New Spitfire Dubbed The Praying Mantis

LONDON, Sept. 29 (CP)—A Spitfire which folds its wings has given the Royal Navy a big increase in fighter strength of carrier-based aircraft. Officially it is known as the Seafire Mark III. But to the Fleet Air Arm pilots it is the "Praying Mantis." It made its first operational appearance on D-day and later took part in the invasion of southern France and got its nickname from its resemblance, when its wings are folded, to the mantis, a pugnacious insect which waits for its prey in an attitude of prayer.

Province In Good Shape

Mr. Hart Heard At Trail—Postwar Plans

TRAIL, Sept. 29 — Premier John Hart said here last night that the province is in a position to spend $15,000,000 on public works projects after the war. He said that since he has been in office the net provincial debt has been reduced $80,000,000 and that the credit standing was never higher.

Col. Evitt's Farewell—

RUPERT MUST HELP ITSELF

Pioneer Days Here Recalled in Rotary Talk

Prince Rupert has arrived at the stage where it can expect real development in the future but this will come only through the efforts of its citizens and not from government or other outside help, Lieut. Col. C. V. Evitt, Prince Rupert pioneer, told fellow Rotarians in a farewell speech at luncheon meeting on Thursday afternoon.

Col. Evitt, who is leaving Saturday afternoon to live at Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, expressed great hope for the future of this city at the conclusion of a talk in which he recalled impressions of the early days here. "Prince Rupert is a young man's town, just as it was when I came here in 1909," he declared, adding smilingly, "that is why I am moving out now—to make room for a young man."

Delving into the background of the city, Col. Evitt told his listeners that the wonderful harbor of Prince Rupert was originally called Lima Bay and that the name has been perpetuated in Lima Point on Digby Island. "It is one of the best harbors in the world," he asserted.

Prince Rupert received its name as the result of a naming competition conducted by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in 1909. The competition was featured in newspapers across the country and 12,000 names were entered.

The winner was a Miss Isabel McDonald of Winnipeg who received a $250 prize.

The first working party of G.T.P. engineers arrived in May, 1906, and found the townsite a depressing mass of burned stumps and trees. Col. Evitt came to the city in April 1909.

"When I left Vancouver spring was well advanced. I arrived here in a snowstorm," he recalled.

Before the townsite was thrown open to the public, John Houston, a Nelson newspaperman arrived, bringing a printing press with him. When the railway company learned that he had a press, they refused to let him take it from the depot, and there followed a controversy which ended with the doughty Houston and a group of companions seizing the press "in the name of the King."

They established the press in the police station and there the first issues were published.

Prince Rupert boomed until 1914, when many men left for the war, Col. Evitt recalled. In that year the city had a population of 6,000. Three years later the population had dropped to 3,500 but increased again in the years following the war when the shipbuilding yard was established.

About 25 members attended the luncheon. Guests were Cpl. Grinstead of Mission, and LAW McKen of Vancouver, both of the R.C.A.F. Women's Division. Olof Hanson, M.P., and Dr. R. E. Foerster of the Fisheries Research Board, Nanaimo. Bruce Stevens was received as a new member.

Russians Continue to Make Headway On All Fronts in North, South and Western Europe

MOSCOW, Sept. 29 (CP)—The Russian pronged offensive against Hungary from Rumania and Yugoslavia developed today while rumors of peace feelers by the Budapest government indicated that Germany's last important satellite may be on the verge of deserting. The Russians pressed forward in a 100-mile arc on the Rumania-Hungarian frontier. Berlin said that the Russians had made a new crossing of the Danube River on the Rumanian-Yugo-Slav border.

Other Russians, who outflanked Uzok Pass through the Carpathian Mountains to cross the frontier into eastern Czechoslovakia, are now well within that country and making further headway.

To the north the Soviet forces captured 200 more Latvian settlements as they continued to approach Riga.

The defence minister was lunching at one brigade headquarters when shells fell nearby.

