NAVY HUNTS HOLD-UP MAN

The Royal Canadian Navy was called by Alaska authorities to take part in a search for Willie Simpson, 23, Greenville native after he had allegedly attempted to hold up a cannery store at Hidden Inlet, Alaska, and stolen a boat to make a getaway at the week-end.

The search ended on Sunday with Simpson's arrest at Quinamass Cove by B.C. Police Inspector Ernest Gammon who took part in a navy boat. Simpson is now lodged in the city jail here.

A cannery employee is believed to have been injured during the hold up, which took place on Saturday. Simpson is said to have commandeered the American seine boat Lillou to make his escape.

BABY DIES OF BURNS

Phillip Peter Green, six weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Green, natives of Port Simpson, died last night in the Prince Rupert General Hospital as a result of burns received when his baby carriage caught fire yesterday morning at the home of his foster mother, Mrs. Katherine Green, Sunnyside cannery.

According to testimony given by Mrs. Katherine Green at a coroner's inquiry this morning, she had left the infant in the care of her nine year old daughter, Phyllis, while she went to work at the cannery about 9:30. About 11 o'clock, Mrs. Green said, she was told that the baby had been burned. Rushing back to her home she found that the baby had been rescued by Mrs. Caspar Webster, who had been mending fishing nets nearby. Mrs. Green took the baby to the cannery office, where it was put in a boat and taken to Dr. Hopkinson at North Pacific cannery.

There was a small wood fire in the stove when she left, but she believed it had gone out shortly afterward, Mrs. Green told the deputy coroner. The baby buggy and a stuffed chair which were ablaze when the baby was burned were removed a considerable distance from the stove and she thought it doubtful if the fire had come from the stove. She did not think her daughter, Phyllis, had been playing with gasoline.

STATEMENT RESENTED

(Special to Daily News)

SMITHERS, July 5 — Farmers of the Bulkley Valley fail to see the point in the poverty attributed to them by the Labor-Progressive candidate who recently toured through this district on a political campaign. Not many farmers in any district live in affluence but the farmers of Northern British Columbia are probably not behind those of any other district in annual earnings. They have their good years and their poor years, but the Bulkley Valley never sees a crop failure, and in good years some farmers do extremely well.

Planning Peace Structure . . .

More force, more decisive and more restricted responsibilities will probably be the chief points of difference between the world peace structure which will follow this war and the League of Nations which followed the First Great War.

The form of this new structure is slowly being hammered out in the minds of expert advisers of the governments of the United Nations. The progress to date was reviewed by the prime ministers of the British Commonwealth at their conference in London.

Until governments of the big three—the United Kingdom, United States and Russia—come together and agree on something the form will not assume its full and final shape. A somewhat general picture of what the set-up may be, however, can be deduced from the guarded statements of political leaders and the trends of thought being followed by some of their expert advisers.

The post-war world will have more force since the idea of disarmament is no longer entertained. The big states among the United Nations after victory propose to retain power to curb aggressors and, if necessary, intervene when any nation appears to be building up towards the position of an aggressor.

International police forces are not likely to be created in the future as far as it can be foreseen at this time. The extent to which smaller nations such as Canada may be obliged to maintain and employ force, in the event of aggression, is one of the important unsettled questions.

This policy of force will probably mean the retention of key bases around the world by the larger states and perhaps some reciprocity in their use. Great Britain will retain its Mediterranean bastions of Gibraltar, Malta, Cyprus and Suez.

Former British and United States bases in the Pacific will be re-established. Others will be added and under regional co-operative arrangements Australia and New Zealand may share in their operation.

Some transfers of population, such as removal of Germans from territory to be allotted to restored Czechoslovakia and Poland will be carried out.

Some of the planners are convinced that a mistake was made in the old league when minorities were given a right to appeal against the treatment meted out to them by majorities. The provision while well-intentioned was unworkable and a cause of irritation. So it is probable the new set-up will be less ambitious and confine itself to preventing real disturbances of world peace.

There is also a disposition in important quarters to keep arrangements for international economic co-operation separate from the peace structure although their success is considered essential to enduring peace.

Separate discussions are in progress on such questions as currency stabilization, tariff reduction, regulation of civil aviation, long term investments. On each of these questions an agreement may result in the creation of some sort of international authority in which varying numbers of countries will participate.

