Family All Out in War

Woman Worker at Local Dry Dock Takes Back Seat to No One Mrs. A. F. Munn, who works in the shipyard here, takes a back seat to no one as far as participation in the war is concerned. Her husband, Flight Sergeant A. F. Munn, M.M., is now engaged in the motor transport section of a Royal Canadian Air Force station overseas.

This veteran from Pine Falls, Man., has a row of ribbons on his tunic, showing service in World War I and including the Military Medal. He served in the 37th Field Artillery Battalion from Winnipeg. In this war he has already seen over four years' service with the R.C.A.F. in Britain. His present station is a heavy conversion unit, where fliers are trained to use the bombers flown by the group's squadrons. His job is to supervise six fitters in keeping trucks and cars ready for the road. F-Sgt. Munn, his eyes twinkling, admits to 48. Between wars he was in the garage business in Winnipeg and then travelled in the United States. Recently he waived an opportunity to be repatriated. "I'd like to be in this thing at the finish and also I expect my son will be over soon," he said. The eldest son, Sgt. Arthur, has just been graduated as a pilot at Three Rivers, Que., while his son-in-law, F.O. D. Hutchinson, is a pilot-instructor in Britain. Other members of the family are a son, Charlie, who has just passed his 18th birthday, and two married daughters, Irma and Irene.

Mr. Auger died very suddenly on Friday evening in the hospital at Smithers. He was about 72 years of age. He was a pioneer of Northern British Columbia, having been located at Prince Rupert, Hazelton and Smithers in the tailoring business in the early days. He left Smithers some 20 years ago and went to Seattle where he was employed as head cutter in the House of Irving tailoring establishment for a number of years. Mr. Auger's two buildings were destroyed in the fire at Smithers on May 6 and Mr. and Mrs. Auger suffered considerable loss in this fire. Mr. Auger purchased the building known as the McGill Building at the corner of Third ave. and Main st. shortly after the fire and had it remodelled to suit his requirements and he had occupied it only a short time when he was taken ill and went to hospital. He failed to recover from his illness. Being an old timer he was very well known to many throughout the north who will be very sorry to hear of his passing. HOSPITAL FOR NADWES

Prince Rupert people will be glad to learn that they are apparently approaching success in their campaign to have an adequate hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis and venereal disease among natives established in the district. Letters published this week from Glad Hanson, M.P., indicate that the Royal Canadian Air Force hospital at nearby Miller Bay may be turned over to the Indian Branch for that purpose.

Medical health statistics leave no doubt that the Indian population has become a dangerous reservoir of infection from these two diseases. Blame for this can be traced to many sources, one of which has been a consistent lack of long term government planning for the welfare of a people whom a series of administrations has considered unable to cope with the complexities of civilized life.

The Miller Bay hospital is a new institution which fortunately never had to be used for the purpose. We are told that defence authorities in Ottawa are of the opinion that it will not be needed, for war casualties. It is completely equipped.

How badly is it needed among the Indian population?

In the Prince Rupert and Queen Charlotte Islands districts there is an estimated white population of 18,000 and an Indian population estimated at 3,300. During the year from June 15, 1943, to July 1, 1944, 127 persons who were known to have contracted venereal disease gave information as to the source of their infection. Of those named, 62 were natives. This means that one 5. From a known venereal disease source were from a population element which comprised only one-seventh of the total population.

Tuberculosis rates among natives are in the neighborhood of 700 per hundred thousand while among whites they are about 65 per one hundred thousand.

Serving the native population in this district are two hospitals—one at Port Simpson, and one at Bella Coola—each having 35 beds.

Those who are in a position to know believe that to repair the old Digby Island hospital would be a mistake. They point out that at most it could accommodate only about 20 patients, and that there is no accommodation for hospital staff. It would cost about $15,000 to put in shape.

It would seem the district would be fortunate if it could obtain the Miller Bay hospital for the use of natives.

SOUTH AFRICAN BUILDING DOWN

Construction Materials in Short Supply—Demobilization Plans Studied

(CAPE TOWN, July 25) — During the four months ending May 1944 building permits were issued in South Africa to the value of more than $165,000,000 ($172,000,000) representing a decrease of $20,000,000 ($30,000,000) compared with the previous four months.