McNAUGHTON'S RETIREMENT

Quits Army With Full General's Rank

OTTAWA, Sept. 29 — Lieut. General A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian Army overseas is retiring from the army with the rank of full general. The resignation was announced yesterday by the minister of national defence, Hon. J. L. Ralston, who expressed deepest regret at the general's retirement. General McNaughton, who returned several months ago from Britain, asked on September 23 to be relieved.

It was stated that General McNaughton will not return for the present at least, to his peacetime job as president of the National Research Council.

Air Minister C. G. Power, acting on behalf of Defence Minister Ralston, will make a further formal announcement shortly.

Aid, Servicemen's Wives' Club and Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary. Each gave an account of the interesting and worthwhile work carried on. The meeting then discussed plans in which all organizations could participate. The Christmas Party was an example. The financial statement, showing a balance of $141.88, was read by Mrs. C. Ingham, secretary-treasurer. A statement was presented by Mrs. A. L. Haines, vice-president, on further activities of the council. Illustrating how a community council could help in alleviating some of the needs of old people in the city, Miss A. Brewster, member of the provincial government field service staff, outlined some of the problems facing the old people. She explained the old people. (Continued on Page 3)

MR. CHURCHILL CAUTIOUS . . .

Cautious but exceedingly cheerful, Prime Minister Churchill gave another of his always meaty and factual reports on the war in speaking to Parliament in London yesterday. We notice that Mr. Churchill is no longer expressing certainty about victory. The certainty is now understood by all without necessity of any reiteration or reassurance. It is just a question of how many months before Germany finally gives up in unconditional surrender. Mr. Churchill very carefully suggests that the organized resistance in the European war may last until next year and, even after the organized resistance is over, there may still be some guerrilla Nazis whose only object in prolonging the struggle would be to stave off their ultimate doom.

In a statement a few weeks ago Mr. Churchill said the war "might" end this year. He did not say it "would." Now he warns that the war against Adolf Hitler "might" extend into 1945. He does not say it "will."

Mr. Churchill is as usual realistic and says it will be better to concentrate on winning the war before trying to solve great post-war problems "on the basis of incomplete data."

Rather significant is the suggestion to Joseph Stalin that it would be well if he got in on the war conferences and their understandings.

From The Daily News Files . . .

Sept. 29, 1940 — One hundred and thirty-three German planes downed over United Kingdom. German, Italy and Japan signed a 10-year military and economic pact in effort to create new orders in Europe and Asia. R.A.F. attacked munitions works at Dusseldorf and other German targets.

Dinner and Tea—

I.O.D.E. LEADER VISITS HERE

Mrs. Wm. Martin,
Provincial President, Received

Members of Queen Mary, Hill Sixty and Cambrai Chapters, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, gathered on Wednesday evening at Reid's Cafe for a dinner in honor of Mrs. W. N. Martin of Vancouver, provincial president of the order and again yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby when Mrs. Martin was guest of honor at a tea.

Fifty-six members were in attendance at the Wednesday dinner and Mrs. G. E. Moore, regent of the Municipal Chapter, presided.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Martin addressed the gathering. She presented a report of the national meeting of the order, which had been held in May in Hamilton. Her report of war work accomplished revealed that almost one million dollars had been expended during the year. A total of 230,128 books, 3,204,750 magazines, and many thousand games and much sporting equipment had been supplied to members of the armed forces. Arrangements had been made whereby 300 cigarettes each per month, are being sent to between 300 and 400 prisoners of war and a total of $17,081 has been spent in this work. Chapters of the order have "adopted" 250 naval ships and supplied them with gifts to the value of $23,000. The I.O.D.E. has spent $50,313 on service centres and entertained over 651,000 service men and women there.

