Control of Hydro-electricity — Cut in Motor Rates, Premier Announces.

Evacuated Japanese May Not Return to Coast

PRINCE RUPERT, Feb. 7 (CP) — Hint that Japanese evacuated from coastal areas of British Columbia may not return after the war, given by Premier John Brudenell this afternoon when he said that the federal government has purchased the land formerly occupied by the Japanese for carrying out a land settlement plan.

United States Warships Shell Japanese in Kurile Islands

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 7 (CP) — United States warships — destroyers and cruisers — bombed the Japanese at home for the first time today and the enemy by surprise. The bombardment lasted for about 20 minutes and battered the harbor and installations of Jurabu point on the southern side of Paramushiro Island. Large numbers of Japanese gunners, either surprised or attempting to put out the shells which preceded heavy blasting, fired into the air when the attack first started. They fired along their beaches and at the Pacific coast and at the Sea of Otoka.

Enemy Over Britain

Enemy aircraft crossed over southeast England Saturday and dropped a few bombs but none of them penetrated defenses of London.

WAKE ISLAND BOMBED

United States bombers on Sunday attacked Wake Island for the first time within a week.

WEWAK HIT AGAIN

Another attack was made by United States aircraft on Wewak, New Guinea, one hundred tons of bombs being dropped on Japanese installations and considerable damage evidently done.

Fierce Fighting in Italy

The Allies have not only repulsed strong German counterattacks south of Rome but have made some progress. The Allies, however, claim to have caused the Allies to have shorted their bridgehead. One new height near Cassino has been captured by the Allies but they have been forced to abandon it. There is fierce hand-to-hand fighting within Cassino.

particularly in the Fraser Valley. This land will be available for returned men.

The establishment of a Bureau of Postwar Rehabilitation and reconstruction measures to be supervised by several cabinet ministers were announced by Premier Hart.

Plans to provide an outlet to the Pacific Coast for the isolated Peace River area in north-eastern British Columbia were also outlined by the Premier.

Location and construction work will begin this year through the province, $250,000 being provided in the estimates. The road would run from Prince George to Dawson Creek via Pine Pass, a distance of 274 miles.

Referring to government policy in regard to public utilities, the Premier said: "After a great deal of consideration I firmly believe it is in the best interests of the development of the province for the people to control the entire hydro-electric and light services now being used and which may be used for sale to the public."

The Premier said an inquiry will be conducted into the entire field of provincial-municipal relations with emphasis being laid on the cost of education.

A 20 per cent rebate will be given all purchasers of 1944 passenger car licences including private citizens, taxi operators and commercial travellers owing to the curtailment of travel caused by the rationing of gasoline.

Other announcements of the Premier were that legislation will be introduced providing for regulations promoting the development of potential coal and oil resources, allowances to unemployed will be substantially increased, the government will set aside $1,500,000 to carry out an extraordinary program of road maintenance as part of the public works program, this sum to be in addition to the regular maintenance vote of $2,300,000, the government will assist prospectors to uncover mineral wealth of the province by providing grubstakes.

WREN'S ARRIVE—Officers Are Here

Naval Circles Excited Over Prospect of W.R.C.N.S. Here

The arrival of a Naval officer or rating in H.M.C.S. Chatham is just routine to the other members of the ship's company but, when a new Wren arrives... well that's something!

When four new Wren officers arrive all together and the promise of several dozen Wren ratings... well, just imagine the excitement!

Following in the footsteps of Sub. Lieut. Edith Scott (Scotty to most of us), who has been holding forth as the sole representative of the W.R.C.N.S. for some months now, comes Sub. Lieut. Lattimer, Sub. Lieut. Booth, Sub. Lieut. Christie and Sub. Lieut. Chivers.

A conversation with Sub. Lieut. Lattimer is most likely to leave one smacking the lips from discussing "pre-war" menus in London, Paris, New York, Montreal, Vancouver, and even Tokio!

In addition to holding classes in home economics in many of these places she has actually catered to the diets of gourmands there! If one ever gets invited to dinner at the "Wrenery" it should not be passed up. If Lattimer has anything to do in the ship's galley one is guaranteed, war or no war, to have a memorable menu!

