Facing the New Year . . .

We have the New Year with us now and, this being the first working day, it is timely to think of practical and realistic things, of what the year 1944 may bring to the world, the nation and community, how each of us may be affected and how we may act in the welfare of ourselves and the common good which essentially must be a matter of importance to us all.

War is, of course, again the transcending thought and so much depends upon its unpredictable progress and direction that it is difficult to estimate the future and lay plans to meet situations which are baffling in anticipation.

A year ago we were still in the depths, alternately hopeful and desperate, wondering, with no sense of certainty, how things were going to come out, and how long it was going to take to even clarify the outcome. Today it is indeed a pessimistic person who is not fully imbued with the confidence of victory. We all know now that we are going to win. The consensus, it appears safe to say now, is that the European phase of the war will be pretty well concluded in this New Year before the end of which we will have turned more attention to our Japanese enemies in the Pacific who may be more difficult.

With the military phase of international situation showing definite signs of clearing, it is natural that people are beginning to concern themselves very generally and very seriously with the economic phase which will continue, possibly even more seriously, after the fighting is done.

Indeed, despite the difficulty of approximating the remaining time of duration of the conflict, there are even new signs of an economic backwash setting in. War industries are laying off men and women and it is suggested that the laying off process may become more general. Of course, as long as the war lasts, there will probably be plenty of work although the choice for the workers may not be so good. In other words, there will be a tendency towards workers having to take more of what they can get than choosing what they want. For many people the boom has passed its peak and it is time, in their own interests, to think practically of what the immediate future has to hold for them.

Here in Prince Rupert it also behooves us to do serious planning of our interests, both community and private. For many of us the boom has been disconcerting owing to the sudden new volume of pressure on a community organization which was far below adequacy to meet it. Some may think that 1944 will see an off trend in war activity. On the other hand, the intensification of the war against Japan and the enlargement of the offensive in the Pacific may well have the effect of making this place even more active.

However, it also behooves us to give some consideration of how we shall be and how we might plan, even under the erratic present prospects, to meet the postwar situation. An important and most necessary job after the war will be to rehabilitate and repair the community and make it once again a worthwhile place in which to live.

We have been working hard here in Prince Rupert and many have prospered as they contributed to the war effort. The end of the war will bring the start of the peace effort in which there will also be plenty to do although it might not appear as emergent or spectacular.

There is every reason to anticipate that the year 1944 may prove a gratifying one in many ways. In the final phases of the war it may bring us many trials and sorrows. It does not bear the prospect of being an ideal year by any means but it should bring a better measure of good things.

State of Dead Is Interpreted

If the story of the Rich Man and Lazarus is accepted literally then at death man is conveyed bodily to a place of bliss or torment said Evangelist Balmer last evening in the Oddfellows Hall. The speaker said that the literal interpretation was unorthodox and unscriptural. It was a parable given by Jesus to teach that worldly wealth and endowments alone did not entitle anyone to the Kingdom of heaven nor would poverty debar anyone from heaven.

It was a well-settled rule of interpretation, said Mr. Balmer, that no parable should be used as a basis for doctrine. The teaching of scripture was that when a man died "he returns to dust, his breath goeth forth; in that very day his thoughts perish". David informs us that there is no remembrance of God.

The speaker produced many texts of scripture to the effect that the dead were unconscious in their graves until the resurrection. Not a soul that ever lived on earth was in heaven without a body. Man did not have inherent immortality. It was bestowed at the resurrection of the just according to Paul's letter to the Corinthians.

Borjupaprikas

Borjupaprika, Hungarian style, is a good way to get an extra meal from a Veal Roast

Your husband is prejudiced against "left-overs," one way to keep him happy and still have an odd ration coupon left for something special is to serve your left-overs first!

- BORJUPAPRIKAS
- 1 lb. veal slices
 - 2 small onions
 - 3 tbsps. fat
 - 1 tsp. paprika
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 cup sour cream

Cut veal into small squares. Chop onion and fry in hot fat till golden brown. Sprinkle with paprika and mix well. Add meat and a little water and simmer till veal is tender, about 1 hour. Add salt and sour cream. Heat, and serve with noodles.

NATIVES URGE GOVT. ACTION

Kitwanga Brotherhood Would Have Natives in Administrative Positions.

KITWANGA, Jan. 3 — The Canadian Government, urged on by the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, is taking active steps to bring to reality the promises it made the Indian people in the early days. W. B. Morgan, returned delegate from the Brotherhood convention at Cape Mudge told the guests at a banquet given in his honor here recently. He added that it was up to the Brotherhood to continue impressing the government the importance of honoring its ancient written pledges concerning the welfare of the native people.

Mr. Morgan, principal speaker at the banquet, outlined the activities of the Cape Mudge convention and expressed satisfaction at the way the coast natives are advancing toward appreciation of the civilized way of life. He urged that young native men and women who are educated to the requirements of the job be allowed, and even encouraged, to work in offices of the Indian Bureau. Many of these young people who have been educated in residential schools have as high an education as white students and it would be a great thing if they were to work up to responsible positions in the administration of Indian affairs.