Mrs. Martin told of the splendid work accomplished by chapters all across Canada in supplying field comforts to the armed forces, and clothing and comforts to refugees and bombed area victims. Christmas gifts are sent to isolated military stations and last year $84,369 was spent on ditty bags for the Navy. The I.O.D.E. was the source of supply for books supplied to the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Mrs. Martin spoke of the urgency of maintaining Canada as a member of the British Empire and stressed the importance of standing back of the men who are fighting to preserve freedom.

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. R. S. Blackaby many members of the local chapters and their friends called. The guests were received by the hostesses and Mrs. G. E. Moore and Mrs. J. A. Teng, Mrs. R. J. Keron and Mrs. Jens Muntne.

Mrs. Martin left on her return to Vancouver on Thursday night after meeting with various committees of the Prince Rupert chapters of the I.O.D.E.

PIONEERS' HOME PLAN APPROVED

Ground floor plans for the city's proposed Pioneers' Home were approved by City Council which met in committee of the whole last night.

The tentative plan, submitted by the architectural firm of Townley and Matheison, Vancouver, emerged from the inspection by council members with only minor alterations. The blueprints for the basement and upper floors have not been received from the architects.

As approved by council, the design calls for seven rooms on the ground floor. There will be three bedrooms which will accommodate 14 inmates, and a sick bay which is designed for two. On the same floor are the kitchen, dining room, living room and bathroom. At the front will be a spacious verandah.

The plan allows for extension at each end of the building.

Construction work will begin as soon as building materials are made available, Mayor Daggett said this morning.

Proposed site of the building is on Atlin ave., just west of Westview School.

An appeal by the city against a decision handed down by Magistrate W. D. Vance in police court in the case of John Moser, who was dismissed on a charge of violating building regulations, was adjourned for ten days by Judge W. E. Fisher in County Court this morning due to the absence of a witness.

Each of us is both consumer and producer.

As a producer each of us would like to get MORE money for our goods or services.

As a consumer each of us wants the costs of living kept down.

But we can't have it both ways.

As long as goods are scarce and money plentiful, prices have to be controlled or they'd jump sky high.

If prices are to be kept down, then costs of production including salaries, wages and raw materials must also be controlled.

One Person Can Start It!

When any one of us:—

- offers to pay more than legal prices;
- asks higher returns for his services;
- asks higher prices for his goods.

He helps start a chain that forces every one else to do the same—and nobody is better off.

plained, that a co-ordinating council could create a general fund or community chest to take care of some of their unmet needs. She pointed out, however, that these needs were not confined to physical comforts and suggested that a club-room might be provided for use as a reading room, for social gatherings and general companionship.

To explain how the various organizations could extend their activities to include old people and other sections of the community, Miss B. W. Snider spoke for a few minutes on the functions generally of co-ordinating councils. Some of the problems at home which might be met by concerted action were housing, juvenile delinquency, recreational facilities and rehabilitation projects. She drew attention to the value of general meetings where each organization could discuss its specific aims and larger community problems in need of the united effort of all. Overlapping of effort could thus be eliminated.

Thanks were extended to Miss Julia Brown, United Church community worker, who acted as chairman of the meeting, for the fine work she had done in the community during the past year. Regret was expressed that she was shortly leaving for Toronto.

Others present were Mrs. George Howe, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. G. W. Johnstone, Miss N. L. Bird, Mrs. R. G. Knipe, Mrs. G. Mostad, Mrs. H. M. Daggett, Mrs. J. Iverson, Mrs. L. H. Pavey, Mrs. E. Sargeant, Mrs. J. Simpson, Mrs. M. Owens, Miss L. Day, Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. E. V. Whiting and Mrs. T. W. Falconer.

SEES BABIES INNOCULATED AND WEIGHED — KEEPING YOUNG WELL

Having done a considerable amount of writing on the value of immunization against contagious diseases, a Daily News reporter decided that he ought to see the process himself so he dropped into the rooms at the rear of the Prince Rupert Health Centre where Dr. R. G. Knipe conducts a well baby clinic every Wednesday.

