London Again Heavily Bombed

Biggest Air Raid Since Days of Blitz Staged By Nazi Planes Last Night

Tons of High Explosives and Incendiaries Rained Down to Start Many Fires, Causing Much Damage and Many Casualties.

LONDON, Feb. 19 (CP)—London underwent its heaviest air raid since the winter of 1940-41 last night as three waves of heavy and medium bombers struck. The number of raiders was estimated unofficially at 150. Many fires were started, much damage was done and casualties, so far unestimated, were quite heavy. It was the most determined raid the Nazis have made on London since November, 1940 during the days of the great blitz. The enemy planes came over in three waves and bombed half a dozen districts, dropping tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs. They came in from the northeast.

Some fifty or sixty German planes participated in the attack and there is no claim of any having been shot down.
Rescue workers were still endeavouring today to reach some of the buried persons.

NUTRITION COMMITTEE

Reports Made and Plans for Future Are Perfected.

The Prince Rupert Nutrition
Committee met in the Booth
School on Thursday afternoon.
Those present were—Misses E. A.
Meier and Collinson, Mr. O'- Neill and S. A. Cheeseman of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association, Mrs. S. C. Elkins, representing the I.O.D.E., Mrs. Milancy from the Wartime Housing Tenant Council, Mrs. Foster from the Housewives' League and Dr.
Knipe with Miss Young in the chair and Miss Corbould as secretary.

Miss Young gave a short history of the background of the Nutrition Program in Canada.
The need for such a program was demonstrated by the fact that forty per cent of selectees were rejected for ill health and also by a survey taken by the Health League of Canada which showed that every day approximately 200,000 people are ill. The proportion of these due to nutritional deficiency cannot be estimated. In November 1941 the Department of Pensions and National Health at Ottawa started a branch known as Nutrition Services with a program designed to study the methods of spreading information on nutrition to the local and provincial groups.

To inaugurate the program, the film "Table Training" was specially recommended. The film, showing at the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday, was prepared by the R.C.A.F. under the auspices of the Canadian Medical Association, and the Life Insurance Companies of Canada.
Special showings have been arranged by D. G. Borland for school children. At the regular showings, an interesting and highly informative booklet is being distributed.

In regard to the schools, a survey of the child's diet was discussed, with the child evaluating his own meals by means of a special chart. This evaluation will commence next week.
Miss Corbould was elected publicity chairman. A public relations committee of Miss Young, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Elkins was then appointed to contact interested women's organizations.

Came to Pay Fine; Gets Fined Again

When George Klassen, a construction company worker, came to town to pay a fine for an offence committed under the Liquor Act earlier in the month, he, by his own admission, "fell off the wagon." He told the magistrate about it in police court where he pleaded guilty to a charge of public intoxication.
Circumstances had contrived to make it impossible to cash his check, pay his fine and then return directly to camp as he had intended, he told the court. As a consequence he had slipped in his intention to stay away from liquor.
He was fined $50 or 14 days by Magistrate W. D. Vance.

police court this morning on Emily Holland, who pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy, and also on Violet Russell, who pleaded guilty to a charge of public intoxication.

Edward Turner, who came before Magistrate W. D. Vance in city police court Friday after-keeping liquor for sale, was fined magistrate.

The Americans established

Although there was no further word from the Pacific about Truk Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox expressed the opinion that a major victory was being scored against the Japanese.

Meanwhile Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific announced today that Allied bombers in a three-day attack sank

Closing In On Japan . . .

The Big United States air raid on the important Japanese base of Truk is further indication of the growth of Allied strength in the western Pacific. It may not be long now before attacks in considerable scale, more than mere occasional forays, will be delivered upon Japan proper. Certainly our forces are closing in from various directions—north, east, south and west.

Major points, taken by the Japanese in their lightning drive of the first few months of the war in the Pacific, of course, remain in the hands of the enemy. For the past year, however, the enemy has made no offensive, being content to endeavour to hold what he has won although losing some of that.

There is no reason to believe, however, that the Jap still has not much fight in him and that he may not yet be capable of some considerable moves.

Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune announces he will not be a presidential candidate in 1944. We're not surprised. He's just ornery enough to deny 99,999 per cent of American voters the keen pleasure of voting against him.

Easier Living Ahead . . .

The postwar house, according to research workers in the construction field, is being planned to provide healthful living, aesthetic pleasure and freedom from drudgery for the housewife. The new houses will have improved ventilation, heating, lighting and even sound conditioning. Germicidal lamps to free homes from disease germs, movable walls to suit emergency requirements, built-in furniture, and other innovations are in prospect.

