STATEMENT ON LOSSES

LONDON, Jan. 12—The United States Eighth Air Force officially announced today that 64 planes—59 bombers and five fighters—were lost in the great air battle over Germany yesterday.

LONDON, Jan. 12—Large formations of big four-motored United States bombers, accompanied by strong forces of long range fighter planes thrust deeply into northwestern and central Germany yesterday for their greatest assault yet. They ran into unprecedented opposition and one of the biggest aerial battles of the war raged for hours. German sources claimed that 123 Allied planes were shot down. It was unofficially said here that sixty might have been lost. A few of the big daylight bombers got through to Berlin. The Nazis threw everything they had in the way of aircraft into the fight including Stuka dive bombers, rocket bombs and tag-along bombs.

Mosquito bombers, returning to the assault upon Germany after one night's lull in the Allied aerial offensive, had stabbed Berlin Monday night for the 104th bombing of the German capital, also bombing targets in the western Reich, the Air Ministry announced.

Remember Ludendorff . . .

General Ludendorff once said the presence of Canadians in the front line was sufficient evidence of an impending Allied offensive to warrant bringing up fresh reserves.

In his memoirs of the last war, the old General voiced a healthy respect for the offensive power of men whom he referred to as shock troops of the Allies.

Today, in Britain, a new generation of men from the Commonwealth's senior dominion are nearing the end of the rigorous offensive training which began when their post-Dunkirk defensive role fizzled out in Hitler's failure to pull off an invasion.

Wehrmacht men standing guard on Hitler's European "fortress," barring those who faced 1st Canadian Division when it steam-rolled through mountainous central Sicily, cracked the Etna line and shortened the campaign, have still to learn exactly what Ludendorff meant.

Canadian soldiers in Britain are among the war's veterans in assault training. They know assault landing boats as well as yachtsmen know their peacetime pleasure craft. And they know, too, that the technique in these practice assaults, as in the actual operation, is based on lessons learned in that bloody and bitter, largely-Canadian, Dieppe raid.

Canadians have covered hundreds of miles of British coastal waters in assault boats and then returned to land on rocky wind-swept strips of English or Scottish beach.

And today's assault planning exercises are not cake-walks or school boys' play. Realism is as necessary to soldiers on assault landing practice as stage effects to actors in a play.

Although the "enemy" may shoot high and off-range, his Bren gun bullets and two-inch mortar shells are real, and there's nothing faked about the T.N.T. charges which are detonated on the beach as the men land.

On a recent exercise involving a famous Canadian Highland unit, the boys had "the works" thrown at them—the whole bag of assault landing tricks.

Senior officers wanted them to have a taste of what it would be like to form the spearhead of an invasion—the much-touted role of the Canadians when Europe finally is invaded—to land and capture, then consolidate, a bridgehead, before following waves of infantry with armored and artillery support were landed and nourished through.

Each rifle company in turn made a landing, preceded by a night raid designed to worry the "enemy" and locate strongly-fortified positions.

All assaults were made with the support of the Royal Navy, and naval personnel and Royal Engineers formed the "enemy" side, preparing Bren gun and two-inch mortar positions, and laying charges of T.N.T. in the sandy beaches.

It's an old story to Canadians, after more than two years of hard knocks in the school of modern war. But when they engage in the next invasion of Europe, with British, American and probably other Allied troops, Canadians will know what to expect and what to do.

And perhaps, this time, the memoirs will be written by von Rundstedt.

CURLING IS UNDER WAY

Smithers Rink at Smithers Is Also in Action Now.

SMITHERS, Jan. 12.—Smithers Curlers took to the ice on Sunday "wi' besom and stane" and started the first bonspiel of the season with twelve mixed rinks of two ladies and two men. The ice which had just been built up by Percy Davidson, was in excellent shape and the games were much enjoyed.

The bonspiel has now progressed to the finals which will be played off this evening. In the first competition the Simpson rink defeated the Kenney rink in the semi-finals to meet the Triplett rink, which had won a bye, in the finals on Tuesday evening.

In the consolation competition the Arnold rink defeated the rink skipped by E. Hann to play off the finals with the Len Evans rink, making it a sort of "Home Oil vs Imperial Oil" contest.

Owing to the extreme mildness of the winter so far and the lack of any volunteers for contracting to build the ice the game is later than usual in getting under way this year but, if the weather remains steady throughout the winter, there will still be time to play off the various tournaments, these being contests for the Hanson Cup, the Imperial Oil Cup and the E. T. Kenney trophy.