Dressed in traditional white, Dr. Knipe was presiding at a desk on which stood several sinister-looking vials and a tray of hypodermic needles. The doctor, however, was quite genial. He issued an invitation to stay and see how people get inoculated.

In the outer waiting room were several mothers, with children ranging in age from a few months to five years. Gallantly we decided to let the women and children go first.

In came Roger, age five. He was going to be vaccinated for smallpox. He looked a bit dubious.

The doctor wiped the boy's upper arm with alcohol to clean it, then deposited a drop of serum from a thin glass tube. With a needle he scratched the arm where the fluid was and that was that.

"It didn't hurt a bit," Roger boasted.

"It will react a bit later, but it will prevent smallpox," Dr. Knipe observed. "Children should be vaccinated in infancy, and every seven years thereafter.

A procession of mothers with small infants entered the room during the next hour. The tots received injections against whooping cough and diphtheria. Occasionally one of the mothers received a diphtheria inoculation too.

"I couldn't see any sense in not protecting myself as well as the children," one woman said.

Dr. Knipe said that in the last 18 months he had administered 8,000 immunization treatments.

"That does not mean that I have immunized 8,000 people," he explained. "Most people take several inoculations. It is apparently having an effect for we have not had an occurrence of diphtheria in the city in the last 11 months."

An "Inkie" Is Weighed

However, disease prevention is not the only one activity of the health clinic. In another room Miss Beulah Fry, Public Health nurse, was busy weighing babies. She recorded the date and the weight of each baby on a card which is kept by the mother. It is a record of the child's development.

