When Prince Rupert people come down town Monday morning and find the Christmas atmosphere of the town enhanced by the appearance of evergreen foliage on Third Avenue electric light standards they will be mistaken if they think it is the handiwork of some of Santa Claus extra gnomes who had nothing better to do.

Actually, it will be the result of effort by a group of members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who intend to devote Sunday to installing the display of greenery in the central downtown district. Under the direction of Sam Currie, who was appointed chairman of a committee at last night's meeting, group of ten will sacrifice their languid Sabbath communion with bed and chesterfield and head off into the forest to harvest Christmas trees which will brighten the Almost every section of the country's armed forces is represented in the contingent and the five-year veterans of front line and United Kingdom service are happy to be back in time for Christmas. Several hundred of those on leave will spend thirty days at home before returning to the line in France or Italy.

With the army came large numbers of R.C.A.F. personnel who have completed operational tours and there are also a few men of the Royal Canadian Navy.

About four hundred British war brides of Canadian soldiers, many of them with young children, were in the movement

A number of Canadian war correspondents have also returned from the fighting fronts to spend Christmas with their families. These include Peter Stursberg of CBC.

Among the Canadian soldiers to return to the Dominion on leave are two recent Victoria Cross winners — Major David Currie, of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and Owen Sound, Ontario, and Major John Keefer Mahoney, of New Westminster, British Columbia.

Nazis Killed but Couldn't Break Leila Karayanni

By STEPHEN BARBER

Associated Press Writer

Greece is full of such stories. -but the fugitive merely would be sent back to prison.

Leila Karanyanni began her work immediately when the Axis occupation began. Her first coup was the carefully planned jailbreak of 500 British, New Zealand and Australian troops.

Mme. Karayanni and her famly operated as an expert team of jail breakers. They rented two to houses in Athens as transit camps for escapees. They built up a roster of friends who were willing to take in prisoners. They arranged for the supply of clothing and disguises.

The escapees were passed from village to village to prearranged N rendezvous. Sometimes they | would accompany fleeing Greeks | in fishing boats . They would skip from island to island through the Aegean until they reached safety or made contact with Royal Navy patrols.

The Italians who were masters of Athens at the time, arrested Mme. Karayanni in a lightning raid on her home in June, 1941. Along with her they took her youngest son. He managed to escape before they reached poiice headquarters. Two of her daughters were seized later for interrogation.

Finally, after two months during which she was kept in solitary confinement, Mme. Karayanni was liberated "for lack of evidence." She was arrested again in October and detained for seven months. Again in March, 1942, she was arrested and tried by court martial. But the informer who had betrayed her mysteriously disappeared. Again she was released.

By this time, the problem of aiding escaped prisoners was growing less. The rush was over. But Leila Karayanni was not satisfied. She made contact with the British liaison officers and agents who were beginning to infilrate Greece.

JUNIOR CHAMBER WILL SPONSOR YOUTH CLUB

Plans to establish a club for 'teen age boys along lines similar to those of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were initiated by that body at its meeting at Rein's Cafe last night. The matter was introduced by T. Norton Youngs and met with the approval of the meeting.

Many of our present high school boys will some day be in line for membership in this group and I think we should make a sustained effort to capture their interest," Mr. Youngs community."

Details of the arrangements have not yet been worked out, but will be defined and acted upon at the beginning of the

PROCEDURE OF BALLOT RECOUNT

Curiosity concerning the procedure of a vote re-count, made probable by the closeness of Thursday's aldermanic elections, was enlightened by City Clerk H. D. Thain who explained that portion of the Election Act as follows:

Any candidate seeking a recount must file an affidavit with a County Court judge stating his reasons for doubting the validity of the original count. This affidavit must be filed within five days after the first count of the

After considering the affidavit, the judge may order a recount if he feels such action justified. Since it would put the city to considerable expense, sound reasons are required before a recount is ordered.

TOU AND WE, of course, know of L the remarkable qualities of the nylon hosiery previously available, but hosiery is only one of nylon's possible textile uses.

Ever since C-I-L's nylon plant at Kingston opened in 1942, its total output has gone into such war uses as parachute cords and canopies, glider tow ropes and other essential war materials. Meanwhile, many peacetime uses other than hosiery have indicated themselves to us.

These every day uses have become apparent because of the unique characteristics of nylon yarn. There is, for instance, its high strength and resistance to abrasion or wear. It dries quickly and preserves its original form and dimension. This extraordinary and hitherto unobtainable feature is what we call "permanent setting". That is, yarn permits a fabric made from it to be set to shape by the application of heat. The fabric will retain this form under all normal wearing and laundering conditions. Just what this promises to the ladies may well be imagined.

a peculiar chemical quality of nylon

Again, because of its chemical nature, anything made from nylon is exceedingly unattractive to moths and highly resistant to mildew. The strength and elasticity of nylon enables it to be made into textile yarns of a fineness hitherto impracticable. This fine yarn will, in turn, after the war, make possible fabrics of previously unobtainable sheer-