"I'm a little Prairie Flower" is the theme song introducing Sub. Lieut. Chivers, no relation to jams and jellies but sweet nevertheless. All good sailors seem to hail from Weyburn, Saskatchewan, so it is not surprising to hear Chivers made that place her home before the Wrens took her under wing. It is said she looked forward to her appointment in Prince Rupert. It must be the salty air she wanted... even the rain's salty here.

Obviously Sub. Lieut. Booth is the student type. She graduated from the Toronto University, donned the Wren uniform, did basic training, received her commission, studied wireless telegraphy and landed out here after a whirlwind tour of training in Galt, Ottawa, Halifax and St. Hyacinthe. That she still has her breath is something difficult to understand. Two sailors almost took it away though one day in Montreal as she was waiting in the station for her train. They had just come from sea and hadn't met a Wren officer. They plunked themselves down beside her "Sir-ess" the bolder of the two said, "We're just off for a beer... will you have one with us, or do you drink beer in your Navy?"

RUSSIA AND FINLAND—HELSINKI HEAVILY ATTACKED

Big Bombing by Russian Planes on Capital City — Moscow Denies Peace Negotiations.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 7. (CP)—More than one hundred Russian planes blasted Helsinki on Sunday night. Thirty-eight persons were killed and over 200 wounded. The raid lasted for three hours and explosives and incendiaries were rained down to cause heavy damage.

Finns in Stockholm expressed the opinion that the attack was the signal for an air offensive against Finland, probably with a view to attempting to drive Finland out of the war.

Helsinki had not experienced a serious raid since 1941. There was a second alarm after the main raid as further planes came over to add to the damage.

Co-incident with the raid, the Soviet government announced at Moscow that no new ultimatum had been delivered to Finland and it was also denied that there had been separate peace talks with that country.