Criticism was levelled by the banquet guests at a copy of a Vancouver paper containing a derogatory report on the native character, attributed to an Indian agent. It was felt that the story was unjustified and should never have been published.

Attending as the guests of honor were Honorary President, Mr. Bright, of Kitwanga. Chairman George Moore and W. J. Simelair.

3 Good Reasons Why

Most Young Mothers Use this Way to Relieve Miseries of Children's COLDS

Thanks to its effective penetrating-stimulating action (as illustrated), time-tested Vicks VapoRub promptly helps relieve coughing spasms, muscular soreness or tightness, congestion and irritation in the bronchial tubes!

The very moment you rub soothing, vaporizing VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime, it starts to work—and keeps on working for hours as it invites restful sleep. Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone!

Try it. And you'll understand why the time-proven home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds is dependable... VICKS VAPORUB

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

I was sorry to hear that one of our own Prince Rupert W.D.s, Leading Airwoman Jeanie Cameron, spent Christmas Day in bed recovering from an operation. Better luck next year, Jeanie, and best wishes for a speedy recovery!

Mrs. Crymble, an Air Force wife, lost her cheque in the civilian post office on December 29. She has asked that if it is found will the finder please return it to the 'Y'. Losing one's cheque at this season of the year, especially when one has two small kiddies in the family, is pretty grim and I only hope by now that it has been recovered.

I just missed having a broken skull for a New Year's gift. Not that I was in any New Year Fracas but, during the New Year Frolic at the Capitol Theatre, someone at the back of the house hurled a Coca Cola bottle on the stage which missed Sub-Lieutenant Lobbs' head and mine by a very few inches. Just goes to show we're hard to kill!

We'll live and learn but I never thought I'd live to see the eaten openly in church. As be eaten openly in church. As I say, we live and learn.

It's an ill wind that blows no one good. On New Year's Day I saw one of the R.C.A.F. girls take such a tumble on Fulton Street, and quicker than you could say "Jack Robinson," or even "All My Eye and Betty Martin" about five gallant boys from the Acropolis had the young lady on her feet and by the time I had gone by it all looked like the start of a beautiful friendship.

There's only one dance this week and I really want it to be a grand success because the boys went to all sorts of trouble at their last dance and very few girls turned out. It's to be at the Ack-Ack Highway Camp on Friday next and Junior Hostesses and affiliated groups are most cordially invited. I know I mean to go.

Women's Council Organized Here

Mrs. J. J. Gillis is President of New Organization.

Representatives of the various women's organizations of Prince Rupert at a meeting last week elected the following executive to head a Women's Council for 1944:

Honorary president, Mrs. M. M. Stephens.

President, Mrs. J. J. Gillis (Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary).

Vice-President, Mrs. A. L. Haines (Parent-Teachers' Association).

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. Ingram (Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard Welfare Association).

Miss Bessie Snider (provincial field member) and Miss Julia Brown (United Church Community Worker).

The Women's Council will serve as a clearing house for member organizations, providing opportunity for exchange of ideas and mutual awareness of each other's activities.

MIDLANDS

At an election of officers of the Cobourg branch of the Canadian Legion, James Rollings was named president with Reuben Jackson, vice-president.

Pilot Officer Lorne I. Brisbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brisbin, of Cold Springs, became the first Cobourg district man to win the Distinguished Flying Cross. The ward was given for his exceptional performances over a period of time, not for any specific action. He is stationed at Toronto.

Ninety-two donors gave blood to the Red Cross at a clinic held in the basement of St. Andrew's Church at Cobourg last week.

Thomas John Sproat, who claimed to be a preacher of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect and who failed to declare himself under the conscription laws, was found guilty on that charge by Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Cobourg and taken to a military centre for induction into the army.

Are Honored at Farewell Party

A large number of friends gathered Wednesday evening at the Wartime Housing hall to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Art Tassie prior to their departure for Vancouver. Mr. Tassie has been the popular community councillor here for Wartime Housing and Mrs. Tassie has been an esteemed member of the Good Cheer Club.

The evening was spent in playing of whist and games and delicious refreshments were served at midnight after which Mr. McKenzie, president of the Tenant Council, on behalf of the Tenant Council, the Good Cheer Club and Handicraft Club, presented Mr. and Mrs. Tassie with a handsome table lamp. Mr. Tassie expressed appreciation of the gift and also of co-operation which had been extended him in his efforts to make the community a better place in which to live.

Also guests of the evening were John Jerome, who succeeds Mr. Tassie as temporary community councillor, and Mrs. Jerome.

NICK COULTER PASSES AWAY

Word has been received in the city of the death at the Provincial Home at Kamloops on December 23 of Nick J. Coultter, pioneer of this district, who for several years had been a resident of the home.

Mr. Coultter was well known for many years in the city on the Skeena River. At one time he was a member of the staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Later and before leaving for Kamloops he was called for some time at Port Hardy.