Moved towards caution by experiences after the last war some of the experts are averse to linking all these probable agencies together. They hope that each will work out a path to usefulness by process of trial and error. Eventually they might be linked up but it is feared a linking in the early stages would make the whole suffer for the mistakes of one.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By Dorothy Garbutt)

My ghost writer who signs himself O. N. which I suppose stands for ON the Spot, very kindly supplied me with the following interesting item. I quote: "Sergeant and Mrs. Bruce Smith and their two children left for the south Monday night to make their new home in Victoria. After a well earned thorough Sergeant Smith will report for duty at one of the R.C.A.S.C. depots on Vancouver Island."

"Bruce who is a native of Terrace, enlisted with the 102nd H. B. R.C.A. at the outbreak of the war, later transferring to the R.C.A.S.C. motor transport section and for the past two years has been in charge of the local transportation depot. He has been a very popular and efficient N.C.O. with a deep-rooted belief in "service with a smile." During his last day with his unit he received many callers both from the officers and men who dropped in to give their blessing and wish him the best of everything in his new posting.

"The personnel of No. 4 Depot presented Sergeant Smith and family with a purse in appreciation of his long and faithful service in Prince Rupert, for he had the distinction of being the "senior" member of the service in Rupert. The Garrison Sergeants' Mess also presented Bruce with a supply of smokes and at their regular Saturday night party Bruce and his father were entertained at a little special social.

"Mrs. Smith is a former Terrace girl and is looking forward to this her first trip south, as one of special interest. Members of both families came to Rupert to see them off. On leaving Bruce said he was going to find out what it was that Victoria and Vancouver had that Rupert didn't have. He had heard so much of the two places from other members of the R.C.A.S.C. who had been stationed in the south.

With the Forces

News of the Men and Women on Active Service (Contributions Welcome)

Soldiers who might have thought the training they receive in Canada somewhat strenuous in character have not seen a thing, it is intimated by Lieut. Doug Scott, son of Mrs. J. W. Scott of this city, who was in Britain recently with a Canadian Highland regiment. They do their training there in a real he-man way such as doing six miles a day on the double with full kit and anti-tank gun weighing eighty pounds. Doug when last heard of was taking such a course of intensified training, no doubt in preparation for big events which are now transpiring.

Gunner Dan J. Magnet of this city, writing from Italy, expresses appreciation of smokes sent by the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion. He says: "There is nothing that gives a soldier more pleasure and satisfaction than a good smoke and they certainly help to ride the rough spots. You would be surprised to know the comforting effect of a Canadian cigarette after a night in action where one dare not strike a light. Of course, we are not always under such conditions but it has occurred quite often in the last few months and, undoubtedly, will again in the future."

NEW HAZELTON

Dewey Bullock, superintendent of the Silver Standard Mine, left last week for Vancouver, travelling from Prince George by plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noel of Smithers are leaving to take up residence in Nanaimo where Mr. Noel has purchased a business.

Thomas McMeekin and S. E. Parker of Prince Rupert motored to New Hazelton from Terrace and expressed great satisfaction about the new highway.

A surprise party was given Miss Rhoda Jeffers recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds in Hazelton. Miss Jeffers has been in charge of the junior school in Hazelton and does not expect to return.

The city engineer has been requested by the board of works to prepare estimates for repairs to the cement sidewalk on Third Avenue in front of McRae Bros. store.

Rifleman James Robert Catling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catling of Sault Ste. Marie, has been killed in action overseas. His widow and two-year-old son reside at St. Ignace.

A cruise party of Detroit Yacht Club members and their wives to the number of about one hundred visited Sault Ste. Marie a few days ago aboard the steamer Noronic. It was the first time a Canadian steamer had been used for this annual cruise. There was an informal civic reception in which the Soo Pipe Band played a prominent part.

Two weddings of particular interest at Sault Ste. Marie took place recently. Miss Helen Falcioni, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Falcioni, became the bride of John Marasco, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Marasco. This marriage took place at Holy Rosary Church. At Central United Church Manse Miss Inez Victoria Parr and Enilo E. Have a Coca-Cola = You're invited to our house

. . . or how to make sailors feel at home

Homes, these days, are often playing host to our fighting men and their friendly allies. There's one sure greeting that will put them all at ease. It's Have a "Coke". To an old friend, Coca-Cola from your own refrigerator says Welcome back. To a newcomer, it says Stranger, you belong. At home, in camp, and overseas, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the symbol of Canadian friendliness the world over.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

COURSE OF LABOR

V. J. Macklin, chief executive officer of the board, an expert on the intricacies of orders-in-council, and Major H. E. Thurston, United States Army consultant to the board, experienced engineer with terrific energy and clear judgment.

