First Motor Trip Through
From Prince Rupert Over
Highway to Terrace Made

The first party to travel from Prince Rupert to Terrace over the Skeena River Highway, now nearing completion, on Tuesday accomplished a pioneering trip along the fine roadway which runs through picturesque mountain and lake country outside of Rupert and then over a wide, smooth stretch which skirts the river alongside the railway between Tyee and Terrace. The party, including B. A. McKelvie of Victoria, representing Southam Newspapers, and G. A. Hunter, editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News and Canadian Press representative, left the city at 8:30 a.m. One gap of about a mile near Harrison Lake between the Northern Construction Co. and Rayner Construction Co.'s contracts was hiked over, the rest of the trip being made by motor transport. Terrace was reached at 4 p.m., after leisurely going. The fifty-eight-mile drive from Tyee to Terrace, took a few minutes over two hours.

Hunter returned from Terrace by train Tuesday night. McKelvie, after spending a day or so at Terrace, will continue on into the central interior and Peace River district and thence back to Vancouver.

Expectation is that the road will be completed by July 20, the work being pushed with that end in view.

Both newspapermen were impressed greatly with the fine construction of the road and the great boon it will be in many ways to all points concerned, particularly after the war, when the restrictions which now reduce motor travel to a minimum will have been relaxed.

At a meeting Wednesday evening in the secretary's office, three charming and popular young ladies were enthusiastically entered as candidates for Prince Rupert's 1944 Carnival Queenship. Each candidate will have the able backing of sponsors and supporters and, with only three contestants, this year's contest is expected to be a close race.

T. N. Youngs, carnival chairman, accepted the applications and outlined the Queen Contest arrangements. He urged that all co-operate to make this year's affair not only a success financially but also to make it an enjoyable and memorable undertaking.

NO GLUT

Percent More Halibut Than Offered

Although other ports of the coast have reported being glutted with halibut landings during the past several days following the return of large numbers of vessels from their initial trips of the season, there has been no congestion of fish so far at Prince Rupert.

"So far this year," said a leading local fisheries official today, "there has not been one day at Prince Rupert when there was more than fifty percent of the fish offered that could have been handled."

Full ceiling prices have been paid for all fish so far brought here whether it has been shipped fresh or consigned to freezer.

Late Notes
Of Invasion

ALGIERS SAYS CAEN TAKEN
The Algiers radio said today that Allied forces have captured the city of Caen in Normandy, 19 miles inland from the coast, but no confirmation of this has come from either Allied or German headquarters. Latest official reports say that British and Canadian forces were combined in bitter attack in the outskirts of the strategically important city.

THIRTEEN DIVISIONS LAND
German reports say that the Allies have already landed 13 divisions in Normandy, and 70 to 80 more divisions are available for the invasion. Further German reports say that Allied landings have extended all the way from Calais to the lower coast of Brittany.

PLANES USE BEACHES
Allied planes are reported to be operating from portable landing strips laid on the beaches to facilitate air protection of land and sea operations. Royal Canadian Air Force pilots have sunk one German destroyer and damaged another in the Bay of Biscay. The destroyers were headed in a direction to attack channel shipping.

STILL ON SCHEDULE
Land operations are said to be generally on schedule. In some places they are ahead of schedule, and in others behind, but the whole front is still one of Allied domination. Fighting is still severe in the Canadian area.

In observance of the King's Birthday, troops of the Prince Rupert command staged one of the most impressive military parades ever witnessed on downtown streets, when, shortly before noon today they marched down Third Avenue following an inspection and address at the Court House square made by Brigadier W. C. Hyde, chief of the general staff, Pacific Command, in town especially for the occasion.

Many soldiers and C.W.A.G.'s changed the color of the square from green to khaki as they stood in smart formation during the inspection period. Lining the sides of McBride Street, motorized equipment waited, manned and ready to take part in the parade.

Mounting the base of the cenotaph, Brigadier Hyde summoned the soldiers closely about him at the close of the inspection.

