Siege of Henan Is Broken; Nip By-passers Are All Hurlled Back

Eds Near Entrance of Baltic

WILNO, July 7 (CP)—The Russians are reported by Berlin to be within 10 miles of the Baltic gateway of Wilno. The Russians themselves need important advances along the central front now being 350 miles north from captured Kowell in southern Poland.

Unconfirmed German reports said there was fighting in the streets of Wilno. It was said that Germans in the big railway centre in northern neck of prewar Poland were threatened with some kind of debacle they had in the White Russian city of Minsk.

It might be the fall of Wilno declared to be imminent as the Nazis were evacuating the city.

CHUNGKING, July 7 (CP)—The Chinese have made a smashing come-back in Hunan Province, breaking the siege of Hengyang and driving back a distance of 25 miles the main body of Japanese troops which bi-passed the vital railway junction, a Chinese spokesman said today. The comeback has eliminated the Japanese threat to cup China in two.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS—Prospects For Lasting Peace Never Greater Says Maitland

"Prospects for a lasting peace after this war are far, far better than they were after the last war," declared Attorney General R. L. Maitland in speaking before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at luncheon on Thursday. He based this opinion on the conviction that the Allied nations would stand solidly together after the fighting was over in international understanding and co-operation to insure that that peace was maintained and supported by the machinery and power to enforce it.

New Island Is Occupied By Americans

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, July 7 (CP)—United States forces have occupied Manim Island off American-invaded Noemfoor Island. The occupation, taking place on July 5 without opposition, provides a flank position for the one remaining Japanese-held airdrome on Noemfoor, the present objective of American forces on that island. Two east Noemfoor airdromes are now in United States hands.

LOOKING FOR BRIGHT SIDE

Seek Happiness and one Will Find It, Gyro Club is Told. To benefit to be derived from looking for the brighter side of life even on the grimmest of days was stressed by Lieut. Sam Bohlem of Orville, Ohio, in a happy luncheon talk before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club on Wednesday. "If you just stop to think it over, you will find there was something nice and some fun even in what you might have thought your roughest and toughest day," he said.

The international understanding and co-operation to insure lasting peace Mr. Maitland saw as something far more important than the consideration of mere materialistic things of life. There would be no need to worry about freedom or security.

Allied Forces Reported Within Caen

CASSINO—THE GHOST TOWN OF ITALY—The embattled town of Cassino, for which Nazi and Allied armies fought for months, is a ghost city. This view, at the entrance to Cassino from Route 6, shows that plainly. Structures are so destroyed they are not identifiable. The broken walls are a mute testimony to the four-month siege it withstood.

Germans Are Strongly Entrenched Still, One Staff Officer States

Reports Appear to Differ Somewhat — Patrol Said to Have Reached Dock Area Without Meeting any Nazis

SHAEF, July 7 (CP)—An allied patrol which pierced German defences west of Caen reached the dock area without finding any Germans, it was reported today. Because of heavy bombing, it was believed the Germans might merely be holding parts of the town as strong points. A British broadcasting company front line reporter said that the Americans have captured and pushed beyond La Haye du Puits. An Allied communiqué said that the enemy's supply system was again the principal target for Allied air forces.

At Carpiquet where the Canadians hold the town and port of the airport there has been no fighting in 48 hours. Following a switch of Nazi generals, new and heavier blows are expected to be made by the enemy on the Normandy front. Last night it was reported that the battle between Germans and Americans was still swinging back and forward before besieged Le Haye du Puits while bitter combat of British and Canadians with the Germans outside of strategic Caen continued without let-up.

Written for the Canadian Press By SQN. LDR. ROBERT FRANCIS, R.C.A.F. AT A TACTICAL AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION, July 7 (CP)—German prisoners taken on the first day of the Allied invasion of Normandy would not believe the size of the air force opposing them or the number of ships available to carry men and supplies across the English Channel, said FO. R. W. Doidge, R.C.A.F. Typhoon pilot from LaSalle, Ont. Doidge, who bailed out over the bridgehead when his fighter-bomber was hit returned to England on a tank-landing craft bearing German prisoners.

