industry far from falling off in the post-war years, is likely to reach new records in production and employment.

National Housing Registry has received 22,881 applications for homes since it opened in December, 1942. Multiplying by 3.25—the average number of persons in a Canadian family—the total applicants since that date would be about 74,000 men, women and children who have sought accommodation through the registry.

If the number of persons who came to the city prior to the opening of the registry and the number who found accommodation without its assistance could be added to this figure, an estimate of the wartime increase in the coast city's population might be given.

A survey of parallel conditions in Portland, Oregon, reports 21 percent of migrant workers in that city definitely intend to stay put after the war. If Portland figures may be taken as representative of coast cities, at least 5,000 families who have come here from other parts of Canada since December, 1942, would remain.

Nutrition Notes

By ELIZABETH YOUNG

Eggs and Egg Cookery

Eggs are packed with food values. They contain most of the known vitamins, the highest quality protein, important amounts of the minerals—Iron, copper and phosphorus—and easily digested fats. Eggs are the best source of protein for children. They resemble milk more nearly than does any other food.

But in spite of eggs being such a valuable food don't get too enthusiastic and serve them too often! Your body can use only so much protein. If you eat more than the required amount the protein will lie in your stomach and putrefy and give you a headache and bad breath. The ideal number of eggs to eat is four per week. Never eat more than one egg per day.

Eggs are sold in four grades—A1, A, B, C—and in three weights—large, medium and pullet. Local grocers usually stock only Grade A Large. This means that you are getting clean eggs, sound in shell. These eggs are the top commercial quality and will be found reliable for any use. To be marked "large" they must weigh 2 ounces or over per dozen. At the present time the price of eggs in Prince Rupert ranges from 42 to 77c per dozen.

To judge eggs for freshness at the store look at the shells. They should be clean, tough and dull. Pick up an egg and shake it. In a strictly fresh egg you cannot feel the inside of the egg move back and forth. The reason for this is that as the egg ages, some of the water which it contains will evaporate through the porous shell. The color of the shell has nothing to do with the quality or the food value of the egg. The color is determined by the breed of hen or by the food which is fed to the hen.

At home if you are in doubt as to whether or not an egg is fit to eat, place the egg in a pan of salt water. Good eggs will sink. Spoiled eggs will float. The loss of water by evaporation makes them lighter. When the egg is broken open notice the odor. When eggs spoil, some of the materials change, with the result that a gas is found which has a disagreeable odor. Notice whether or not the white and yolk are mixed together. In a fresh egg there is a membrane which separates the yolk from the white. When an egg spoils this membrane disappears and the white and yolk run together. It sometimes happens that an egg shell may be carelessly broken so that this membrane will break also. You can tell whether such an egg is fit to eat by looking carefully at the yolk and white. If the egg white is thick and clear and if the yolk is thick and yellow, the egg is probably good. The color of the yolk, like the color of the shell, has nothing to do with the quality of the egg.

Keep eggs in a cool, dry place. Eggs should be washed only just before being broken. Washed eggs do not keep well.

Most people do not cook eggs correctly. Eggs should never be boiled. Boiling temperature toughens the protein of the egg and makes it less easy to digest. There are two methods of cooking soft cooked eggs. The first is to put the eggs in boiling water cover the pan and place it where the water will keep hot but not boil. Let the eggs remain in the hot water for five minutes. The second method is to stand the eggs in cold water, bring it slowly to the boiling point and remove the eggs at once. Always cook eggs or egg mixtures very slowly.

Eggs can become unpopular if you serve them the same way over and over again. Serve them in a variety of ways—soft-cooked, hard-cooked, scrambled, poached, baked, creamed, devilled. Serve them in salads, souffles, omelets, custards, sandwiches and sauces. Eggs are so adaptable that you can find many companions for them.

If you remember nothing else about eggs, remember the two "don'ts." Don't eat more than one egg per day! Don't boil eggs!

SHIPBOARD SHOW GETS BIG HAND

Versatile Entertainers Give Performance on Britain-Bound Troopship.

(Since the war started, half-a-million Canadians in the forces have journeyed to Britain under a cloak of censorship regulations. This story tells the folks at home how the boys and girls spend their time at sea and maintain their interest in everyday living. The reporter (stone deaf), writes about a ship concert—the first he attended in 20 years; best he ever heard.