The ladies' club has six rinks in their organization this year and they will start playing immediately for the Home Oil Cup.

The annual meeting of the club will be held this evening when election of officers will take place and the teams lined up for the winters play.

Many of the old players of last winter and past years are absent from Smithers this year and, while there are a number of new players coming in, it is not likely that there will be as many rinks this winter as there have been in other years.

Skating Rink Is In Action

The local skating rink also got into action last week, under the management of John Howe and it is being extensively patronized by the younger element and to some extent by the grown-ups. The prospects for amateur hockey in this outstanding hockey town for this year, however, do not seem very good.

Basketball Buzz

Five women's basketball teams are expected to participate in a playing schedule to be drawn up shortly. It is revealed by S. P. Woodside, president of the Area Basketball League, at a meeting of the league executive held in the Empress hall. Teams which have signified their willingness to take part are the Air Force Women's Division, Canadian Women's Army Corps, High School and two teams from the workers in the United States administration building. A meeting of the Women's basketball committee is to be held today to arrange a schedule of play. Co-operation from the men's league has been assured.

Serious attention is being given to the matter of payment to referees. Carlton Clay of the Y. M. C. A., is of the opinion that, since the local league is not a class "A" conference, referees should not be paid. This view supported by Lieut. B. Chambers and viewed favorably by others. It is thought that the choice of a referee should be a matter of decision for the competing teams.

The question of tardiness has been raised by Lieut. Glasebrook of Port Edward who holds that 15 minutes be allowed after the time the game is called for the players to appear. It has been decided that, if a team fails to arrive within that time, or does not explain the reason for the delay, it will be forced to default the game. The defaulting team may protest the decision to the executive committee.

mittee, whose judgment on the matter will be final.

It has been decided to leave the preparation of the second half of the winter's schedule to president Woodside who prepared the first half of it. There will be a series of exhibition games between the Yanks and the Port Edward All-Star teams. A vote of credit was extended to Captain McRae who arranged the exhibition game in the Navy Drill hall before Christmas and of which proceeds went toward the children's Christmas tree.

Attending a basketball meeting Monday night were President Sid Woodside, Secretary G. Webb, and representatives Capt. Tuttle, Port Edward, Lieut. Glasebrook, Port Edward, Captain Peek and Corporal Willoughby, of the Yanks, Flying Officer McIntyre, and Corporal Blore, R.C.A.F., Carl Clay, of Y.M.C.A., Gunner J. Sutton, Lieut. B. Chambers, and Corporal McMarchie, each representing an army unit, Petty Officer Brookman, Navy, and Lieut. W. V. Manson Reserves.

Sport Chat

Dart baseball, which Norion Youngs and Sam Currie have organized to take the place of some of the other forms of social entertainment now unavailable for civilians, is a game the appeal of which would be great even if it had to compete with bowling and the like. Its appeal lies in the fact that it allows group participation just like bowling and fan interest in the manner of baseball.

The equipment for the game is similar to that required for darts. The difference is that the board at which the darts are thrown is marked off similar to a baseball diamond and is four feet square. It is divided into areas each marked for a baseball play.

The darts are thrown underhand, from a distance of 20 feet, and, if they hit the target, which in beginners is said to be unusual, the thrower will have achieved anything from a foul ball to a home run, including fly-balls, base hits or balls.

The game is played by teams. In the east it is played with nine on a team but here it

To the Health Seeker Perhaps, a "Belief" exists that "everything has been tried and failed"? Has "faith" subsided to the low ebb of accepting as a fact, the belief that a disease is incurable? Meanwhile, a vague misgiving persists that: Somehow, somewhere there must be an answer to incurability. Chiropractically, the greatest handicap to health restoration is: So many cherish a traditional faith or belief to the bitter end. Meantime, a simple disease descends into an indefinite and complicated realm of incur-ABILITY. Thus faith and belief hinders, and denies, the natural self-CURABILITY within themselves the rightful duty to remedy (meaning: to cure again). Such statements, of disease, special or general are verified by an exhaustive survey. Over 93,000 persons turned, when disillusioned and disappointed, to Chiropractic (Nature) as a LAST resort. Some 410 qualified Chiropractors raised no question as to the merits of faith, belief or, the competency of any remedy, to cure again. Nature had preordained that everything was incorporated within. Nature's OWN Remedy substituted incur-ABILITY for cure or marked improvement in 79,000 cases; or, 85% of tiresome, intangible disease names. A critical reader may question this astonishing record. For the needy there are two basic considerations: The belief that a condition is obstinately incurable as, against the Chiropractic record with thousands of varied, incurable cases. Both cannot be right. When faith and belief fails to move mountains, Mahomet must go to the mountain. Possibly, the earnest Health Seeker discerns, by the mountainous record, that everything has not been tried; that, high odds yet remain in his favor. As Mahomet would resolve: If Chiropractic eventually, why not . . . NOW! J. L. CURRY, Chiropractor SMITH BLOCK PRINCE RUPERT