CITY IS STILL BURNING TODAY

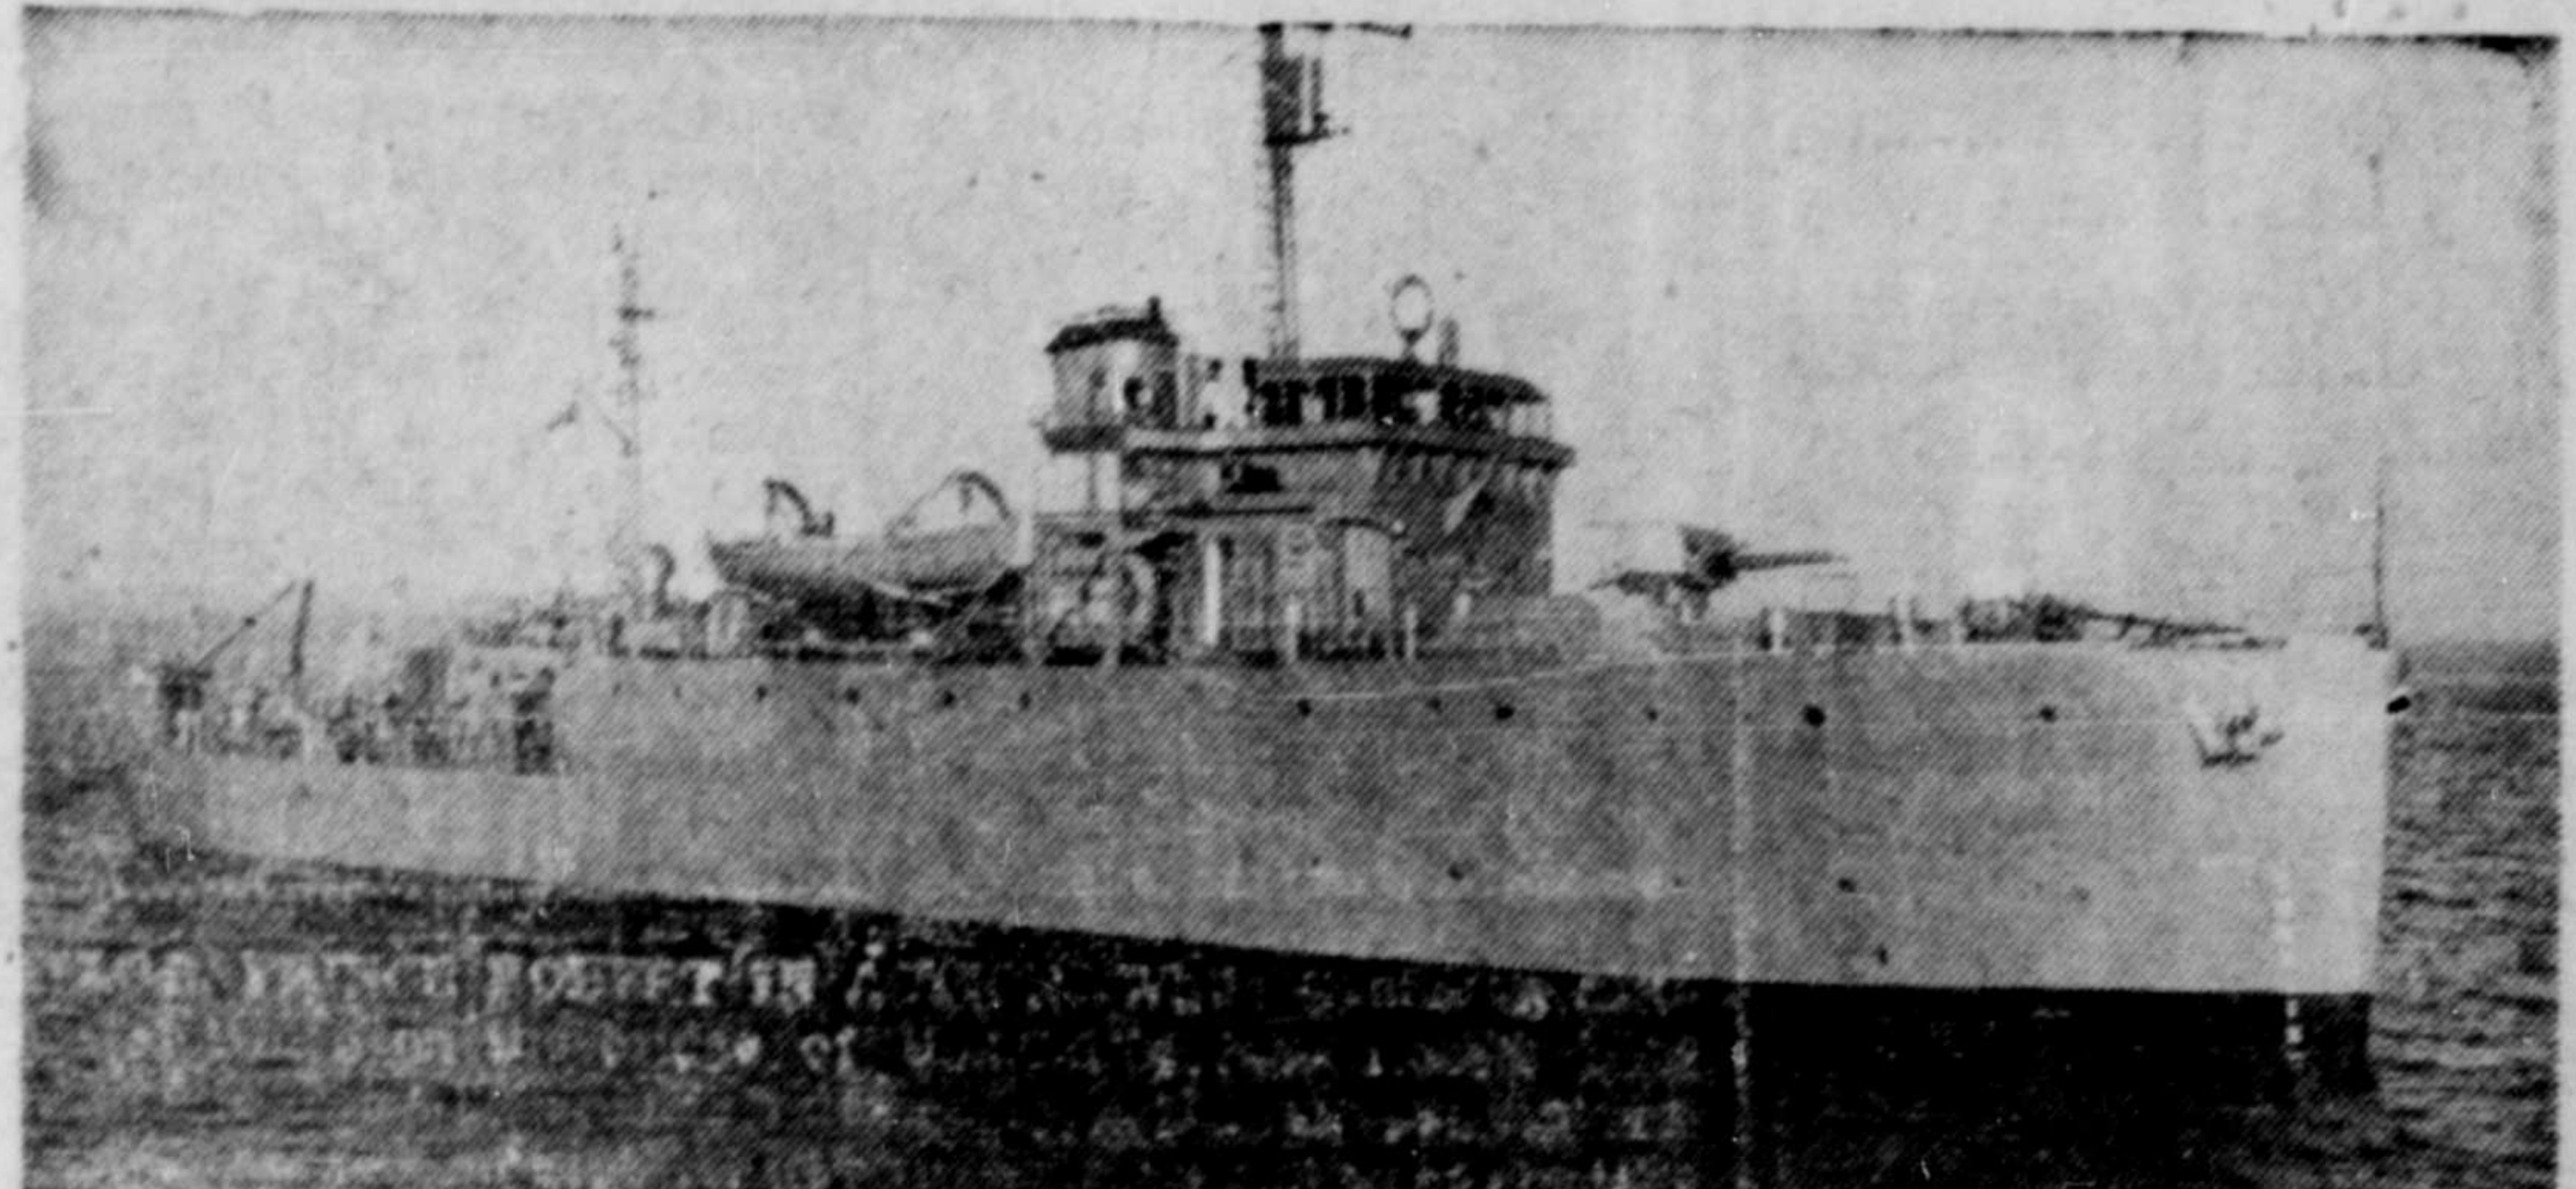

Fires were still burning in Helsinki at noon today from the Russian bombings Sunday night. Two hundred buildings at least were destroyed, the Finnish legation in Stockholm said, it being officially announced that mines and incendiaries had been dropped. The official announcement listed 232 persons as wounded.

Advices reaching London said that telephone communications between Helsinki and Stockholm were out again today, suggesting the possibility of a third raid in the apparent concentrated effort to blast the country out of the war.

NAZIS ARE SLAIN

STOCKHOLM — The Nazi commandant and several other German officials are reported to have been killed by a bomb explosion in Warsaw. One hundred Polish hostages have been executed.