JAP LOSSES ARE HIGHER

PEARL HARBOR, July 7 (CP)—Sinking of five more Japanese ships and destruction of nine more planes in the Bonin Islands during the July 4 foray by American task forces is announced, bringing to forty-one the total of enemy ships downed by carrier planes and raising Japanese plane losses to 835 since June 10 when the fleet moved into the Marianas.

FISHING IS IMPROVING
Skeena and Naas River Runs Good—Price Question Hanging Fire

Gill net sockeye salmon fishing in this district has been showing a modest but continuous improvement for the past week in this fisheries district due to an increase in the salmon run and an improvement in the weather on the grounds. Reports for the first three days this week on the Naas and Skeena showed daily averages of 35, 45 and 30 fish per boat for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. A high wind on Wednesday brought down the day's catch.

Last week boats on the Naas averaged 150 fish for the week with the high boat bringing in 330. Skeena River boats averaged 125 fish per boat, and the high boat brought in 417 fish.

In the Smiths Inlet and Rivers Inlet areas the salmon have just begun to run in volume. Reports so far this week show catches of 35 and 45 fish per day at the two places respectively where previously they were as low as 20.

Settlement of sockeye prices still hangs fire but fishermen are said to be delivering to canneries on the understanding that they will be bought at no less than last year's scale. However, in this regard, no forecasts are being hazarded by either the fisheries office or cannermen. Word from Vancouver indicates that canner workers and operators whereby the workers will be confined to a nine hour day and receive certain wage increases, some of which will amount to $15 weekly.

Volunteers Wanted...

With the invasion of Nazi-held Europe now a fact, many believe this the psychological moment and that the government should realize it to bring in total conscription.

Pressure is being brought to bear on all sides. The Canadian Legion has practically demanded that total conscription be immediately enforced, have practically demanded that the NRMA soldiers, well trained as most of them are, be immediately drafted overseas.

Why, then, does the government delay? Does it not realize its first responsibility in this crucial hour is to our Canadian Army overseas and to ensure that reinforcements be provided immediately the need arises?

One answer is that it is the Army overseas which is receiving consideration in this matter.

The boys overseas have expressed their opinion in this regard and have earnestly requested that the government withhold total conscription, as they themselves would prefer, as far as humanly possible, that their reinforcements be volunteers.

This attitude and reaction on the part of our overseas army can be easily understood and appreciated by all, especially by old soldiers and veterans of the last war who will tell you in no uncertain terms that a volunteer is worth a dozen conscripts.

An attempt is now being made and a campaign is now well under way to encourage every possible NRMA soldier to volunteer for active service, pointing out to them the fact that this is the expressed wish of our soldiers now in action. The response has been great and it is pleasing to note the personal satisfaction that comes over a soldier when he sews his "GS" badge on his left sleeve.

If and when voluntary enlistments fail to provide the required number of overseas reinforcements, total conscription will no doubt be enforced, and the remaining, if any, NRMA soldiers, will then be drafted overseas, whether they like it or not.

Rationing Freedom...

In theory, the freedom of the individual in a democracy in normal times is legally limited only at the point where its exercise would interfere with or impede the freedom of another. In wartime, freedom, like many other things, must be rationed, and at times it is in very short supply.

Practically, even in normal times, freedom is rationed more effectively by circumstances than by law. Anyone will be free to buy a ticket for a luxury cruise around the world when travelling again becomes attractive but many will still have to stay at home or put up with a less expensive vacation trip. Circumstances of purchasers will still make feasible the production of motor cars for a wide range of incomes, although anyone will be free to buy sixteen-cylinder limousines.