Construction methods may undergo changes. Prefabrication is one of them. Many houses in the future will be built on the assembly line. Every piece of the house, down to the door knobs, will be manufactured at the factory and all set into place when delivered to the lot. There, several workmen will be able to put it up ready to move into in perhaps less than a day. This type of dwelling is already being built by thousands for workers in war industries. Most of them are put together with wall, floor and ceiling panels of laminated plastic. Such factory-built homes are movable and can follow their owners. Thus the problem of home ownership may be minimized; when a workman will need to move to another job, he will be able to take his home with him and so avoid suffering financial loss through a forced sale.

Hall Filled at L.O.B.A. Dance

Mrs. George Howe was general convener of the affair and the crowd at the door was capably handled by members of the Loyal Orange Lodge.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

It being such a perfect afternoon yesterday I thought up a grand excuse to be out for most of it. I had some Y.W.C.A. Leave Centre posters sent to me from head office yesterday so what better than to deliver them in person to the C.W.A.C. barracks and the W.R.C.N.S. barracks which are side by side and a sizeable walk from here. And as luck would have it I was just in time to say good-bye to Lieut. Jean Bayfield who is leaving shortly for the East. She came up with the first of the C.W.A.C.s and has gone through all the trials and tribulations of setting up a station and getting bedded down. She has been a very able second in command to Captain Hewett who will be sorry to see her go.

I went to the basketball game at the Naval Drill Hall last night. My last contact with basketball was when I played a mean game myself all togged out in blue serge bloomers, middy and black stockings. And at that we girls felt slightly undressed and immodest. I don't know much about the game as it is played nowadays but I certainly yelled enough although I lost track of which side I was rooting for. At one stage of the game a banner interfered with the ball making the basket and so a very noble youth literally scaled the walls, tripped lightly across the beams and moved the offending streamer. This human fly was none other than Petty Officer Arthur Brookman. Citizens and friends, are there no medals for heroes like these?

We had a visit today from Burrell Stevens one of our "Y" men stationed at Terrace. This was Burrell's first sight of the blue Pacific and his first taste of our marvellous Prince Rupert weather. He was quite surprised because he had already heard it rained a lot here. Just a rumor we told him, and moreover we had the day to prove it.

What a Basketball Game!

YANKS TAKE 43 TO 40 WIN FROM CANADIAN ALL STARS IN FAST-PACED HOOP PLAY

Reporters and commentators found it difficult to find superlatives in the sports vocabulary which would adequately describe last night's hectic, fast-paced basketball game in which the Yanks won over the Canadian All-Stars, 43 to 40, at the Naval Drill Hall. A capacity crowd witnessed the engagement sponsored for the benefit of the Red Cross which benefitted to the extent of about $300. Many were turned away.

In the first game of the evening the Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division quintet scored its fourth straight victory in the Area League, beating the Maple Leafs 30 to 6.

The Yanks-All Star clash contained all the qualities needed to give hoop fans a thrilling evening. Lightning plays, remarkable shooting, excellent ball handling and a couple of teams which played as hard as game-cocks fought.

Although they grabbed the lead early in the game and kept it for most of the fixture, the Yanks were trailing minutes before the final whistle. It was a battle all the way and the decision could have easily tipped in either team's direction.

The All-Stars played well as a unit, despite the fact that some of the cagers were unused to one another's playing. No single player made more than seven points, which was a tribute to their fine team-play.

Latina and d'Antremont were the sharp shooters for the Yanks racking up totals of 13 and 11 points respectively.

Play grew very rough toward the end of the game and some brushes between hoopsters nearly resulted in a flurry of fists. The Canadians were charged with 17 fouls and the Yanks were responsible for 12. Banished for fouls were MacPhee, Zak, Dominato and Santerbane of All-Stars and D'Antremont and Garzelloni of the Yanks.

Half time score was 21 to 17 in favor of All-Stars, but the Yanks resumed the lead in the second half.

Women's League

In the Women's game the Air Force Grizzlies held the upper hand from start to finish. Flight Sergeant Peden was leading scorer, pacing the W.D.'s attack with a total of 15 points. Miggins of Maple Leafs again led her team in scoring, acquiring five of the six points.

The Royal Canadian Navy brass band was in attendance and played a number of marches and popular tunes under the baton of Chief Petty Officer S. E. Sunderland.

Mrs. Charles M. Cree threw the opening ball. Commander Charles M. Cree, Arnold Flaten, president of the local Red Cross, and S. P. Woodside, president of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association, each made brief speeches of acknowledgment.

amateur for 19 years and never has been knocked out. Even that tug-of-war, with men pulling all out, leaves him perfectly composed. Apart from boxing, he holds two British weight-lifting titles.

