No Let-up In Athens

Battling Continues Between Contending Internal Forces Despite Suggestions of Get-Together
SHOWDOWN BATTLE
ATHENS, Dec. 11 (CP) — A showdown battle is shaping up in Greece. Both Left Wing and British forces are massing strong concentrations of troops north and east of the Greek capital. Other E.A.M. units are massed west of the port of Piraeus. Both sides are reported to be using heavy battle equipment, and latest reports tell of British heavy bombers going into action against the rebels. Meantime, the food situation in the country has reached the desperation point. Because of the general strike at the port areas it has been impossible to unload relief supplies from ships in the harbors. With large numbers of dead unburied, there is imminent danger of epidemic.

LONDON, Dec. 11 — There is no let-up in the fighting between Greek government and British forces on one hand and the leftists on the other in Athens. A leftist assault Sunday on the centre of the city was driven back and the government and British have one-fifth of the city still clear of leftists. Further leftist forces have entered the southeastern part of the capital, these being supposedly from forces which had been massed just outside.

Mayor H. M. Daggett remained the only candidate for the mayoral seat in the December 14 civic elections at the close of nominations at 2 p.m. today but the entry of nine candidates for the four aldermanic seats and six candidates for the three school board positions indicates a lively slate of electioneering in the next three days.

H. A. Ponder is the lone Labor Progressive candidate for Alderman.

Getting Out the Vote . . .

Vote as you please, but vote! So urges the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the campaign it is sponsoring to get out the vote at the civic election this week. It is a very worthy campaign at that and an admirable act in the public interest.

We cannot all run for civic office and thus contribute a full part in public affairs but we can and should take a direct and active interest by exercising our preferences in the voting on Thursday.

There has long been a deplorable apathy as far as civic affairs here are concerned. The most inexcusable apathy of all is failure through neglect or indifference to exercise the franchise. Those who fail to vote have little right to criticize the manner in which our civic business is conducted.

We gladly endorse the Junior Chamber's get out the vote campaign.

The Western Front . . .

The operations wherein the Allied Armies are grinding their way towards the enemies' vitals may be in their present phase broadly described as the war of rivers—swift flowing rivers whose bridges, one by one, will fall as the Germans go back except when a brilliant stroke, like that of General Patton's men at Saarlautern, captures his crossing intact. General Dempsey's British Second Army, having nearly eliminated the last enemy bridgehead before Venlo, is solidly along the Dutch Maas. The American Forces in the Aachen Gap are steadily lengthening their line on Roer. General Patton now holds the river line of more than sixteen miles of the Saar. The French of course are on the Upper Rhine, both at the top of the Alsatian Plain and on a rapidly extending sector South towards Strasbourg.

Looming over them all there is the German Rhine itself. The river has never been an insurmountable tactical obstacle, less so in this war than in any other, but there is the important period of bridging ahead in conditions that could hardly be worse.

LETTERBOX

THE BUS QUESTION

Editor, Daily News: The bus question before the property owners of the city reduced to simple terms is: "Do you favor the city owning and operating a municipal bus service—an addition to our municipal utility structure?"

The question is sponsored and placed before the property owners by the Civic Labor Federation through their representatives in the City Council.

The project is opposed by one hundred percent vote of the "Partisan" organization now contesting all available seats for the council and school board. By failing to contest the majority seat they expose their weakness. They fear a man-to-man battle. They try to gain admittance to the city council chamber by the back door method.

As a resident of the city for the past 35 years and one who has taken an active part in municipal affairs during those years I propose to vote in support of the bylaw and should like to induce others if possible to do the same for the following reasons:

It is a revenue-producing undertaking. I estimate its gross revenue of at least $2,400 per month. After allowing a most generous allowance for operating cost and depreciation there will still remain $1,200 per month net profit. On those basis a net profit of fifty-seven thousand dollars would accrue to the city treasurer in a space of four years. That should satisfy the most pessimistic mind as a greater asset could scarcely be desired. Those estimated figures are based on its present schedule which we all admit does not satisfy or serve the public as a municipal service would be compelled to.