A possible hypothesis to account for the state of mind of some of those who desire a postwar continuance of wartime controls is that, in some respects, these controls have brought about economic equality. A wage-earner in a war industry has a better chance of getting permission to buy a new tire, if he needs his car to get to his work, than a millionaire who lives near a street-car line. The romantic theme of the Cinderella story seems to have come true.

The great difficulty of carrying wartime rationing of freedom into times of peace is that it would involve a moral judgment on the part of a government official. During the war, there is a standard which the oil controller, the rubber controller and others of our temporary dictators can apply or misapply in determining the relative merits of two citizens, namely which one of them is the more important to the winning of the war. But the peacetime standard would have to be which is the more useful citizen. Can civil servants be found whose judgment will be unanimously accepted in applying this broader standard? Only an angel or a fairy godmother can be trusted to judge between Cinderella and her wicked step-sisters, and neither the Civil Service Commission nor the patronage system provide for supernatural appointments.

LETTERBOX

COMMITTEE HELPLESS

Editor, Daily News:
The points raised in a recent letter from Mr. Collart regarding the proposed "Pioneers' Home" held a great deal of merit but the figures quoted therein were based, unfortunately, on a partial knowledge of the facts and consequently tended to be misleading.

In order to give the facts the widest possible publicity we would ask you to publish this reply in your columns.

In 1943 there were nine inmates in the "Eventide Homes," of whom four were old age pensioners. The municipality is charged for each of its residents in the Kamloops Home on a per capita cost basis. This charge may now be in excess of the $39 per month quoted by Mr. Collart. However, to use his figures, our 1943 gross costs would have been $4212 (9 inmates at $39 per month). Against this we would have been credited with $1440 (a old age pensioners at $160 per annum) and, to carry out Mr. Collart's excellent suggestion of providing each pensioner with $10 per month spending money, we would have expended a further $1080. The net cost to the City in 1943 on this basis would have been $3,852 compared with the actual cost of operations in 1943 of $3,112.01. In fairness, it must be stated that the latter figure does not include any charge for lighting as the Dyer Block has only one meter and it is impossible to apportion the electricity used but it will be seen that even at $20 per month, it was cheaper for the city to operate its own home in 1943 than it would have been to transfer the inmates to Kamloops. The city would also be responsible for transportation costs to that city for the occupants and for escorts or attendants where necessary. Should the population of the Home increase, it is quite possible that the per capita expenditure would be reduced through the savings that would accrue from quantity buying.

This letter, Mr. Editor, has dealt only with the financial aspects of the case but it must be remembered there is an added advantage to our pioneers when they are able to remain among familiar surroundings and within calling distance of their old friends and acquaintances.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
(By Dorothy Garbutt)

My spies—Caspar and Desmond—have been on the job again and they tell me that Lieutenant Margery Langley, who was commanding officer of the CWAC's here for a short while around Easter time, is now in England. Another Prince Rupert arrival there is Captain Rapson who was padre here for a short while. I think, if I recall correctly, he was the padre who tied the fatal knot for Sergeant and Mrs. Ralph Grieves at the CWAC barracks in March. They also tell me that the local postal corps boys should be interested in the fact that Lieutenant O'Shaughnessy, who was with them at Work Point, is also overseas. Now that's a right smart mess o' news, isn't it?

The Service Wives' Club met Thursday afternoon in the ladies' lounge at the "Y." There was a large attendance with three new members and for one horrid moment it looked as though there would not be enough cake to go around, especially when Chester demanded a piece for answering 'phone calls while I was in with the ladies. Mrs. Sargeant won the raffle this week which was donated by Mrs. Pavey. The refreshments were served by Mrs. Baird and Mrs. Gomez.

The player piano isn't so popular as we expected it to be. Trouble is you can't put a nickel in it and let it do the work for you. You actually have to press the pedals—and hard too—and that's work.

Don Forward is off on his holidays. He has gone down to Vancouver to be with his wife and three young sons. Scotty Malcolm has returned from the east and the first sight of his young daughter.