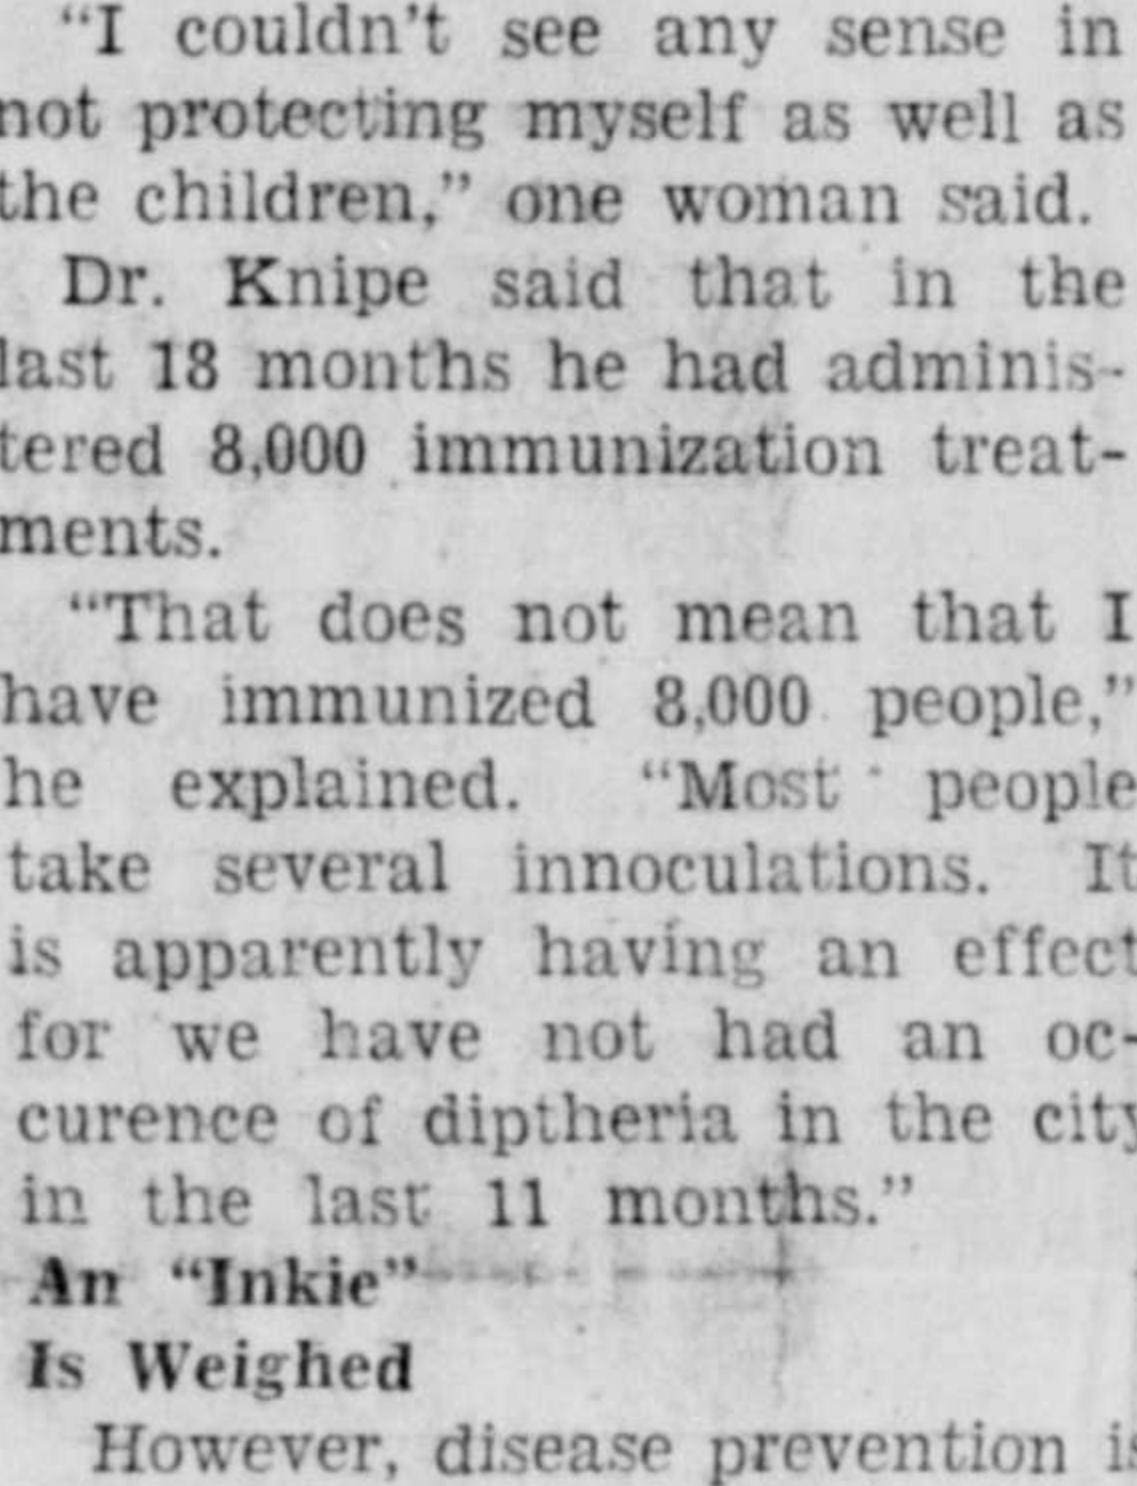

At the moment Miss Fry was weighing an "Inkie."

"You are lucky," she said. "Inkies are rare. Few men have a chance to see an 'inkie' being weighed."

Feeling a fog spreading through the room, Miss Fry hastened to explain that "inkie" is hospital parlance for an incubator baby. This particular "inkie" had weighed four pounds at birth, and had gained two ounces in the last week.

"My job is not to take the place of a family doctor, but to help mothers by giving advice in simple things like feeding and general care," Miss Fry explained. "This is a well-baby clinic, and we try to help mothers keep them well. We encourage them to bring their children regularly.