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ABOARD A BRITAIN-BOUND TROOPSHIP, April 22. —The concert star came onstage in a floor-length gown of cinnamon red, bowed to polite applause and followed the piano into "Ciribiribin." It might have been Carnegie Hall, but there were differences.

The stage brushed by the star's gown was a hatch-cover laid on trestles. The auditorium was the main mess hall of a troopship, and the audience were young Canadians, Britons, Australians and New Zealanders in khaki and blue. The notes of "Comin' Thro' The Rye" and "Sweetheart" were oddly accompanied by the creak of a ship shouldering into Atlantic swell.

The concert star was Isabel Mutch of Regina, a lyric soprano of international reputation. She is now Section Officer Mutch of the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division), and happened to be making the trip on this particular ship to resume her job in Britain of singing at R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. stations.

However, this is not Miss Mutch's story. It is really the story of a bunch of youngsters who must have been somewhat bored by spending their time in the troopship hammocks, at the mess-hall tables and punching each other vigorously during their life-preservers during their hours on the open decks. They got together and produced a ship concert.

It started when Lieut. Phil Hooper of Ottawa went investigating what was being provided in the way of entertainment. The orderly room promptly appointed him entertainment officer and left it up to him. He proved a good talent scout. The show went on five times so that every one aboard had a chance to see it.

Plenty of Talent

Miss Mutch shared stardom with LAC. Hugo Linden, formerly a violinist with the London Philharmonic. The things he did with "Hungarian Dance," "Songs My Mother Taught Me" and "The Canary" had the boys pounding the tables.

But the amateurs came in for their share of applause. Sgts. Merrill Bowen of Halifax, Joe Campbell of Montreal, Joe McMullen of Sydney, N.S., and LAC. Bill Whitt of Derbyshire did a nice swing job with guitar, accordion, harmonica and voice on "Shanty Town," "Five Feet Two," "Eyes of Blue," and other old favorites. And AC1. Len Stanley of (1094 St. Clair Ave West) Toronto, was a hit with his Hawaiian guitar.

Vocalists of more than ordinary ability included LAC. Emily Hughes, a Welsh tenor and one-time steel-tester at Port Talbot who sang Scottish and Irish medleys, and LAC. Colin Cuthbert, once a shop-keeper at Margate, an effective baritone who sang "Wandering the King's Highway," "God Keep You in My Prayer," and "Old Man River." There was variety, too. One of the most popular turns was a card-trick program by Maj. Morris of Owen Sound, Ont., a medical officer.

IF YOU THINK THE WAR IS OVER

... TAKE A TRIP OVER BERLIN

Maybe the war does look good — from a distance; from a comfortable well-paid job; from a warm, well-lighted home . . . Oh, sure, we'll win the war in '44 . . . nothing can stop us now!

But the enemy who man the flak batteries on the Unter Den Linden don't seem to have heard about it . . . They still have plenty of shells to fire, plenty of searchlights to operate . . . And they still make plenty of hits.

Ask any Lancaster Pilot as he rolls his flak-riddled bomber to a stop while the ambulance screams up to take away his wounded . . .

What was the score for last night? 79 . . . 28 . . . 36 planes lost. Those figures weren't yards gained at a football game, or minutes of overtime in a hockey match. Each one of those planes held eight or nine lads who won't come back . . . The war is ended for them.

If you think the war's ended for you, take a trip over Berlin . . . Or ask a Lancaster Pilot . . . He'll tell you "Sure it's all over . . . All over but the fighting . . ."

Communion Not Denominational

The service of communion was described by Rev. A. F. MacSween in First Presbyterian Church as a symbol of contact with God through the church rather than a token of denominational affiliation. The pastor gave the Biblical account of the first sacrament of the Lord's Supper when the Lord exhorted His disciples to love one another—one of the precepts of Communion. There was a good congregation at the communion service. Seven new members of the church were announced.

New Padre For Navy in Rupert

First Open Air Divisions Held at Court House Grounds

Rev. G. L. Douglas of Niagara Falls, Ontario, newly arrived naval padre at Prince Rupert, gave his first sermon in the Drill Hall of H.M.C.S. Chatham Sunday morning.