By the way, I forgot to ask the service wives about the snaps we took on the picnic. I could do with the negatives to finish before I leave at the end of the month. I want something that looks like British Columbia in my collection.

Allan Kergin arrived in the city on last night's train from his medical studies at Toronto to pay a brief visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Kergin.

STUDIES IN SLEEP NEAR FRONT LINE IN ITALY—When tanks of a company that was to take part in a new offensive and strike towards high country in enemy territory in Italy bogged down, the men simply took advantage of the delay by resting. Here we see a study in sleep as the G.I.'s strike grotesque angles. Some sought fox-holes for their nap, others just stretched out and snoozed.

TERRACE

Mrs. Maxstead and child of Toronto are visiting at the home in Terrace of Mrs. Maxstead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dover.

Set and Mrs. Lloyd Johnstone and their child are spending furlough at the home of Mrs. Johnstone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Kenney.

Mrs. Holmes and her sister, Sophia MacLaren, are holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. MacLaren, their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank of Prince Rupert are spending a few days in Terrace renewing old acquaintances.

Brief showers have freshened crops but conditions are too dry and indications are that another dry spell is beginning.

Strawberries were off to a good start but the price control people have placed a ceiling on the berries which effectually stops retail sales.

Fuel prices in Terrace seem to be mixed up. Nobody knows whether firewood is to be six dollars or anything up to twelve. At the former figure the effect is likely to be another fuel shortage alarm, same as was experienced last winter.

SOO-SUD NOTES

A "flying ambulance" service will be instituted in northern Ontario by the Forestry Department, Dr. R. P. Vivian, health minister said in the Sault. The service is badly needed among isolated bush men and prospectors.

A reception party which included Mayor W. J. McMeek and other civic dignitaries greeted Premier and Mrs. George A. Drew, who visited the Sault recently.

From 16 primary schools in the Sault 4,750 children poured forth to begin their summer holidays last week.

When you have some important information about the forces, think twice before mentioning it, especially in public places. Then talk about something else.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

Increases This September Are Being Demanded—Government Grants Higher

VANCOUVER, July 7 — The British Columbia Teachers' Federation has urged teachers to demand higher salaries for their services commencing next September.

These figures represent the minimum on a salary schedule adopted by the last annual general meeting of the Federation as a basis of negotiation between teachers and school boards.

The Federation points out that increased government grants for education beginning in September will provide school boards with 13 1/2% more money this year to spend on teachers' salaries.

Teachers changing positions have been asked to accept not less than the scale salary corresponding to their experience and type of certificate; and local associations of teachers in districts where the present salary schedule is lower than the one adopted have been advised to enter into negotiations with their school boards for increases.

STOCK MART IS STRONGER

Heaviest Business Since War Started Is Reaction to Impending Victory

TORONTO, July 7.—The half-year now ended has brought the Toronto Stock Exchange its heaviest business since the war started. Buoyancy in prices and trading volume have roughly coincided with the rise of confidence that victory would, soon or late, rest on Allied arms.

Share turnover on the Toronto Exchange for the last six months (last week of June estimated) totalled about 94,500,000 shares compared with 50,820,000 for the first six months of 1943 and 19,090,000 for the same period of 1942.

Currency, prices are setting new highs, not only for 1944, but in the case of some groups, for several years. The gold share group recently touched high since January, 1941, the industrial stocks hit high since January, 1940, and the base metal shares since October, 1943.

Launching of the invasion of Normandy on June 6 started a more active scramble for stocks. After a few days of waiting to see how the venture would progress, buyers bid vigorously for the gold and base metal issues and, on a smaller scale for industrial stocks. This buying rush brought the exchange several sessions of more than a million shares in the last 10 days. Prior to the invasion there had been only six sessions this year having more than a million shares, only three in 1943 and none previously since April, 1940.

