Alaska Trip Is Being Planned

Sure and it was a fine day when Robert, in Eire on leave, hied to the races outside Dublin. The same Robert—Squad Leader Forster of the Royal Canadian Air Force to identify him further—was in gay mood as he sauntered to the paddock for a closer look at the spirited Irish horseflesh which soon would contest a gruelling steeplechase. Sure and it was only natural that a fellow with betting money jingling in his civilian jeans (uniforms not being allowed in a neutral country) should desire to examine closely the fine points of the steed on which he eventually decided to place a substantial wager. And it was fortunate that the 'chaser took a dim view of this fresh fellow from Montreal who walked around his hindquarters with the air of one who knows racing blood from away back. The animal's eyes showed white, back went his ears and he lashed out with a dainty but iron-shod hoof. The hoof struck Robert in the thigh. Robert struck the ground. The former non-playing captain of one of Canada's Davis Cup tennis teams didn't bet on the race. It was a good thing because his ill-mannered choice didn't win anyway. And to chop a tale short, Robert limped back to London and entered hospital. Some badly bruised muscles needed rest before he returned to his public relations duties. "The next time I go near a paddock," said Bob, "it will be strictly from hunger."

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is still considering the possibility of a group of its members making an excursion to Alaska and June 7 has been tentatively set as the date of departure. Ketchikan, Wrangell, Juneau and Skagway would be visited with the possibility of Whitehorse as well. The trip would take one week and the cost is estimated at $70. Arnold Platen is acting as organizer of the trip.

large crowd as the 50,000 which invaded London's White City Stadium for the return match between the Mustangs and an American Army outfit. The reason, of course, was that no Canadian stadium could accommodate such a number. Since the game was played on a Sunday no admission fee could be charged by English law. Instead, hundreds of program sellers collected donations for the Red Cross. As in the first match there were reunions aplenty among the spectators to a half-time background of music from a massed pipe band drawn from the Canadian Army. And, as usual, that sterling sportsman from Toronto, Gun. Teddy Reeve, was the centre of handshaking groups. The Gunner, former Toronto columnist and famed rugby coach, injected a bit of humor into the proceedings, despite the fact the gloom from a Canadian angle was terrific because the Americans swamped the Mustangs 18-0. Teddy was writing the game for the Eighth Army News in Italy. Since it was called the "Coffee Bowl" game, Teddy told fellow correspondents he had hoped for rain so he could inform his readers "the coffee bowl had wet grounds." It was all in fun, of course, because even if it had rained Teddy couldn't have mentioned that fact. Censors are pretty sticky on weather reports.

Never before has a Canadian rugby team played to such a

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

There will be no meeting of the Service Wives' Club this Thursday afternoon. I hope we will be able to meet in the "Y" next Thursday but will let you know through this column a little later.

The sanding of the floors is completed at last. We all fled while that was in process. Now for three coats of preservative and one or two odd jobs and we're ready for the public once again.

Remember girls, Thursday and Saturday nights this week are special dance dates. The Thursday dance is by invitation and is at the Naval Drill Hall and the Saturday dance is at the Elliott Barracks (U.S.A.) and transportation will be at the "Y" at 8:30 p.m.

Right now I'm a homeless waif. I can't go down to the Hut because they are starting in to varnish the floors and at the Empress they are falling over each other through lack of office room for everyone so I think I'll have to fold my tents (that is, my typewriter, carbon paper, and copy paper) and silently steal away to some corner under the stairs and try to get my work done that way. Life has its little ups and downs.

The old time dance orchestra gets better week by week. Those boys have rhythm and whether one is a good dancer or not it's practically impossible to not to keep step. Come up and try it sometime.

I meant to remark on it much earlier in the Victory Loan campaign but don't you think the various service windows the boys and girls decorated themselves in Third Avenue stores are smart? And they all seem to have done remarkably well in their loan objectives. I think when they do that they are already serving on two fronts, the fighting and the home.

Once again — has anyone a good sized tea wagon they could sell me for the Service Wives' Club? The one I saw wasn't satisfactory.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA IN PROBATE IN THE MATTER OF THE "ADMINISTRATION ACT" — and — IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JOSEPH OSWALD, Deceased. TAKE NOTICE that by order of His Honor W. E. Fisher, made on the 26th day of April, A.D. 1944, I was appointed Administrator of the Estate of Joseph Oswald, deceased, and all parties having claims against the said estate are hereby required to furnish same, properly verified, to me on or about the 27th day of May, A.D. 1944, and all parties indebted to the Estate are required to pay the amount of their indebtedness to me forthwith. DATED at Prince Rupert, B.C., this 27th day of April, A.D. 1944. NORMAN A. WATTE, Official Administrator, Prince Rupert, B.C.