"This is not a recruiting speech," he said. "Today we are joining thousands of other troops throughout the Commonwealth in doing homage to King George."

LONDON, June 8— Canadian naval vessels played a prominent part in the great invasion landings on the Normandy coast of France.

JAS. CURRIE
PASSES AWAY

James Currie, well known early resident of Prince Rupert, passed away at his home on Hays Cove Avenue early this morning at the age of 64 years.

A baker by trade, the late Mr. Currie operated a bakery in the city after his arrival here first in 1910. He moved to Nanaimo for a while and returned here. Illness forced his retirement a few years ago.

Mr. Currie was born in County Antrim, Ireland, and came to Prince Rupert directly on his arrival in Canada.

Surviving are the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Jean de Carlo, and Mrs. J. Addison, in the city, and a son, James Currie, of Premier.

SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 8 (Canadian Press)— A communique today announced that the first phase of invasion now has been accomplished. The first phase was described as "the securing of a foothold and the defeating of all local German reserves." The Allies are now entering the second phase—one of defeating German "tactical reserves." The third phase, which must be won before the Allied position is completely secure, is that of defeating German "strategic reserves."

Allied forces today menaced the base of Cherbourg Peninsula in a great and growing tank and infantry advance south of captured Bayeux against steadily increasing German reserves. At the tip of the Norman Peninsula, an enemy communique reported, opposing armies were fighting hand to hand in Ste. Mere-Englise, twenty miles south of the coveted port of Cherbourg. Allied troops, landed on the west coast, were but ten miles from slamming shut a pincers trap.

Ross Munro, Canadian Press correspondent, reported that the Canadians had breached the enemy's outer defences, had taken several hundred prisoners and were moving inland.

New air-borne landings today speeded the Allied drive across Normandy on a wide front.

Headquarters described the capture of Bayeux as important because it opened avenues for a new advance farther into France.

General Dwight Eisenhower, Allied commander-in-chief, sent up to a thousand Allied bombers to smash railroads, bridges and air fields within a 150-mile radius of the decisive battle.

In the House of Commons Prime Minister Winston Churchill warned against "over optimism" in the Battle of Europe and against "the idea that things are going to be settled in a rush."

Royal Air Force pilots, with rocket-firing aircraft, destroyed one German destroyer and damaged two others in the Bay of Biscay.

FIRST FORTIFIED
TOWN IS CAPTURED

The Allies last night announced the capture of the first French city the Nazis had fortified—the town of Bayeux, five miles inshore in the centre of the Normandy invasion coast.

The highway from Caen was cut by the Allies in generally heavy fighting against counter-attacking German reserves.

Caen was the scene of a German armored counter-attack which was hurled back by the Allies.

Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force said then that the Allies are "doing better than was expected."

No names were given of places where fighting had occurred. German broadcasts which reported new Allied attacks all the way from Pas-de-Calais to Nantes were ignored.

The Allies reported landing beaches cleared of the enemy and linked by flank extensions in some cases while reinforcements poured in by sea and air.

The heaviest fighting, apparently, centred around Caen and Bayeux.

General Eisenhower and Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, commander of Allied naval forces, cruised off invasion beaches and held conferences with operational commanders.

Allied control of bombing maintained bombing communications and other targets. The Germans reported night attacks on Lorient and Nantes.

One correspondent's dispatches indicated Canadians fighting in or near Caen.

VANCOUVER, June 8, (AP)— Twenty Doukhobors today were given an extension of time to appeal from their convictions for nudist demonstrations. The appeals are scheduled for September.

Ending Muskeg-Minded Isolation . . .

Prince Rupert's isolation, which has been a traditional local complaint, will be to a great degree removed with the opening of the Skeena River highway late next month, and it will be a good thing for our presently hemmer-in mental outlook.

We have long discussed the many material advantages which will accrue from the highway, a long dream suddenly coming true. Possibly we have not thought to appreciate the psychological tonic it is going to be to us all in removing the dependence, if we wish to reach the outside world, on trains and boats.