Formerly chaplain at Esquimalt, Rev. Douglas succeeds Rev. M. McKittrick, who has left for a new position in the south. Sunday also marked the first time that divisions were held outside the Court House instead of in the Naval Drill Hall. The proceedings were witnessed by civilians who happened to be passing by on McBride Street.

25 YEARS AGO

Loss to the extent of $100,000 was caused to logs owned by the Prince Rupert mill by the action of toredos. The logs, which have been lying in salt water for several months, have been moved to Silver Creek where the fresh water kills the toredo.

William Bruce, an architect, wrote a letter to the city council asking the sale of lots owned by the Borden Street School at a reasonable price. He is looking for land to build a terrace of houses with a 300 foot frontage and found the property suitable for that purpose.

A shortage of refrigerator cars caused a pile-up of 300,000 pounds of halibut in Prince Rupert.

TEETH FOR SEA WOLVES

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Four wolf teeth sought as good luck charms—are on their way to four sailors aboard the U.S.S. Texas. E. M. Mercer of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service extracted the molars from wolf heads in storage.

SOFTBALL UNDER WAY

Army Beats Navy in Close Opening Season Game

Discontinued for 18 months, relationships between two servicemen from Fort William, Ontario, were resumed in a Navy versus Army softball game which found the two athletes as rival pitchers at Gyro Park over the week-end. The Army man, Gunner Humphreys, hurled the Coast Regiment to an 8-7 victory over a minesweeper's crew, who had as their pitcher Able Seaman Beda. Beda has recently been passed for promotion to Acting Leading Seaman, incidentally, while Gunner Humphreys is in charge of the Army team, members of the Service Softball League here last summer.

The sailors were behind by a score of four to two at the end of the fifth inning, due largely to a three-run burst by the soldiers in that frame. But they scored three counters in the sixth to their opponents' one to tie the count at five-all.

Originally the teams only intended to play seven innings but when both squads tallied twice in that session an extra inning became necessary and the Army boys brought home the eighth run to win the game.

A fairly large number of people, mostly servicemen, gathered to witness the interesting engagement.

Careers Opened To War-Maimed

EXETER, Eng., April 24 (C)—Daughter of a great soldier, upright, elderly Dame Georgina Buller, has founded a college here where war-maimed soldiers and civilians are taught to take their place in society.

Since the war more than 1,000 men and women who have lost limbs have been trained to hold industrial jobs. A navy man who lost both hands has become an electric welder. A girl who lost both hands in a munition factory has been fitted with artificial hands and trained as an expert typist.

At the college, the incapacitated persons are taught to use their artificial limbs, are helped to choose a new career, if they wish it, and are given technical training. More than 70 per cent go straight to jobs from the school. While they are training, their expenses are paid and they receive spending money of about $6 a week for men and $4.25 for women. Married men receive an extra $2.50 a week for their wives and $1.25 for each child, as well as $5.75 if they are maintaining a home.

Dame Georgina's father was General Sir Redvers Buller, holder of the V.C. for his part in the Zulu and South African Wars.

CHADWORTH, Eng.—When Albert Porter's dog returned home alone after he had taken it for a walk, a search party went to look for Porter, a 65-year-old farmer. He was found gored to death by a three-year-old bull.

BRISTOL, Eng.—There are so many cases of pneumonia here that hospitals cannot deal with them all. In the first three months of 1944, there was a 75 per cent increase over the same period last year.

SWIFT'S WEEKLY FOOD HINTS

Premium Cured!

It's good news for Canadian housewives when Prem is to be found on dealers' shelves

How convenient it is to have a tasty, economical cured pork food on hand when unexpected guests drop in.

That's why it's always good news when Swift's famed premium-cured pork-in-tins appears on your dealer's shelves. Before wartime needs cut down supplies, thousands of housewives made a practice of never being without a tin or two in the house. Prem is such a versatile meat, versatile as it is delicious! Cold with salad it's a tremendous favourite and ready in a jiffy. Hot . . . fried, baked or broiled . . . it's a fine main meat dish. And of course for sandwiches there's absolutely nothing like it!

Look out for Prem on your dealer's shelves and try to keep a tin on hand for emergencies!