George W. Cripps, O.B.E., provincial assessor here for the past eleven years, passed away at the age of 66 in the Prince Rupert General Hospital Sunday morning following an illness which had been causing him to fail for some time past.

Coming here with his family in 1933 from Vancouver, the late Mr. Cripps, from the start took an active interest in the affairs of good citizenship. A returned officer, he was intensely patriotic and was instrumental in organizing parades and displays for the jubilee of the late King George V and the coronation of the present King and Queen.

Beachhead At Anzio Restored

ALGIERS, Feb. 7 (CP)—American troops in the Anzio beachhead have repulsed a strong German attack which broke through the Allied perimeter three miles west of Cisterna and have restored their original positions.

Cisterna is astride the Appian Way and an electrified railway 26 miles southwest of Rome being about 10 miles east of Carroceto where previous German counter blows were turned aside. The Germans had begun the new attack on Saturday night with infantry, tanks and artillery.

Fighting raged through Saturday night and into Sunday before the Nazis were pushed back to the starting point with losses.

Americans Take More Islets In Marshall Group

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 7.—Twenty-one of thirty-two islets in the Kwajalein atoll of the Marshall Islands have now been taken by the United States forces which made further gains over the week-end in that important campaign, vital to ultimate driving out of the Japanese from that part of the Pacific. Japanese resistance appears to be dwindling.

POUNDING AT ENEMY

Berlin, Paris and Other Targets Found Over the Week-end by American and British Planes.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—United States, British and Canadian heavy bombers and fighters pounded again Sunday in daylight raids upon German-held air fields and port installations in France from the Pas de Calais area as far inland as Paris. At least 17 German planes were destroyed and eleven Allied machines failed to return.

On Saturday, it was announced one thousand tons of bombs were dropped on the Paris area, heavy damage being done to air fields which were the principal targets for 1,000 tons of bombs. Twenty parked enemy planes were destroyed and ten American bombers failed to return.

Juvenile Delinquency . . .

In Canada, in Britain and in the United States, the rise of juvenile delinquency has become very marked during the past few years. With mothers and fathers away at war or working in industrial plants producing war supplies, too many youngsters are being left to look after themselves.

All young people have a tremendous amount of energy to work off. At the same time, they also have an eager desire to be a part of current activities; they are particularly susceptible to the atmosphere of excitement, danger and insecurity of wartime. At the present time, many Canadian communities are endeavouring to channel this energy into some constructive activity so that the future leaders of the Dominion will feel that they are making a real contribution to the war effort.

The story of how one British city coped with this problem provides an interesting study of what can be accomplished under the most adverse conditions. The organization of an experimental youth club in this city, has to some extent broken up street gangs and turned "dead-end" kids from housebreaking to club-making.

The Youth Centre aims to meet the recreational needs of young people who are between the ages of 14 and 20. The project was inaugurated in May, 1941, when the various young gang leaders were tracked down and, together with members of their gangs, invited to visit the club. According to the Centre's workers, the first four weeks were a complete nightmare. However, by the end of the fourth week, street contacts had increased the 130 originals to 223.

Here is how the Centre operates. In the first place, it is managed by a member's committee, with a responsible teacher and a registrar sitting in as additional members. All members of the Centre are expected to take up some definite occupation or study and to "see it through" to the end. Subjects chosen have included singing, dancing, woodwork and physical training. Mathematics, first aid, home-craft were added later at the request of the club members themselves. Then, of course, there are the various clubs within the Club itself, there is a Model Aircraft Club, the Concert Party, the Dramatic Society and so on.

The British Centre has also endeavoured to provide sleeping accommodation for some of the young people, particularly those who have been working hard all the day and who need their rest.

In the Dominion, there are countless ways to direct the young people into clean, healthful fields of endeavour and fun. In one eastern Canadian city, young people's church groups approached the Citizens' Committee, and undertook museum tours for members of the armed forces as their contribution. In other communities, the Women's Voluntary Services have interested the young girls in acting as war stamp sellers, volunteer workers in various canteens or in day nurseries, and in many other activities.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

By DOROTHY GARBUTT

Each Monday after this I plan to give you a list of the dances during the coming week, Monday through Saturday. In this way I shall not have to refer to them again except on the night on which they are held. So I hope that you will get into the habit of cutting out this Monday list and using it for reference throughout the week:

Monday, Feb. 7. — Old Time Square Dance, Empress 'Y', from 9 to 11 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 9. — Regular weekly 'Y' dance, Empress 'Y', 8.30 to 11 p.m.