GOOD FOOD IMPORTANT

Cambrai Chapter Backs
Nutrition Week

Full community support for its forthcoming Nutrition Week is being sought by Cambrai Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, and by the Union Board of Health Nutrition Committee, Mrs. Jens Munthe, regent of the chapter, and a member of the committee, said today. The committee plans to make Nutrition Week, to be observed October 2 to 7 a time not only to acquaint the general public with the facts concerning better nutrition but to enlist full support in Prince Rupert of the Board of Health Nutrition committee's program.

"We realize that food is all important to health," Mrs. Munthe stated. "Faulty nutrition is apparently all too common, even here in Prince Rupert, where it affects 90 percent of the people, according to a recent survey in school children," she continued. "In recent years the newer knowledge of nutrition has given us the weapons to prevent the effects of bad food habits. This knowledge is now available to all and I believe it only needs to be put into practice. We are looking particularly for the co-operation of women's groups and I am proud that Cambrai Chapter has been given this opportunity for a valuable community service to the women of Prince Rupert."

Formal Dance
Tomorrow Night to Mark Reopening

Renovated, redecorated and refurbished throughout, the Knights of Columbus Canadian Army Hut on Fulton Street presents a scene of complete and delightful transformation. Tomorrow night it is to be reopened with a formal dance to which servicemen, hostesses and other habitués of the popular resort have been looking forward to for some time.

The hut has been closed down since the latter part of August and extensive improvement work has been carried on continuously since then under the direction of the supervisor, Charles Balagno. Practically everything in the place has been renewed and a number of new features have been introduced.

The brightening-up effect, which is obvious from the very entrance to the last corner, is most delightful and has excited the admiratory comment of all who have seen the place during the last day or so, in spite of the last minute rush to get things finally in order for the reopening.

F. Murphy had the general contract for the renovation work with Leo Oyer carrying out the painting.

One of the major items has been the laying of new maple floorings throughout.

The new general color scheme is an apple green with brown wainscoting, the latter in the commodious new cardroom, which not long ago was added, being in durable tile masonry.

In addition to the re-flooring and the repainting, the renewal work includes lighting fixtures and drapes and a large quantity of fine new furniture has also been added. In addition to furniture which has already arrived more is due.

By the time of the reopening tomorrow night all the old recreational features will be back in place with many new ones.

Charlie Balagno and his enthusiastic junior hostess assistants as well as a few servicemen volunteers are showing signs of weariness after a solid month of hard work day and night during the past month but they will be rewarded with the satisfaction of a good job well done and, no doubt, they will be duly applauded when the place is thrown open again tomorrow night. The dance band of H.M.C.S. Chatham will provide music for the reopening dance.

Going North

Fourteen members of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce are already booked up for a goodwill trip to Alaska which will commence from here on October 13 with return home scheduled for October 19. The trip will be as far as Skagway and there will be stops at Ketikan, Juneau and Wrangell, several hours to be spent at each place. Reservations are now being made for those signifying their intention of going.

"Here's your magic wand for making milk!"

SAYS ELSIE: "It doesn't matter when you feed—you can still have milk! Just add KLIM Powdered Milk to water, whisk with an egg beater and presto! You have exactly the amount you need of creamy, nourishing milk for every purpose where milk is required."

More reasons why you'll like KLIM:

- 1 KLIM is pasteurized whole milk—powdered. Only the natural moisture has been removed. All the cream is left in.
- 2 KLIM keeps fresh indefinitely in its vacuum-sealed container. Even after opening, KLIM keeps fresh and sweet for a long time. (Be sure to replace lid tightly.)
- 3 KLIM is light, easy to carry. Saves space. Ready for immediate use. Just follow the simple directions printed on the can.

KLIM is a vital product required in large quantities for our fighting forces everywhere. Naturally the amount for civilian use is restricted. However—for infant feeding—if you have difficulty in getting a sufficient supply, have your dealer get in touch with us.