After the road is open and later when gas and motoring equipment returns to normal supply, we will be able to jump in our car, or go along with friends, for a holiday to fit in with any time at our disposal—a fishing trip of a few hours to the trout-prolific lakes in the picturesquely rugged mountain country a few miles away from town, a picnic outing, a little further on to a pretty stream rippling through the gravel into the Skeena River outside the muskeg belt, an easy day's return trip to Terrace which will then be really within our intimate orbit, a comfortable paunt, one day's going and one day coming to Smithers or elsewhere in the lush Bulkley Valley—all this in addition to opening the whole interior, the south coast and its metropolitan centres and the entire outside world to our ready access as we will.

Yes, the opening up of the highway, over which the editor of this paper was thrilled with a pioneering trip to Terrace this week, is going to be something a good deal more than a commercial boon to Prince Rupert. It is going to be a great benefit to our morale in removing our isolation complex and muskeg-mindedness.

Dealing With the Press . . .

In these days when newspapers and newspapermen know so much more than they print and have become so accustomed to guarding, in the public interest, secrets of the utmost importance, those really experienced in handling affairs have accepted the policy of entrusting the people of the press with their confidence and relying upon their responsibility and integrity not to reveal which it might be undesirable for any reason to disclose. This is now the accepted practice for experience has proven that the better way to gain the co-operation and respect of the press is to trust it rather than insult it by attempting to keep things from it as they would from irresponsible children.

Still there are some people who have yet to appreciate the fact that the press itself, through its constant contact with the public of which it has become the accepted representative, is better able to determine what is and what is not in the public interest. Unpleasantness is usually made more unpleasant by endeavours to stifle it.

A clean breast of facts is usually less damaging than a crop of rumors or buzz of gossip. Curiosity satisfied is no longer dangerous. Curiosity aroused is often very troublesome.

NAVY WON SOFTBALL

Hastily recruited from the spectators' ranks with the game in progress, two sailors replaced a pair of injured regular players of the Navy team and the club went on to hand the league-leading Ack-Acks their first defeat of the season 9 to 6 last night in a softball tilt at Gyro Park.

The Army had previously won three successive games in the Service Softball League, while the triumph was Navy's third in four fixtures.

When third baseman Horner and catcher Pearce were forced to retire with injured fingers early in the game, Kobianski, an outfielder, came in to catch. Makarsky, second baseman, moved to third and Haverstock, another outfielder, took up a position at the keystone sack. The two replacements, Petty Officer Alexander and Writer Beaulieu, went into the outfield where they played flawless ball. Beaulieu did especially well, making two hard catches.

Trailing by a score of 6 to 3 in the sixth inning, Navy rallied for six runs to go three tallies ahead. Writer Cross retired the opposing batters with little trouble in the last frame to complete a good job of pitching.

Score by innings:
Ack-Acks 1 0 4 0 1 0 0—6 6 2
Navy 1 0 1 0 1 6 x—9 8 2
Sutton, Shorteno and Magnow, Cross and Pearce, Kobianski.

A five-run rally in the last inning just fell short as Signals lost to arbor Squad, 14 to 13, in a later league game. The winners had two big innings, the fourth and fifth, scoring five counters in each frame.

Score by innings:

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By Dorothy Garbutt)

The regular Thursday night dance held at the Eleventh Avenue Camp has had to be postponed for one day until Friday. I hope all this shifting about hasn't interfered too badly with everyone's arrangements but things military are very apt to be changed at a moment's notice.