MONEY SUPPLY GROWS

Along with the stimulating influence of victory sentiment, trading on the exchange has recently been fostered, by the financial district believes, by the growing flood of money in circulation. Heavy purchases of Victory bonds and the call for income tax payments have imposed only temporary checks on the rise of the money supply brought about by growth of payrolls in war industries. Another factor is said to be the conviction that inflation will be an aftermath of war and that for the present stocks and commodities are preferable to cash.

The recent rush into the market has boomed some of the new stocks classed as prospects. A sizeable list of companies that, a year ago, were wondering where development funds were coming from, are now adequately financed for mining campaigns as soon as manpower is available.

The half-dozen townships lying immediately east of Noranda in Quebec and the Yellowknife district of the Northwest Territories have been especially favored and the prices of many issues representing these fields have more than doubled this year.

Strong industrial groups include steels, utilities, foods, senior oils and liquors and in the base metals strength has been general though the shares of companies controlling gold properties have made the widest gains.

and closer co-operation among parents, teachers, industry, school boards and government in planning for the welfare of children through education. "All these improvements depend fundamentally upon the quality of the teaching personnel," the statement continues "and good teachers can only be secured and kept in the schools if adequate salaries are paid."

"The present shortage of teachers is due primarily to intolerably low salaries that have been offered in the past," the Federation insists, "and although teachers are now frozen in the profession it would be a very shortsighted policy for the public to conclude that in consequence salaries do not have to be increased. Teachers are mere-

By 1919 Imperial Oil geologists had narrowed down this Northern quest to an area along the Mackenzie River near the tip-top of Canada's map. In 1920, near Fort Norman, the drill struck oil!

As the North opened up, a small refinery was built to serve the pioneer airplanes, mines and river craft.

Then came Pearl Harbor! Shipping on the Pacific seacoast was menaced. Could another supply of oil for coastal defence, for the protection of Alaska and for attack through the Aleutians be developed? Imperial Oil was asked by the U.S. army to get the answer to that vital question.

Thus Canol developed; and while Imperial geologists and drillers sought and found more oil, the enormous program of waterway, road and air transport, of pipe line and refinery construction, went on apace.

Today the Canol project is completed. A supply of oil for military needs has been secured; there is hope for further discovery, and the territory is open to all oil seekers who care to stake their knowledge and capital.

Imperial Oil has undertaken to risk large amounts of capital in an effort to "prove up" enough oil to warrant the enormous expenditure needed for a pipe line before the oil can be brought to commercial markets.

It is a job that calls for time, patience and perseverance, but it is no more fantastic than the Canol of today would have seemed to the men driving the first drilling bit down to Norman's oil sands twenty-four years ago.

Canol WAS BORN IN 1920 SINCE THE ICE AGE Canada's vast Northland lay wrapped in timeless slumber... Then, in 1914, a little group of prospectors approached the Arctic frontiers in search of petroleum.

LASTING PEACE

tonomy in Canada if the British Empire was strong in its belief in God and an international plan that would insure lasting peace in the years to come.

DESIRE BUT NO POWER

Every peace treaty in the last 300 years, asserted the attorney general, had been agreed upon the principle of lasting peace but had made no arrangement for authority or power to carry it out. It was like talking of handing a man with a loaded gun without having a loaded gun one's self.

"Our duty is not only to think of these things but for each of us to advocate measures that will insure that those sons of ours who died will have died a glorious death which contributed to the establishment of a lasting peace for all mankind. I ask you to think, talk and pray for international peace."

Government in the true spirit of democracy Mr. Maitland defined as "authority without despotism." Law should be nothing more or less than the governing of the conduct of one individual toward another. There was the choice today between despotism and freedom. The best definition he knew for democracy was freedom of choice for the individual. There could be no thriving and prospering of a nation if the bureaucratic idea which tended to develop during a war was permitted to continue, if individual liberty was to be rationed.