An avalanche of ticket applications followed the startling concession that an attendance of 140,000 will be allowed for an England-Scotland International soccer game at Glasgow's giant Hampden Park, April 22. The previous wartime police limit was 80,000 at Wembley, London. The concession takes the gate allowances back to pre-war days and raised hopes that the Southern League Cup final in April will find the allowance raised to the capacity 100,000. The accepted crowd record for Britain came at a 1937 Scotland-England game at Hampden Park when 149,547 squeezed through the turnstiles.

NAVY WINS HOOP GAME

Members of the Navy entry in the area Basketball League celebrated the birthday of their coach, Petty Officer A. Brookman, by smothering Fortress under a 47 to 23 count at Little America Thursday night. It was one of the best showing the sailors have made this season and enabled them to get a stranglehold on fifth place in the standings.

Ack Acks were unable to field a team for their game with Coast Battery and they are now expected to withdraw from the league due to the shortage of players. It is not yet known which club will replace them. Reserves versus Air Force game in the Naval Drill hall was postponed.

At Home Held At Workroom

A most successful "At Home" was held at the Red Cross workroom on Wednesday afternoon. There were many admiring comments on the excellent display of knitting and sewing and on the bright and comfortable aspect of the workroom.

The work of cutting out, sewing, making surgical dressings and the activities of the wool and business departments, were carried on as usual. Keen interest was shown in the knitting and a goodly number of ladies took wool away with them to knit into sweaters, socks, etc.

Delicious refreshments were served by an energetic committee of ladies under the capable management of Mrs. C. H. Elkins.

There is still need for more workers and groups of workers since the need for knitted and sewn garments grows greater than less.

The workroom is open each afternoon, except Saturday—and mornings by arrangements.

SELECTIVE SERVICE (Continued from Page One)

How old are you? What are your educational qualifications? Any dependents? Have you served in the armed forces? Are you a British subject?

You may not like to answer some of these questions, but you do, for the man tells you in a nice way that the application simply shows for what job you are best qualified.

You have only to tell him where you have been working, if at all, but what you are capable of doing. And you have to mention a secondary occupation. The reason for this is that, in the event he cannot refer you to an opening in the line you may wish to follow, he may find a spot for you in the secondary line.

NO TIME LOST AFTER ALL

Well, everything's going smoothly, and it's not taking a great deal of time. The man fills out an identification card, hands it to you, and you're told that you must keep it on your person at all times.

This card has a number on it. It's known as the applicant's number, and should you ever go to the selective service at some future time, the first thing you'd be asked is for the number of your identification card.

Next you're supplied with an insurance book, if you haven't already got one, and then a permit is made out to you. This permit opens the way for you to accept the job to which you've referred.

You must take this permit with you to your new employer, who will fill it out and return it to the selective service. You may be sent to a job in another province, but the same procedure has to be followed regarding the signing and returning of the permit.

Well, you thank the man for his help, glance at your watch—and that's when you get surprised! You learn that you're only been in the building for about 25 minutes. You can't help but mention this fact to the man, saying that it puzzles you somewhat.

And you add that you had always been made to believe it would take at least four or five hours before you could receive any attention.

The man will laugh and tell you that Leyton Robinson, the manager, had members of the staff check during the first two weeks in December, just to see how long it took a person from the time he entered the place before he was able to leave.

This was the result of the two-week analysis.

The average length of time a man spent in the selective service office when applying for a job or a transfer to another was just 19.08 minutes. It took only on average of 11.3 minutes to deal with each woman's request.

You glance around the office again, make your way toward the door feeling pretty good about it all and decide it wasn't such a bad experience at that.

Certainly it wasn't anything like you had been made to believe it would be!

Card of Thanks

We wish to convey our deep appreciation to many friends here and in Vancouver for acts of kindness and sympathy during our recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and mother.

SINATRA IN MUSIC FILM

Story of Social Hoax, "Higher and Higher" Is Gay Screen Fare.

A synthetic debutante and what happens to her constitute the theme of the musical picture
"Higher and Higher" which comes to the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday and introduces Frank Sinatra to screen audiences.

Michele Morgan, who plays the deb, and Jack Haley share starring honors with Sinatra in the gay and tuneful offering, the action of which takes place in a Fifth Avenue mansion owned by a bankrupt piano tycoon whose servants haven't had any wages for months.

Between them they cook up the plan of having the kitchen maid pose as the tycoon's socialite daughter and marry a husband rich enough to pull them all out of their financial hole.
Unfortunately, the artificial deb is really in love with the valet (Haley), and this complicates the plot hilariously. Sinatra has the role of a young next-door neighbor who finds himself involved in the romantic aspects of the story, and Leon Errol heads the featured cast as the rich man.

How the various situations work out, with the kitchen maid and the valet finally finding one another, and Sinatra and a real debutante hitting it off, forms the entertaining climax of the film.

A special feature of the Monday and Tuesday short program is the two reeler "Training Table" describing the scientific diet of the Royal Canadian Air Force.