What did you think of Mrs. Koffend's timely hymn in the papers Tuesday, the one entitled "A Hymn to the Forces?" I thought it was most appropriate and must tell you the story behind it. One day last week Mrs. Koffend (and by the way her name begins with a 'K', not a 'C', my mistake) brought in this hymn for me to see. She said that her missionary society back home was having a big conference and, as she could not be with them, she had written this hymn to be sung at their service for she had also composed the music. I was much taken with it and typed some copies of it for her. When I heard the news about the invasion I could think of no better offering as a substitute for this column which, with its occasional lapses into levity, seemed out of place on such a solemn day. Mrs. Koffend, at less than a moment's notice, very kindly allowed me to use it and I do thank her most sincerely.

Mrs. L. W. Kergin brought us in a beautiful bouquet of deep red colored rhododendrons. They are on the office desk and very much admired. I remember one time in England going to Grim's Dyke, a very large estate, and seeing the rhododendrons in bloom. There must have been thousands of them. They vied with the azaleas in beauty. The house and grounds had originally belonged to W. S. Gilbert, librettist of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, but was now property of the National Trust. Here Gilbert had met his death by drowning a small lake on his estate had gone out to rescue a woman who was a guest house party in his home was not a young man and the excitement and into the cold water was much for him.

Mrs. William Bussey is leaving tomorrow night on a trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. R. Swanson returned to the city on Tuesday night's train from a brief visit to Terrace.

J. E. Ormheim, well known fur dealer, after having spent the winter in the city and district, is leaving tonight for Vancouver where he will spend the summer.

Mrs. G. B. B. Buffam and young son, Frank, arrived in the city yesterday from Victoria to pay a visit with Mrs. Buffam's mother, Mrs. R. J. D. Smith, Third Avenue.

School accounts for the month of May totalling $7,962.38 were passed for payment at the regular monthly meeting of the school board last night. The figure included the monthly payroll.

Frank Skinner inquired at the meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night as to whether Prince Rupert might be sharing in new ship building contracts being awarded to the Pacific Coast. No action was taken by the chamber in the matter.

The board of school trustees, at last night's meeting, received a sum of $24.64 from the Prince Rupert Labor Council being the proceeds of a collection taken at the recent May Day public meeting held in the auditorium of Booth Memorial School. The Labor Council asked that the money be used in purchasing sports equipment for the schools. An expression of appreciation will be made by the board to the Labor Council.

The board of school trustees has taken out from Parson, Brown Ltd., Mrs. J. R. Lacey, agent, an insurance policy for one year at premium of $66 to cover school pupils against injury to a total of $40,000 collectively or $20,000 in one case. The board, at its meeting last night, expressed itself as being interested in having the teachers also covered which they are not under the terms of the present contract.

Jack Deane, former chairman of the board of school trustees, had a letter before the board at its meeting last night in regard to the doctors' accounts for two pupils of Borden Street School who had met injury last year. Mr. Deane at that time having authorized the principal, S. A. Cheeseman, to call the doctor. Mr. Deane suggested that it was fitting for the board rather than Mr. Cheeseman presented the doctor bills to the parents for payment.

DRAMA IN RUSS FILM

The heroism of a Russian town as the Nazi armies drive across its forms the dramatic theme of "The North Star," stirring picture which opened at the Capitol Theatre today and will continue Friday and Saturday.

Revealing what the Nazi invasion was really like, this offering deals with the people of North Star village, near the Rumanian border, before and after the blitz.

A group of young people are started out on a walking tour to Kiev when the first wave of Stukas comes over, bombs them and goes on to wreak destruction in the village. The youngsters soon find themselves entrusted with the task of getting a load of arms to their guerrilla comrades, avoiding the German patrols and supply forces.

How they accomplish that task and the thrilling climax when the Russian forces sweep down on the invaders and avenge the torture of their wives and children, afford many memorable scenes, while a tender romance is woven into the plot.

Anne Baxter and a brilliant newcomer, Farley Granger, have the romantic leads in the picture, with Dana Andrews, Walter Huston, Walter Brennan, Erich von Stroheim, Jane Withers and Ann Harding in important featured roles.

which helped only briefly. But eating ALL-BRAN keeps me free of that. Now I'm regular as a clock — and I like ALL-BRAN a lot."