UNITY FOR WAR-PEACE

It was proposed that all organizations in Prince Rupert unite towards reduction of electric power rates, securing of pulp and paper industry, continuation of the use of local shipyard facilities, an airport, trans-Pacific shipping after the war and more recreational facilities.

August Wallin, president of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council, advocated the putting of every effort into winning the war and the planning for post-war period with particular view to economic security.

Very Rev. James B. Gibson, speaking for the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association, gave assurance that the church was in sympathy with the aims and objects of labor organizations. He felt that the church might be an important factor in bringing together labor and capital. He mentioned the fact of the central figure of the Christian church having been the "Carpenter of Nazareth." The Archbishop of Canterbury was described as "Karl Marx in a Castle" and the friendship of the Dean of Canterbury for Soviet Russia was well known. The Dean advocated the importance of social security which was conducive to better service. Unity was of God and division of Satan, the Dean declared.

Alex Sinclair felt that the most direct way toward the better new order was by means of co-operation. Trade unionism alone would not fill the need any more than the capitalistic free enterprise. Trades unionism generally, however, had demonstrated its confidence in co-operation.

W. W. C. O'Neill, speaking for the Prince Rupert and District Teachers' Federation, referred to the important function of schools and education in true democracy. Mr. O'Neill warned against an excess of stress on vocational education over cultural education. There was the danger of this leading to two stratas of society—one which concentrated on vocation education from the standpoint of making a living, leaving cultural education to the so-called "privileged" class. Cultural education should be available to the children of the "working class." Mr. O'Neill referred to the consistent interest of Prince Rupert labor organizations in school activities. He declared that pupils of Prince Rupert schools had excelled in higher education. There was a great need here for recreational facilities, including playgrounds, for the schools.

LABOR BEING RECOGNIZED

Malcolm McLeod, speaking on the May Day subject, traced the struggle of the working classes for better conditions. At long last labor had been finally recognized in Canada by federal legislation providing for compulsory collective bargaining in regard to wages and working conditions. After winning the war there would be the task of reorganizing millions of workers in Europe for their economic betterment. Mr. McLeod declared that it was important to support the Victory Loan so that the war might be won and the post-war aims of the United Nations implemented. It was not good enough to merely make demands, to say "do away with capitalism." There must be national and international co-operation in a practical and realistic way to bring about an order which would be in accord with the needs, welfare and security of all the people.

The musical program included selections by the Varden Singers under Peter Lien's direction, vocal solos by Sam McPherson, Harley Lewis and Mrs. Gilchrist, tap dancing by Mrs. H. Wright and piano solos by C. A. Davis. Accompanists were Peter Lien, C. A. Davis and Harley Lewis. A collection for school sports equipment was taken up, totaling $40.

GARDEN 'NOTEBOOK

SOWING SEED

Thick sowing wastes seed and increases the labor of thinning. Sow only enough seed to ensure a good stand of plants. Consult table for date of sowing, depth to plant, and spacing of rows. Stretch the garden line lightly to mark the row and open a drill by drawing the corner of the hoe along the line to the required depth. The drill should be of even depth so that uniform germination of the seed will be obtained.

Large seeds, such as beans, peas, etc., should be placed individually at the specified distances. Small seeds, such as carrots, lettuce, etc., can be sown by tearing off a corner of the envelope, holding the packet horizontally and gently tapping it with the finger as it is moved along the drill. Press the soil firmly over the drill after the seed has been sown. To mark rows of such seeds as carrots and beets, which germinate slowly, an occasional radish seed may be placed in the row to come up quickly and act as a marker.

To extend the season of such crops as beans, peas and corn, two or three sowings may be made at intervals of ten days. Susceptive crops of lettuce, carrots, beets, radish and spinach may also be sown, or these may be planted after early crops of radish, lettuce, spinach or peas are harvested.

THINNING

When seedlings are well up thin plants to the distances recommended. This should be done on a dull day, or in the evening when the soil is moist. Corn, cucumber, squash and pumpkin should be thinned to three good plants in each hill.