Thursday, Feb. 10. — Eleventh Ave. dance, Junior Hostesses and affiliated groups meet at the 'Y' at 8.30 p.m. for transportation.

Friday, Feb. 11. — Navy Dance, Naval Drill Hall also, Empress Juke Box couples dances, 9 to 11 p.m.

Saturday, Feb. 12. — P.E. American Dance, Junior Hostesses and invited groups to meet at the 'Y' Hut at 7.30—note the time, 7.30 sharp.

This last dance is to be a special Lincoln's Birthday celebration dance. The American boys are going to all sorts of trouble to make it a gala affair and I'm sure all the girls will make this a special date. Remember the time of meeting is an hour earlier than usual 7.30 p.m.

Life's going to be very dull around these parts with Jack MacClelland, Padre Siebert and Don Adams all away at one and the same time. However, it's all part of the job. They come and they go and we enjoy their company while they are with us. That was the first and the hardest lesson I had to learn when I started this work—how to distill the essence of friendship in the short time allotted between drafts and postings.

At last! I beat Jack Bremner, the Merchant Navy in five straight games of cribbage! Mean of me to tell, isn't it? But then he's been beating me so consistently I just had to brag.

Warns Against Pagan Doctrines

The religio-political power symbolized by the beast with seven heads and ten horns of Revelations 13, would command the worship of all that dwell upon the earth whose names are not written in the Lamb's Book of Life, declared Evangelist Balmer last evening in the Oddfellows' Hall.

This beast power arose on the ashes of the old Roman empire, said the speaker and, under its shadow and by its support, introduced pagan doctrines, found a prominent place in Christianity.

The speaker believed that the great prophecy of Revelations 13, which had its inception in the ages of the past would be completely fulfilled before the next appearing of the Lord. He urged upon his audience the importance of having their names recorded in heaven which could be accomplished by renouncing sin, unscriptural teaching and accepting Christ as the way of truth and the life.

U.S.O. DAY OBSERVED

Open House Yesterday at Service Men's Centre in Prince Rupert.

Mayor H. M. Daggett, service officers and citizens generally accepted the invitation of the United Services Organization yesterday afternoon to attend "Open House" at the Service Men's Club in the social parlors of First United Church. Several hundred persons called during the afternoon to view the good work that is being carried on for the entertainment and diversion of the men and women of the services here, to inspect the premises and enjoy hospitality and refreshments. They were received by the director, Frank Finnerty, and his assistant, Miss Eva Lapierre, who found time, either personally or with the assistance of the service men and women on hand, to show everyone about the snack bar, stage, library, writing rooms, and music room being among the points of interest in the compact and well-fitted establishment.

Mr. Finnerty told how an average of 10,000 service men and women visited the place each month, finding happy and profitable diversion for their leisure time in the club which has been in operation now for about 18 months. He revealed that no less than 14,000 sheets of writing paper and 7,000 envelopes were used in a month. A new innovation was the issuance of popular novels in miniature form. A comprehensive library of musical records had been established. Movie shows, dances, radio quiz contests were among other forms of entertainment which were held regularly much to the enjoyment of all. The director acknowledged the assistance which he was given by local citizens and by men of the United States Army and women of the Canadian Women's Army Corps and Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The "Open House" was timed for the third anniversary of the establishment of the United Services Organization.

SPORTS

Of the 16 cricketers of Australia's last Test team, while toured England in 1938, 13 joined the forces, one was rejected for the Australian Imperial Force, and the remaining two are on essential work. Four of the 13 who joined the forces have been honorably discharged for health reasons or transfer to essential work. They are Don Bradman, L. O'B. Fleetwood-Smith, S. G. Barnes and J. H. Fingleton. Flying Officer C. V. Walker of South Australia, was reported missing from air operations over Germany last December, and later presumed to have lost his life. Others who joined the Air Force were M. G. Waite, W. A. Brown and E. L. McCormick. Those who went into the Army were Ben Barnett (now a prisoner in Japanese hands), Stan McCabe, Lindsay Hassett, E. S. White and Frank Ward. Jack Badcock was turned down for the A.I.F. and Bill O'Reilly and Arthur Chipperfield are on essential work.