Building Controller C. E. Charlson, warning the trade of the reduction of private projects, said the list of houses numbered 10,000. He referred to the shortage of shipments of glass, steel and other vital building commodities, while the cement supply is also short, equitable distribution is assured through central agencies.

Construction by the Finance method of 20 sub-economic houses costing 1150 ($75) has started in Kempton Park municipality. The originator of the method has been invited to England and the United States after travel permits.

The readjustment of industry to absorb not only returned soldiers but general workers and juveniles is being studied by the directors of demobilization in consultation with the South African Trades and Labor Council.

H. G. Lawrence, minister of welfare and demobilization, speaking recently at Simon's Town, said a survey is under way to find out who had had and who would need technical training and the probable number of openings in industry.

"If there are not sufficient jobs," he added, "the government will have to take the matter up with the minister of economic development. We must increase our national productivity by expanding our industries. At present we are trying to get back on track to see our economic development."

Labor Minister W. E. Molloy announced at the House meeting that he has drafted a bill for progressive maintenance of work in industry until maximum employment is achieved.

Admission has started a drive to see out dysentery by providing free immunization services to all suburban children since 1000 children have been vaccinated. The aim is to immunize eight per cent of children before school age when an additional "booster" dose should free the child from infection for life.

MORE LEAVES ARE SOUGHT

Conservative M. R. SAYS Five Years Without Too Long

By DONNELLS AMARON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

(LONDON, July 25) — A plea for more frequent home leave for servicemen overseas, with the observation it would result in fewer broken marriages, was made in the British House of Commons by a member with a record of recent service in the Middle East, speaking with authority of first hand knowledge of what soldiers think and want.

"When a soldier goes abroad, five years seem an eternity and sometimes produce a sense of irresponsibility," said Sir E. Clark Gledhill, Conservative. "The result is seen in too many cases of infidelity in homes and of men going astray."

The British qualifying period for leave is five years overseas service and Mr. Henderson, financial secretary, war office, said that period will be reduced "if it is at all practical."

"Infidelity," he warned, "is the greatest danger to the morale of the army, not because war itself has to make the greatest the very large number of men sent overseas during the outbreak of war."

The Canadian counterpart to the British problem lies among men who enlisted at the outbreak of war and who came to Britain with the first contingent in December, 1939. Many of these men, resting from their labors with the 13th Division, have been away from their homes and families nearly five years.

FOUR AND SEVEN (1939-1944)

Home leave has always been a favorite off-sour discussion subject of Canadian soldiers. There have been strong representations made by captains of the 10th Division, with Mr. E. J. Kelly, Winnipeg, and the 13th Division, with Mr. G. G. Macdonald, in an unopposed discussion of the troops with the compassionate committee.

There are many arguments on both sides and the army has not been entirely deaf to the appeals. With many positions now made an official rule of the pre-war promotion the contention is that the present, when every man is needed for the front, is no time to make an issue of leave.

Many soldiers in letters to army newspapers have lent support to this argument and some would honestly prefer to remain abroad until the job for which they enlisted is done.

"If I don't go home to say I would rather see my home and a comfort frequently heard, 'Separation has to be a second parting' would be even worse."

Soldiers who speak that way usually are men whose homes they have stood the strain of the last campaign. These marriages overbuilt on solid foundations and despite the grief of being parted from their wives and children they can plan with confidence and hope for the years when they will be reunited.

(REAPPLYING SYMPATHETIC)

Unfortunately all marriages have not been so successful and the succession of tragic incidents related by soldiers lends strong support to those who argue in favor of home leave. (Chaplain) closest counselors of the troops, hear of these incidents more frequently than other officers and a consequence are more sympathetic.

There have been many suggestions for returning troops to Canada, among them one that soldiers should be in the compassionate committee which becomes available in ships or aircraft. (Compassionate grounds go into into consideration when soldiers are returned the special course of instructions.

Last month a large trail of Canadian returning home for compassionate reasons off their last battles was given space for 10 or a dozen men as a ship carrying prisoners of war.

"This was only a drop in the bucket, but if only a fraction of the distress and unhappiness which war separation causes is alleviated by the return of these men, the question of home leave had been well answered."