The chairman explained that the function of the board was to deal only with defence projects in Alberta, British Columbia, the Yukon and Northwest Territories. He thought that the board had done something towards bringing about amicable relations between laboring people and the employing authorities of United States and Canada.

After his reference to the Atlantic Charter as containing the course which should be charted for labor after the war was over, Mr. Henwood concluded with an expression of appreciation for the hospitality which had been extended the board here, of realization of the magnificent future which must be in store for Prince Rupert and the wish that there would be the greatest expansion as soon as possible for the city and port and prosperity and happiness for all the people here.

Col. Stewart of the United States engineering department, also called upon by Mayor Daggett, introduced the port personnel officer, Major Stavick, and executive officer, Major Raper. Col. Stewart said he had been greatly impressed by the membership of the labor board. "We are grateful for the sympathetic consideration accorded us by the board," said Col. Stewart. "I believe it is a good thing that the board has come here to see the situation and study our problem at first hand. It should prove of much value through having successfully ironed out some of the difficulties which we have had." Among those in attendance at the luncheon were members of the city council, local industrialists, representatives of unions and the presidents of the senior and junior chambers of commerce—W. J. Scott and L. M. Feisenthal, respectively.

TROOPS ENJOY SERVICE SHOW

Excellent Entertainment
At Capitol Sunday Night

An excellent program was presented for the entertainment of troops and service personnel at the Capitol Theatre on Sunday evening. The program featured a very smart dance orchestra, the old time musicians known as the "Rhythm Rangers," and talented soloists who were all of an Ontario regiment, aided by the lovely singing of Miss Agnes Grant, and the capable, corny, clowning of Miss Pat Love and Miss Evelyn Bussey.

The opening number "In the Mood," a very smart arrangement by the orchestra, established the spirit of the show, which moved on a smartly brisk pace from opening to close. Pte. Norman Upper enchanted the audience with a splendid tenor voice singing "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and "My Shining Hour."

Following this a streamlined "M" Test was presented to two sailors and an Air Force Sergeant who went through their tests to the accompaniment of shrieks of laughter from the audience as each candidate grappled with his post-war problems by hanging out a long line of articles ranging from long woolly flannels to the sheers of ladies' unmentionables.

Following this a musical quiz in the Professor Kay Kayser manner proved that the candidates were well informed musically and the aid of the audience was called for only once or twice. At the end of the musical quiz program the charming Carnival Queen candidate for the Sons of Norway, Miss Eleanor Storseth, was introduced to the audience.

A violin solo by Pte. Otto Slater, "Hungarian Dance" evoked a great deal of applause and for his encore the soloist played "Intermezzo" which was very enthusiastically received.

Songs by Pte. Len Stuart — "When the Lights Go on Again" and "I Wish I Could Hide Inside This Letter" necessitated this artist's returning to the stage to acknowledge the numerous calls of the audience.

The "Rhythm Rangers," under the guidance of Cpl. Thiebault, provided joy to the lovers of wide open music and the singing of Hill-Billy songs by Cpl. Phillipon added to the vast open spaces of the music.

Following this grouping Miss Agnes Grant sang "If I Had My Way," "No Love, No Nothing," and the "Anniversary Waltz" and was called back again and again by very vociferous rounds of applause.

Next came a humorous monologue by Carl Clay. This in turn was followed by an unusual quartette enlisted from the orchestra who rendered "Ten Little Soldiers on a Ten-Day Leave" in a truly masterly way but who found themselves unable to give an encore as that was the only record they had back-stage.

This group of "fakers" was followed by Lieut. Ken Rogers who sang "My Heart Tells Me" which was so warmly greeted by the audience that he was called upon for an encore, this time singing "I Love You Truly."

Following this Sgt. Buchanan, who had so capably accompanied soloists Slater and Upper, gave a delightful piano rendition of Hoge Carmichael's celebrated "Star Dust."

The orchestra then played two really hot numbers—"Take It Easy" and their special arrangement of "Sweet Sue" which brought the program to a close. Carl Clay acted as master of ceremonies and his easy flow of repartee delighted the audience, kept the performers in an extremely happy vein and maintained a really smart and showman like pace throughout.

Finest Salmon

Whifflets From The Waterfront

The spring salmon run has been slowing down considerably of late on all the trolling grounds, it is reported by incoming packers. This is in contrast to a good run of sockeye which still continues for the gillnetters on this part of the coast. The full trolling fleet is now out but the results are none too encouraging, it is said.