In addition to the above the city would be establishing and equipping itself with a garage and equipment capable of looking after the repair and servicing of its entire fleet of trucks and cars now operating at a cost revealed only by the annual garage bills. If revealed it would probably make some of our "Partisans" wonder what they were blowing out.

What about our small school children forging their way to school through gales of wind, rain and snow from the outlying sections such as Sections 2, 7 and 8? More than 15 years ago the school board gave free transportation to the children attending school from the outlying sections. In those days we had no "Partisan" organization to guard and guide us in the straight and narrow path of service through free enterprise.

Citizens, the policy of our young Non-Partisan organization is not good enough for a foundation to build a city on. It is a policy of take everything out and apply it to the credit of individual bank accounts—strip the city dry of everything that can be taken—and then wonder why we have no parks, no playgrounds, broken-down sewers, rough sidewalks and in many cases none at all, no tree planting along our main residential streets. The Partisans are not here for that purpose. They are here to take out and leave nothing that can be deposited to their individual bank accounts in the name and fame of free enterprise.

Prince Rupert is the home of the great working class who produce all wealth that is enjoyed by the whole community. To them belong the responsibility of building a city that will accommodate their general requirements. I regret to say the battle that is now on is a miniature preliminary to what is to come—four years hence when the citizens will be confronted with the problem of reclaiming their hydro electric power that they gave up 16 years ago in the name and glory of free enterprise. The city has never been able to put one foot ahead of the other since.

In closing may I remind our good citizens that the files of the Daily News will disclose in the editorial columns a strong advocacy of the city taking over the bus system to be operated as a municipal service written by its then editor, the late H. F. Pullen, based on service.

GEO. B. CASEY, P.S.—I use the term "partisan" advisedly. G.B.C.

The Airplane Manoeuvres Incident

When officials arrived at a Pacific Coast airfield to witness private demonstration flights of new planes, they found the roads blocked with the cars of civilian sightseers. There had been no public announcement of the event.

How did they know?

Someone had talked out of turn. He may have been a loyal and patriotic citizen with no harmful intentions whatsoever. The majority of those who saw the "secret" manoeuvres may have been conscientious war workers. But enemy agents may have been there also. They are everywhere.

WATCH EVERY WORD YOU SAY! The war in the Pacific is far from won. Movements of men and materials, planes and ships must be withheld from the enemy. If you know anything, keep it to yourself!

Fine Show At School

School Children Acquitted Themselves in Fine Style

On Friday evening the teachers and pupils of the Terrace Elementary School presented their annual Christmas concert in the Oddfellows Hall. The hall was packed to overflowing, many being able to obtain only standing room.

The program was varied and colorful and to the end held the attention of the audience, many of whom stated it was the best they had ever seen. It included songs (some with actions) monologues, percussion band selections, a play, a choral speech and an operetta. Over 160 enthusiastic pupils took part.

Miss Annie Lips, principal and teacher of Grades 7 and 8, was general manager and director. The boys in her room and Miss Riley's put on two action songs, "Ship Ahoy" and "The Pirates Chorus." Miss Denham helped to make these a success.

Operetta Is Main Feature

In charge of the main feature on the program, an operetta, "The Smiling Sixpence," was Miss Riley, teacher of Grades 5 and 6. She spent much time and effort in rehearsing and in making the numerous costumes required. The cast consisted of the girls in hers and Miss Lips' room, the main characters being the following: Bernice Matthews, Helen Prestay, Marjorie Honke, Clara Warner, Patsy Poole, Joan Atwood, Lois Titcomb, Delphine Johnston, Margaret Hunter, Margaret Mile, Grace Mollitor, Marguerite Paquette, Elizabeth Pongraz, and Joan Brookes. Allan Dubeau was the pianist and Miss Dorothy Hills assisted with the costuming.