A few weeks ago I flew a long way from North Africa, with a British garrison returning home on compassionate grounds. He had walked six weeks for air message after receiving a press message which led to believe that the wife was daily changed.

Started 10 years and has three children, the father who had sufficient to go on "queer" as he put it, and her home was being worked.

EVER walk into an auction and find yourself getting excited and wanting to bid... a victim of "auction fever"? Wartime conditions can breed "auction fever" if we let them. Everything is in short supply. Many more people are able to bid.

But... if prices are bid up... all our dollars will lose some of their value. Even necessities could get out of reach.

- ▶ What use is more money, if living costs go up still higher.
- ▶ What good are higher returns to business, if they are offset by higher costs.
- ▶ What does the farmer gain if higher farm prices lead to depression and low prices later.

We cannot continue a full war effort and prepare to meet the problems of the post-war period unless we maintain a stable and reasonable price level now.

THE POOR THING!

So THAT is the Trouble

● And it could have been avoided if a few inches of electric tape had been applied at the first sign of wear!

Just when you most need it, on your heaviest wash day, your washer—or other appliances—may break down. It won't happen, though, if you check cords and plugs regularly and keep them in good repair.

Brisk Musical In Technicolor A gay musical, photographed in technicolor, an appealing love story of an Army private in love with the Colonel's daughter, topped off with a great display of screen stars, make "Thousands Cheer," coming this week to the Capitol Theatre, one of the must-sees of the year. Kathryn Grayson is seen as a charming young concert singer who leaves her job as soloist with Jose Iturbi's orchestra to do morale work at her father's camp. John Boles does credit to the role of Colonel Jones as the bewildered father suddenly meeting with a charming grown-up daughter. Many of his difficulties stem from the fact that Gene Kelly, the camp's problem boy solves his difficulties when he and Kathryn fall in love much to the despair of Boles and mother, Mary Astor. N. M. McLean Buried Today Friends of the late N. M. McLean, who passed away on Saturday, gathered at 2 o'clock this afternoon to pay their final respects at funeral services held at St. Peter's Parish Hall, Seal Cove. Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook officiated. Decorated with flowers, the hall was filled with friends accumulated through his long residence in the city and who sang the hymns "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages." Mrs. C. J. Norrington presided at the organ. Interment was made in the family plot in Fairview cemetery. Honorary pallbearers were R. M. Winslow, Robert Boddie, Henry Skinner, William Skinner, Chris Dixon and Peter McCormack. Active pallbearers were Reginald Sinclair, J. E. Boddie, Harry Love, Reginald Green, John Walker and George Holmes.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By Dorothy Garbutt) Now that the robot bombers are over Britain and once again children are being hurriedly packed off to the country and terror stalks the skies let us remember the children of the war. Dorothy Bathurst has written a moving poem in that interesting digest magazine named "Britain" which she calls...

When Sangs Are Gold Again Let us think of our children, The children of England Forgetting the ways of peace— Born to the drone of the Hun in the sky To the crump of bombs And the warning cry To the clatter of shrapnel In the street And the solemn rhythm Of marching feet. It was different When we were seven years old The sky was clear And the sand was gold— Made to build castles in Not to store With shovel and pump By the attic door. The world was at peace then, And will be again, But how can we tell them, How explain This hoped-for peace To a child of war Who has never seen street lamps Or lighted stores Or bananas Or grapefruit Or tangerines Or chocolate crackers Or pink ice-creams. We gave a sea shell To a little boy He shook his head in wonder— "Shells come out of guns" He says What can we answer? In these new days of evil my little friends in England, I remember you and pray for you— little Norman Smith of Stanmore, son of my neighbor's Bunty and Dick and the Sangine twins of my own street in Harrow Weald who remember only war; Kathie Bailey, who lived across the street and John Smith, brother of Norman who learned to walk while war began, Joyce Swallow and Jean Bailey who in their first teens remember but faintly lights and windows warmly glowing and Geordie Lester my own boys' chum who went to Fourth Harrow Weald Scouts troop with him and recalls so much but does not talk of it. May the Lord bless you and keep you—may the Lord make His face to shine upon you, and give you peace.
