Hanson Is Retiring

Federal Member Admits That He Does Not Intend to Seek Re-election.

"It is pretty well known that I am not going to run again," commented Olof Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, when asked by the Daily News today as to his future plans in public life. Mr. Hanson referred to his age and the loss of his business partner, the late John Dybbavn, last year as "having made a difference." On inquiry being made of him as to when a federal election might be expected, Mr. Hanson expressed the opinion that much would depend upon the war situation. He recalled that Premier King had said he would not want an election "in heat of battle" nor did he (the Prime Minister) desire to extend the life of the government beyond July of next year.

Chief Justice D. A. McDonald Dies While Taking Treatment at Rochester.

VANCOUVER, April 11 — Chief Justice David A. McDonald of the Appellate Division of the British Columbia Supreme Court died yesterday at Rochester, Minnesota, at the age of sixty-seven years. He had gone to Rochester some time ago for treatment after a lengthy illness. His condition was complicated by heart trouble.

His Lordship moved to Fernie in 1909 from Ontario and later came to Vancouver where he was associated with the law firm of Bourne, McDonald and Desbrisay. He was appointed justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia in 1932, succeeding the late Chief Justice M. A. Macdonald as chief justice of the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

The chief justice served as an officer overseas in the First Great War with the Fifty-Eighth Battalion. Esteemed by his colleagues on the bench and the members of the bar, Chief Justice McDonald was particularly popular with court officials owing to fine consideration and thoughtfulness. The judge was interested in poetry and was famous for his anecdotes.

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald was particularly well known in Prince Rupert and is said to have presided at more Supreme Court sessions here than any other judge. An improtant mission here about ten years ago was when he heard an assessment appeal which involved city taxation policy.

SEATTLE NOT SATISFIED SEATTLE, April 11 (CP) — H. F. Lokken, manager of the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association, today branded as "unworkable" a proposal by British Columbia fishermen to clear up price differentials which prompted the fish boat tie-up.

VANCOUVER, April 11 — The Vancouver Sun said Monday that British Columbia's halibut fleet will end the present tie-up and sail for the northern banks if Seattle halibutters do not accept a pool settlement plan presented to them over the week-end or fail to offer a better alternative plan. Prince Rupert and Ketchikan are expected to hold meetings soon to consider the British Columbia plan which provides that the price ceiling would be restored to the original level at all Pacific Coast ports and one cent per pound would be placed in a pool. At the end of the season the pool would be divided among Seattle and Vancouver fishermen.

Eve of a Crisis . . .

The situation on the eastern front where the Russians have the Germans on the run suggests the war in Europe is rapidly approaching a climax. Dramatic changes may be expected within a very short time—changes heralding the first stage of the disintegration of the Nazi State in Europe. The final collapse may not be the result of one single offensive or one single factor, like the effects of air war. Nor is it likely that the end will come simply through "unconditional surrender" by the German Army High Command, to be followed by military occupation of Europe in accordance with a plan providing special demarcation lines for the individual Allied forces. Political crises of the Italian type may easily develop and be intensified by the lack of an inter-Allied plan for postwar Europe and by the individual dealings of various powers with Europe's disintegrating political forces.

Recent German territorial losses in southeastern Russia reveal the first serious disintegration of German fighting forces. Recent retreats have been too hurried, and have caused too great a lengthening of Germany's Eastern front, to have been fully in accordance with a predetermined plan of withdrawal.

There is no doubt that the German Army originally planned a strategic, large-scale withdrawal in Russia, the objective being to shorten the Eastern front, to create a more dynamic political situation and to reduce the offensive power of the Russians by stretching their supply lines to the breaking point. Simultaneously, the defensive powers of the German armies should theoretically have been strengthened.

Now the Russians have broken through the Dniester line. Germany has about lost Bessarabia. If the Germans cannot hold the Prut line, Rumania will be lost. The Germans will be reduced to fighting on their emergency oil reserves and the entire Balkan front may disintegrate.

Russian armies now concentrate on breaking through into southern Rumania, skirting the Carpathian mountains and aiming directly toward Bucharest, the Danube and Czechoslovakia.

This strategy, by avoiding a direct struggle with the main forces of the German Army defending the German borders, would avoid the fatal experience of the last war, when the Russian armies met disaster in their attempts to cross the Carpathian Alps or to enter eastern Prussia through Poland. Stalin at that time was opposed to the Bolshevik offensive into Poland even though the hope for a German proletarian revolution still was active in Moscow; even then he would have preferred a concentrated attack on the Russian southern front—where now the Russian armies are engaged in their most successful offensives.

The progress of the Russian Army within the next few weeks will reveal whether the German Army can temporarily stabilize its Eastern front. The German armies may still be able to call up reserves and base a strong defence on their shorter supply lines. Meanwhile, the main Russian forces now stand at the gates of the Balkans.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. (By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

This week-end promises to have plenty of entertainment for the boys and girls, what with the local Army Show "Cinderella" playing four days at the Navy Drill Hall and one of the Service Shows from Vancouver playing the various units and the Capitol Theatre next Sunday night. Our old friends, the Strand Dancers, with pretty Lola Strand, will be one of the numbers, while Harry Booth, an ex-navy boy, (I believe Harry was at Chatham at one time) is with them as singer and impersonator. As no troupe would be complete without a blues singer Mary Mack contributes her talents to this part of the program and for classical pieces there is Hilda McLennan who is a well known violinist from the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra. And then, of course, there is Don Flynn the pianist and accompanist of the troupe. I'm pretty sure that Don too has been up here before.

The civilian tickets for the Army Show are on sale all this week at Orme's Drug Store. I hope as many civilians as possible will take advantage of this opportunity of seeing the army boys and girls at play. The comedy is being produced by Sergeant Stewart Carson and this work is right up his alley as his peacetime job was with the CBC and what he doesn't know about plays and things isn't worth knowing.