Freedom of the individual had made the Empire and Canada great, declared Mr. Maitland. He alluded to the importance of individual initiative toward accomplishment and progress. Government, he agreed, should afford an opportunity for all to work but it was not government's duty to provide a haven for those who did not want to work.

"Take away individual incentive and you take away much that has made us great," the attorney general asserted. The good book said "the laborer is worthy of his hire." A man was entitled to expect reward for a job honestly and well done.

That was a feeling that could not be wiped out. There could be no truly great people whose lives were unduly interfered with by law or government.

NEW PRESIDENT WAS IN CHAIR

Yesterday's was the first Rotary luncheon at which Robert St. Clair, the new president for the ensuing year, occupied the chair. He outlined briefly his plans for the year, stating that he expected his committees to be active and hoped that he would have the full co-operation and support of all members.

Dr. L. W. Kergin and Alex MacKenzie were congratulated on the occasion of their birthdays.

Luncheon guests were Howard Morgan, Leslie Keele and L. H. Chapman of Vancouver.

BOILERMAKERS' BOXING SHOW—

Ray Smith of 'Frisco Takes Call Over Young Tom Burns

Cheered on by about 400 fans, 16 industrious cauliflower aspirants paired off to trifle with mayhem at the Boilermakers' boxing show in the staff house dining hall last night. The show started as usual with a trial try and worked up to the main event in which United States army man Ray Smith of San Francisco took a decision over Young Tommy Burns in six blood-trickling rounds.

It was a smart fight, except when the opponents paralyzed it with their numerous waiting Matida clinches. Referee Bill White seemed to grow tired of parting the boys and at times it looked as if he were content to let them hug it out.

Smith led the way in every round but the fourth. He used his left hand as a weapon, instead of a reconnoitering instrument, as was Burns' policy—and weakness—and more than once it cleared the way for a substantial follow-through with his right.

When Burns made offensive use of his left in the fourth round he turned the tables on Smith and created the most thrilling round of the evening.

Benny Windle lost the decision to the Canadian Army's Jerry Pittao in the semi-wind-up but he won the cheers of the house. Out-weighted and out-fought by the clean fighting young soldier, he nevertheless continued to bore in, not out of any lost cause bravado but out of a very evident desire to win.

Bill Porayko, the Boilermakers' pride and joy, pulled a repeat technical knockout this time on U.S. Army's Les Geving in the second of two scheduled rounds. Geving, whose last fight was in Ketchikan on Tuesday, evidently felt that, if he were going to take the bout he must do it in the first and tried hard to chop Porayko down. Porayko, however, had the stamina to take the punishment and dish it out in the second.

In the first adult preliminary Clarke of the Navy took a T.K.O. over Mason of the U.S. Army near the last of four scheduled rounds.

Earney Des Laurier of the Canadian Army was awarded a not too popular decision over Chester Morris, United States Army, in a three round preliminary, and Art Lamereaux the Navy and W. Wallace of the U.S. Army fought to a draw.

Although it was only his first bout, Able Seaman Bill Clarke, of Sioux Lookout, Ontario, made an auspicious debut in the mitt game when he knocked out Johnny Mason of Camden, New Jersey, in a match on Paddy Stanton's thrilling Boilermakers' boxing show last night.

Able Seaman Clark took the initiative from the beginning and kept pouring on the leather until Mason hit the canvas twice in the fourth round, the second time for the count.

Another of the Navy boxers trained by Gordie Sullivan, Able Seaman Art Lamereaux, of Winnipeg, fought to a draw with Bill Wallace, of Lexington, Kentucky.

At the conclusion of the card, Promoter Stanton promised the large crowd of fight fans another show in the near future.

FOOTBALL POSTPONED

A league football game, scheduled to have been played this evening, is postponed until next Tuesday in view of the Aeropolis Hill grounds being in use for an American baseball game.