Miss Haugland, teacher of Grades 3 and 4, spent considerable time making costumes and the success of her numbers speak for themselves. The monologues by Robert Earl and June Sekora as well as her play "Doing Without Christmas" were very well received. The characters in it were June Sekora, Vicki Hipp, Dolly Hull, Stan Kerr, Florence Normandeau, Frances Pearson, Lloyd Honke, Claudia King, Noel Martel and Alec Jordan. Miss Haugland and Miss Denham combined their classes in the presentation of percussion band selections. For these, Alec Jordan and Bertha Amdan did good work conducting. Mrs. McConnell assisted at the piano.

Miss Denham, who teaches Grade 2 and part of Grade 1, also contributed a great deal. She has had considerable experience with percussion bands and brought with her to the school an assortment of instruments as well as a number of pretty blue and red silk caps and capes which were worn by some of the pupils in the percussion bands. Her "Good Night" song, with the pupils in nighties and pajamas, had the audience rocking with laughter. "Little Boy, Little Girl" also went over very well.

The songs by Mrs. Hubble's pupils, especially "Christmas Bells," were very much appreciated.

Before the presentation of the operetta, three of Mrs. Granger's music pupils played selections on their violins. These were Aaron Haaland, Betty Coldwell and Helen Somerville.

Mrs. Harris assisted behind the scenes and Mrs. Brookes gratuitously made a number of special trip with her bus in order to make it easier for the children to get to the concert and back home again.

After the "Good Night" song, George Benoit led in giving three cheers to the teachers for putting on the concert and Miss Denham responded by thanking all the pupils and helpers for the part they had played. As a token of appreciation by pupils and teachers combined, Miss Lips presented Allan Dubeau and Mrs. McConnell each with a gift for their services at the piano.

C. W. Michiel and Jeff Lambly school board members, had charge of the collection of tickets and distribution of programs. George Benoit, Phillip Parker and Carl Paulson had the hall in order and took charge of stage properties. Lawrence Kirkaldy was the announcer and Cecil Brookes attended to the raising and lowering of the curtain.

POT AND PAN SCARCITY IS NEARLY OVER

LONDON, Dec. 11 (P)—British housewives, getting by on their old pots and pans through the war, have been promised new ones by spring.

"We have plenty of materials for buckets, collanders, enamel-ware and other hollow-ware," said a Board of Trade official. "Labor is the chief difficulty."

But one Scottish group of manufacturers has combined in an aim to turn out 100 tons of aluminum kitchen goods by spring, and there is a similar group in South Wales with the same target.

War-wed couples, bombed-out families and housewives replenishing empty cupboards are expected to swell the demand for kitchen goods to record peaks.

"They will want frying pans and saucepans first of all," one manufacturer guessed. "We should be able to satisfy them within nine months of Germany's defeat."

"Wooden articles will also be in quick supply—clothes-horses, bread boards and ironing boards. Brushes also will be supplied quickly. More intricate articles like washing machines and mangle machines will take much longer to put on the market. Water-cans and buckets will be slow because of scarce galvanizing labor."

Most manufacturers have large stores of cutlery on hand.

75 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE NATION

FOR THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY, the history of General Motors in Canada has been one of Service . . . Service to the private motorist—Service to the industry—Service to agriculture—Service to the nation in war and peace!

This 75-year long tradition of Service has its roots in the pioneer Canadian carriage shop from which today's great GM organization originated and developed. It has found expression not only in the manufacture of fine transportation equipment—but in the maintenance of that equipment. It has played a prominent part in making Canada mobile, prosperous and great. It has put wheels under this growing nation—and has kept these wheels rolling, trustily, thriftily and well.

Throughout the critical war years, the engineering resources and technical skill which GM had built up served Canada in the production of heavy fighting equipment—trucks and tractors, guns, shells and planes.

Representative of GM Service, in communities from coast to coast, have been Canada's General Motors Dealers. Long active in providing both passenger and commercial users with the best in automotive values, these dealers, during the war years, have pledged themselves to the task of "Saving the Wheels that Serve the Nation".

After Victory, when Canada's requirements are once more tuned to peace and progress, Canadians may rest assured that General Motors will serve and amply fill those requirements with "More and Better Things for More People".

• Serving Canada's lumber industry are sturdy GM haulage units, built to stand heavy usage.

• Serving Canada, by promoting the development of splendid modern highways, are GM cars and trucks.