CHILDREN DO NOT OFTEN SEE FATHER

Mrs. Guy Simonds Straightens Things Out When They See Montgomery and Canadian General Together on Screen.

By Frank Hinds,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 7 (C) — The Simonds youngsters find it difficult to distinguish between their dad, Maj. Gen. Guy Simonds, commander of a Canadian division overseas, and Sir Bernard Montgomery, the famous British general, when either of the two military leaders appear on the newsreel screen.

Ruth, ten, and Charles, nine, have seen their father only during one 10-day visit in August 1942, since they have been old enough to remember what he looks like, so that the confusion is only natural. They pipe "the daddy" when either of the two military leaders appears on the screen.

Mrs. Simonds, the former Katherine Taylor of Winnipeg, has no post-war plans but, like every soldier's wife, she would like to "settle down and be normal and have some proper home life again."

Not a career woman from her own statement, Mrs. Simonds is nevertheless taking a prominent part in the activities of various service organizations. She is the official upholsterer for the Winnipeg Salvage Corps and does hospital mending for the officers' wives auxiliary.

LETTERS MEAN MUCH TO THEM

Two or three times a week she takes time off from these activities and the full-time job of raising her own two children to write to the general who is just as anxious to get mail as any private under his command. Like lots of privates, too, he is not so good at answering his mail and Mrs. Simonds considers herself lucky if she hears from her busy husband once a month.

Mrs. Simonds wears a pretty gold and red emerald pin, a recent gift from the general, on the front of her tailored dresses these days. The pin, complete with gold maple leaf, is a miniature replica of the famous Red Patch which distinguishes the Canadian 1st Division in the Mediterranean theatre, formerly commanded by her husband.

The general's wife does her daily shopping on the bicycle which has followed her on her tours from one to the other of the 17 different houses she has lived in since her marriage to young Lieut. Simonds. Some of these houses were in England where she spent three years before the war while her husband was training for the role he is playing today.

Shopping is somewhat simplified since the head of the family has been away. A picky eater, the general just won't eat his vegetables and young Charles tries to follow that example when he can get away with it on the excuse that "daddy doesn't eat his spinach."

In addition to her regular letters, Mrs. Simonds sends her famous husband at least a parcel a month with sweaters, socks and gloves she always knits for him. He lost his entire kit on the way to Sicily and Mrs. Simonds has been knitting ever since. She encloses chocolate and tea in the parcels and once recently sent him a tin of sardines before she realized that was a perfect parallel to the proverbial gift of coal to Newcastle.

The general public helps her keep informed of the latest news about Gen. Simonds by writing and telephoning every time he appears in a new story or film. Total strangers send her clippings frequently.

Mrs. Simonds is one of three sisters who married into the army. Geraldine is the wife of Capt. Sid Stevens of Winnipeg, now stationed at Kingston, Ont., and Ruth is the wife of Capt. Fred Roost, a Swiss-born resident of Ottawa who went to Kiska Island in the Aleutians.

Mrs. Simonds attended Rupert's Land College, Winnipeg, Bishop Strachan School, Toronto. Her daughter is now at Rupert's Land and Charles attends St. John's College School, Winnipeg.

Labor Situation In Prince Rupert

A general check-up of the labor situation in Prince Rupert was conducted by Alex McAuslane, vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Canada, who left last week on his return to Vancouver after a week's visit here. One of the matters he was particularly interested in, said Mr. McAuslane, was curtailment of employment. It seemed peculiar that there should be lay-offs in the war industries at the same time that the government was advocating an intensification in the war effort.

There is a desire on the part of his union, said Mr. McAuslane, to tighten up existing agreements particularly in the matter of collective bargaining. There is no closed shop here but a showing of cards at the dry dock to ascertain who were members and who were not was held.

The longshoremen's and fish packers' unions received attention from Mr. McAuslane while here. He is interested in consolidation of all C.C.L. organizations here.