Sunday evening I went up to the Knights of Columbus Hut and was much taken with their beautiful new card room. It is spacious and well lit, with green tinted walls and brown tiled masonry borders. The curtains are quite original, being beige colored burly printed with diagonal stripings in shades of rust. Mr. Balagno very kindly showed me around and, whether by accident or design (I'll never tell), I was just in time for the refreshing cup of coffee they serve to everyone each evening. And incidentally, I got involved in a game of crib and beat my opponent; by one peg in the seventh and last game. What a set!

Clifton conducted the services and soloists were Joe Brown of Hartley Bay and W. Robinson of Klemtu. Appropriate music was played by the Klemtu concert band.

Moose Lodge Has Revival

The local Moose Lodge is taking on a new lease of life. In fact it is more active than it has been for four years. At every meeting a number of new candidates are initiated. Gillis Royer, one of the old time members, is the governor of the lodge this year and, under his leadership, the organization is flourishing. The last meeting was held on Tuesday evening of last week and the next will be Tuesday of next week.

Transvaal To Feed Children At Schools

PRETORIA, April 11—The Transvaal provincial administration has informed the government that it is prepared to undertake the feeding of African school children provided that the necessary extra staff is made available. At present there are no facilities and since there are 175,000 African school children in 1,000 schools in the Transvaal a large organization will have to be set up.

There are five inspectors of African schools in the Transvaal and the administration is pressing for their number to be increased so that they can act as supervisors in the feeding scheme. A further handicap is the fact that most African schools have no school committees such as those which have helped to create the feeding scheme for European children. Some mission bodies have indicated their willingness to undertake the responsibility of accounting for the money which must be spent on the scheme.

OFFICERS HAVE BALL

Delightful Affair Last Night in Armory was Centre of Social Activities.

Social activity centred last night at the Armory where officers of the First (Reserve) Battalion, Prince Rupert (Machine Gun), held their first annual ball. About three hundred persons were in attendance at a thoroughly delightful affair.

The big hall presented an attractive scene decorated with pink, yellow and green streamers which had been attractively arranged.

With excellent music by De Carlo's Orchestra, dancing was in full swing from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m.

Delicious and bounteous refreshments were served buffet style at midnight during an interval in the dancing.

Lieut. G. C. Oswell, officer commanding, and his officers were out in full strength to welcome and entertain their guests. Lieut. T. N. Youngs was general chairman and master of ceremonies. Lieut. W. G. Sheardown was in charge of decorations.

Kathryn Mohr Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. Margaret Montgomery and Miss Marion Ponsford were co-hostesses last night at a delightful little shower held at the home of the former in honor of Miss Kathryn Mohr, whose marriage takes place on Thursday to Flight-Sergeant W. H. Adrian, Royal Canadian Air Force.

Games were played, the winners being Mrs. Norma Aitkens, Mrs. Virginia Honey and Mrs. Earl Becker. A pleasant hour was spent singing, with Mrs. Honey at the piano.

After dainty refreshments were served, the hostesses carried in a box, cleverly disguised as a huge typewriter. It contained a number of useful and lovely gifts.

Guests present were Mrs. V. Honey, Mrs. N. Aitkens, Miss Kay Shrubalski, Miss Violet Dell, Miss Kathryn Mohr, Mrs. G. Hill jr., Mrs. Gilligan, Mrs. C. J. O. Olsen, Mrs. Dan Parent, Mrs. Ruth Greenwood, Mrs. Earl Becker, Miss Marion Ponsford and Mrs. Margaret Montgomery.

STIRRING AIR FILM

"The Purple Heart" Coming to Capitol Theatre This Wednesday and Thursday.

A stirring drama of American fliers who bombed Tokyo and then fell into the brutal hands of the Japanese to be tried not as prisoners of war but as murderers, "The Purple Heart," a thrilling picture of air warfare, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here as the feature offering for Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

It is the story of eight dauntless fliers who tie the whole Japanese Empire into knots, pitting their intestinal fortitude against Japanese brutality, planting the flag of Japanese courage in a Nipponese courtroom, convicting the enemy of murder and terror, enlightening with flying fists and defying the Japanese army, navy and air force.

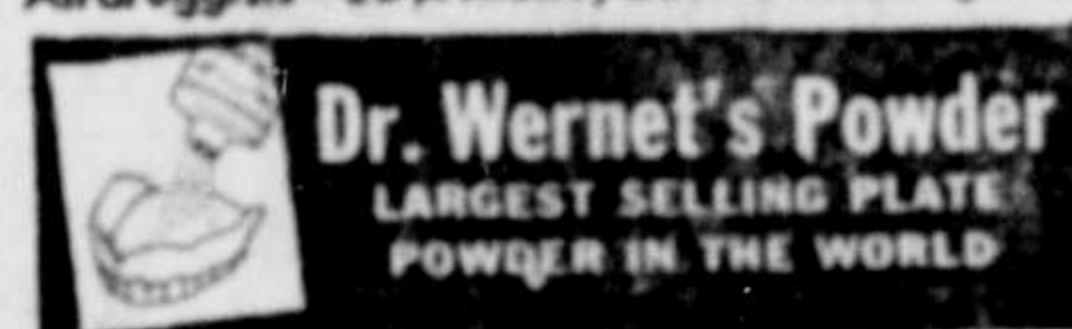

Dana Andrews, Richard Conte, Farley Granger, Kevin O'Shea, Donald Marshall, Trudy O'Shea, Sam Levene, Charles Russell, John Crave, Tala Birrell, Richard Loo and Peter Chong are featured players.