• Serving Canada's mines, where roads are rough and the going is tough, are thousands of rugged GM trucks.

• Serving Canada's homes and farms by providing thrifty transportation, are hundreds of thousands of GM cars and trucks.

• Serving Canada at war, in every battle area, are more than sixty types of GM military vehicles.

• Serving Canadian industry and commerce are GM commercial vehicles of every type.

PRO FOOTBALL GAME PLAYED BACK IN 1895

FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Professional football was 49 years old today. The first professional football game was played in 1895, when the team of the All-Americans defeated the team of the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4. The game was played at the University of Illinois in Urbana, Ill. The first professional football game in Chicago was played at the University of Illinois in Urbana, Ill. The first professional football game in Wellington was played at the University of Illinois in Urbana, Ill.

ference will break professional football." Needless to say, the prophecy has proved to be wrong, as the professional game is still very active today. The same year the name of the organization was changed to the National Football League and on October 7 the first player deal was made when the Chicago Bears purchased Ed Healy from Rock Island, Ill., for $100.

The signing of Red Grange by C. L. Pyle in 1925 gave professional football its greatest publicity up to that time and the popularity of the former University of Illinois star is shown in the statistics published in the New York Times of December 7 of that year. During the first 11 days of his professional career, Grange played before 181,000 spectators in five cities and out of the aggregate receipts of $342,000 he received $82,000. Largest figures were for New York where 70,000 paid $120,000, out of which Grange collected $30,000.

In 1926 a rule was adopted by the National Football League making all players ineligible for competition until their school classes had graduated. The same year the Milwaukee club owner was fined $500 for using four high school boys and was ordered to dispose of his franchise within 90 days. In 1929 the Chicago Cardinals became the first team to follow the example of the major league baseball clubs by going to an out-of-town training camp. One year later the New York Giants raised $115,163 for the New York Unemployment Fund in their game against the Notre Dame All-Stars, which the Giants won, 21 to 2.

Enforce Rule

Determined to enforce the rule against using students until their classes had graduated, the league in 1931 imposed a fine of $1,000 on the Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers of Duluth and the Portsmouth (Ohio) club. Membership fee in the league was increased to $10,000 in 1933 and, in an effort to open up the game, forward passing was legalized from any spot behind the line of scrimmage. Membership was further increased to $50,000 in 1934 and the Detroit Lions were fined $5,000 for tampering with the Hardin-Simmons star, Turner, who had been drafted by the Chicago Bears.

Elmer F. Layden, one of the all-time great players of Notre Dame, was elected to the presidency of the National Football League in 1941 and given a five-year contract, one of the best executive moves made by the league. In 1942 the league raised $680,384.07 for War Relief Charities.

The league service roster shows a total of 470 former players who participated in league games and were active in the league at the time of their induction. While there are indications that efforts will be made to establish other professional football leagues after the war, the National Football League is well prepared to hold its well-earned place in the football world.

A jury of six men and a woman upset a century-old gaming law when it decided after a two-day Old Bailey trial in London that a person who wagers on credit and, on losing, is unable to pay the bookmaker, is guilty of fraud. The Gaming Act of 1845 made betting debts irrecoverable in a civil court. Following the "vest case," Solomon Silverberg, 32-year old Polish Jew, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. Bookmakers (bookmaking is legal in Britain) hailed the verdict as "a great moral victory."

Silverberg was convicted of charges of winning $2,092 from a bookmaker by fraud and of obtaining credit by fraud. He was acquitted of a further charge of obtaining £465 from the same bookmaker by false pretences. The charges arose from wagers made by Silverberg when, it was alleged, he was overdrawn at his bank. He was paid £465 when he won but when he lost his cheque of £147 was returned by the bank. The judge, in passing sentence, said there was no reason why a bookmaker should not be protected by the criminal law as much as any other person carrying on an honest and reputable occupation. It was pointed out that under legal wagering rules, all bets, unless made at the actual scene of the event, must be on credit.