TRANSPLANTING

Like thinning, transplanting should be done during dull weather or when the soil is moist. Stocky, healthy plants should be secured which have a good root system and have not received a check in growth. Cabbages should have leaves from four to six inches long and a good root system. Tomato plants should be eight to ten inches high; if taller they should be planted in a shallow trench with six inches of the top above the ground level. After they have become established the earth can be pulled in around them. Where water is available it should be used to puddle the soil around the roots to exclude the air. When the plants are set, press the soil firmly around them, taking care to avoid injury to the stem at the ground level.

CULTIVATION

Hoing should be started as soon as the rows of young seedlings appear, or immediately after young plants are set out. It is important to destroy the weeds when they are small, before they can use up plant food and moisture. Hoing during bright sunshine will destroy the weeds completely, but large weeds should only be pulled from the crop rows when the soil is moist, otherwise the plant roots may be dried out.

Avoid working among such plants as cabbage and beans when they are wet as there is danger of spreading plant diseases. It is a good plan to cultivate the ground once or twice a week to a depth of one or two inches. As the plants increase in size and cover the earth hoe less of the space between the rows and decrease the depth of cultivation so as not to injure the roots.

IS MOURNED BY VILLAGE

Entire Population of Port Essington Attends Funeral of Late C. D. Pogson.

PORT ESSINGTON, May 3.—The entire population, both white and native, of the Skeena River village of Port Essington assembled at the United Church on Saturday afternoon to pay last respects to their friend and counselor, the late C. D. Pogson.

The service was conducted by the Rev. A. Rutherford of Klappan, a close friend of the deceased, who made the 209-mile journey for the occasion. A duet was sung by Mary and Fanny Spalding and a solo by William Spalding.

The large attendance and the mass of beautiful flowers bore testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held by the entire community. The casket, literally buried in flowers, was borne to the local cemetery, preceded by the Port Essington Band, which rendered appropriate music en route and at the graveside.

The pallbearers were H. Reid, H. W. Harris, S. Lockerby, A. Perkins, D. Nelson and C. A. Moore.

Charles Derwent Pogson was born at Crosshill, Ontario, on May 25, 1877, and came to Port Essington in January, 1930. Shortly after making his home here, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace and later postmaster, holding both offices until his death. In spite of the duties connected with the two offices he still found time to take a very active part in all movements tending to the welfare of the community and took a leading place in all war activities. A man of strong Christian character and high ideals; he was always ready and willing to give advice and comfort to any and all whom a kind word and good cheer often meant so much. He will be greatly missed and his place in the community hard to fill.

Mr. Pogson is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, in Port Essington, and one daughter, Mrs. W. A. Bale of Elrose, Sask., also by four brothers and three sisters in the Middle West.

Russia's population of 193,000,000 consists of nearly 200 different nationalities and racial and language groups.

COMEDY IS SPEEDY ONE

"Standing Room Only" Coming to Capitol Theatre for Three Days

Heralded as one of the fastest-moving comedies to be turned out by Hollywood in recent years, "Standing Room Only," arrives this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

The picture stars Paulette Goddard and Fred MacMurray, with Edward Arnold, Roland Young and Porter Hall as supporting players.

The story concerns the rooming shortage in Washington and on this theme is built the completely wacky story which is said to be provoking gales of laughter.

Paulette and Fred are called upon to fill roles of cook and butler, quite by accident, in order to get overnight lodgings in the nation's capital. The arrangement is so convenient that they decide to carry on as domestic servants. Roland Young, master of the household when his wife, Ann Revere, isn't henpecking him to distraction, is as lenient a taskmaster as could be found anywhere.

He obliges Fred by permitting him days off in order for the latter to put through an important business deal, the original purpose of his visit. Paulette, really his secretary, covers up for the absent butler, providing more complications to an already tangled situation.

MIDLANDS

Sgt. Jack Skitch, who has returned from the west coast, is now stationed at Kingston.

Sgt. D. N. Martin of Colborne was among the men of a forward detachment of a Canadian-American combat group at the Anzio beachhead who were interviewed recently by Ben Malkin, representing the combined Canadian Press. Sgt. Martin and other non-commissioned officers regularly lead patrols into enemy territory.

Owing to bad ice conditions on the Great Lakes, the corvette Cobourg was unable to make her trials and be in Cobourg at the opening of the Sixth Victory Loan, as she had been scheduled to do.

TAILORING BY MAIL