"QUALITY"
Not Only a Word,
But a Code

... Quality is no static thing; it has no unit of measure. Rather is it a decree of excellence.

... Judgment of the degree of excellence in any particular product must rest with the integrity of the judges.

... Such judgment was easier when things were made of "pure" substances—such as pure wool, pure silk, pure linen—or when an article was made from start to finish by hand.

... Proper judgment of products demands more knowledge and experience than ever before. Only a store that holds public confidence as its most precious trust can be counted upon to keep its standards of judgment unassailable.

... Quality is and will continue to be our code. We will endeavor to maintain in our goods a degree of excellence the word "Quality" connotes.

ACTIONFUL WAR FILM

"China" With Alan Ladd and Loretta Young, Coming to Capitol Theatre.

"China," an exciting picture of love and war, starring tough-guy Alan Ladd and lovely Loretta Young, is coming to the Capitol Theatre here for a three day showing this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Smashing impact and stark drama are said to feature the picture.

Set in Shanghai in the days just before the fateful December 7, 1941, the film introduces Ladd as an oil man who has no compunction on about selling to the Japanese. His pal is William Bendix. Miss Young is an American teacher in a Chinese university.

While the teacher and a group of Chinese students flee ahead of the advancing Japanese forces, Ladd and Bendix, with the only available truck, are trying to make their way to Shanghai to close a deal with the purchasing agents for the Nipponese invaders. The situation is one that is replete with dramatic incidents of which the most are said to have been made.

Exciting scenes in the picture show Japanese bombs crashing down on villages, seeing civilians and soldiers in battle, all of which have been reproduced under expert direction.

Hill Sixty Chapter Is Very Active

One of the largest attended meetings of the season was held by Hill 60 Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, at the home of Mrs. D. Orchard McLeod, Leeds Apts. Mrs. J. A. Frew, regent, presided. Nomination of officers for 1944 took place.

Financial assistance was given to the ex-service welfare association in England and a sum of money forwarded to cover cost of material used in making garments for use under Polish relief. Mrs. R. S. Greig, war convener, reported several articles of knitted apparel for armed forces and hand-sewn articles for bombed-out victims had been made by members and would be shipped in due course.

Fifty dollars donation to H.M. C.S. Prince Rupert, the I.O.D.E. newly adopted frigate, was reported at the meeting. This amount was given in the form of a Christmas gift, used for purchasing of gramophone records and guitar.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ford arrived in the city this morning from Vancouver. Mr. Ford is with the Canadian National Telegraphs and was formerly located here.

"Here are 8 Ways to help make your ELECTRIC WASHER last longer!"

Says REDDY KILOWATT

Under government restrictions, your Electric washer has become extremely valuable property, demanding the best care available. Electric washers help to improve health and conserve strength, time and money.

1. Immediately after washing—drain tub and rinse thoroughly. Remove agitator and also rinse.
2. Remove with soft cloth or sponge any soap curd or lint that may have remained. Hard water deposits may be removed with vinegar water on cloth.
3. Take particular care of rubber wringer rolls—wipe dry and release pressure on rolls when not in use. Make sure no grease is left on rolls.
4. Leave lid off tub until thoroughly dry, then protect washer from dirt and dust with an overall covering.
5. Never let connecting electric cord lie on floor. After using wipe dry, coil carefully on hooks provided. Tape any worn insulation temporarily until new cord is secured.
6. Follow manufacturer's lubricating instructions to prevent wear.
7. Avoid running washer longer than necessary—7 to 12 minutes is usually enough.
8. Do not overload washer. It increases Electric consumption, increases wear on clothes and decreases efficiency.
