To many, of course, such comment may not come as a surprise for we all know that our school facilities for a long time have, to put it mildly, been nothing to boast about.

With things municipally such as they are from a financial standpoint and with so many improvements needed beside and including the schools, how to rectify the situation presents something of a major problem. True our civic finances are vastly better than they were a few years ago but we all know that the works which we must soon carry out in improving practically every community utility and service cannot be done without some special financial arrangements. To commence with we might as well realize that any debts we incur must some time be paid or we shall be back in financial embarrassment just as we were ten years or so ago.

The problem, as we have said, is a difficult one but it is something that must be faced. With the boom of the last couple of years receding after having possibly done the city harm as well as good, Prince Rupert one of these days will be settling down to what we hope will be steady development and growth and some measure of stable and permanent prosperity. Public expenditure on schools, streets, sewers, water system, telephone service and other municipal services will be needed and something will have to be done about meeting the need.

Election Campaign On...

The national convention of Young Liberals now in progress at Winnipeg may well be taken as a significant political event. It should serve to rustle the dry bones of Liberalism which have been resting in peace for so long as far as anything in the way of political campaigning activity is concerned.

The C.C.F., of course, keeps busy in season and · out with the most of their members making a full time job of political talking and organizing within and without their own bailliwicks.

John Bracken has been exceedingly busy of late. choosing to carry on his work of party leadership developing goodwill among the voters rather than assuming the responsibility of parliamentary membership at this time.

So the Liberals may well consider it high time to be getting busy on their political fences.

It may be assumed that the Young Liberal convention in Winnipeg marks the start of the federal election campaign with Senator Wishart McL, Robertson sounding the call to arms for the Liberals with an address which receives attention in our news columns today.

Meanwhile, the Saskatchewan provincial election taking place June 15 is the centre of immediate political interest. There are those who expect that, if it is favorable to the present Liberal government, the federal election will come not far behind - war or no war.

A Small Concession . . .

The announcement in the House of Commons yesterday by Minister of Finance J. L. Ilsley that old age pensioners now will be allowed to earn $125 annually in addition to their pension instead of $65 as previously is another step, if not a very pretentious one, in the way of improved social legislation for the aged. It will be appreciated but is still a far cry from the general desire that, not only should the amount of the old age pension be increased, but the age at which they may be paid should be lowered. Doubtless, this will come before so very long as the feeling is all for it.

'You Can't Ration Love" Coming to Capitol Theatre on Wednesday

A novel story idea is presented on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here tomorrow with a cast headed by Johnnie Johnston and Betty Rhodes in "You Can't Ration Love." Relating innorth to rejoin my regiment in cidents which bring the point rationing system to a small midwestern college in order to supply enough males to go around, the picture is said to sparkle with galety from start to finish. Johnny Johnston becomes the foil of a female contingent by permitting Betty Rhodes to transform him into a glamor boy. Johnny is a bespectacled student of arts and science who has little attraction to jive or anything like that. In spite of what seems a hopless task, however, Betty perseveres and the scholar suddenly becomes the heart throb of the campus. Mad comedy features the picture.

There are four new song hits Love Is This," "Ooh-Ah-Oh," "Look What You Did to Me" and "Nothing Can Replace a Man" while the old favorite "Louise"