MRS. GEORGE DAWES DIES

Well Known Local Woman Passed Away Early Yesterday Morning at Her Home.

Mrs. Sarah Beatrice Dawes, wife of George J. Dawes and an esteemed resident of Prince Rupert for some eighteen years, passed away peacefully in her sleep at her home on Fourth Ave. East at 5 o'clock yesterday morning following a five week illness from which it had been realized for several days at least that there was little chance of recovery. News of her passing, however, will come as a shock to many friends and will be received with general regret.

Mrs. Dawes was born in London, England, fifty-three years ago. She was married to Mr. Dawes in 1913 in the Old Country and came with him to Canada. After a short time in Toronto, they took up residence in Winnipeg where Mr. Dawes was with the T. Eaton Co. On the outbreak of the First Great War, Mr. Dawes was called back to the Navy, in which he had previously served for some ten years, and Mrs. Dawes went to Halifax. She suffered tragically in the great explosion there on December 6, 1917, losing her first child—an eighteen month old boy—and being herself severely injured in the destruction of her home. After the war Mr. and Mrs. Dawes returned to Winnipeg, Mr. Dawes being an instructor with the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve. In 1926 they came to Prince Rupert and had made their home here since that time.

Deceased, besides the widower, is survived by a daughter, Miss Nancy Dawes, on the staff of Essondale Mental Hospital, and son, Edward Dawes, attending High School in North Vancouver, both of whom will be arriving this evening from the south. There is one brother, Martin Grosvenor in Detroit, and two sisters—Mrs. Emily Sayle in Winnipeg and Mrs. Annie Connew in Hertfordshire, England.

Mrs. Dawes was an active worker for the Anglican Church and was also prominent in the Order of the Eastern Star. She was also a member of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and was identified with the nursing section of A.R.P.

Ambulance Tag Response Good

Sum of $440 Realized as Result of Street Canvass Saturday.

The Prince Rupert Ambulance Fund is over $400 nearer its goal as a result of the work of a committee of public spirited ladies who directed a tag day on its behalf on Saturday and to a crowd of energetic youngsters who spent the day on the streets selling tags. Net proceeds were calculated this morning were $440.

In charge of the enterprise to raise funds for the badly needed ambulance were Mrs. Alex. McKenzie, chairman of the Ladies' Ambulance Tag Day, Mrs. J. R. Eifer, Mrs. E. V. Whiting, Mrs. Pinniger and Mrs. Doull. Committee headquarters were in the Canadian Legion hall.

The thirty-six boys and girls who devoted their school-free Saturday to the selling of tags were: Helen Hibbart, Kathleen

To the Health Seeker

Perhaps, a "Belief" exists that "everything has been tried and failed"? Has "faith" subsided to the low ebb of accepting as a fact, the belief that a disease is incurable? Meanwhile, a vague misgiving persists that: Somehow, somewhere there must be an answer to incurability.

Chiropactically, the greatest handicap to health restoration is: So many cherish a traditional faith or belief to the bitter end. Meantime, a simple disease descends into an indefinite and complicated realm of incurABILITY. Thus faith and belief hinders, and denies, the natural self-CURABILITY within themselves the rightful duty to remedy (meaning: to cure again).

Such statements, of disease, special or general are verified by an exhaustive survey. Over 93,000 persons turned, when disillusioned and disappointed, to Chiropactic (Nature) as a LAST resort.

Some 410 qualified Chiropactors raised no question as to the merits of faith, belief or, the competency of any remedy, to cure again. Nature had preordained that everything was incorporated within. Nature's OWN Remedy substituted incurABILITY for cure or marked improvement in 79,000 cases; or, 85% of tiresome, intangible disease names.

A critical reader may question this astonishing record. For the needy there are two basic considerations: The belief that a condition is obstinately incurable as, against the Chiropactic record with thousands of varied, incurable cases. Both cannot be right.

When faith and belief fails to move mountains, Mahomet must go to the mountain. Possibly, the earnest Health Seeker discerns, by the mountainous record, that everything has not been tried; that, high odds yet remain in his favor.

As Mahomet would resolve: If Chiropactic eventually, why not... NOW!