The Bookmakers' Protective Association supported this test case and at least 40 London "bookies" representing roughly a betting turnover of £3,000,000 (£13,500,000) a year, heard the verdict from their seats in the audience. The association secretary, Lionel Ingram, said in a post-trial statement that so many bettors had defaulted that bookmakers felt the time had come for a ruling in the courts. Later, a London "bookie" estimated he had lost £50,000 this year through bettors wagering on losing horses and being unable to pay. He said his losses last year to defaulters were £30,000 ($135,000). Collectively, bookmakers estimate that defaulters cost them an average of one-tenth of their gross profits.

UNION SCORES GREEK POLICY

Boilermakers Elect New Officers at Final Meeting of Year On Sunday

Disapproval of the British government's present policy in Greece was expressed by a meeting of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union attended by 150 persons in the Odd-fellows' Hall Sunday.

Passed toward the end of a lengthy session during which the union elected its 1945 officers, the motion, condemned the Churchill government "for the attempt to subdue the working class of Greece during its fight for self-determination."

Claims that the working class of the world "was rapidly becoming aware that its enemies were not wholly confined within the boundaries of Fascist countries" were made during discussion of the motion.

A motion that riveters limit their piece-work earnings to $40 per gang per day was passed by the meeting. The restriction, which is in line with policy already in effect in Vancouver shipyards, will become effective here today.

The meeting also endorsed a motion that the union contribute $20 to the Women's Co-ordinating Council to assist in giving inmates of the Pioneers' Home a Christmas party.

PRINCE RUPERT NON-PARTISAN ASS'N

Presents A

Complete 12 point Program

FOR THE YEAR 1945

1. To keep politics out of civic affairs by exercising every effort to ensure that men of impartial and unbiased judgment shall represent the citizens in the civic administration.
2. To use every endeavor to remove certain antagonisms, and misunderstandings that at present appear to exist between the city and the various departments and officials of the Dominion government.
3. To undertake an immediate, complete and thorough survey of the condition of city street, waterworks and sewer systems, and to have detailed estimated costs prepared covering a program of complete rehabilitation of such utilities.
4. To initiate preliminary steps toward refinancing the city debt on a low interest, long-term basis in order that such rehabilitation may be carried out. To institute a fund to be built up during the war years with which such a program could be put in hand pending complete financial arrangements being made. Such a course would be a practical step in post-war rehabilitation plans.
5. To co-operate as closely as possible with organizations interesting themselves in Post-war Rehabilitation, whether they be local committees or governmental agencies.
6. To support every movement, either local or sponsored by the Provincial authorities, that will promote public health and social welfare in the community, having particular regard to recreational facilities for youth.
7. To renew and maintain efforts to improve facilities for the fishing industry and to make immediate representations to the government and the Canadian National Railways to the end that a program of ship construction be maintained at the Dry-dock.
8. To foster well-being and goodwill in the area by promoting a friendly interchange of ideas between people of the city and those of the towns of the Interior and of southeastern Alaska.
9. To enlarge the sphere of operation in utilities only after very thorough investigation of all factors.
10. To assist, so far as possible, in the establishment of a program of Federal Housing in the city.
11. To press for more equitable distribution of the costs of education.
12. To uphold the right of collective bargaining for civic employees.

WHAT THE NON-PARTISAN ASSOCIATION Means To Prince Rupert!

FORMED TO SERVE PRINCE RUPERT

The Non-Partisan Association was born in the latter part of 1943 and the early part of 1944 to ensure the business-like, efficient conduct of our city's affairs. To this end the Association endorses and supports candidates for Civic Administration offices. These endorsements are made only after most careful investigation of the ability, experience and integrity of each and their complete freedom from political party influence.

KEEP POLITICS OUT—GET WORK DONE

The crying, urgent need for the Association was self-evident when it was seen that the political group now monopolizing our city government was accomplishing nothing in spite of the fact that our city was in the midst of the greatest boom we have ever seen here. Obviously the city was in a position to entrench itself financially for the future but we were not making any progress in spite of all the factors in our favor. Instead of improving our city, it is deteriorating.