Acara, winner of the historic King's Plate at Toronto Woodbine track this spring, was the odds-on favorite to win the $5,000 added Canadian Derby at Polo Park in Winnipeg last Saturday but he did not like the slow track and finished third. Acara is owned by Harry C. Hatch of Agincourt, Ontario, who was seeking his fourth triumph in the western classic. The Ontario breeder, who saw his thoroughbreds romp home in front in the 1936 derby when Sweepden carried the eastern colors, and again in 1937 with Goldlure and 1941 with Budpath, was opposed by several top-ranking western stables. Ompala, another Hatch horse, finished fourth.

The west's major hope in the mile and a quarter event, Gower Mon of the Whittier Park Stock Farm, St. Boniface, was the winner. Gower Mon, sent by R. J. Speers to California in preparation for the plate, suffered shipping fever en route to Toronto and was re-shipped to Winnipeg where his work-outs were impressive. Dr. L. H. Appleby's Cum Laude, after racing in eastern Canada, was third. The Vancouver brown colt was fifth in the plate at Toronto.

BOURBON PRINCESS

Princess Rene de Bourbon
Parme Sells Dresses in Manhattan While Her Husband and Two Oldest Sons
Fight For Allies

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Granddaughter of a Danish king, wife of a Bourbon prince, Refugee from Nazi Europe. And now a saleswoman in one of New York's smartest specialty shops.

That's the Princess Rene de Bourbon Parme, born Princess Margaret of Denmark, cousin of King Christian X and wife of a prince who stems from the dual line of a house that gave France and Spain their Bourbon kings.

Six days a week you will find her selling dresses in the custom department of a New York shop. She dresses as most saleswomen do, in a starkly simple black crepe frock with one string of pearls, and her dark brown hair very simply waved. But if she helped you choose a dress, you would find less of the grand duchess manner than you meet from the saleswomen in many first-class shops, more friendliness and more punch in the smile.

The princess considers herself a very lucky woman. And she told why the other day as she took a few minutes' rest between customers for a smoke.

"Just to be here, free, to have a home, and to work—it's wonderful," she said. "Why do I work? Why, everybody must work. I had many friends and they offered to help me. I think it's very sweet and I never forget it. But I would never think of my friends that way."

LIVES WITH SON
When the day's work is done the princess walks a few blocks to the little apartment where she lives with her 16-year-old son, Andre, now in school in Lenox, Mass. All the rest of the family are at war. Her husband is a captain in the French Army, now fighting in Italy. Jacques, 22, is serving with the Norwegian Air Force in Canada; Anne, 20, is a member of the Rochambeau Unit of women ambulance drivers in Africa, and Michael, 18, is a paratrooper with the French Army. (The telegram that told of his special citation for courage goes to work with his mother in her bag, and is just as thumb-worn as yours would be).

Princess de Bourbon and her family left France four years ago after the Nazi invasion. Her husband went in one direction with the three younger children. The princess travelled in another direction with Jacques and the family bulldog, Spot, which she chose to take instead of two fur coats. They spent five days on the way from Paris to Bordeaux.

Eventually the family met in Lisbon and flew to New York, where Princess de Bourbon found a job in a hat shop and her husband got another in the perfume business.

"After that he smelled of perfume, the dog smelled of perfume," said the princess with a glint in her hazel eye. "But nobody cared. We found a little apartment, and moved in. Oh, we were so happy! At last we had a home. We each had a camp bed and a chair—and nobody was allowed to sit in the other one's chair.

Princess de Bourbon said she loved this continent and the bigness of everything. She would like to go to Paris after the war and would return for trips.

UNION JACK AS RENT

WINDSOR, England (AP)—The King revived an ancient ceremony by accepting from the Duke of Wellington a silken Union Jack as annual rent for Strathfieldsaye estate in Berkshire. The estate went to the Iron Duke on condition he pay a token rent of a Union Jack each year.

Princess de Bourbon said she loved this continent and the bigness of everything. She would like to go to Paris after the war and would return for trips.