A NON-POLITICAL GROUP—NOT A PARTY

Prince Rupert Non-Partisan Association is not a political party. It is a body of hundreds of public-spirited citizens of all classes to whom the city's welfare is of first importance. The Association's members are men and women of all political leanings, who believe that our City Hall should be kept entirely free from partisan politics.

PROVIDES MATURE EXPERIENCE & YOUTHFUL VIGOR

When making its endorsements, the Non-Partisan Association has in mind the object of blending the mature experience of older candidates with the vigor and enthusiasm of younger men. These men represent successful Labor men, not men who are turning to politics as a means of livelihood. Read their records below.

VOTE THE FULL NON-PARTISAN TICKET!

Almost all of these men started out as 'labor' and have met with success. Thomas B. Black is an electrical engineer and a union member. Clifford G. Ham worked first for the government and then for years for McKae Brothers. Robert McKay was a dairyman. Jack H. Mair was with the C.N.R. for years. A. Don Ritchie is a mining engineer and trucking company office manager. Dr. R. G. Large is one of our leading physicians. Douglas Wood was a farmer and is now manager of The Rupert Men's & Boys' Store. All are successful now.

For Aldermen:

Thomas B. Black — Clifford G. Ham
Robert McKay — Jack Mair

For School Board:

A. Don Ritchie — Douglas Wood
Dr. R. G. Large

ARMY HEAD ON VISIT TO CITY

Salvationist, Col. Junker, Here — Has Three Sons in Armed Forces

Col. Matt Junker, new divisional officer of the Salvation Army for British Columbia with headquarters in Vancouver, was in Prince Rupert at the week-end in the course of his first tour of this part of the province. Prince Rupert was formerly included in a Northern British Columbia and Alaska division which has now been divided up with the closing of former headquarters at Wrangell. Col. Junker, who conducted special services at the local Citadel at the week-end, arrived on Friday night after visiting Prince George, Hazelton, Glen Vowell, Kitwanga and Cedarvale and will leave tonight for Vancouver.

Col. Junker has three sons in the armed forces—Warrant Officer John Junker, who is an instructor with the Royal Canadian

Air Force at Boundary Bay after having completed his operational tours overseas in the course of which he had many narrow escapes including a crash in the Mediterranean; Flying Officer Don Junker, now navigating a Lancaster bomber over enemy territory, and Petty Officer Kenneth Junker who is with the Navy on the Atlantic coast.

IS RUNNING IN PEACE RIVER

Social Credit Member to Try For Dominion House

EDMONTON, Dec. 11—The national leader of the Canadian Social Credit Association—Solon Low—is going to run for the Dominion Parliament in the next federal election. Mr. Low has been nominated as Social Credit candidate for Peace River constituency and he has telegraphed acceptance from Regina where he is attending the annual convention of his party's Saskatchewan organization.

Mr. Low said in November he would not contest a federal constituency but would retain his post as minister without portfolio in the Alberta government.

Mr. Low told a public meeting in Regina that the Dominion Liberal government "today stands condemned for its tragic delay in providing reinforcements for the boys overseas." He said that Social Credit members of parliament supported the government on the reinforcement issue because forcing a Dominion election at this time would not meet the needs of the Canadian Army. Nevertheless, he said, "The Liberal government stands condemned for its tragic delay in providing reinforcements for the boys overseas."

LONDON, — Food Minister Lord Woolton has been elected president of the British Standards Institution.

Intruder Drops In At 5 a.m.

John Klyze, 147 Fourth Avenue East, was aroused from his slumbers at 5 o'clock Saturday morning by a man who walked in the front door of his house and into his bedroom. Mr. Klyze arose from his bed to question the intruder who, police were told later, did not appear to be drunk, but acted "very smart."

When I told him I thought it was time for him to go home he replied "Oh, I've got lots of time" in an offhand manner. Mr. Klyze reported, "Believing that the front door had been locked, I asked him how he opened it and he said that was his own business. He showed no intention of leaving."

Exasperated, Mr. Klyze called the police. Later Saturday morning the intruder, Ralph Clement, appeared before Magistrate W. D. Vance and was fined $5 on a charge of drunkenness.
